THE STATUS OF THE CURRENT ALUMNI PROJECT

Since the announcement of the new alumni project, we have received $40 toward the goal of $4,000. Perhaps our concrete goal needs to be accompanied by a concrete target date and concrete means of channeling our gifts. Assuming this to be the case, we have selected December 20, 1964, as the target date and are sending to every alumnus an envelope that is both addressed and stamped, along with a blank check made out to the alumni fund.

THE STATISTICAL ABSTRACT

One of the most revealing ways of picturing the work of an academic institution is to publish a statistical abstract of its operations. Here are some of the more revealing tables of the latest college survey.

Graduate Schools Attended by Cedarville Graduates:

Butler University	San Diego State College
College of Idaho	Southern Illinois University
Eastern Michigan University	State College of Iowa
Indiana State College (Pa.)	State University of Iowa
Indiana University	Temple University
Iowa State University	University of Michigan
Kansas State University	University of the State of New York
Kent State University	University of Wisconsin
Miami University (Ohio)	Western Michigan University
Michigan State University	Western Reserve University
Moorehead State University	Wheaton College
Ohio State University	Xavier University
Ohio University

Geographical Distribution of Students Currently Attending Cedarville:

Ohio	236
Indiana	72
Michigan	70
New York	43
Illinois	36
Iowa	35
New Jersey	25
Pennsylvania	29
Wisconsin	8
Washington	7
Minnesota, Florida	5
Virginia, W. Virginia	4
Calif., Colo., Idaho, Kan.	3
Conn., Montana	2
Alaska, Kentucky, Ga., Maryland,	1
Neb., N. Hampshire, Texas

Conclusion: Geographical proximity seems to be an important element in student selection of Cedarville; however, strong influence by a local church (e. g. , First Baptist Church of Hackensack, New Jersey) can transcend geographical considerations.
