Chronicles from the Cage: "In the Grand Scheme of Things"

Using the word "tired" is not even close to adequate in describing our current state coming back from Spring Break. This trip was physically, emotionally, and in some aspects spiritually taxing on us all. It was a roller coaster of a week containing the full spectrum of emotions, some very challenging and others very positive and rewarding. Fortunately, the peaks and troughs of the week did not occur absent of benefit or acquisition. In any high point and in any valley of life, there is a lot to be learned from either standpoint.

The wonderful thing about sports is that it sets up an avenue for numerous life lessons to be learned both inside the diamond and outside of it in the context of a team. One of the most beneficial experiences from this trip was the challenge given to us to capitalize on our blessings. God has blessed us immeasurably! Not only are we financially blessed to have all of the necessities of life (and in abundance), but we are blessed to have the greatest treasure of all - the Gospel. During this trip we had the opportunity to use both of those blessings to be a blessing to others. Each of the five rooms of girls was given $20 to be a blessing to someone who worked at the hotel and converse with them with the purpose of potentially sharing the Gospel with them if the Spirit opened up the door. With the aroma of Christ, the topic of the Gospel was bound to come up.

One of the coolest stories that I heard occurred when Danielle, Laura, Brooke, and Angela got the chance to speak with a young Muslim from Morocco. They were able to get to know the young man and learn about where he was from and about some of the differences between Morocco and America. This lengthy conversation led them to the different religions in each respective area, and after hearing what he believed as a Muslim and being able to introduce challenging thoughts, this group got to share the Gospel with this man! After the conversation, they gave him the blessing of the money and a miniature New Testament, Psalms, and Proverbs Bible that the Gideons handed out in chapel before we left. When the girls checked back the next day, the man had already started reading Philipians!
