Women's Basketball Weekly Blog

January 30, 2017

Happy Monday Jacket fans! This week consisted of long road trips and the sweet smell of victory.

At the beginning of our week Coach Hoffman told us to prepare for this week like we were preparing to play Malone and Ursuline again. We were told to focus and be sharp. Our first two practices were pretty solid but they weren't our best and it showed on Wednesday in our game.

Before I get into the game, I would like to inform you about our road trip there. We loaded up the bus early Wednesday morning and embarked on our four and a half hour drive to Bluefield State. In the beginning, there was not a lot of talking or really any interaction because everyone cuddled up nicely in their seat and caught a few more z's. I am continually thankful for the new Cedarville charter buses for the comfort they provide us on long trips. About an hour in people started to stir and the thought of watching a movie popped up. It was unanimously decided that we were going to watch She's the Man. It's crazy how many of us actually quoted that movie by heart. Needless to say, we had a fantastic bus ride! And yes, there were also brief moments where we worked on homework, we are very studious, I promise.

On another note, the game did not go the way we had planned. We came out very sluggish and did not perform well. We actually went into half down four points. The halftime chat was not very pleasant and I never wish to be put in that situation again. We didn't get reamed and our heads didn't get chewed off but coach was not happy. She did yell and lose her mind, she was disappointed, disappointed that we weren't following the game plan and disappointed that we were not living up to the expectations of Cedarville basketball. The timer ran down and the second half commenced. Things turned around real quick. We started playing how we usually do and looked a lot more comfortable on the court. We ended up with a win but left with a bad taste in our mouths. We will never play that low again or I fear coach may get so stressed that she'll go into labor on the side lines...on a side note, I would like to give a special shout out to my roommate and best friend, Baylee Bennett. She nailed eight threes and matched the single-game three point record! The girl was on fire!!

Our next trip we were much more prepared and nothing felt off when we walked into Ohio Valley's gym. We were ready to take on the masses and boy did we ever. Our start was incredible and left Ohio Valley wondering if they should even be allowed on the same court as us. It was a great game for us to get our confidence back. Everyone got the chance to step on the hardwood and toss the rock around. If you didn't hear, Christina is back to playing! OVU was her first official game back and she crushed it! In the first minute of being on the floor she nabbed two boards and scored two points. It was great seeing her back in action! This win was much more satisfying and the coaching staff was a lot happier leaving this time.

This week I'm doing something a little different and ending with a Quote of the Week. This one comes from Coach Hoffman and it arose during the Ohio Valley game when Taylor Buckley was guarding Watts and things seemed to be getting a little heated. Coach started pacing the side lines very nervously and when her mouth opened she said, "Oh Buckley is going to get killed, someone needs to go get her." It came out half-jokingly and half-serious. It was fantastic!

I hope y'all have a fantastic week!
