HAPPY NEW YEAR!

Alumni Council 1981-83

A WORD WITH ALUMNI

Dear Alumnus,

I thank you and congratulate you for faithfully supporting your alma mater with your prayers and your gifts. A 25% participation in alumni giving was achieved for fiscal '81.

Cedarville is one of the finest Christian colleges in America and your involvement helps to make this possible. Alumni continue to join with faculty, staff, and students in support of this institution. This is evident by looking at our annual fund history. In the past ten years, alumni annual giving has increased from $17,019 to $136,268 or 700%. Nearly 1200 alumni contributed to the college in 1981.

Homecoming '81 is past, but it was a weekend that more than 400 alumni will long remember. They were kept busy enjoying festivities, such as a parade with over 30 units, a 10,000-meter road run, a student-heritage alumni dinner, dedication of the new Athletic Center, class reunion parties, faculty/alumni social, and a special luncheon at which the Cedarville College Alumni Association awards were presented.

It was, indeed, a busy weekend—a special time to renew old friendships and make new acquaintances; to visit with that roommate or professor whom you had not seen in years; to tour the campus and again walk in buildings and places where you once walked daily; and, also, to visit the new or remodeled buildings.

If you have never attended a Homecoming reunion weekend, I invite you to consider it.

At the present, the excitement on campus is nearing a climatic stage as the Athletic Center becomes more functional. Completion of the racquetball courts is progressing, but not as rapidly as the second floor student center where the snack shop and lounge should be in use before Christmas! On Friday, November 20, the inaugural basketball game in the new facility was held with Cedarville defeating Dyke College of Cleveland, followed on Saturday with a victory over Muskingum, which earned Cedarville the championship trophy in the Cedarville College Invitational Tournament.

I'm certain you are aware these facilities are open to you, and I especially invite you to come back on campus and witness the physical changes, the student enthusiasm, and God's blessings.

Sincerely in Christ,

Gary Kuhn

HOMECOMING 1981

Alumnus of the Year Award

Rev. and Mrs. Walter L. Banks

In August of 1974, Walter L. Banks joined the Bible department of Moody Bible Institute to help train students for church-related vocations. But he was no stranger to higher education. A graduate of Baptist Bible Institute of Cleveland, Ohio, Burton College of Colorado, and a 1953 graduate of Cedarville College, Rev. Banks had taught for fourteen years between 1951 and 1966 at the Baptist School of the Bible in Cleveland, where he also served as president and dean.

During this same period he also was a home missionary of Baptist Mid-Missions from 1951-1956, the pastor of the newly-formed Bible Baptist Church of Cleveland from 1959-1974, and attended Case Western Reserve University. In addition to his pastoral duties, Professor Banks developed an extensive daily radio ministry with several stations in Cleveland as well as in Puerto Rico. Since 1963, he has been heard on the international broadcast network of Moody Bible Institute in a weekly Bible study program, BIBLE ECHOES.

Professor Banks maintains an active ministry of speaking at churches, Bible conferences and camps, and Christian education and missions conferences. His sermons and other articles have appeared in various periodicals. Urban Ministries Publications of Chicago, David C. Cook Publications, and the Union Gospel Press have all used his Sunday school materials, his devotional writings, and his feature articles. He has hosted tours to Bible lands and various European locations, and has co-led an extended series of crusade meetings in Jamaica.

Honorary Alumnus Award

Richard T. McIntosh

Twenty-one years ago, a man came to Cedarville College with his family to fill a part-time post as dean of students and a part-time post as instructor of English. Born in Norwalk, Ohio, and having professed Christ at the age of seven in a Christian and Missionary Alliance church, Richard T. McIntosh graduated in 1952 from Bryan College in Dayton, Tennessee, where he met his wife Barbara.

He pastored Grace Brethren Church in Troy, Ohio, for three years before moving to Indiana to attend Grace Theological Seminary, where he earned his Master of Divinity and completed his residence for his Master of Theology. While a seminary student, he pastored throughout the four years before accepting a call to the Northside Baptist Church of Lima, Ohio.

During the past decade or more, Mr. McIntosh has taught full-time as Associate Professor of Bible, specializing in theology, missions, and Bible study methods. A logical outcome of his classroom commitment has been his lengthy tenure and time-consuming service on the faculty committee guiding the student Missionary Internship Service. He has served several terms on the Board of Deacons of Grace Baptist Church of Cedarville and is currently its chairman. He continues to accept numerous invitations to fill pulpits and to conduct Bible conferences.

Enjoying the alumni reunion are Monroe Pyles ('38N), Mrs. Herman Scott, Doris (Ramsey '41) Bovard, Wilmette (Ackerman '36) Wilson, and Geraldine Henry ('34).

Ice cream and conversation for Alice and Ken Cole ('70), Rev. Randy Patten ('71), Nancy (Hare '76N) and Tom Farlow ('73), and Ron Thomas ('77).

Wavealine Kelso ('38) and Julia (McCallister '36) Weaver reminisce.

Alumni Return Full Time

The familiar faces of alumni frequent Cedarville's campus whether it be for the activities of homecoming, a basketball game, or an artist series concert. They eagerly come, renew old acquaintances, and they leave, reflecting upon past memories of "how it used to be." Recently, some alumni have made Cedarville their home, becoming part of the college staff or faculty.

Anne (Rodgers '76) Rich, a business administration major, is employed as a full-time instructor in the business department. She is presently teaching classes in accounting and income taxes. After receiving her M.S. in Accounting from the University of Central Florida, Anne worked for a Houston firm as a C.P.A. She finds herself more excited about Cedarville College now than when she was a student. To Anne, teaching at Cedarville is a challenge because of the one-to-one relationship she has with each student under her guidance.

Another 1976 graduate is Kurt Moreland who is an assistant professor in the speech department. Kurt received his M.A. in Communication Theory and Research from West Virginia University and then attended Purdue University for three years working toward his doctorate in speech communications. Kurt is happy to be back and notes a positive improvement in the academic development of the school.

John Potter ('79) and his wife Ginny (Decker '80) also have found themselves back at Cedarville College. Besides being a resident advisor for the dorms on "The Hill"—Marshall, Carr, and Rogers—John is involved as a coordinator for several Christian service ministries. Ginny works in the Christian service department helping with the presentation aspects of the Swordbearers and the puppet teams in addition to teaching part time in the English department.

Additional positions filled by alumni include Kim Hosack ('80), secretary for the physical education department; John Hart ('81), who travels for the college as admissions representative; Brenda Boley ('81), health center staff nurse increasing the nurses to three; Amy (Young '80) Womack, campus activities secretary; and Debra Moody ('81), publicity director for the activities office.

Placement Center Offers Alumni Service

David Gaffner

A person returning to the basement of the administration building expecting to find the student personnel office will walk instead into Cedarville's new Placement Center.

In the past, each department was individually responsible for lining up job opportunities for its graduating seniors. This year the placements are centralized under a newcomer to Cedarville's staff, Dave Gaffner. Dave may be new to the staff, but he is closely acquainted with the college, being a 1969 alumnus.

Dave stated, "As a Cedarville graduate, I am excited that this placement office exists." During the year, students will be offered workshops and information dealing with job-searching techniques, resume writing, evaluation of job opportunities, and other subjects. In addition, there will be job interview opportunities. "For those stepping from college to the job market, there is information on companies from A to Z and, hopefully, we will be able to alleviate some of the difficulties alumni have faced," continued Dave.

This year the Placement Center will handle a job-search for all seniors except those in education; also, the center will provide services for alumni who have entered the pastorate and are searching for churches. Next year, services will be extended to the education department and to all alumni.

Dave is experienced in the realm of placement. He comes back to Cedarville from a Michigan high school where he held the post of guidance counselor. Dave taught for seven years and, for a time, was on the staff of an Iowa church as director of Christian education.

You can be of tremendous help if you are in a position to hire or if you know someone who is, by sending us the name and address for an initial contact.

Walter Banks holds membership in the Fundamental Baptist Fellowship Association and the National Black Evangelical Association. He serves on the boards of a mission in Tennessee, Carver Bible School of Kansas City, and Dayton's crisis center, The Listening Post. He has been awarded an honorary doctorate by the Carver Bible Institute of Atlanta, Georgia.

The alumni of Cedarville College hereby express their appreciation for God's work in and through the life of Walter L. Banks and issue to him this citation naming him Alumnus of the Year.

Concerned for the quality of performance and lifestyle at Cedarville College, Professor McIntosh has exerted a significant influence toward the development of an effective faculty tenure process. He currently chairs the committee which researches and evaluates information on faculty performance to help his colleagues and the institution mature.

His concern for the community is evidenced by his five years of service as an active trustee of the Kyle Medical Center. This successful community project has attracted a physician to a Cedarville practice and has erected suitable medical facilities.

Perhaps recalling his strenuous days as both student and pastor, this busy man has made himself available to a Saturday Bible-training extension ministry for a group of black Christian pastors and deacons. Meeting at the Second Baptist Tabernacle in Wilmington, Ohio, for most of the day, these men, typically called to the pulpit in mid-life with families and without much formal training, gather from Springfield, Cincinnati, Portsmouth, Circleville, Dayton, and Columbus to study under his guidance.

The alumni of Cedarville College hereby express our appreciation to God for His work in and through Richard T. McIntosh for the quality of his service for Christ. The alumni council, aware of his role in the lives of his many students, issues this citation naming him Honorary Alumnus and invites him to participate in any and all alumni activities.

The student body includes 104 married, 168 transfers, and 500 employed on campus. Business administration is the largest major, followed by elementary education, physical education, and Bible comprehensive.

Chosen "Outstanding Young Men of America" for 1981 by the United States Jaycees-endorsed program were two Cedarville College staff members, Myron Youngman ('76), Director of Campus Activities, and Gary Kuhn, Director of Alumni Relations.

William Gibson's "The Miracle Worker," a play depicting Anne Sullivan's first few weeks as the teacher of Helen Keller, was the fall drama production directed by Rebecca Baker. The spring production, scheduled May 13-14, is "The Rainmaker."

A two-part Discipleship Seminar was presented to the college family October 30-31 by Allen Hadidian, Pastor of the College Department of Grace Community Church, Sun Valley, California.

Recent Artist Series presentations were David Ford, bass, and The Hutsah Puppet Theatre's performance of J.R.R. Tolkien's classic, The Hobbit.

Over $92,000 was pledged during the July Telefund for the Cedarville College Athletic Center, conducted by 46 faculty and staff volunteers. Just under $300,000 is needed by spring 1982 to qualify for the $200,000 Kresge Grant.

Thirty-four students who hope to make the white uniform their own were excited when Dr. Lila Seaman, Administrative Assistant of the Nursing Program, announced approval of Cedarville College's nursing application by the Board of Regents and the Board of Nursing Education and Nurse Registration.

In its first year as a major, pre-engineering has attracted 25 students.

Accompanied by three faculty members, 36 students traveled to Stratford, Ontario, Canada, for the 29th Annual Stratford Theater Festival. The group witnessed four productions including Shakespeare's "Comedy of Errors" and "The Taming of the Shrew."

"The Bookstore," marketed nationwide by Christian Educational Publications, provides churches, camps, and Christian schools with spiritual Christian books and music for sale at a savings.

Bob Domokos Receives Doctorate

It was Labor Day weekend, 1958, when Pastor Ben Garlich challenged his congregation to full-time Christian service. A recent high school graduate responded, surrendering himself to serve the Lord. The following week Pastor Garlich drove him to the campus of Cedarville College to secure his admission as a student. Upon looking over his high school transcript, Dr. Clifford Maddox asked, "What are you doing here?" to which he replied, "I've been called to serve the Lord. Just give me an opportunity to come." Because of his personal testimony and the recommendation of Pastor Garlich, within a week Bob Domokos was sitting in classes at Cedarville College preparing for a lifetime of ministry. He was to rise from that humble beginning to stride across the graduation platform four years later and receive the coveted President's Trophy from the hand of Dr. James T. Jeremiah.

And who is this Bob Domokos? He was a farm boy from Windsor in northeast Ohio, born on July 12, 1938, born again at the age of 12 in response to a Sunday morning public invitation in the Huntsburg Baptist Church. Upon his graduation from Cedarville in 1962, he married Miss Shirley Harrington ('61) and entered Grace Theological Seminary, Winona Lake, Indiana, from which he received his Bachelor of Divinity degree in 1965. Ordained to the gospel ministry in December, 1965, he pastored the Bible Baptist Church of Huntington, Indiana, and then the Poland Village Baptist Church near Youngstown, Ohio. While pastoring, he completed his Master of Theology degree from Grace. In 1972 Bob accepted the invitation to join the faculty of Faith Baptist Bible College in Ankeny, Iowa, as head of the Pastoral Ministries Department where he is currently serving the Lord. In 1980 he received the Doctor of Ministries degree from the Trinity Divinity School of Theology in Deerfield, Illinois, with an emphasis in Church Management. The topic of his dissertation was A Manual for Local Church Evangelism: A Program of Motivational Instruction for Local Church Outreach.

During his Ankeny years, Bob has become a beloved and respected teacher among the students and faculty alike. His practical and personable approach to life has been a blessing to many, and his sense of humor is always alive and well. Along with his classroom ministry and doctoral labors have been eight interim pastorates. This Ohio farm boy has proved that he is not afraid of hard work!

We rejoice with Bob's wife Shirley, son Mike, 16, and daughter Brenda, 14, in his accomplishments. We are proud of Bob Domokos; may our Lord give him many more years of effective ministry "...for the Word of God and for the testimony of Jesus Christ" Revelation 1:9.

History...the way it was!

A unique family in the history of Cedarville College is still a familiar name in the Cedarville area today—Stormont. When Harold and Ida (Creswell) Stormont encouraged their five children to attend Cedarville College, little did they know of the precedent they were setting. Graduates were Bertha, 1911; Edna, 1914; Mabel, 1917; and James, 1931. Meryl was a nongrad, class of 1919.

Three of their five children married Cedarville alumni, and of their 14 grandchildren, seven attended Cedarville College, five of which married Cedarville alumni. At least twenty Stormont family members have walked the halls of Cedarville College.

This information comes as a background to establish the "roots" for an alumni couple who spend much of their time helping others find their roots. Rev. and Mrs. James Stormont of Lake Alfred, Florida, are the only married couple who are both members of the class of 1931.

James and Edith have their master's degrees and each has done additional graduate work. James has four degrees and Edith holds two. Rev. Stormont was a United Presbyterian minister in western Pennsylvania for 22 years. He taught physics and chemistry at Dade Junior College, Florida, until he retired in 1973, and he continues to preach and conduct Bible studies by invitation.

Mrs. Stormont, the former Edith Elizabeth Foster, is a prolific writer of historical events and is in frequent demand as a lecturer. Together, they have founded a nonprofit organization, The Creswell Family, Inc. The purpose of this organization is to preserve American ideals and the history of American families as researched by families themselves. Their background in this area is impressive since they have spent 40 years gathering material. Three years were spent compiling and typing the information for the Stormont history. The Stormonts have numerous reference books and know all the steps in tracing a family tree. Each month, they average about 100 phone calls requesting information.

The Stormonts' children and grandchildren will enjoy their family history without having to research it; but for James and Edith, that has been part of the fun.

Attending Homecoming activities were Stormont family members: James, Bertha, Edna, and Mabel.

"Our Jewish Heritage"

"It is entirely different from homecoming—the spiritual emphasis was great."

"No cooking or cleaning...that's a vacation."

"There was a lot of free time, great music and entertainment; but the speakers made it so worthwhile."

"Alumni Enrichment was the highlight of our summer...the kids are still talking about it."

These are just a few quotes from alumni who attended last year's enrichment conference. This year the alumni volunteers planning this experience have already invested many hours as a committee in developing the program which promises to bring you an excellent physical, social, and spiritual time. Mark June 30-July 3 on your schedule today!

"Our Jewish Heritage" is the theme for next summer's conference. Join us in the trip to the Holy Land, via slides and lectures as you relax on the campus of Cedarville College. Special speakers include Dr. James T. Jeremiah, Chancellor of Cedarville College; Rev. David Levi of the Friends of Israel Gospel Ministry, and Rev. Gerald Smelser, Cedarville College trustee and former superintendent of Cleveland Hebrew Mission.
