GAME DAY

Great Midwest Athletic Conference Volleyball Championship
Callan Athletic Center • Cedarville University
Friday & Saturday, Nov. 16-17, 2012

G-MAC Volleyball Championship Preview

With an undefeated regular-season, Cedarville University (30-6 overall and 8-0 in conference) earned the top seed and the right to host the inaugural G-MAC Volleyball Championship. The Yellow Jackets are the heavy favorite as in eight conference contests this season, they won six of the eight matches by a 3-0 score and overall lost just two sets out of 26 played in conference. In fact, Cedarville won 18 of its 30 matches by a 3-0 score

CU will be led by a solid rotation of talent, including plenty of depth. Hannah Wagner, a three-time G-MAC Athlete of the Week, is tied for second in hitting percentage (.303) and ranks third in both kills per game (3.01) and blocks per game (0.73).

The depth of talent provides Cedarville the option for multiple players to step up and lead the team. In fact, the Yellow Jackets as a team rank first in hitting percentage (.207), assists per game (11.95), kills per game (12.80), blocks per game (1.87), and service aces per game (2.32).

Stephanie Rogers leads the conference in hitting with a percentage of .313, and she ranks second with 0.76 blocks per game, but is first overall with 94 total blocks. Her per game average is second, one spot ahead of teammate Wagner, and one spot behind teammate Tori Thompson (0.81). CU also holds the top three individual spots in service aces: Maddie Anderson is first with 0.61 per game, Kara Yutzy is second with 0.39, and Lori Inkrott is third with 0.38.

Cedarville's biggest competition is most likely to come from Trevecca Nazarene University, who was able to steal a game from Cedarville in the final weekend of the regular season. The game was tight throughout with a match score of 25-23, 25-21, 19-25, 25-23 in favor of Cedarville.

In the first match between the two teams, Cedarville won 3-0 in a dominating performance (25-23, 25-8, 25-17). However, since that match, TNU is 8-4 with five wins by 3-0 and in each loss they won at least one game. The Trojans are led by their all-around leader, Kristen Johnson, who is a four-time G-MAC Athlete of the Week.

On the season, Johnson has recorded 15 triple-doubles, including in four in her last five contest. In the teams final match against Cedarville, Johnson recorded 16 kills, 14 assists, and 13 digs. She leads the team in kills (3.0 per game), while ranking second on her team in assists and hitting percentage, and she even ranks third on the team in blocks.

In the conference ranks, Johnson is the only player to rank in the top team in five of the six categories, though she does rank in the top ten in all six categories based on her totals rather than per game averages. She ranks fourth in hitting (.252); fourth in kills (3.0), but is second with 387 overall kills; sixth in assists (4.06), seventh in blocks (0.49), and eighth in digs (2.83). Her 0.25 service aces per game are just outside the top-ten, but her 32 service aces overall are better than four of the current top ten.

As a team, TNU ranks second in every category behind Cedarville, except in blocks where they rank third behind Cedarville and Ursuline, and in digs, which they do rank second, but behind Ursuline again.

G-MAC Volleyball Championship Preview

Of course, the semifinal match between TNU and #3 seed Urbana is not a given as the two teams split the regular season and tied in the standings with a 5-3 record. Trevecca earned the higher seed through tiebreakers, but Urbana has the ability to advance into the finals.

Urbana is led by the conferences leader in kills, Kelsey Volkmer, who had 4.09 kills per game and 417 kills total, 30 kills more than the second leading total. Volkmer is a two-time G-MAC Athlete of the Week and will pair up with Mary Hendricks, who was the conferences leader in assists. Her 680 assists was third overall in total, but she managed to record a conference best 7.08 assists per game after playing in only 96 games compared to the conference average of around 120.

Ursuline and Central State will battle in the first round for the right to play Cedarville in the semifinals. During the regular season Ursuline defeated Central State 3-0 in both contests. However, Ursuline won just one set in the other six matches - coming in the first set of its 3-1 loss to Cedarville.

Alex Leister, who was named G-MAC Athlete of the Week in the third week of the regular season, led the Arrows in hitting, kills, and service aces, and was second in digs. She was second in the conference in kills per game (3.18), fourth in digs per game (3.69), and sixth in service aces (0.30 per game).

Central State will look to Brein Babbs, who was seventh in assists per game in the conference (3.14), and Erin McKnight, who was sixth in the conference in kills per game (2.36).

Volleyball Player of the Week

(Nov. 4-10)

Stephanie Rogers
Cedarville • Junior • Carmel, IN

As the regular-season came to a close this past week, the Lady Jackets wrapped up the #1 seed in the G-MAC Championships, which Cedarville will host. After finishing with a perfect 9-0 conference record, Stephanie Rogers has been named the G-MAC Volleyball Athlete of the Week.

Rogers recorded a match-high 20 kills against Trevecca Nazarene University, who will be the #2 seed in the tournament, in a 3-1 win to wrap up the top seed. Rogers totaled 35 kills, 10 digs, and 4.5 blocks over the last week of the season. This is Rogers first Athlete of the Week award, as her numbers have not been flashy, but consistent, which has allowed her to finish the season ranked among the best in the conference in multiple categories.

Rogers holds the best hitting percentage in the conference at .313 (334-92-774). She ranks fifth in kills and ranks second in blocks per game, but has totaled the most blocks (94) in the conference.
