January 4, 2017

This past week for Cedarville men's basketball consisted of some tough practices. Since we had Christmas break the week before it was expected that practice was going to be tough. I think coaches love and are also at the same time scared of breaks because players get the whole week off. The coaches enjoy the time off just as much as the players, but it's scary to take that much time off from your team. Even though we had that time off I believe nobody came back in terrible shape or looked like they didn't do a thing over break. It also was nice to hear everybody had a good break, and was rejuvenated to be back.

In sports when you have time off the coach usually wants the team to get after it pretty hard because he wants all the rust to be knocked off immediately. Practice was highly intense the first day back, and everybody had a solid practice and coach was relatively happy about our first day back. The rest of the week involved everybody jumping over some hurdles, but we got through it and came out a better team.

I think after going through the week we just went through the rest of the year is going to be special. All of our players are mentally prepared to play, and ready to play for each other. The coaches are also ready to coach us to the best of their ability, and I think we are going to be a special team to watch. Not to mention this couldn't have come at a better time because conference play starts this week. Your record before conference play doesn't really matter because whoever wins the conference tournament at the end of the year gets to go to the national tournament. It is vital that we do good during conference play because the more wins we have the better seed we will get. It also means that if we are the #1 seed we will host the tournament, so these next couple months are huge for us.

We play two games this week - both at home. We play Thursday against Trevecca (Start time 7:45 p.m.) and also Saturday against Kentucky Wesleyan (Start time is 4:15 p.m.). We would appreciate any prayers and I hope everybody is having a great break.
