Ladies and Gents fasten your seatbelts because I have a whole lot of sharing to do! This past week consisted of two games, meeting Abby's animals, Secret Santa, and so much more!

Tuesday was our first day back from Christmas break and our first practice of the week. It served as a running day to shed off all of the holiday cookies and a walk through for our Miami (OH) exhibition game the following day. That evening the Coe family welcomed us into their home and grilled out for us. After we stuffed our faces with hamburgers and bratwursts we had a gingerbread house competition. We were split into four teams and had a time limit of 30 minutes. Some houses were better than others but that didn't really mean a lot to us because it was more about bonding and spending quality time together than constructing the best house.

The following morning, we got up and headed to the gym for a shoot-around and to go back over the scouting report for the contest that night. After leaving the gym we gathered our things, including our Secret Santa gifts, and headed to the Wolford's house. Abby gave us the grand tour of her home, which included meeting all of her wonderful farm animals. We met JoJo her awesome horse, Giselle the nice goat, various chickens and Edward...the goat that would ram you with his horns and made Coach Hoffman screech like a little girl.

Once we finished outside we gathered in the living room and started the gift exchange. To get your gift you had to guess who drew your name. Needless to say, this took quite some time. Throughout the whole process of Secret Santa I learned how thoughtful my teammates are. Each gift that was given wasn't just thrown together but carefully selected according to what their person liked or really wanted. There were happy hearts all around the room and wide smiles to prove it.

Shortly after, we got in the competitive spirit and started games. I was at the Euchre table where I learned that Cameron is very high-strung and overly sneaky when it comes to card games. The girl cannot be trusted, unless she's on your team. I also learned that Coach Leonzo is terrible at shuffling cards. When games started wrapping up we headed to the kitchen and enjoyed an amazing meal prepared for us by the lovely Mrs. Wolford. When everyone was finished eating we gathered our things and made the drive to Miami where played a very good game but ended up falling short in the points column.

After our loss, we regrouped and starting preparing for Friday when we would play Wayne State. The team woke up early Thursday morning and headed to Michigan. I stayed behind for a few hours and went to a doctor's appointment where I found out that I could start playing again (thank you for all the prayers and well wishes!) I drove up later with our athletic trainer Becca Stokes and student trainer Shelby

Johnson. If you do not know these two people you are missing out on a whole lot of laughter. We arrived about two hours after the team but met up with them for practice.

Once again, we were graced with a home cooked meal when Mr. and Mrs. Watterworth opened up their home and invited us over. We played countless games of ping pong and learned how to play four on a couch. For anyone that was curious, yes Coach Hoffman and Coach Buettell kicked our cans at ping pong...who even likes doubles ping pong anyway?

Friday morning, we game planned and had a devotional lead by Jordan Sok. The words she spoke rang true and convicted everyone that heard them. We often think that God is furious with us and that we will never be good enough for Him. She reminded us that God is not out to condemn us but is there to convict us. We sometimes treat the Lord as someone who will reprimand us when we slip up than someone who loves us unconditionally and is by our side helping us to move away from our mistakes and closer to Him. At the conclusion of devo's we loaded the bus and headed to the game.

Wayne State was a game where things went very right and quickly went very wrong. The first half we played well and kept the game tight but the second half all the wheels fell off. We dug ourselves a hole early and never recovered. This led to a long bus ride home and a day of film breakdown on Saturday. It was hard to watch our mistakes but also very beneficial.

That afternoon we packed an overnight bag and made the trip to the DeFilippo's to watch the Buckeyes (no comment about their performance) and celebrate the New Year! Our night consisted of great food, many laughs, tons of pictures and lots of love. I truly belong to the best team in the world. I hope everyone's New Year started off just as wonderful as ours did!

This week begins a huge journey for us because it is the start of conference play! We have two games this week which are both home! We play Thursday, Jan. 5th at 5:30 p.m. and Saturday, Jan. 7th at 2:00 p.m. We play Trevecca and Kentucky Wesleyan - and both games will be followed by the men's team.

Jamie Dodane is a 5-foot-7 sophomore guard from Mechanicsburg, Ohio. She is in her second season with the Lady Jackets and is majoring in broadcasting and digital media.
