YELLOW JACKET SOCCER BLOG

October 20, 2015

The Blog, "A tradition unlike any other."

It was another week to remember for your Yellow Jacket men's soccer team. It saw us in four states, at three different schools (including the land of the free and the home of the Jackets), missing two much-loved freshmen and with one shiny new ACL.

It started like the past few have. Your Jackets spent Monday through Wednesday putting in work in the classroom and on the practice field with this Thursday - Saturday road trip that spans Fall Break on the horizon. Classes were excellent as always and practice, true to form, was full of passing patterns, 10v8's, and arsenal possession. Ben "The Doctor" Johnson left us Monday night for his home state of Indiana to have ACL surgery on Tuesday. Word on the street is that he actually performed his own operation flawlessly with just a healthy dose of local anesthesia, but we haven't been able to confirm that one yet.

We wound up leaving the morning of the Kentucky Wesleyan game with our sights on a second straight victory over the Panthers. The bus ride was fantastic as always, but there were two big absences. Cole "I Can Count to Potato" Butaud remained on campus nursing a concussion he got last week and, of course "Jen Bohnson", who was at home in the great state of Indiana following his ACL surgery. When we finally got to KWC after the full day of travel we were greeted by some beautiful weather, which is all the more cherished in hindsight since we got back to 34 degree weather, but I'll get there later. I'm pretty sure our changing room on the day was normally used as a classroom, which was an interesting experience, but we didn't let it phase us. Come kick-off we were buzzing and ready to go. By the end of the first half we were up 2-0. The first was cranked home off a free-kick from Loose'n Lazy John Schwien by everyone's favorite ginger Joe Davison and the second was a PK that Paul "I'm Sorry-You're Right" Messerly dispatched coolly without giving the keeper a chance.

Post-match, after our showers, we were greeted by some delicious sandwiches from Panera and stayed to watch the ladies put up an excellent fight against the Panthers. The hotel we stayed at that night was fantastic and some of the boys got in a celebratory soak in the hot tub before heading off to bed for the night.

Friday was an incredible day. After our fantastic breakfast at the hotel we got some downtime to rest and get some work done before we hit the road. The movie we watched on the bus ride was The Count of Monte Cristo. What. A. Movie. I don't know if my words can fairly describe the way it roped us in, but you can bet your bank account that when Edmond Dantes defeated Count Mondego in their final sword fight, we cheered like the Browns had won the Super Bowl. When we arrived at Trevecca, we got a quick training session in then headed to the hotel to clean up and get ready for our night on the town. We feasted that night at the Garden of Olives as a team. Before we even ordered we were asked to perform a surprise rendition of "Happy Birthday" for one of the innumerable fawning females in the building and a certain member of our company was deemed "tasty" by our waitress. I don't think I need to tell you that we were looking pretty good. But, as Paulo "Two Kilos" Pinto would say, the night was still just a child.

After we had our delicious fare we made our way to downtown Nashville where we took over a local laser tag establishment for a night of some intense team-time. During the course of our three games, we saw the good, the bad, the ugly, and the downright childish and dishonorable sides of our fellow Jackets in the dark maze that was our venue. I think it's safe to say that we all came out a little scarred, either physically or emotionally, but we definitely enjoyed our time. The front-runner on the night was Jared "The Dart" Newman, who could be heard giggling with childish glee like an 8th grader at a birthday party every time he got a kill. The turnaround of the night was your very own Kyle "Sayonara" Smoker, who went from rags to riches by starting the night as a bottom-feeder and finishing as top-dog thanks to some savvy tactics and a hand from our other import, Sam "Barnyard" Barnard. The disappointment of the night was yours truly. I somehow managed to never do any better than second-last because EVERYBODY CHEATED. The try-hards on the night were too many to count, but they notably included the following:

Coach Knight - who could be heard screaming "America!" and bull-rushing opponents like he was fighting for the stars and stripes.

Coach Faro - who was NOT afraid of tackling and/or otherwise physically assaulting his competitors

Christian "Bootleg" Alexander - who thought it would be a good idea to put his vest on underneath a t-shirt to try to protect himself

When it was all over, nobody was too seriously injured (physically - though I will never trust some of my teammates again), but we were all a little too sweaty to be proud.

Then it was game day #2 of our trip. We had all day to kill so we went back into downtown Nashville to see the sights and maybe buy some keepsakes for an hour or so, hit up Fazoli's, and headed over to the home of the Trojans early to cheer on our ladies and watch them earn a hard-fought tie. When the whistle blew for our game, we were ready to prove ourselves again and nearly managed to put one away just minutes into the game from Zazz's right boot. By the end of the first half we were two goals ahead thanks to some great finishes from roommates Joe Davison and Connor Gilmour. In the second half, Joey unfortunately took a knock to his knee that turned out to be a low-grade MCL sprain that will likely put this mainstay of our back line on the sidelines for a few weeks. Our form slightly dipped later in the half and we conceded a goal to the Trojans, but righted the ship with a great finish from everybody's favorite Canadian Joel Twinem. The game ended 3-1 in favor of the Jackets, but it wasn't our best performance.

So three games remain, including two big conference games against Salem International and Ohio Valley this week that have very real post season implications. As of right now we have a chance to make it to the Big Dance, but as coach keeps reminding us, we're taking one game at a time so our sights are set on doing everything we can at training early this week to right the wrongs we committed on Saturday.

Shout-out of the week goes to Kevin the bus driver for being the baddest dude this side of the Mississippi and being able to fit a 50-ft bus into what we all swear was a 40-ft parking spot. The man is a magician.

Go Jackets!

LAST TIME ON THE PITCH - 10/22/15

CEDARVILLE, Ohio - Zachary Harris' strike in the 89th minute gave the Yellow Jackets a 3-2 verdict over Salem International to clinch the top seed in the upcoming G-MAC Tournament.

Two-time defending champion Cedarville, 12-3-1 overall and 9-2 G-MAC, earns a first round bye and will host the conference semifinals and final on Nov. 5 and 7.

It will be the second year in a row and the third time in four years for the Yellow Jackets to serve as host.

The outcome was in jeopardy until Harris, who started CU on its four-game winning streak with a 96th-minute winner at Alderson Broadbudds on Oct. 10, rose to the occasion with 1:51 remaining.

Jon Brown tapped a short pass at the top of the box to the senior midfielder, who in turn poked a high shot into the net from 12 yards out. It was his fifth goal of the season and third game winner.

The Yellow Jackets took a 2-0 lead in the first half. Joel Fullmer finished off a through ball from Jared Newman in the 6th minute for his first collegiate goal. Paul Messerly's restart 50 yards out was headed in by the SIU defense for an own goal in the 24th minute.

The Tigers crawled back into the contest with scores in the 35th and 57th minutes which eventually led to Harris' heroics.

Men's Soccer Athlete of the Week

(Oct. 12-18, 2015)

Dom Gillespie • Salem International
Sophomore • Whitley Bay, England

GREENWOOD, Ind. - - Salem International sophomore forward/goalkeeper Dom Gillespie was named the seventh Great Midwest Athletic Conference Men's Soccer Athlete of the Week for the fall on Monday.

Gillespie and the Tigers continued to forge through the regular season and racked up two more key league wins as Salem pursues favorable seeding for the postseason.

The Tigers defeated Alderson Broaddus in double overtime and Davis & Elkins. Both games were at home in Salem as Gillespie flexed his muscle and emerged as the unlikely hero following an injury that has sidelined starting keeper Elliot Cook for the past four games.

Gillespie, listed as a forward on the active roster, has filled in admirably, shutting down the Battlers for the duration with six saves on 11 shots faced.

His Tiger teammates delivered the game-ending goal with 14 seconds to spare before a draw could be declared. Gillespie delivered another win tending net, this time in shutout fashion against D&E.

Shots were hard to come by for both teams, but Gillespie was credited with two saves to preserve an early goal in the eighth minute of regulation.

The Tigers head back out on the road after wrapping up their four-game homestand.

GREAT MIDWEST ATHLETIC CONFERENCE – MEN'S SOCCER

The Great Midwest Athletic Conference (G-MAC), was approved by the NCAA Division II Membership Committee in February of 2012 as a member conference and earned active status in July of 2013, after completing an educational assessment program in 2012-13. The conference began competition as the 24th active NCAA Division II conference in 2013-14.

The G-MAC features both active and reclassifying members from Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, and West Virginia. Charter members of the G-MAC included Cedarville University, Kentucky Wesleyan College, Trevecca Nazarene University, and Ursuline College.

The G-MAC expanded with the inclusion of Alderson Broaddus University, Davis & Elkins College, Ohio Valley University, and Salem International University as active DII members. Recently, Malone University has announced it will be joining the G-MAC in 2016-17 as a full member, and then the University of Findlay, Hillsdale College, Lake Erie College, Ohio Dominican University, and Walsh University will join in 2017-18.

The G-MAC, headquartered in the Indianapolis metro area, will sponsor 18 championships in 2015-16 as an active NCAA Division II conference.
