YELLOW JACKET SOCCER BLOG

September 19, 2016

The Blog, "A tradition unlike any other."

To my dearest readers,

Part of me wants to apologize. Thankfully though, that is the same part of me that sometimes wants to tell Schwien that I actually think his mustache looks good so I never listen to it and I certainly never vocalize what comes from that deep, dark place. Following our game Thursday I headed immediately to Columbus for my sister's rehearsal dinner Friday and wedding Saturday because I love my big sister, which meant I missed most of the trip and the game Saturday. Also, because of my sister's wedding, which was absolutely worth it, I did approximately zero homework, which left me a good bit to do Sunday evening when I would normally write the blog. So I asked the team if anyone would cover for me and Graham stepped up. In preparing to read the following, I would advise the reader to keep in mind that, like this year's freshman class, it could be a heck of a lot worse. Enjoy.

For most people, school can be pretty overwhelming, especially for a student-athlete like Aaron Plummer who is also tasked with keeping up this blog. Fortunately, there are history majors who have more than enough time to lend a hand. My name is Graham Sachtleben, I'm a goalkeeper for the CU men's soccer team and I'll be filling in for Plummer this week.

First half of the week was a fairly typical and uneventful week for the Jackets. Monday, the squad arrived at a nearby park to work with our Li'l Dribblers ministry in the evening. It's always a good time working with our Li'l Dribblers teams and enjoying the company of bunch of energetic toddlers. Tuesday and Wednesday were spent in typical Jacket fashion. A lot of FIFA, campus golf, and of course, studying. Everything that makes a Jacket a Jacket.

Most of us were pretty stoked for the long weekend. We departed for our hotel near the Alderson Broaddus campus around 10 a.m. Thursday. We got to the hotel in what felt like half an hour. For a brief moment I could have sworn we were living the movie Speed with Sandra Bullock behind the wheel. However, the drive was probably closer to four hours. When we got to the hotel we had quite a bit of free time thanks to our fearless leader. We spent a little over an hour killing time at our hotel before heading out for our pre-game meal at the one (or two or three) and only CJ Maggie's!

As we pulled up, we all had a bit of Deja Vu. Turns out this was the same restaurant coach had taken us to last WV trip. The same joint we promptly exited that day upon being informed not only were we at the wrong CJ Maggie's but, there are apparently multiple restaurants in the world that look exactly like my grandfather's attic. However, TODAY it was the right CJ Maggie's! After we had our fill, we stopped briefly at the hotel to pick up our gear and set course for Alderson Broaddus. The game went pretty well for everybody except John "Mr. Pec-tacular" Schwien, who officially owes Connor "The One-Kneed Wonder" Gilmour his firstborn son after what happened.

Friday was our off day. The day started with a lenient 9 a.m. wake-up call. Soon after, we loaded up the bus and journeyed into the WV countryside to go spelunking. Toward the beginning of the ride the coaches turned on Remember the Titans. This particular movie holds a special place in the hearts of the Cedarville Jacket's team. A simply beautiful and invigorating story which never fails to leave the bus in uncontrollable hysteria. In the midst of the tears and shouting, we almost didn't notice that the bus got lost and entered what looked like a salt mine somewhere in the hills of WV.

For those of you who remember last year, you will understand that this led to some pretty nasty flashbacks to another time we took a wrong turn in West Virginia. Fortunately, we found our way to the caves, had a quick bite to eat and began our tour. At first, we were a bit unsure. Luckily, geologist and general knowledge expert Joel Twinem showed us the ropes and led us into the dark cave, but clearly struggled himself when the lights went out and he instantly developed a case of "traveling hands." A couple sets of parents joined us as well. The Prickles, of course, the Hecklingers, who are understandably apologetic about Mason, and the Brown's! We explored the cave for about an hour. The tour guides did their best to "make light" of our underground journey (pun clearly intended), but just dug themselves deeper with each joke (again, pun intended – caves, digging, etc.). Bryce, commonly compared to a small giraffe, seemed to be having trouble keeping his helmet off the stout cave ceilings. A couple of scraped helmets later, we all reached safety. To close the day out, we grabbed a meal at Buffalo Wild Wings. Coach Faro was sure to remind us that the only reason we were going to BWW, and not a healthier alternative, was because we were in WV and you can only go to CJ Maggie's so many times.

Saturday held another relaxed 9 a.m. breakfast. Shortly afterwards, we found ourselves at the movie theater watching a cinematic work of art called Sully, starring Tom Hanks and his rugged hairline. Everyone seemed to enjoy the movie. I say that because the better half of our bus ride back to the hotel was spent chanting "Brace, brace, head down, stay down".

Next, we began our short trip over to the D&E sports complex where we watched the first half of the Lady Jacket's game. We got dressed and half our team filled the training room as our athletic trainer Brett patched us up like he was a used car salesman trying to make his offering marketable. The game didn't go the way we wanted, which made the bus ride back a rather subdued one, but we've got our eyes on training and California PA on Wednesday.

Go Jackets!

"We Back the Jackets!"

TONIGHT'S GAME

The Cedarville University men's soccer team hosts the Lee University Flames in a non-conference game tonight at Yellow Jacket Field. The contest is also a fundraiser for "Lace Up for Pediatric Cancer".

Cedarville is currently 3-3-1 overall (2-1-1 G-MAC) including a 1-0 non-league setback to California PA on Wednesday night.

The Flames, NCAA II members of the Gulf South Conference, are 4-3 overall including a 1-0 home victory over North Georgia on Thursday night. Lee has now won three games in a row.

The Yellow Jackets, under the direction of fourth-year Head Coach Brett Faro (45-14-9), return another solid nucleus from last year's G-MAC championship squad.

G-MAC Offensive Player of the Year and fifth-year forward Connor Gilmour is back for a final encore. Gilmour was an NCAA Division II All-American and an All-Midwest Region Team pick. He leads the Jackets with three goals for six points.

Connor Gilmour

Fellow senior Joel Twinem is second on the squad with a goal and an assist for three points.

Other CU goal scorers this season include: Jon Brown, Sebastian Duque, Aaron Plummer, Sean Reilly and Greg Williams.

Yellow Jacket senior keeper Paulo Pinto ranks second in CU's career goals against average list (0.86). Pinto has allowed nine goals in six games this year while making 21 saves.

Lee is led by Head Coach Paul Furey who is in his sixth year with the Flames (60-38-11).

David Perez, the 2015 Gulf Coast Conference Player of the Year and an NCAA II All-American, tops the Flames scoring stats with four goals and three assists for 11 points.

David Perez

Sophomore forward Drew Jackson is Lee's second-leading scorer with three goals and a pair of assists for eight points. He tallied the game-winner in the team's 1-0 home win on Thursday over North Georgia.

Rookie keeper Danile Hrenko posted his second shutout on Thursday. He has a .29 goals against average in four games.

Tonight's contest is the first-ever meeting between the two schools in men's soccer.
