CROSS COUNTRY FOR CHRIST

A "first" lies ahead for the student body at Cedarville College as plans are being finalized for the largest and most adventurous Student Body Project effort ever undertaken - a run across the country to proclaim the "Word of God and the Testimony of Jesus Christ" while raising funds for campus improvements.

"Cross Country for Christ," announced to the student body in February, has sparked the enthusiasm of students, faculty and staff members. The time is now for you, an alumnus of Cedarville College, to join in the run from Portland, Oregon, to Portland, Maine.

D-Day, Departure Day for the sixteen athletes as they leave the West Coast, is scheduled for August 20, 1973. Students, faculty and staff are actively working in the organization of the project. You, an alumnus, can also have a vital role in the success of the project.

The role of the alumnus in furthering this project is two-fold: participation of the local church in an evangelistic outreach and publicizing of the project through hometown news media.

The local church and youth groups located along the Cross Country route will have a perfect opportunity to organize informal evangelistic meetings. The runners will be traveling in shifts and there will be four runners available to share their testimonies at meetings, on radio, television interviews, and with news reporters.

TRUSTEE COMMENTS ON RESPONSIBILITIES

Dr. Younger speaking with Miss Jayne Eberling ('74).

One's perspective of the man holding the job as Chairman of the Board of Trustees can run the gamut from that of an old gray haired gentleman, detached from the pertinent concerns of the school, to that of a creative, vibrant man who vitally understands the needs of the college and seeks to meet them.

Dr. Thomas Younger, Chairman of the Cedarville College Board of Trustees, is a man who fits the second description. Dr. Younger is not only an individual who is interested in all aspects of the college in thought, but his thoughts mold actions.

Pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church of Fort Wayne, Indiana, Dr. Younger, who has been Board Chairman since 1971, has defined certain responsibilities that he feels are a distinct part of his relationship to the college and more specifically to the faculty, students, and alumni that constitute the college.

In speaking broadly of the role and function of a Cedarville College trustee, Dr. Younger feels that a trustee is only a part of the total operation of the school. The job of the trustee is to be an aid in determining the direction and purpose the college can take. He is responsible to some extent, for creating the ways and means by which certain directions can be followed and certain purposes can be met, but he is not directly involved in the close work of putting proposals into action.

In further explaining his viewpoint of the job of the trustee, Dr. Younger added, "One is committed in organizational life to be responsible for someone and to someone. The President, for example, is responsible to report to the Board, while at the same time, the President is responsible for the work of the Academic Dean."

The only way by which a college trustee can know the school and its people is to interact with the faculty, students, and alumni, and Chairman Younger sees this as one of his certain responsibilities.

While serving on the Board, he has visited the campus for the specific reasons of meeting with the faculty, and talking with students. He has shared in talk sessions in the men's dormitories. In the past he has spoken in chapel, and this has proved another avenue in which he can communicate and share thoughts and ideas with the college family.

Being a pastor with past, present and future students as part of the church is an advantage that is afforded to Dr. Younger and other pastors on the twenty-six member Board.

Relating to alumni needs of the college has been a way of keeping those graduates in tune with their Alma Mater. Listening to present students share ideas about the college has been an aid in planning for the future of the college. Presenting the college to the prospective students of his church has been used as a tool to aid high school students in looking toward their future and a college education.

Whether on campus for quarterly Board meetings or working with faculty, students and alumni on a certain project, Dr. Younger is an integral part of the college organizational life, as are the other men serving on the Trustee Board. He is a man who is both deeply interested and deeply involved in the beginnings of the academic, spiritual, and physical growth of Cedarville College.

SOUNDING BOARD

DEAR ALUMNUS,

I would like you, as a Cedarville alumnus, to take a look in an imaginary mirror. What do you see? What have you become? What has God made you to be? Cedarville College had a part in forming that image. Really, your dorm life, your academic life, your spiritual life at Cedarville helped make you what you are today. I am sure each of us can say "Praise God for His wonderful working in our lives."

I am challenging each alumnus to give at least $10.00 a month to Cedarville for three reasons: 1) It is needed to help further a young Christian's education; 2) It is needed to help Cedarville in its drive toward accreditation; 3) It is needed to help our Alumni Association's sense of unity and its contribution to Cedarville's mission.

Remember, if $10.00 a month is impossible for you, don't despair; a monthly gift of a lesser amount, or an annual gift of $10.00 or more, is very significant with respect to these needs.

I close with one last thought. Contrast the educational benefits for your child at a state-supported college or university with those of Cedarville by looking at the students they produce. Which school will your child attend? We need your gift now, so that our college can continue strengthening its tradition of quality Christian education.

CROSS COUNTRY FOR CHRIST (Cont'd)

A short letter, a telephone call or a visit to the local newspaper office, radio and television station by you, a Cedarville alumnus, can be used to inform them of the approaching gospel team and help to spread the goals and purposes of the runners.

The runners will be crossing the state lines of thirteen states. Alumnus, do you live in or near Salt Lake City, Utah; Cheyenne, Wyoming; North Platte and Grand Island, Nebraska? Are you within driving distance of Lincoln or Omaha, Nebraska; Burlington, Illinois, northern Indiana; Dayton, Mansfield or Cleveland, Ohio? Can you make a local telephone call to Buffalo, Geneva or Schenectady, New York? Do you live in any other city on the route? (See map.) If so, you have the opportunity to help make this worthwhile project a great success.

Whether it is organizing an enthusiastic church group for evangelistic outreach, or a letter sent to the local newspaper, radio and television stations, alumni can also be a part of the school's "Cross Country for Christ." For information about the project or organization of rallies, contact the Alumni Office, Cedarville College, Cedarville, Ohio 45314.

SPECIAL EDITOR'S NOTE:

Ty Bryant, Assistant Director of Development and Alumni Director for the past four years, has felt led of the Lord to re-enter the business world and has resigned his position at the college. Ty, his wife Pat, and their three children will be living in Noblesville, Indiana, where Ty will be assuming management responsibilities with Noble Industries. Under his leadership, the Alumni Association has matured in many ways and his efforts are greatly appreciated.

Sam and Ellen Hornbrook ('56), with five months of deputation left, are praising the Lord for the provisions He has afforded them. Their home church, Bible Mission Baptist, Reynoldsburg, IN., has provided a 1972 Plymouth Fury III for their use. Sam and son, Stephen, will be making a trip to Mexico the latter part of June to take a load of equipment and begin setting up the Bible Institute classes for next year.

Frank ('70) and Brenda ('71NG) Bale have finally made the move from Sao Paulo to Natal, Brazil. They had a few problems with late baggage and house repairs. Frank began teaching English classes early in March at the request of several nationals, who are preparing for their college entrance exams. Pray for Frank as he begins this new ministry.

Connie Barto ('67) has begun her teaching work in religious knowledge in two new schools on the field of Ghana, West Africa. She has joined an organization called Hour of Visitation Choir and Evangelistic Association. They produce a 15 minute radio broadcast every Sunday morning as well as conduct rallies and campaigns in churches and schools.

John ('64) and Judy (Marcellus) ('67) Bigelow send good news from Eagle River, Alaska. On February 8, sixteen adult believers met together to discuss church organization. After voting to constitute a New Testament Baptist church, both a proposed church covenant and articles of faith were presented, discussed and approved. They have had an increase in growth and interest in all of their services.

George and Joyce Goodwin ('68) are considering the purchase of property for their church in Winston, Oregon. They are seeing converts grow in the Lord and new people are coming to the services. They ask continued prayer as they work in home missions.

Jeannie Lockerbie ('61) has written and had published her book "On Duty in Bangladesh". This is a first-hand account of the experiences of the American missionary during the emergence of the nation of Bangladesh. The book has been published by Zondervan Publishing House.

Dave ('69) and Darlene (Durkee) ('67) Fidler are awaiting word from the Bangladesh Embassy in Washington about their visas. They are looking forward to sending their goods in late May or early June, and their leaving from Chicago shortly after. They are praising the Lord for added support.
