CEDARVILLE COLLEGE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION NAMES OFFICERS

During the annual dinner and business meeting May 29, the Cedarville College Alumni Association elected new officers to serve a two-year term.

Officers elected are William I. Brown, president, Dayton; Ty Bryant, vice president, Noblesville, Indiana; Stuart L. Chaffe, re-elected treasurer, Cedarville; and James R. Johnson, executive secretary, Cedarville.

As an alumni fund-raising project, the group has voted to underwrite the production of a college promotional film and publish a bi-monthly news section in connection with college and alumni activities.

WRITE

We are always glad to get letters from former students of Cedarville College and the Baptist Bible Institute of Cleveland. What are you doing? We don't know unless you or your friends tell us. A brief card or letter will help. But please write to share your life happenings with others. Write to Cedarville College Alumni Secretary, c/o of the college.

-MONTHLY PUBLICATION PLANNED BY OCTOBER

A bi-monthly publication is planned by the college with an October initiation. Included will be college activities as well as a page set aside especially for the Alumni Association. We believe this is a step forward and will be a means of keeping us better informed as an association of former students.

DR. CLIFFORD JOHNSON, LUNCHEON SPEAKER

Dr. Clifford Johnson, Academic Dean, was speaker at the annual luncheon of the alumni in May. Briefly, we give an outline of his talk, "The Academician and the Alumni:"

"It seems to be time to review basic principles of the alumni-college relationship. Let's pose questions which might help to give us insight into these principles.

- I. Should alumni be interested in the college that granted them their degrees: Assuming the answer might be 'yes'--Why?
  1. Previous alumni interest helped support the college when later alumni attended.
  2. A college needs outside criticism and evaluation to keep its offerings relevant. Those that support it tend to be willing to offer constructive criticism and have the right to do so.
  3. If a college can continue a strong reputation, the alumni benefit.
  4. Alumni tend to send their children to their alma mater.
  5. Members of GARBC should be interested in continuing the educational contributions of the approved schools.

What are some of the areas of mutual interest of alumni and faculty?

1. The success of graduates, evaluation of the program through the Graduate Record Examination, and vocational success of graduates.
2. New student recruiting, understanding minimum standards, interpreting accreditation, and especially encouraging young men to attend.
3. Faculty recruiting. Masters minimum and necessary dedication.

III. What are some of the basic elements of an adequate college-alumni program?

1. Excellent communications by keeping each other advised.
2. Clarify roles and extent of potential assistance by mutual admiration and kindly criticisms.
3. Understanding of the financial issues.
4. Prayer. "
