87th Commencement

On Saturday, June 4, Cedarville College conferred degrees on its largest senior class in the 95-year history of the school. Receiving four-year diplomas at the annual commencement ceremonies, held in the Athletic Center, were 344 graduates along with 22 two-year secretarial science students who received certificates. Dr. Wilbert W. Welch, former president of Grand Rapids Baptist College and Seminary, was awarded an honorary Doctor of Letters degree.

President Paul Dixon's commencement address challenged the graduates to live by their class verse, Philipians 1:20. The baccalaureate graduates include 63 in business administration, 59 in education, 47 in Biblical education, 35 in psychology, 35 in science and mathematics, 30 in social science, 21 in language and literature, 20 in health and physical education, 17 in music, and 17 in communication arts.

Because of the large graduating class, the traditional Friday evening President's Banquet for graduates and their families was changed to a program by the seniors and a reception in honor of the graduates and their parents.

ALUMNI COUNCIL REPORT

The following items were discussed and reviewed at the May 14, 1983, Alumni Council meeting and are reported to keep you up-to-date on the activities of your Alumni Association.

Annual Fund. The Alumni Council agreed at the August 1982 meeting to accept the challenge of raising $100,000 for the college general operating fund. There were no parameters as to time limitations, but it was hoped that within the fiscal year the goal could be attained. At the end of April, $54,527 had been received for the Torch Club, radio, and other designated general fund gifts.

Athletic Center. At the end of April, Alumni contributions to the Athletic Center for the fiscal year 1982-83 amounted to $21,742.68. Many pledges by Alumni have been met this year. Chuck Ross, Director of Development, expressed his appreciation for the faithful support of Alumni in this capital project.

Scholarship and Grant Endowment Fund. Four scholarships of $500 each were awarded at the May 6 Honors Day Chapel. Chairmen of the Biblical Education, Language and Literature, Education, and Social Science departments introduced the award recipient from their respective departments.

John W. Bickett Heritage Scholarship Fund. This fund was started in April of 1982 by several Heritage Alumni interested in recognizing those early graduates who helped lay the foundation of this college. The first recipient of this award received a $300 scholarship for the 1983-84 academic year. The fund balance is $4,292.

Summer Enrichment Conference. Applications are beginning to arrive for this July 20-23 extravaganza! Alumni are encouraged to bring their entire family to this spiritual, enriching vacation on the Cedarville College campus. John ('60) and Sandy (Millikin '59) Entner and Michael ('68) and Carol (Simonetti '68) Hamilton were commended for their assistance in planning the program for this timely conference.

Budget. The Alumni department budget for the 1982-83 fiscal year was reviewed. The 1983-84 approved budget was also presented for the council's consideration.

Alumni Directory. Study continues on the type and format to be used in the printing of the next directory. Bids are being pursued. By Council approval the directory will be sent to all alumni making a contribution of $15 or more during 1983.

Phonathon. Gary Kuhn reported 470 pledges totaling $25,468 were recorded by the 70 faculty and staff members, alumni, and student phone volunteers. An additional 336 responders indicated they might send a gift.

Respectfully submitted,
Debbie (Bush) Haffey '68
Secretary

Alumni Summer Enrichment Conference 1983

The Christian, His Finances, and the Economy

God has given us Biblical principles to direct us in making, investing, and sharing the money He supplies. This conference is designed to teach and to counsel on God's principles of finance.

This spiritually enriching vacation is for the entire family. At today's cost for motels, restaurants, and recreational activities, this price is a bargain. Plan to join the many alumni and friends and send in your registration today.

Phonothon Surpasses Goal!

During the month of April nearly 70 faculty and staff members, area alumni, and students were involved in Alumni Phonothon '83. On Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday evenings for three weeks, ten volunteers per night phoned non-donor alumni to encourage their participation in the current annual fund.

"The response was very encouraging," stated Gary Kuhn, coordinator of this phoning project. "We received 470 pledges totaling $25,468. That is an increase of more than $5000 over the 1981 Phonothon." He added that the money raised will go into the college general fund unless the donor specifically designates it for another purpose.

The Alumni Council set a goal of $25,000. We reached this goal, thanks to the faithful phoners. "I am grateful for the hard work and time commitment of our volunteers," stated Mr. Kuhn. Nearly 60% of the alumni reached indicated they would send a gift to the college. Approximately one out of every four donors indicated a desire to become a member of the Torch Club by committing $10 or more per month. Thank you, alumni, for helping us reach our goal.

Other benefits of the Phonothon are the many additions and corrections made to our mailing list. If you have had a name or address change, be sure to send this information to the alumni office.

Special WATS lines were installed in the Business Seminar Room of Collins Hall for this phoning project. Mr. Kuhn estimated a savings of $400 by using four Ohio WATS lines and five ban-three lines. This type of fund raising proves to be very efficient as expenses total only a small portion of the funds raised.

The Alumni Association expresses its appreciation to the following volunteers:

Merlin Ager ('60)	Rebecca (Selden '78) Kuhn
Don Allen ('72)	Barbara Loach ('77)

A special patriotic Memorial Day chapel service was held May 30. The program featured the Symphonic Band and Concert Chorale, a slide presentation, children's choir, veterans in uniform, and a message from Russian pastor Georgi Vins.

Each year over 1000 requests are received for Cedarville teacher education graduates.

The business administration department has announced that Dr. Clifford Fawcett will become chairman in September, culminating a two year search for a department chairman.

About 40 different courses taught by approximately 35 faculty members will be offered during the two summer school sessions.

The athletic department announced the beginning of two additional Yellow Jacket Camps. During the week of July 18-22 there will be a girls' volleyball camp, while August 1-6 are the dates for the boys' soccer camp.

Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" was the spring drama production which had five performances.

During March 4-13, the McDonald Corporation and the Ohio Foundation of Independent Colleges participated in a team effort to raise funds for the member colleges. A coupon bearing the name of the college was used for the purchase of a large sandwich with free fries, and a 25¢ donation was given to the college for each coupon used.

Because of the need for a sufficient water supply at a lower price, the college will be installing a system of water wells and a water tower on college property near the track.

It was ten years ago this summer that 16 college athletes were involved in "Cross Country for Christ," a 24-hour-per-day, 18½-day, 3200 mile run that went from Portland, Oregon, to Portland, Maine.

Dr. Ron Grosh ('67), professor of language and literature at Cedarville College, participated in the In-Forum 1983 focused on "Aesthetics: Communicating through Creativity" together with speakers Dr. Ron Manahan, Grace College, and Dr. Harold Best, Wheaton College.

The Gabrieli Music Festival held Friday, May 6, featured the antiphonal music of Giovanni Gabrieli performed by the Cedarville Brass Choir, the Wittenberg Brass Choir, and the Carillon Brass of the Dayton Philharmonic Orchestra.

Recent chapel speakers included Rev. Paul Jackson ('67), pastor of Grace Baptist Church, Cedarville, Ohio, who addressed the topic of "Divorce"; Rev. Mitch Seidler, Berean Baptist Church, Hixson, Tennessee; Dr. William Fusco, Denver Baptist Bible College; and Rev. Bill Commons, ABWE.

On May 9 when the Greene County Blood Mobile was on campus, 93 units of blood were donated to renew Cedarville College's extended group coverage plan.

Cedarville's 1983 tennis team with a record of 24-5, by defeating Wright State University, has earned Coach Murray Murdoch his 300th win in 338 attempts. This is an 18-year winning percentage of 88.8%.

At the recent NCCAA finals, the Cedarville men's track team emerged as co-national champs, a big improvement over last year's 5th place finish. Coach Elvin King attributed the victory to a total team effort.

Olympathon '83 held April 21 was the Student Body Project in which students walked, jogged, biked, competed in various team sports, and worked to raise $13,000 to help with the furnishings and decoration of the Student Center.

Secretary of Transportation Elizabeth Dole held a press conference in the Student Center on the campus of Cedarville College. She expressed her support for tougher legislation of the drunk driving issue. She commended 7th District Congressman Michael DeWine, who was also present, on his major role in bringing about Ohio's new DWI law.

The senior class offered an alternative to their traditional spring trip by making available to the class of '83 and the entire college family an evening at LaComedia Dinner Theater for the performance of "The Sound of Music."

The distribution committee of the Cleveland Foundation announced that Cedarville College will receive up to $30,000 in the next two years to further faculty and student computer literacy. The college is planning to install an academic computer next fall.

Pastor Georgi Vins, a Soviet Union born-again believer and a recent chapel speaker, lost his Soviet citizenship and suffered banishment to the United States in 1979. After eight years of imprisonment in concentration camps for active ministry as secretary general of the Council of Evangelical Baptist Churches, he was released and now represents these believers by telling Christians about the true plight of Soviet believers.

During the summer months remodeling and construction will take place to convert Patterson Hall into the Patterson Health Clinic.

Editor's note: This article, written by junior Dwight Myfelt, is the first of a series on the various academic departments. It is designed to update you on the many changes and additions taking place at Cedarville College.

Growth is the business at hand in the department of business administration. New faces, new programs, and new facilities are all a part of the changes taking place. Presently the faculty consists of nine full-time members, two holding a Ph.D., two the designation of CPA, and six a master's degree. Five part-time faculty provide expertise, primarily in computer information systems.

In January 1983, Marinus Hazen joined the college as an assistant professor of finance. He came to Cedarville after spending eighteen years in industry, including eight serving as the vice president of finance for the makers of Mr. Coffee. He holds an M.B.A. from Ohio University and the designation of CPA.

Sarah (Harriman '75) Smith successfully pursued her education as she defended her dissertation involving an empirical study of "Accounting and Reporting Practices of Churches." She was awarded her Ph.D. in Business with an emphasis in Accounting from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University in July 1982.

Dr. James Seaman ('68) also completed classes at the University of Florida dealing with the mortgage banking industry. He was one of only four college professors to receive a $1,500 fellowship to attend this session.

Planned additions to the faculty include Dr. Clifford Fawcett and Miss Martha Johnson. Dr. Fawcett has accepted the chairmanship of the department beginning in the fall 1983.

Alumni Scholarships Awarded

At the recent Honors Day Chapel, four students were honored for their academic achievements by receiving the Alumni Scholarship and Grant Endowment Fund awards. Each student representing a different academic discipline was selected by the faculty of his/her respective department. The Alumni Scholarship Fund was established in 1978; however, the first award, named in honor of the Ohio educator and former Alumni Association President Jack Willetts ('58), was not granted until 1980. With the citation and plaque, each student receives a $500 award to be used for educational expenses at Cedarville College. Since its inception, twelve such awards have been given to students majoring in education, language and literature, Biblical education, and social science. As the interest income increases, the speech, business, and music departments will be added, and eventually all eleven disciplines will receive the opportunity of awarding the alumni scholarship.

One of the students honored this year was Sara Beattie, who received the J.D. "Jack" Willetts Education Award. Sara is a junior English education major from Runnells, Iowa. Sara commented, "Being one of five children, three of whom are in college, this award will be a great help in keeping the cost of my education affordable."

Kenneth Alford, a Bible comprehensive major, received the award in Biblical education. A junior from Newport, Washington, Ken makes his home in Cedarville with his wife Debbie. Ken plans to return to the northwest for seminary. He said of the award, "My wife and I are very encouraged. We traveled 2700 miles to attend Cedarville College. Receiving this award was more than I could hope for. I look forward to the day when I can join alumni in contributing for scholarships of the future."

Receiving the scholarship award from the language and literature department was Nancy Tyson, senior from Elmira, New York. Nancy will be teaching high school English next fall in Elkhart, Indiana. She stated, "This scholarship met a real financial need for me. My family had been praying all quarter for the money to pay my bill so I could graduate. God met my need, thanks to the alumni."

The last award was given to social science major Paul Hayes, a junior from Washington, D.C. He is the fourth member of his family to attend Cedarville. His sisters, Carolyn (Hayes '75) Dudley and Kathleen (Hayes '78N) Hicks, and brother Phil ('77) have preceded him. Paul sings in the Kingsmen Quartet and has been active in the Summer Swordbearers. Paul stated that he is grateful for all the alumni who have supported this scholarship fund. He counts it a real honor to have been selected as this year's social science recipient.

At the end of June 1983, the Alumni Scholarship and Grant Endowment Fund has a balance of $25,372.64. As you reflect on the quality Christian education you received at Cedarville, perhaps you would consider a gift designated to the Alumni Scholarship Fund.

1983 Alumni Council Election

The following are candidates for two positions on the Cedarville College Alumni Association Council. Biographical sketches appear in alphabetical order and are written from information provided by the candidates. Each alumnus may register two votes.

Miss Deborah S. Jones ('75) is an instructor of English at Xenia High School, Xenia, Ohio, where she has taught for seven years. She is advisor for Christians in Action, a club which meets weekly at the high school. In addition to these interests, she is a part-time bookkeeper for the Apple Tree Restaurant in Xenia. As a college student she majored in English and Bible while active in Swordbearers, the college band, and the M.I.S. program in which she traveled to Brazil with the musical team two summers. Debbie also served her class as treasurer for three years and was vice president her senior year. She completed her Master of Arts in English at the University of Dayton in 1981. An occasional part-time teacher at Cedarville College, she has guest-lectured in the methods course for secondary education. Debbie attends Shawnee Hills Baptist Church in Jamestown, Ohio, where she is involved in missions, music, and young people's programs and teaches Sunday school.

Mr. Roy W. Kern ('73) came to Cedarville College in 1969 and graduated with a degree in business administration. As a student he was active in a number of organizations, including Alpha Chi as its treasurer, historian, and president. He worked as editing photographer for the college yearbook and newspaper and was a student council representative and vice president of his class. A registered paramedic and emergency medical technician, Roy received training as a hospital corpsman in the Navy. After graduating, Roy became director of student recruitment and then the director of public relations for Cedarville College. He left this latter position to become the assistant manager for the Larry Barnes Insurance Agency of Trenton, Missouri. Two years later he became regional manager for southern Missouri. His expertise is in the area of estate planning and life and health insurance for persons 60 and older. He is one of the leading consultants for the Life Underwriters Association for persons on Medicare. Roy and his wife Becky (Rudig '70) are active in community affairs, have three children, and reside in Springfield, Missouri.

Captain Loren Reno ('70) is presently captain (major select) at Scott Air Force Base in Illinois. Loren has served in the U.S. Air Force since 1973 when he left teaching and coaching at a Jamestown, Ohio, high school. He has served in locations such as Clark Air Base, Philippines, Sacramento, California, and recently at the Pentagon in Washington, D.C. As a student Loren was involved with the student council, Alpha Chi, varsity basketball, and cross country, and worked on the WCDR staff. He earned his B.A. in Comprehensive Science and Education in 1970 and a Master in Systems Management at the University of Southern California in 1981. Loren was a President's Trophy winner in 1970 and was selected as an "Outstanding Young Man of America" in 1980, 1981, and 1982. He has served as a deacon, Sunday school superintendent, and youth sponsor, and currently teaches the high school class at his church in Highland, Illinois. Loren and his wife Karen (Chrestenson '74) have two children.

Dr. T. Stuart Walker ('71) is assistant professor of biology at Ball State University in Muncie, Indiana, and adjunct professor of microbiology at Indiana University School of Medicine. After receiving the B.A. degree in biology in 1971, Stu and his wife Andrea (Houchin '72) went to Indiana University where Stu earned his M.S. and Ph.D. in microbiology. Stu is active as choir director, soloist, and Sunday school teacher. On the Ball State campus, he is involved in Real Life Ministries, an evangelistic effort that provides Bible study opportunities. As a student Stu was a member of student council (vice president), worked on WCDR staff and participated on the golf team. He has received a three-year grant from the Institute of Health to study rickettsial interaction with endothelial cells and platelets and has written several scholarly articles for various journals.

Faculty Profile

The second youngest in a family of six, Dr. Pam Diehl, Cedarville's Associate Professor of Physical Education, was born and reared in Dayton, Ohio. Her second and spiritual birthday also took place in Dayton during the beginning of her junior year at the University of Dayton where she majored in health and physical education. At that time, during a field hockey tournament with Cedarville, Pam and a friend accepted the Cedarville women's invitation to join them for team devotions. During the meeting, she realized that the Cedarville players had what she wanted and needed, and shortly thereafter one of the Cedarville team members led her to the Lord.

Dr. Diehl finished up at the University of Dayton in 1970 and then secured a fellowship at Ohio State. She completed work for her master of arts degree in one year and then took three years to earn her doctorate in which her major area of emphasis was exercise and physiology.

In September of 1974, Dr. Diehl joined the faculty at Cedarville. She had also been offered a position at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, but she chose Cedarville due to the different emphasis of the two schools. "The University of Wisconsin," states Pam, "was looking for people to bring them grants and prominence. They didn't stress working with young people like Cedarville does."

Dr. Fawcett comes to the college with a broad background in production and operations management and previous teaching experience at George Washington University, Loyola College, and James Madison University. He also serves as a consultant to the U.S. Department of the Navy. His Doctor of Business Administration was awarded by George Washington University in 1976.

Martha Johnson will be joining Betsy Kempf in the secretarial administration program. She comes to the college with eight years of teaching experience. Miss Johnson received her Master of Business Education from the University of Northern Iowa in 1978.

Growth is evident in the academic programs within the department. The department of business administration offers three programs of study: Bachelor of Arts in Accounting, Bachelor of Arts in Business Administration, and a two-year certificate in Secretarial Administration. The major in business administration offers the following areas of emphasis: accounting, computer information systems, economics, management, marketing, secretarial administration, and business education. The accounting major, established in the 1981-82 academic year, includes a general business core and twenty-six quarter hours of upper level accounting courses. The two-year certificate in secretarial administration involves instruction in secretarial science, general business, and general education.

Planned changes in academic programs include the addition of international business as an emphasis for the

As a college student, Dr. Diehl participated in basketball and her favorite sport, volleyball, but her first coaching assignment at Cedarville turned out to be the women's field hockey team. That first year she also assisted Dr. Maryalyce Jeremiah ('65) who was the first women's basketball coach at the time. During her third year at Cedarville, though, field hockey was switched from spring quarter to fall quarter and tennis became a spring sport. When that occurred, Dr. Jeremiah took over field hockey and Dr. Diehl shouldered women's tennis. Having never played tennis in high school or college, she has primarily picked up the game through coaching. She did teach a small amount of tennis at Ohio State, though, prior to her arrival at Cedarville, and playing with other faculty members has increased her interest in the sport.

In addition to coaching the women's tennis team, Dr. Diehl acts as advisor to the PEMM club, an organization for physical education majors and minors. She teaches several classes including Foundations of Physical Education, a basic course for all physical education majors, and Adapted Physical Education. The latter deals with the involvement of the mentally and physically handicapped in physical education classes, and Dr. Diehl pointed out that students taking the class actually spend 50-60 hours in schools working primarily with the mentally retarded.

Dr. Diehl ranks an improved attitude toward physical education in the schools as a high priority among the things which she would like to see accomplished on Cedarville's campus. Cedarville's newly-instituted Physical Activity and the Christian Life Class constitutes an attempt on the part of Dr. Diehl and other members of the athletic department to get students to recognize their need and their responsibility to make physical education a part of their daily lives.

According to Dr. Diehl, the most attractive part of her vocation is "the opportunity not only to work with Christian young people but also to learn from them."

business administration major, and the development of the computer information systems major. This major is designed to bridge the gap between the technically oriented courses in computer science and the management oriented courses in the business field.

The growth of computers in the business world parallels a strong desire on the part of the college to develop an excellent computer program. In January 1983, the board of trustees approved the expenditure of up to $250,000 during the next five years for the acquisition of a new academic computer system. A committee for academic computing is in the process of making a recommendation following an extensive study of computing needs. This will provide tremendous support for instruction within the functional areas of business. The business department established a computer gift fund designed to purchase computer hardware. A grant has been received from the Cleveland Foundation's Statewide Program for business and management education in support of the integration of computer usage into the various business disciplines.

The Lord continues to bless the business department with dedicated and qualified faculty members and quality students. "Graduates from this department have continued their education in many fashions and are actively serving the Lord in numerous capacities. We are proud of them," stated Ron Walker, acting department chairman. Please pray for the Lord's blessing as the transitions and additions take place to prepare students to serve our Savior Jesus Christ.

Robert Entwistle

1st Heritage Alumni Scholarship Awarded

These are the words of junior Robert C. Entwistle, the first recipient of the John W. Bickett Heritage Alumni Scholarship. An orphan, Bob has had to work hard to save money for college. He said, "The announcement during the Honors Day Chapel caught me by total surprise. The $300 award will help me greatly during my senior year. I constantly praise God for His goodness and kindness as shown to me through the generosity of our Heritage Alumni."

This scholarship fund was established in April of 1982 by a few Heritage Alumni interested in endowing a scholarship to memorialize early graduates who helped lay the foundation of Cedarville College. The scholarship fund was named after John W. Bickett who was the first graduate to receive his diploma in the first graduating class of 1897. Four of the five graduates of the class of 1897 went into the ministry, including Rev. Bickett who held several pastorates, one of which was the Presbyterian Church in nearby Clifton.

The Heritage Alumni Scholarship is designed to assist students who are preparing for pastoral or missionary service. These students face additional years of schooling in seminary or language school after completing their undergraduate work. The fund will be of great assistance to them.

"My ultimate goal in life is to become a pastor/teacher of a church upon my graduation from seminary. Knowing this is the direction of God in my life, I want to be able to effectively teach and preach the many practical truths found in the Scriptures, which are capable of leading people toward living a rewarding and happy life on earth. Included within this vocation is the role of being a counselor, especially to those who are experiencing the many problems and crises that accompany life. By fulfilling this vocational goal, I believe I can best show my love and concern to mankind and, more importantly, to God."

Kimberly Kerr ('75)
1953-1982

Friends and classmates of Kimberly Kerr ('75) will be interested to know that an endowed scholarship fund has been established at Cedarville College in her memory.

The fund will be known as The Kimberly Kerr Memorial Scholarship and will provide grants to junior and senior nursing students. Awards will be based on demonstrated financial needs and scholastic achievements.

Kim died on February 25, 1982, at the age of 29. Although she suffered her entire lifetime from the effects of cystic fibrosis, she credited the disease for bringing her in contact with many wonderful people.

Contributions in Kim's memory can be made by making checks payable to Cedarville College with "Kimberly Kerr Scholarship" noted on the memorandum line. Memorial gifts of any size are welcomed.

50 years in Education

Irma Dodson

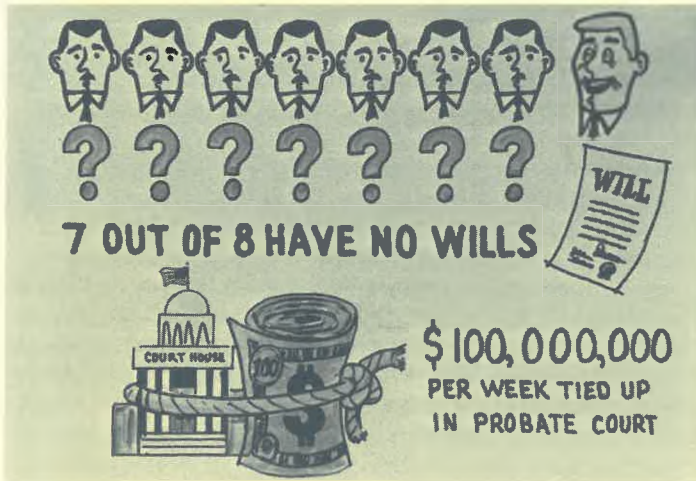

On Tuesday evening, May 17, 1983, thirty-four persons including faculty members of the education department and their spouses, family, and other friends, honored Miss Irma M. Dodson at a retirement dinner at the Derr Road Inn, Springfield, Ohio. Among those present were Dr. and Mrs. Paul Dixon, Dr. and Mrs. James T. Jeremiah, Dr. and Mrs. Clifford Johnson, and Irma's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hopkins of Brownsburg, Indiana.

Dr. James Biddle, chairman of the education department, presided at a brief program and presented to Miss Dodson a wooden chest filled with letters from former students, including those from Bangladesh, Hong Kong, Spain, Ghana, and Canada.

Irma joined the Cedarville College faculty in 1968, after having taught ten years in LaPorte, Indiana, and twenty-five years in Danville, Illinois.

Because of her interest in teacher education, Miss Dodson prior to her retirement established an endowed award to recognize the outstanding graduating senior woman in elementary education. The first award was made in June of this year.

(Editor's note: Miss Dodson wishes to express her sincere thanks to all who wrote letters, sent family photographs, and contributed money to the Irma M. Dodson Award. Additional funds can still be sent to the college for this award fund.)

Is Your Will Outdated?

Perhaps your children are grown. Or, maybe you've acquired a great deal more property. Or, maybe your parents or elderly relatives have become dependent on you.

Unless your will is very recent, it may be out-of-date. Your responsibilities and your aspirations are constantly changing. Unless your will also changes, it cannot accurately reflect your current situation.

Probably the main reason for writing your will was to provide for your family's future security. Most likely you were very concerned about naming a guardian in case your children should lose both parents.

But now, if those children are grown and independent, there is no need to name a guardian or set aside funds for college educations. You might want to consider diverting some of your estate to someone else who has become dependent on you, to your church, or to Cedarville College.

Likewise, your financial picture has probably changed over the years. You may have disposed of property bequeathed in your will, or you may have acquired special new property that you would like to leave to a particular person. You may even have become so prosperous that you can provide for your family and still include gifts to special friends, your church, and Cedarville College. In any case, your will should be reviewed and possibly updated to reflect these new conditions.

And, of course, state laws governing wills, contractual agreements, and related taxes may be changed at any time. The 1981 Economic Recovery Tax Act, for instance, altered the federal estate and gift tax system and changed the outcome of many estates.

Since your attorney stays abreast of changing laws, it is wise to have him or her review your will periodically and incorporate necessary changes. Also, if you move from one state to another, have an attorney in your new state review your will. Laws governing wills vary from state to state.

When you decide to change your will, consult an attorney. An improperly inserted change could invalidate your entire will. Some changes can be made with a simple amendment called a codicil, while others require rewriting part or all of the will. In either case, changes in your will, as well as your entire will, can remain confidential until your death.

The free booklet offered below suggests more situations in which it would be wise to review and possibly update your will. Send for your copy today, or write for specific information.
