Distinguished Service Award

A Word With Alumni

Dear Alumnus,

Merry Christmas to you and your loved ones!

Another year has gone by and with it many successful alumni events, including Homecoming 1984. Seven members of the Class of '34 returned to celebrate their 50 years as members of the Alumni Association. To commemorate this special occasion, each member received a Homecoming mum or boutonniere and a Golden "C" Award certificate at the Heritage Reunion Dinner.

The Class of '54 expanded their reunion activities to include fellow alumni from Baptist Bible Institute in Cleveland. Thank you Gail (Smith) Kamp and Norma (McQuinn) Deranek for your work in planning this reunion.

I want to express my appreciation also to the following alumni for their work in organizing their respective class reunions:

John Potter	Class of '79
David True	Class of '74
Bruce McDonald	Class of '69
Larry Czerniak	Class of '64
Paul Van Kleek	Class of '59
John Murray	Class of '34

It was a great time for all those in attendance. Mark October 18 and 19, 1985, on your calendar for next year's Homecoming.

The Alumni Council established an aggressive goal ($100,000) for the 1984-85 Annual Fund. To reach that level of financial support for the college will require alumni from every class to participate. Your support of the college is greatly appreciated especially during this holiday season.

Happy New Year!

Alumni of the Year — 1984

David Jeremiah and Cedarville College grew up together. Moving to Cedarville with his parents in 1953, David watched Cedarville develop from a vision and a handful of students to a Christian liberal arts college respected across the nation.

As a student at Cedarville College, David Jeremiah was involved in a broad spectrum of activities. He was a member of the basketball and track teams, choir, music masters, band and the Kingsmen Quartet, holding leadership positions in these activities throughout his college career. David was co-founder and first manager of our college radio station WCDR-FM.

After graduating from Cedarville in 1963, Dr. Jeremiah earned the Th.M. degree from Dallas Theological Seminary, did further graduate work at Grace Seminary, and returned to Cedarville in 1981 to be awarded an honorary doctorate from Cedarville College.

His fruitful ministry began in 1967 when he served as associate pastor of Christian education and youth with his wife, Donna, at Haddon Heights Baptist Church in Haddon Heights, New Jersey. David and the former Donna Thompson met at Cedarville College and have been married for twenty years. They have four children.

In 1969 he was called to Fort Wayne, Indiana, to become the first pastor of Blackhawk Baptist Church. During the twelve years of his pastoral leadership, the church grew from a nucleus of seven families to membership of thirteen hundred, built a Christian school, and established a television and radio ministry.

Honorary Alumni of the Year—1984

Dr. Callan graduated from Taylor University in 1955 where he participated in basketball and football. His efforts on the football field earned him election into the Taylor University Hall of Fame in 1974. His senior year at Taylor, Callan was chosen for the "Gate-Howard" award as Taylor's Outstanding Athlete and for bringing the most honor to Taylor through athletics.

Don received a Master's Degree in Physical Education from Ball State University in 1960 and a Ph.D. in Physical Education from The Ohio State University.

In 1960 Don Callan began a twenty-four year career as Head Coach and Athletic Director at Cedarville College. During this time, his teams have compiled an overall record of 343 wins and 295 losses. He has guided the Jackets to three Mid-Ohio Conference titles (1965, 1969, 1981) and three trips to Kansas City as the NAIA District 22 Champions in 1964, 1981, and 1982.

Dr. Callan's coaching career has had an impact internationally as he has coached and lectured in Japan, Korea, Hong Kong, the Philippines, New Guinea, and Thailand. He has worked with a national team in Australia and coached the Chinese Air Force Team in Taiwan. He and his family spent a short term as missionaries in the Philippines, and he has returned there several times as a part of the Missionary Internship Service program which he founded here at the college.

1st Distinguished Service Award – Granted to Dr. Rodney E. Wyse

For over twenty years our school has had a friend whom we all thought was a former student because of his interest and commitment to Cedarville College.

This friend, Dr. Rodney E. Wyse, came to Cedarville in September of 1961 and taught at the college until 1967 when he joined the faculty of Central State University. Having earned degrees at Wheaton College and the University of Arizona, Rod went on to get his Ph.D. in business organization from The Ohio State University in June of 1972. He married Geri White, a member of the class of 1956. Their two daughters, Jackie and Jill are currently Cedarville College students.

Soon after he came to Cedarville, Rod became active in the athletic program of the school. Donating many hours of his time, he began to find and help recruit athletes for the programs at Cedarville.

As time has gone by, particularly during the past 10 years, Rod has served as the unofficial ambassador for Cedarville athletics. In addition to serving as recruiting co-ordinator and making generous financial contributions to the program, Rod was one of the founders of the Yellow Jacket Club and the Athletic Hall of Fame, and was one of the creative minds behind the development of the publicity paper of the Athletic Department, The Sting.

partment, The Sting.

Known as an outstanding athlete before a bout with polio as a teen-ager, Rod has gracefully accepted his disability and has become an encourager to other athletes. He has used the tenacity shown in athletics to serve Cedarville College in ways which have enhanced the programs of the school.

Rod is an extremely busy person. Included in his many activities are serving on the boards of Cedarcliff and Greene Vocational Schools, as well as on the deacon board at Southgate Baptist Church, teaching an adult Sunday school class, serving as chairman of the Christian Education Committee at church and recruiting for Cedarville. Yet Rod takes the time to demonstrate a personal interest in everyone he meets and he has encouraged many people.

We are not the first to recognize his contributions. Earlier this year he was honored for teaching excellence with an award from Central State University.

After years of performing the duties of an alumnus, we are pleased to bestow on Rod the rights and privileges of the Alumni Association.

In recognition of his years of unselfish giving we gratefully award the first Alumni Association's Distinguished Service Award to Dr. Rodney E. Wyse. To God be the glory.

Science and Math Department

With over 200 students majoring in the sciences, the Department of Science and Mathematics is one of the largest departments at Cedarville College. Majors are offered in biology, chemistry, and mathematics with special programs in the following areas: medical technology, preengineering, pre-medical, pre dental, preveterinary, prepharmacy, and preagriculture. Physics is offered as a minor and secondary teacher certification is available in six fields of study. Biblical truth is integrated with scientific evidence in each of the 60 courses taught within the department, thus fulfilling their goal of not only teaching the student thoroughly in his or her chosen field, but also incorporating a biblical perspective into the education process. For example, in the course entitled Origins, students study creation and the theory of evolution in light of available scientific evidence, with the Word of God being the final authority.

The credibility of this department is greatly enhanced by the faculty. Not only do eight of the ten full-time professors have earned doctoral degrees in the sciences, but most have done post doctoral study and research to continually improve the quality of the programs in the department.

Donald P. Baumann, Ph.D., chairman of the department, received his formal education at Iowa State University and has been teaching biochemistry and a variety of biology courses at Cedarville since 1964.

Larry S. Helmick ('63) received his Ph.D. from Ohio University and has been involved in post doctoral research at the University of Florida and the University of Illinois. Dr. Helmick has spent the past five summers studying the problem of precipitates and sedimentation in jet fuel for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA). He teaches upper level chemistry courses and serves as advisor to Chi Theta Pi, an organization of students interested in health services.

Daniel E. Wetzel, Ph.D., attended Morehead State College, University of Cincinnati, and received his doctorate from The Ohio State University in 1971. Dr. Wetzel specializes in physics and mathematics and is currently enrolled in a drafting course at Clark Technical College so drafting can be added to Cedarville's preengineering program.

Leroy Eimers, Ph.D., graduated from Hobart College in 1963 and received his M.S. and Ph.D. from Syracuse University in 1966 and 1970 respectively. He teaches physics and mathematics and has an interest in academic applications of microcomputers.

Another Cedarville alumnus, Lawrence Killian ('64) M.S., coordinates the secondary education programs of the department. Mr. Killian, who came to Cedarville in 1968, is currently pursuing a Ph.D. in biomedical science at Wright State University.

A 1969 graduate of Malone College, John Silvius, Ph.D., first visited Cedarville in 1967 to watch the Malone versus Cedarville basketball game. That visit formed a lasting impression on Dr. Silvius who returned to Cedarville to teach in 1979 after studying at Western Michigan University and obtaining his Ph.D. from West Virginia University in 1974. Dr. Silvius' forte is plant physiology. He has recently had an article published in American Biology Teacher, and will be taking a leave of absence next quarter to write a biology textbook.

Edward S. Braithwaite, Ph.D., teaches mathematics courses. He joined the department in 1976 after receiving his Ph.D. from University of Illinois.

A 1970 Cedarville graduate, Terry Phipps, M.S., specializes in zoology. Phipps is working toward a Ph.D. in aquatic biology from The Ohio State University. He also advises premed biology students.

Dennis R. Flentge, Ph.D., graduated from Texas Lutheran College in 1969 and received his Ph.D. from Texas A & M University. Since coming to Cedarville in 1980, he has spent two summers involved in research at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, and is currently developing a program designed to assist public and Christian high school teachers in incorporating demonstrations into their science classes.

The most recent addition to the Department of Science and Mathematics is Douglas Miller, Ph.D. After attending Baptist Bible College of Clarks Summit and the University of Rochester, Dr. Miller completed his doctoral study at the University of Colorado, after which he completed three years of post doctoral work.

Two part-time faculty complete the department: Austin Elmore, Professor Emeritus, teaches ecology and botany, and Bert Frye, Associate Professor Emeritus, teaches astronomy and geology.

When asked about some future goals of this department, Dr. Baumann responded with three: "to have 100% of the department faculty with earned Ph.D.'s, to continue to strengthen our present programs, and to expand the math program so our students will be even better prepared for graduate school." He also commented that 50% of the pre-med students were accepted into medical schools last year. This is slightly lower than previous years, but still higher than the national average of 30-40%.

Facilities for this department include ten well-equipped teaching labs, five classrooms, an observatory with a sixteen-inch reflecting telescope, a computer terminal, dark room, three equipment supply rooms, two fully equipped instrument labs, and faculty offices all located in the Science Center. The Department of Science and Mathematics utilizes the expertise of its faculty and the facilities of the Science Center to train students pursuing careers in science, math and health related professions. These students not only obtain knowledge, but gain wisdom and understanding as they build on a biblical foundation.

One Liners

Stand Bold in Grace, an exposition of Hebrews, has recently been released by Baker Book House. It is Dr. Robert Gromacki's twelfth book. Dr. Jack Riggs has written his first book, a commentary titled Hosea's Heartbreak, which was published by Loizeaux Brothers.

The 1984 Cedar What? campaign climaxed November 3 with the election of Debra Brown, Instructor of Marketing, and Dr. Pam Diehl, Associate Professor of Physical Education. "Brown's New Diehl" defeated the "Perlo" ticket (Gary Percesepe '75, Assistant Professor of Philosophy, and Michael Lopez, Assistant Professor of Communication Arts) by less than ten votes.

Beginning this fall the college has offered to any accepted or enrolled student a Prepayment Incentive Credit Plan. The monies are placed into the student's account and earn a prepayment credit of .667% (an 8.09% annual rate) which is compounded monthly. Students can pay one quarter, two quarters or a year in advance.

Alumni Council member Sandra (Millikin '59) Entner is now serving the college as the Director of Counseling Services.

Alumni are welcome to participate in the Institute of Holy Land Studies' short-term study program when our college students attend the May 31-June 21 or June 28-July 19 sessions. Contact Dr. Jack Riggs for details.

The campus activities office sponsored Health and Fitness Fair '84. This special event was designed to educate students about good health practices and make available tests such as glaucoma and cataract screening, blood pressure checks, and a general fitness test.

Former Yellow Jacket baseball athlete Dan Coomes was appointed head baseball coach by Athletic Director Dr. Don Callan. Dan was a four year starter at second base and carried a career batting average over .300. He is an agent for the Sentry Insurance Company.

Coach John McGillvray was honored for his 100th career victory as coach of the varsity soccer team when his kickers defeated Findlay 8-0 on October 23. The team recently won the NCCAA District 3, which advanced them to the national tournament in Longview, Texas, with a 10-7-1 record.

Under the direction of Coach Elaine Brown ('77), the women's volleyball team had a record breaking season finishing with 31 wins and 13 defeats.

Seven new faculty members began teaching at Cedarville this fall: Lois K. Baker – nursing, Daniel J. Estes ('74) – Bible, John Michael Lopez – communication arts, Douglas J. Miller – science, David L. Rotman – business, Maureen Salladay – nursing, and Lila Seaman – education.

A four week European tour will be conducted this summer (June 17-July 15, 1985) by Professors Mark Larson and Charles Clevenger. While visiting England, France, Italy, Germany, Austria, and Holland, the group will see art and architecture firsthand and will attend symphonies, music festivals, and plays. For a detailed brochure contact Mark Larson, Box 601, Cedarville, OH 45314.

"Coach," a Christian film starring David Robey, associate professor of speech and drama, was given the Best Youth Film Award at the 10th Annual Christian Film Distribution Association Convention. Dave was nominated for Best Actor.

"Baskets of Thanksgiving" was again the theme for the 1984 Community Night held on campus November 29. Although admission to the basketball game was free, everyone was encouraged to bring a staple food item. The food collected was distributed to needy families of the Cedarville community.

Happy New Year!

That Cedarville Chum of Mine

Class Reunions

"When the toil of day is ended,
When the twilight shadows fall,
When the fitful gleaming firelight
Casts weird forms upon the wall,
It is then for happy dreaming
I all anxious cares resign,
And greet again in mem'ry land,
That college chum of mine.

"But after all bright visions
Of the other friends depart,
The thought of one stays with me,
Treasured deep within my heart;
And I trust that till the sun of life
Shall cease for me to shine,
I shall never lose the mem'ry of
That Cedarville chum of mine."

Deceased

Martha Dean graduated from Cedarville College in 1927 and taught Bible here for two years following her graduation. After joining the West Carrollton school system, Miss Dean taught foreign languages, retiring in 1967. Her surviving brother, Robert, says of his late sister, "Martha was one of the best people I ever knew...for me her passing leaves a great void."

Gertrude (Martin) Swaim, a 1932 graduate of Cedarville College, passed away on August 10, 1984. Mrs. Swaim taught Latin and served as librarian in the Xenia and Jamestown school systems. She is survived by her son, John. Her husband, Henry, died in 1955.

John "Jock" Murray ('35) of Randolph, Vermont, suffered a massive heart attack while attending his 50th class reunion. He is survived by his wife, Avis. Details of his life will appear in the March AVISO.

Harold Thomas ('41), aged 64, died September 16, 1984, while enroute to Boston in anticipation of a trip to Europe with his wife, Carolyn. After receiving his bachelor's degree from Cedarville College in 1941 and his master's degree from the University of Cincinnati, he taught school in Leesburg, served as principal in Fayette County and retired after 15 years as Greenview Superintendent of Schools, Jamestown, Ohio. Mr. Thomas is survived by his wife, a son, Terry, and a daughter, Mrs. Sharon Custer.

When Dave Gaffner considered the possibility of ministering at a Christian college, he expected that his service would be in the capacity of a dean. With a master's degree in guidance and counseling from Central Michigan University and experience as an assistant pastor and a high school guidance counselor, this seemed a reasonable expectation. But God had other plans and, through meeting a placement officer from another college, Dave became interested in job placement. While he was making inquiries at Cedarville College, his alma mater was expanding programming in this very area and looking for a placement officer. The details soon worked out for Dave to begin a new ministry here. He received assistance from the placement officer at Michigan State University, known for its premier placement service, and from visiting other campuses. For the past three years he has capably served as Cedarville's placement director.

The Placement Office, located on the lower level of the Administration Building, is a busy area offering a variety of services to the students. "Actually, the term placement is a misnomer," comments the director. "We do not place anyone; we assist the students in their job search." As part of the job search method, Dave instigated a Career Day on campus. A broad spectrum of businesses are invited to the college to present their particular job opportunities. In this way prospective employers and employees can meet in a relaxed manner and evaluate needs and prospects. In addition to scheduled activities, company representatives recruit on campus throughout the year, using the private interview rooms in the placement office.

There is also a small library in the office which offers books on career outlook and guidance, résumé writing, job search, and interviewing techniques, as well as materials on specific industries or corporations. Books and pamphlets are distributed to interested students, as is the Job Opportunities Bulletin, an up-to-date listing of employment possibilities.

Several times during the year Dave conducts workshops in five different areas which include résumé writing, interviewing, the cover letter or letter of application, effective job searches, and evaluating a job offer.

"The key," says Gaffner, "is taking advantage of the resources we make available." For example, last year there were over 1400 office visits, more than twenty workshops attended by at least 500 students, and approximately 150 credentials sent out for education majors.

Alumni can take advantage of these resources, too. The Job Opportunities Bulletin, published throughout the year, is available for an annual fee of $5. You can also send your resume to the Placement Office, which will forward it to interested companies who will contact you.

How can you as an alumnus help the Placement Office? Each of us functions within a network of family, friends, employers, acquaintances. Whether or not we are in a position to hire, we all know someone in such a position. These people are potential contacts for Cedarville graduates. Dave Gaffner asks that those alumni who can provide contacts for the college do so, and that those in positions responsible for hiring consider representing their company on Career Day or recruiting on campus at another time. In addition, alumni can help by suggesting to their employers or others in hiring positions that they consider Cedarville College graduates.

His wife, Nedra, has given her full support to the ministries of Cedarville College. She attended nursing school at St. Vincent Hospital in Toledo, Ohio, and for a number of years has worked as a nurse at Greene Memorial Hospital in Xenia. She may not have received the rewards and trophies, but for years she has been laying up treasures in Heaven. She is probably best known for her servant's spirit which extends to her friends, church and community. Nedra has unselfishly encouraged her husband in his ministry that has taken him to the Philippines for five or six weeks nearly every summer. She has permanently endeared herself to the missionary family of that country. She has served at the college in many ways including Women's Fellowship, class advisor with Don, and resident statistician for basketball. She is known for visiting those who are ill, caring for them, giving shots to any who need them...all with a consistent gentle spirit for those who are hurting. She has served along with her husband in a multitude of activities. They are, however, best known for their caring attitudes and have earned for themselves a host of friends.

Don and Nedra were married on March 8, 1956, and they have raised two children, Mrs. Jan Callan Leach ('80) and J.D. Callan, presently a senior majoring in physical education.

Because of their dedicated service to Cedarville College and its students, because of their commitment to serving and loving others, and because basketball has never been their first priority, it is our privilege to name Donald and Nedra Callan as Honorary Alumni of the Year. To God be the glory!

Alumni – Tour Israel, Egypt, Greece

Dr. James T. Jeremiah, Chancellor of Cedarville College, will be hosting two tours to the Holy Land in 1985. The first, scheduled April 22-May 5, will be a journey to Israel and will cover many historical sites and land types, from Dan to Beersheba.

The second tour will be quite different. It is the first time in fourteen such excursions that Dr. & Mrs. Jeremiah will be conducting a tour in the summer. This August 9-23 tour is designed especially for alumni who cannot free themselves at other times of the year.

"For a long time, I have wanted to follow the footsteps of the Apostle Paul," stated Dr. Jeremiah. "In addition to spending seven nights in Israel, we shall also spend five nights on the Mediterranean." Included in this package are stops in Cyprus, Rhodes, Athens, Corinth, Patmos, and Ephesus. Then the cruise ship will sail across the Mediterranean to Alexandria and on to Cairo, Egypt.

"Both of the tours will give each of our participants the opportunity of fellowship with others who have a common interest in gaining the utmost from the experience," noted Dr. Jeremiah.

Each evening while in Israel, and as time is available, Dr. Jeremiah will show slides of the places to be visited the next day. Opportunities for questions and discussion will be an important part of the evening program.

Fellowship Tours, Inc., has guaranteed first class hotels with a continental breakfast, lunch, and dinner. "Many companies do not offer this, but our tour company insists on providing the best possible accommodations for the price," confirmed Dr. Jeremiah.

In 1983, fifty Cedarville College friends enjoyed the Israel tour. If you are interested in attending one of these tours, write the alumni office for further information today.

In 1981 Dr. Jeremiah became the senior pastor of Scott Memorial Baptist Church, San Diego, California. With a membership of over 3,000, this church has three locations and is the home of Christian Heritage College and Christian Unified Schools which have a combined student body of 2,700.

Dr. Jeremiah has authored several books, the most recent entitled Overcoming Loneliness. He is a frequent speaker on college campuses, conference centers, and programs such as "Day of Discovery." His television and radio outreach, "Turning Point," is aired throughout the San Diego area. The radio ministry of the same name is heard throughout the United States, including WCDR-FM.

The alumni of Cedarville College hereby express our appreciation to God for His work in and through Dr. David Jeremiah. The Alumni Council, aware of his role in the lives of many people, issues this citation naming him Alumnus of the Year, 1984. To God be the Glory.

Alumni initiate MK Scholarship

Frank and Barb Jenista

As a son of missionary parents, Frank Jenista often reflects on "the friendly atmosphere of the Cedarville College campus which played an extremely important role in helping me overcome the cultural hurdles of readjusting to life in America." Frank, his wife Barbara (Lepine '70) and their children were visitors to Cedarville College this past summer during a leave from their tour of duty with the United States Information Agency in the Philippine Islands.

Frank, a 1968 graduate with a double major in history and English, received his master's degree from the University of Dayton. After teaching school in Philadelphia he went on to the University of Michigan where he earned a Ph.D. in Southeast Asian History with an emphasis on the Philippine Islands. Frank and Barbara were married in 1970, and since that time Frank has been serving with the U.S. Information Agency in Japan, Indonesia, New Zealand, and the Philippines. He is presently the Director of the Thomas Jefferson Cultural Center in Manila.

Frank states that "At Cedarville MK's can find the long-lasting friendships often missed in earlier years of following parents around the world. The wide range of activities also make possible a sense of contribution and identity within the Cedarville 'family'. Barbara and I remember with appreciation the friends we made, teachers we frustrated, and education we received at Cedarville and have decided that it would be most appropriate for us to make the benefits that we received from Cedarville College available to others, specifically the children of missionary parents, who may have particular difficulty in raising the necessary finances to attend Cedarville." This has been the impetus for establishing a scholarship fund designed to assist worthy and needy MK's in completing their education at Cedarville College.

This special fund has been set up in conjunction with the Financial Aid Department and is primarily designed to assist the children of missionaries, particularly those whose parents are alumni. The interest earned by this fund will be awarded on the basis of need as well as academic achievement and extracurricular involvement.

The members of the Class of 1984 also recognized the unique problems MK's have in securing financial aid and have demonstrated their concern by making their class gift to the college a three year funding plan to build the MK Scholarship Fund.

Frank also adds, "There are a significant number of MK alumni like myself who might be particularly interested in contributing toward a special scholarship fund for missionary kids. I am sure that many other MK's have appreciated the Cedarville experience as much as I did and will want to help make it possible for others."

If you are interested in this ministry to missionary kids, send your designated gift for the MK Scholarship Fund to the Alumni Office.
