ALUMNI NEWS

August, 1965

Dear Alumnus:

During the annual Alumni Association meeting in May, 1965, the group voted to eliminate payment of $5 a year dues. Dues, they concluded, were unnecessary so long as each alumnus contributed every year for special projects and for operating expenses. In some instances, it resulted in a hardship for some who felt they were too far behind in payment of dues to catch up.

Our alumni project to be completed by October 1 and voted upon last year is to provide $4,000 for underwriting a promotional film for Cedarville College. Through the generous response of many members of our association, $1,500 has been paid on this obligation.

We have a current bill, however, of nearly $1,200, the second installment on this film. Our current alumni treasury balance is only $233.85. Financial obligations other than the project such as the postage, printing, secretary's salary, and miscellaneous bills must be met each month.

Collectively, without too much individual hardship, we can do much to place our Alumni Association on a sound financial basis and complete our obligations. Our group now numbers 500 persons. By systemized giving of a minimum of $1 a month, we would have $6,000 a year to work with while at the same time completing the task of paying for the film project.

The Alumni Association is a work of the Lord. Why not then channel some of our tithes and offerings toward this enterprise?

Also when giving to Cedarville College, let's designate through the Alumni Association. In this way, our group will get credit where credit is due, and it will indicate that we are more active than has been evidenced in the past. We know that giving from members of the alumni last year was generous in many ways. Our average per alumni member nevertheless showed only approximately fifty cents per person.

We have set October 1 as a deadline for meeting our project. Are we going to fail this year, or are we going to succeed? I personally have confidence in each alumnus to believe we will succeed.

Many have already given. Now, let's all join together and do our part.

Sincerely in Christ,

James R. Johnson
Executive Secretary
Cedarville College Alumni Association
