ALUMNI CHAPEL CAMPAIGN PROGRESSES

Construction of the new Cedarville College chapel is progressing rapidly. The floor was poured September 30 and the steel roof girders were up two weeks later. The brick walls are almost finished on two sides of the building and the roof will be on before any bad winter weather arrives.

Many Alumni have rejoiced at the building of the new chapel. They remember a time when they were crowded into Alford Auditorium, or when they tried to concentrate while watching the chapel service on closed circuit TV—and are grateful for the Lord's new provision. The time is fast approaching when the current students at Cedarville College will be able to enjoy the worshipful atmosphere of a new chapel.

The Alumni attitude of understanding and concern for the need of a new chapel facility is reflected in their financial support. Already Alumni have supplied $25,000 for the project.

Cedarville College needs $500,000 by May 1976 to remain on schedule for chapel construction. The Alumni goal for the chapel fund this year is 10% of the total, or $50,000. If every Alumnus would give at least $15.00, the need would be met.

Please continue with prayer support for the chapel project, that the Lord would provide for the need as He sees fit.

1975-77 ALUMNI OFFICERS

The Alumni Association installed new officers during Homecoming at the Alumni Luncheon held Saturday, October 18.

Jack Willetts ('58) is the new Alumni Association President. Jack will retire in December as superintendent of the public schools in Brunswick, Ohio and has accepted the position of Director of Camp Patmos. Camp Patmos is a GARBC camp on Kelly's Island, Ohio, located in Lake Erie.

Serving with Jack as Vice President is Sandra Entner ('59). Connie Rooke ('71) was elected for the position of Secretary, and A. D. "Buzz" Sweeney ('68) will serve a second term as Alumni Treasurer.

These officers, who will serve for the 1975-77 term, will be striving to continue the excellent record of progress that has been established by the immediate past president, Ron Grosh ('67) and his vice president Jim Englemann ('66).

SOUNDING BOARD

I feel that it is fitting at this time to pay some tribute to the man who has just completed two terms as President of the Cedarville Alumni Association.

In his last "Sounding Board" article which appeared in the July issue of Aviso, Ron Grosh stated that "perhaps a corollary condition to being an alumnus of an institution is the tendency to focus on 'the good old days' to the detriment of seeing present needs and challenges." However, that "corollary condition" has not been a characteristic of Mr. Grosh's leadership.

Though the development that has characterized the Association during the past four years cannot be attributed to the work of any one man, much of the progress must be recognized as a direct result of Ron's innovative and persistent spirit. Every phase of the Cedarville Alumni program has been criticized, examined, and expanded during the Grosh years.

It is perhaps worthy of additional note that this was done during the period in which Ron completed all of the requirements except the dissertation for his Ph.D. in Literature at Ohio State University.

So, as Mr. Grosh's life returns to normal, and he continues his research of "Petroleum Vesuvius Nasby and the Development of 19th Century Realism" we extend to him our best wishes and many thanks for four years of creative guidance.

Alumni Awards Presented

At the Homecoming Luncheon, Saturday, October 18, Dr. George Lawlor and William M. Pierson were honored as this year's Alumni award recipients. Dr. Lawlor was presented the "Honorary Alumnus" award and Bill Pierson was recognized as "Alumnus of the Year".

The teaching of Dr. George Lawlor, Honorary Alumnus, has had a profound influence upon the lives of hundreds of young people who have had the privilege of sitting under his instruction during his past 16 years at Cedarville College.

His courses in Greek grammar and exegesis, as well as the variety of Bible courses he has taught, have provided a firm foundation for the ministries of many. But Dr. George Lawlor has imparted more than academic knowledge to his students. Through his teaching, Dr. Lawlor has provided a pattern of sincerity and spiritual maturity for students to learn in becoming a servant of Christ.

Dr. Lawlor came to Cedarville with 15 years of pastoral and 7 years of teaching experience. He is currently teaching only a partial load in preparation for full retirement. He has given almost 25 years of service for Christ through teaching.

Dr. Lawlor holds several degrees: B.A. Barton College; B.D., Th.M., and Th.D. Grace Theological Seminary. Because of his devotion to Cedarville College and its students, the Alumni Association wanted Dr. Lawlor to be able to call Cedarville "Alma Mater".

Alumnus of the Year, William Pierson, is a 1965 graduate of Cedarville College. He attended Grace Theological Seminary, receiving his Master of Theology degree in 1968.

Upon graduation from Grace, Bill joined the Association of Baptists for World Evangelism (ABWE) as Assistant to the Treasurer. In 1972 he accepted the position of Treasurer. This job carries with it a major portion of the responsibility for the operation of ABWE.

Bill has also distinguished himself as a significant speaker in the field of missions. He has represented ABWE at many conferences and candidate schools and spoken for mission boards other than his own. During the winter of 1974 he was the keynote speaker for the South American field council assembly.

William Pierson is an Alumnus who has clearly decided to use his talents in significant service for the Lord. Bill said that he is truly humbled by the award—and looks upon it as a challenge to himself to be even more committed to serving Christ in his life.

Cedarville Alumni Chapters have now been organized in four major areas: Dayton, Cleveland, and Akron, Ohio; and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. These geographical centers alone account for over 30% of the College's graduates and former students.

Plans for the future include the organization of chapters in four additional cities and the creation of a program for locations that have only sparse Alumni representation.

The purposes of the Cedarville Alumni Chapters are to arrange meetings of Alumni and friends of the College and to keep the Alumni informed regarding Cedarville's growth and current programs. In addition, the chapters are an instrument for spiritual enrichment and continuing education.

It is also hoped that the Alumni Chapters will enable many members of the Association to become personally involved in the ministry of Cedarville College through significant areas of responsibility.

As Cedarville Alumni activities begin in your locale, you will have the opportunity to not only contribute to the future of your Alma Mater, but to allow your College to have a continuing impact upon your life "For the Word of God and the Testimony of Jesus Christ."

What American Revolution?

by Dr. J. Murray Murdoch

As the United States approaches July 4, 1976, a sudden wave of interest in American history has enveloped the nation. People at every level have suddenly become sensitized to the birth of their nation.

And yet some are perplexed by a nagging question. Can a Christian legitimately celebrate a "Revolution" in light of Romans 13? Webster defines revolution as "a sudden, radical, or complete change; a fundamental change in political organization, especially the overthrow or renunciation of one government or ruler and the substitution of another by the governed."

Is this what happened in America two centuries ago? The most obvious answer is yes, but the most correct answer is a resounding NO. In fact, given the above definition, there never was an American Revolution!

Very few references to a revolution are to be found in the writings of the founding fathers. The term is actually the designation of historians. More specifically, it best fits the Economic Determinist School of historiography. Men like Merrill Jensen, Charles Beard, and Carl Becker considered the struggle of 1776 to be an internal revolution of the poor masses (radicals) against the rich (conservatives). This interpretation simply does not fit the evidence. America had some rich and some poor, but most people rested between these extremes.

When the first settlers came to America, they brought with them charters that had been granted by the King of England. These charters guaranteed the colonists of all their RIGHTS AS ENGLISHMEN in spite of their emigration. Further, they were assured that these basic rights would be passed on to future generations in America.

At the time the King granted these charters he was in fact a ruling monarch. However, during the course of the seventeenth century, the English people developed an increasing concern for representative government. This concern led to the so-called "Glorious Revolution" of 1688-89 in which royal power was greatly expanded. As a consequence the representative wing of the English government became much more powerful. During the same century the American colonists were developing their own representative government as exemplified by the House of Deputies in Massachusetts and the House of Burgesses in Virginia. The question eventually would become which representative group had control in America; Parliament or the Colonial legislatures?

This question clearly surfaced at the time of the Stamp Act (1765) and rested at the heart of such subsequent issues as the Declaratory Act, the Townshend Duties (including the Tea Tax), and the Intolerable Acts. The documents of this period from 1765-75 are filled with this theme as the colonists repeatedly speak of their rights as Englishmen. Even when taking up arms against the mother country, the First Continental Congress pleaded that these ancient rights be respected and the Empire relieved of the "Calamities of Civil War" (July 6, 1775). Only after a year of conflict was the Congress reconvened. The Second Continental Congress then hesitantly moved toward independence.

In this whole process the American position remained remarkably consistent. The colonists were defending the rights guaranteed to them at the time of their emigration by their original charters. What occurred was not a revolution! It was a War for Independence in which the colonists sought to preserve—not overthrow—the status quo. This is the context in which the Christian may best formulate his viewpoint on this fascinating period of American history.

Martin J. Cossins ('75) is interim youth pastor at Faith Baptist Church in Greenville, Ohio. He and his wife Sharon ('67) are waiting upon the Lord to lead them into full-time service.

FOCUS ON THE FIELDS

Verne ('55) and Helen ('69) Kirby, on the field of Alaska with Baptist Mid-Missions, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary August 12. They have been serving in Alaska for the last 11 years. The nine years before that they were missionaries in the hills of Kentucky. Three of their five children are attending Cedarville College.

After much praying and searching for a mission field, Gordon Wimer ('55) and his wife received a radio call from Liberia that their mission authorization for the Ivory Coast had been received. This means they will be able to establish independent Baptist churches in the Department of Guiglo in Ivory Coast. They left August 18 for the field.

Home on furlough from Africa, Patsy King ('57) is enjoying her visits to friends and churches but misses her work in Africa. Her return to the field will be delayed for a while as a pain in her right side has been diagnosed as possibly arthritis of the rib cage.

Kenneth ('60) and Donna (Roost '65) Doctor and family left near the end of July for Fortaleza, Brazil. They will serve as short-term missionary teachers at the Baptist Mid-Missions Academy in Fortaleza.

DeElda ('60) and Nancy ('57) Payton and their family experienced many victories in their last five years in the province of Leyte del Sur, The Philippines. Several professions of faith have been made in dramatic ways. The national Christians have begun a personal soul winning ministry with a goal of 87 converts within 1975. The Payton's are presently on furlough.

Though home on furlough, the Entner's (Jim '61) report that the clinic project in the Philippines is progressing well. The initial piece of land has been bought and materials are being shipped in.

Jeannie Lockerbie ('61) has outlined some of her duties as missionary in Chittagong, Bangladesh. She and a staff of ten full-time workers try to produce and distribute Christian literature for the 80 million people in that land. Once a week she and another missionary conduct a medical clinic. She is also teaching school once again—to the lone school-age missionary child, first grade.

On August 2, John ('64) and Judy ('67) Bigelow and their three boys left for Alaska, their mission field through Baptist Mid-Missions, after 11 months of furlough. They left with five pianos, their pick-up, boxes and furniture. The entire family was looking forward to returning to service in Eagle River Alaska.

After a busy and exciting three-month furlough, Chuck ('67) and Bev Truxton are back on the field in Jos Nigeria. Certain outside pressures had threatened to close the hospital there and although the situation has calmed down it is still far from normal.

James Davis ('68) was recently appointed as a missionary to the Republic of the Philippines with the Conservative Baptist Foreign Mission Society (CBFMS). Jim, with his wife and two children, will be stationed in Manilla. He will take the position of business administrator at the mission's Manilla headquarters.

A summer ministry in the parks of Vienna began June 2 for John Rueck ('68) and his family, missionaries with Child Evangelism Fellowship. In the five-day clubs children gathered to hear a missionary story, sing, learn a Bible verse and listen to a Bible story with a Gospel message. Several children received Christ.

Located in Wa, Upper Region in Ghana, West Africa, Martha Cox ('70) is with Baptist Mid-Missions teaching in the school for missionary children. She has been teaching there since November 1974.

Robert ('70ng) and Jane (Austin '70) Kilko set September 30 as their target date for leaving for their field of service—Sao Paulo, Brazil. That day is the two-year anniversary of their first deputation meeting. They have 85% of their support, have received their passports, and have had their visas authorized.

Jack Catteau ('71), on deputation before serving with High School Evangelism Fellowship, Inc. in the High School Born-Againers program, was married August 2. Jack and his new wife, Connie, are anxious to serve the Lord in the high schools this fall.

September 16, Clif Jensen ('72) took his final F.A.A. Mechanics exam. The next ten months of his training at Moody Aviation will be spent in advanced flight training and practical aircraft experience.

Lillian Burkhart ('73) attended the Toronto Institute of Linguistics. She studied the "hows" of learning a foreign language. This will help her in her study of the language she will use on the field. Lacking only 27% of her support, she hopes to leave for the Central African Republic in January.

Joseph S. Weah ('74), his wife and seven children have returned to their native Liberia. Joseph is serving as Assistant Pastor of Calvary Baptist Church and Director of the Christian Day School of that church. In November he will be ordained into the ministry of the Gospel.

Steven Jay was born May 17, weighing 8 lbs., 1 oz. His parents are Dr. Jay ('64) and Nancy (Shimits '64) Moore.

William Bryant is the new son of Donald (67) and Patricia (Bird '66) Dunstan. He arrived on July 22 and weighed in at 6 lbs., 8 oz.

A girl, Tiffanie Lyn, was born to Martin J. ('75) and Sharon (Engle '67) Cossins on August 27. Tiffanie weighed 6 lbs., 14 oz.

Ron and Jan (DuBois '67) Hasselbring's son Daniel Blake was born June 11. He joined a 2-year-old sister Cindy.

On July 18, Jennifer St. Clair was born. She weighed 8 lbs., 10½ oz. Her parents are Norman and Dianna (DePuy '67) Underwood. Jennifer joins Meredith and Jamison in the Underwood family.

A new joy to parents Dr. and Mrs. R. Keith (Maxine Stanberry '68) is daughter Heather Kay. Heather was born August 9 and weighed 7 lbs., 7 oz.

Nasim Phileman, 8 lbs., 3 oz., was born to Sami and Roxanne (Butler '69) Kanani on August 7.

David ('69) and Susan (Adams '71ng) Gregory welcomed their son, Joshua David on August 27. He weighed 7 lbs., 7 oz. Joshua has a sister, Carlyn Brook, one and a half years old.

Bruce ('69) and Beverly (Hare '72ng) McDonald became the parents of Joshua Daniel on April 9. Joshua weighed 8 lbs., 7 oz.

A girl, Elizabeth Jane greeted her proud parents Stan ('69) and Mary (Trumphour '70) Brown on August 3. Her weight: 8 lbs., 6 oz.

On April 23, Benjamin Zachariah was born. He weighed 6 lbs., 10 oz. His parents are Danny ('70) and Charlotte (Willis '72) Ruffin.

Larry ('70) and Joan (Miller '71) Radcliff's daughter Lisa Dawn was born April 11 weighing 7 lbs., 15 oz.

Roger and Linda (Nelson '71) Ferguson of Cedarville had a baby boy, David Bruce, on September 22.

Jim ('71) and Cathy (Getz '71) Hostetler welcomed their son Joel Daniel on August 28. He weighed 9 lbs., 3 oz.

A 5 lb. 14½ oz. baby boy was born to Larry ('71) and Pat Ice. Scott Alan arrived August 27.

Missionaries in training, Clif ('72) and Hannah (Stowall '71) Jensen were blessed with a baby girl, Sarah Elizabeth, 7 lbs., 1 oz. on August 8. She joins a big brother, David.

Jeffrey ('71) and Janet (Gabriel '71) Seeley are the proud parents of a new baby girl, Jennifer Lauren. She arrived September 10 weighing 6 lbs., 15 oz.

Benjamin Alan was born to Joe and Sandy (Gowman '71) Kopchick on April 11 weighing 9 lbs., 14 oz.

Bob and Theresa (Eckstein '73ng) Cody "praise God" for their new son, Robert Jesse. Born July 24, he weighed 7 lbs., 6 oz.

The happy parents of Trisha Marie are Steve ('75ng) and Betty (Roberts '75ng) Larson. Trisha weighed 7 lbs., ½ oz. when she arrived on July 14.

ALUMNI HONORED BY STUDENTS

Each spring quarter, during the Awards Day Chapel, the student government makes two award presentations. One is for Outstanding Faculty Member, the other is Outstanding Staff Member. Students determine who will receive the awards.

OUTSTANDING FACULTY MEMBER

"I was surprised and gratified to receive the award," commented Professor Larry Killian ('64). "I guess I just don't think of myself as being in that category."

Although Mr. Killian was surprised, a quick look at his activities and achievements, both before coming to Cedarville and as a faculty member, show why he was selected for the award. "I suppose I qualified because of my concern for Christian education at many levels," Larry said.

Larry taught science and math on the junior high level before coming to Cedarville College as Associate Professor of Biological Science in 1968. At the college level he feels that his gift of teaching has been put to use to take scripture, explain the sense of it and make it applicable to the student's life. Larry's goal in the classroom is to totally integrate knowledge and scripture.

Aside from his duties at the College, Prof. Killian has been Dean of the Xenia Bible Institute for five years. He has also been on the board of the Xenia Christian Day School for the same length of time.

Larry graduated from Cedarville College in 1964. He received a second Bachelor degree from Central State State University in 1965, and did his graduate work at Syracuse University in New York, receiving his M.S. in 1968. He also did research for Standard Oil of Ohio for four years.

OUTSTANDING STAFF MEMBER

Joyce King, Secretary to the Physical Education and Athletic Director, had to be tricked into being present to receive her award. She doesn't usually attend special award presentations. This time, however, she thought that her husband, Cross Country and Track Coach Elvin King, would be receiving an award and decided to attend. When she realized she had been selected as Outstanding Staff Member, she was amazed.

"I was honored, really. It is just not something I expected or ever thought about. I just try to do my job and get the things done that need to be done," she commented.

Joyce, who attended Cedarville from 1960-62, returned to the College in 1969 when her husband accepted his position.

In addition to her regular secretarial duties, Joyce handles all of the MIS travel arrangements and passports. She has been co-sponsor for the Cheerleaders for three years. She does junior high work in her church and helps with the music.

"I love my work," she said, "It keeps me in close touch with my husband's work and it is the best job on campus!"
