BULLETIN of

CEDARVILLE COLLEGE

DEC. 1965 - JAN. 1966

DR. MADDOX CALLED HOME

Cedarville College sustained a great loss through the homegoing of Dr. Clifford R. Maddox, 71, Dean Emeritus, of the College. Dr. Maddox went to be with the Lord on November 6 while attending the annual meeting of the Educational Testing Service at New York City. Dr. James T. Jeremiah brought the messages at services conducted November 8, at Grace Baptist Church, Cedarville, Ohio, and November 10, at the First Baptist Church, Harvey, Illinois, which was Dr. Maddox's former home church.

A memorial service was held November 8 during the regular chapel service where comments were made by faculty members and students who knew Dr. Maddox. Excerpts from this memorial service are a fitting commentary on the life of Dr. Maddox.

A portion of a special citation given to Dr. Maddox at the Commencement service in 1964 was read by Dr. Jeremiah. "Dr. Maddox received his B.S. degree from Georgetown College in 1916; his M.A. degree from the University of Chicago in 1925; his Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago in 1933; has been a member of Phi Delta Kappa and the National Society for the Study of Education since 1923.

"Many years of his life have been devoted to teaching and administration in the public schools. For thirty years (1926-1956), he served the Thornton Township High School in Harvey, Illinois, as Psychologist, Supervisor of Instruction and Assistant Superintendent in Charge of Instruction. For eight years (1956-1964), he has served as Academic Dean of Cedarville College where he has established a testing program and given wise counsel in the development of the academic program. The educational testing program and the psychology of learning have been major interests throughout his career.

Since 1965, Dr. Maddox has been Dean Emeritus of the College."

He was a devoted Christian. He always emphasized the vital place the Bible must have in the curriculum of this Christian College. Recognition at that Commencement time was given to his personal study of the Bible in the original languages, his many years of service as a loyal deacon and teacher at local Baptist churches where he has been a member. His philosophy of life is stressed in Psalm 25:4, "Shew me thy ways, O Lord; teach me thy paths."

Mrs. Stuart Chaffe recalled an application of Christianity to practical daily living that was demonstrated during her freshman year at school. "Dr. Maddox called the entire student body together and said, 'We do not know whether we will be able to open the doors tomorrow or not. We need money and we need students desperately. Let us pray. Do you have the faith to ask God for one hundred new students?' Very few of us did, but Dr. Maddox did, and his challenge was accepted, and as we prayed, God answered."

Mr. William Riter, who had Dr. Maddox as a teacher for General Psychology said,

Students Come From 29 States and 3 Foreign Countries

Our present student body of 763 young people come from 29 states and 3 foreign countries.

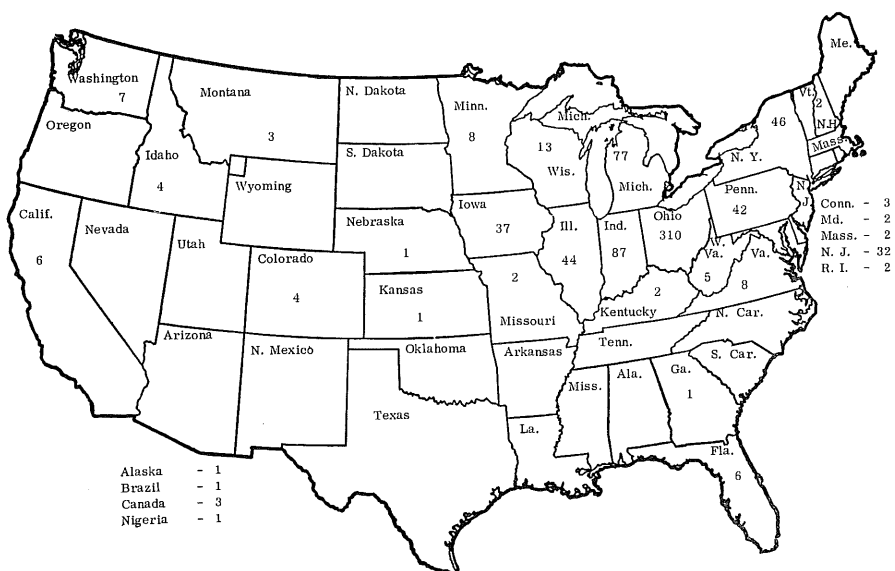

Out of 763 young people, 674 come from Baptist churches. We must conclude that this Baptist college of arts and sciences is meeting the need of training the young people from our churches.

The question must be asked, "Are the Baptist churches meeting the needs of Cedarville College?"

Since no student pays for the entire cost of his education, the rest of the expense must be carried by churches and interested friends of Cedarville. Our student body has grown from 119 in 1958 to 763 in 1965, an increase of almost 650 per cent. However, gift income during the same period of time has grown from $60,000 a year to $90,000 in 1964, less than a 50 per cent increase. Thus student population has increased 13 times faster than gift income.

Churches should prayerfully ask themselves whether they should increase their giving to the College in the light of this information.

FROM THE PRESIDENT'S DESK

Dr. James Jeremiah, President

THE GREATEST OF GIFTS

At this time of year one thought is uppermost in the minds of many American people, regardless of their profession of faith in Christ or the lack of it. Even though the Christmas gift idea is supposed to have a Christian background, almost every advertising medium will make us all think of giving in some form or another. Everyone will be encouraged to presented the Christmas story with John 3:16 as a background. There concerned over the commercialization of Christmas with a total neglect of its true meaning.

This materialistic approach to Christmas is expressed by an incident which took place some years ago in one of our large cities. Two women were walking down one of the main streets and stopped in front of a large department store window. This window had a gift display which presented the Christmas story with John 3:16 as a background. There in large letters, they read, "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." Said one lady to the other, "What will these Christians think of next? They are even trying to put religion into Christmas!"

When it comes to the matter of giving, no one can outgive God for He gave His Son for us. (Romans 8:32). This seemed to be Paul's thought when he penned the words in II Corinthians 9:15, "Thanks be unto God for His unspeakable gift." Dr. H. I. Ironside said of this verse, "This gift is Christ Himself, and He is absolutely beyond all our powers to properly appreciate." Translators of the New Testament have sought to help us understand the word unspeakable. One refers to it as "precious beyond telling." The 20th Century New Testament explains it as the "indescribable, unexpressible, free gift." Phillips mentions that it is "His indescribable generosity to you." The New English Bible says it is, "His gift beyond words." Wuest sought to express it as meaning, "His ineffable gift." The New American Standard Bible calls it, "the indescribable gift." Who can describe Christ as God's gift to us? He, indeed, is beyond all human descriptions.

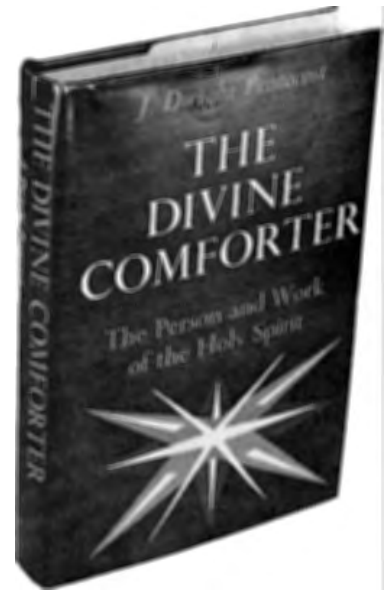

Think of it, God's special gift to us came as the greatest demonstration of love, for "God so loved the world that He gave . . ." He left "the ivory palaces" (Psalm 45:8) to live among men who "hated Him without a cause" (John 15:25).

In being God's love-gift to us, "He was rich, yet for our sakes He became poor, that ye through His poverty might be rich." (II Cor. 8:9). Dr. G. Campbell Morgan points out that "this is the only occasion where that Greek word for poor occurs in the New Testament. It means pauperism. He became a pauper on this earth that we might become rich: rich in Him and His grace." In the light of this sacrifice on His part, our entire attitude toward giving should be reconsidered.

Let us give in the light of His manner of giving. (II Cor. 9:7). He did not "grudgingly" go to the cross, but "freely" He took our sins, and "cheerfully" He gave Himself that we might receive the gift of eternal life.

This year when we consider giving to the cause of Christ in the local church, world missions, Christian education, and to other Christian work, let us do so with a view of God's greatest of gifts to us.

BOOK CLUB

Our book club exists to encourage gifts for College library books. Many of our friends participate in this program and help build a good library for themselves at the same time.

To anyone who gives ten dollars or more designated for library books, we will send a copy of "The Divine Comforter" by J. Dwight Pentecost. This book ". . . presents a meaningful portrait—an informal and highly personal interpretation—of the Holy Spirit's essential character, ministry and gifts . . . of the nature of regeneration and sanctification."

The teaching of the Holy Spirit is presented in His relation to:

The Inspiration of Scripture
The Virgin Birth of Christ
The Resurrection of Christ
The Regeneration, Sealing, and Filling of the Believer

Those of you who receive our bulletin directly through the mail will note that a special envelope is enclosed for your convenience.

FILMS ENTHUSIASTICALLY RECEIVED

Our new color, sound film entitled "Higher than Higher Education" is being well received by the churches. In less than a month after the film was premiered, over seventy churches have scheduled the film.

FORD SCHOLARSHIP AWARDED

Donna Kincannon

Miss Donna Kincannon has been awarded a Ford Fund Scholarship that includes eighty percent room and board and full tuition for four years. The Fund also will give five hundred dollars a year to Cedarville College.

Miss Kincannon was eligible to compete for this scholarship because her father works for the Ford Motor Company. Sixteen hundred young people from all parts of the United States were tested to determine who would receive the seventy scholarships granted this year.

This is Miss Kincannon's first year at Cedarville. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kincannon, who are members of the First Baptist Church, LaGrange, Ohio.

Now that we have received so many reports from the churches saying that it is an outstanding film, we can justifiably encourage others to schedule it. It dramatically portrays the reason for the existence of Cedarville College. This film will help pastors to educate their people to the need of a thorough Christian philosophy in education.

This film is available to churches and groups at a fifteen-dollar minimum. Because all six copies of our film are committed two months ahead, we would encourage you to schedule the film well in advance.

UNIQUE GIFT

Dr. Jeremiah returned from First Baptist Church, Cambridge City, Indiana, October 31, with two surprises. He is shown receiving a one-thousand-dollar check from Mrs. John E. Lamberson. In the front of the church is pictured a ton of food that was given to the College.

Pastor Bernard L. Flanagan encouraged his people to bring canned goods to the church, and the pastor and William Johnson brought the food to the campus and presented it as a gift.

Mrs. Lamberson gave the one thousand dollars to the library in memory of her husband, John E. Lamberson.

CHRISTIAN SERVICE ACTIVITIES

Approximately three hundred Cedarville College students participated in twenty different types of Christian service during the first six weeks of the school year. Over one thousand five hundred gospel tracts were distributed, and approximately one hundred twenty New Testaments and Scripture portions were given out. Twenty-six professions of faith were reported.

Several students are engaged in pastoral work and supply preaching. Others serve local churches in the areas of Sunday school, youth work, musical programs, children's church, and nursery. Students assist in conducting Pioneer Girl's meetings and boys' clubs in the area. Weekly services are held in the Xenia and Springfield jails and in the Springfield Juvenile Detention Home. Gospel teams have held services in Dayton and Cincinnati rescue missions and in the Dayton workhouse. Devotional services are held and personal visitation is done in four area rest homes. Two street meetings have been held in the village of Jamestown, and tract distribution and personal evangelism is done periodically on the streets of several communities. Cedarville students are responsible for the Sunday school program in the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphanage in Xenia and furnish special music in many area churches.

Some of the new developments in Christian service at Cedarville this year include an organized effort to establish a Christian witness on area college campuses, the proposed bi-weekly Christian Service Newsletter listing prayer and praise requests, and an Alumni study to show the correlation between Christian service at Cedarville and participation in local church programs by our graduates.

FACULTY FACTS

Mrs. Stuart Chaffe, Librarian, received her masters degree in Library Science this summer at Indiana University.

This past summer Mr. J. Emerson Russell, Assistant Professor of Art, and his wife took a three-month tour of Europe traveling through eight countries. They visited nearly twenty of Europe's leading museums studying art of the countries and preaching in the churches at night.

Mr. Rodney E. Wyse, Assistant Professor of Business Administration, is working on his Ph.D. in Labor Economics at Ohio State University. He was recently elected into the Omicron Delta Epsilon, which is a scholastic graduate fraternity in economics and has a chapter at the University. Admission is honorary and by invitation only.

"The Genesis Account of Creation" by Dr. Arthur Williams, Chairman of the Bible Division, appeared in the October and November, 1964, issue of the Baptist Bulletin. In 1965, it was reprinted in the "Creation Research Society Annual," and published in pamphlet form by Dr. David Otis Fuller, Wealthy Street Baptist Church, Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Mr. Kenneth St. Clair, Business Manager, received a Certificate of Completion from the University of Omaha for completing satisfactorily the prescribed work in the Short Course in College Business Management taken July 26-31, 1965.

Miss Joy Mackay, Dean of Women and Assistant Professor of Christian Education, has recently written a book entitled "Creative Counseling for Christian Camps." It will be on sale by January, 1966.

On October 22, Mr. John W. Reed, Chairman of the Speech Department, spoke to the Indiana State Teachers Association, Fort Wayne, Indiana, on the subject, "A College Teacher's View of High School Speech."

In July, Mr. Reed, who is also an Air National Guard Chaplain, conducted funeral services at Arlington National Cemetery for Captain Paul Leppo. Captain Leppo was killed when his F84F Thunderstreak Jet Fighter crashed near Leesville, Ohio.

Two articles on Roger Williams written by Mr. Reed were published in the regular Baptist Press Sunday school papers in 1965.

Miss Carla Packard, Assistant Professor of French and Spanish, spent five weeks in Mexico during July and August. She studied Spanish at the University of San Francisco Summer School Extension, held at the University of Guadalajara.

Miss Jean Fisher, Assistant Professor of Christian Education, attended the Research Commission of the National Sunday School Association on September 20-21 in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

INTERVIEW WITH ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

Donald Callan

"... Dr. Maddox learned as much of his psychology, not through the books of man, nor from the minds of men but from the Holy Scriptures themselves..."

Joseph Stowell, President of the Student Council, said, "There are many things that we as a student body will never forget about Dr. Maddox: his quick wit and appropriate comments; his scholarship was always an outstanding incentive for us as a student body to develop ourselves in academic and intellectual realms. His spiritual life was the prime example of a scholar who was truly a man of God."

The Dean of Students, Mr. Richard T. McIntosh, commented that in addition to Dr. Maddox's long office day, he also had a den at home and that many times he would notice that his light was still on at midnight.

"He was a man who was greatly concerned about prayer. I can remember on more than one occasion as we would be considering the problems of the Admissions Committee, he would say to me, 'Now, let's pray. Let's covenant together to pray every day that the Lord will bring only to Cedarville those whom he wants here, and that no student will come to Cedarville out of the will of the Lord.' And then after some came and we questioned it as to whether or not the Lord had sent them, he would say, 'Let's pray for these people. Let's pray that God will do something in their lives that we cannot do — by counsel or by any other method. Let's pray for them daily that God will work in their lives.'"

Business Manager, Mr. Kenneth H. St. Clair, said "Last summer five executive chairs were purchased to be used in the President's office for the Administrative Committee meetings. One chair will now be vacant. I'm glad I have the hope that I shall see him again."

Dr. Clifford W. Johnson, Academic Dean, said, "I think a Christian life can be one of enthusiasm, dedication, humor, and to me, Dr. Maddox epitomized all of these. He was the only man that I have ever met about whom all of these wonderful things could be said. Each one of us, I suppose, through our lives select some ideals. This man to me is one of those ideals. The ideal Christian man who can combine this heartfelt passion for Christianity and for what Christ has done for him, as well as with some secular occupation in which he was completely taken over. This reminds me of our purposes at Cedarville College. This is our goal — to show that this is possible, and that with God's help and the right attitude it is going to happen."

What significant part does physical education play in the total program of a Christian college?

Our program of physical education consists of intramural participation, required physical education classes, and our varsity program for more select athletes. Some of our graduates are teaching physical education in the public schools.

In a Christian college we are interested in the total development of each student and feel that in addition to physical development, the attitudes shown in athletic participation can also have a great influence in the growth of Christian character.

Do you think sports are overemphasized at Cedarville?

No, for a liberal arts college of our size, we have a modest sports program, for example, most schools our size play intercollegiate football. By this, we do not mean to say we have a poor program because our records show that we have been quite successful in the area of athletics.

What are the prospects for basketball this year?

At first glance, the basketball picture does not appear too bright since we graduated several of our top men. However, thus far in practice sessions, it appears that we have the potential of having another fine year. It will be difficult to improve on our twenty-three and four record of last year, but we are in hopes of successfully defending our Mid-Ohio Conference Championship.

To what do you attribute the success of our athletic program?

Many of our competitors have asked us the same question, assuming that we give great financial aid to our athletes. This, of course, is not true in that our athletic aid is merely token when looked at in the light of what other schools do in recruiting athletes. We feel that the true reason for these boys attending Cedarville is their desire to receive a Christian college education. For example, Al Knott, All-State basketball player, from First Baptist Church, Silvis, Illinois, turned down seventy-five major colleges with almost unlimited offers.

Another factor is the help received from pastors and friends who encourage outstanding Christian athletes to attend Cedarville.

GRANTS RECEIVED

President Jeremiah is congratulating Mr. Bert Frye and Dr. Donald P. Baumann upon the news that they have each received two-thousand-dollar grants from the National Science Foundation.

These grants are called Academic Year Extension Support and will be used to continue research begun this past summer.

Mr. Frye will continue research that he began at the University of Florida in optical astronomy, studying eclipsing-star motions. The National Science Foundation is interested in the use of small observatories such as the one operated at Cedarville College in support of more comprehensive projects undertaken at the larger professional observatories.

Dr. Baumann will continue research started at the Iowa State University in cryobiology. He is studying the effect of freezing at -320° F. upon the enzymes of bacteria used in making cheese. This may prove beneficial to the dairy industry by allowing them to store cheese culture for long periods of time.

GIFT FROM WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

Alford Auditorium took on a new look this year because of fifteen-hundred-dollars' worth of draperies that were purchased by the Women's Auxiliary of Cedarville College. The gift provided draperies and valances for windows in the auditorium, and knee curtains for the platform. The Women's Auxiliary has also donated numerous pieces of furniture and other items to the College throughout the year.

ALUMNI NEWS

VICE PRESIDENT SPEAKS

Tryonne Bryant was graduated from Cedarville College with a major in business administration receiving his B.S. degree in 1964.

He and his wife, Pat, are now living in Noblesville, Indiana, and are actively participating in a local GARB church. They are sponsors of a senior high youth group and Mr. Bryant is substitute teacher in the Sunday school. Mrs. Bryant is in her first year at Indiana University graduate school of social service.

Upon graduation from Cedarville, June 1, 1964, Mr. Bryant accepted a position with Firestone Industrial Products Company, Division of Firestone Tire and Rubber Company. He is currently working as operating assistant to the Western Sales Division. The training program in which he is now engaged should place him within several months as a Field Sales Representative.

THE CURED-OUT PART

by Tryonne Bryant

The atmosphere and firm foundation of the Christ-centered education is a necessity to maintain a high degree of faith in this complex business world. The foundation is an experience which starts early in life and reaches a partial climax during the college years. Cedarville we know, has the perspective that few institutions have, and is actively preparing its students with a healthy diet of sound Christian doctrine and ethical approaches to our country's corporate function.

The climax of the college career just begins to motivate our thinking process. Business today has unlimited futures for the individual who speaks effectively without prejudice, and with determination not to be just average.

The employee in business today can be distinctive only if he seeks to elevate his deep desires and convictions throughout the years of opportunity. But the desires must be deep. Opportunity does and will continue to pass by, unless we are willing to speak out and receive our fair share. We must realize that our experiences, devotions, faith, and convictions are giving us a right to this opportunity.

Cedarville meant an opportunity to me, and now I am just commencing to measure the vastness of its dynamic potential. We, the Alumni, are the end result of four years curing on the part of many individuals to mold a life that may be representative of the Christ we serve and the society we constitute.

May each person see without defect the life molded and used that Cedarville produces.

stationed at Fort Devens. His wife takes care of Richard II, almost one year old.

Pat and Ted Ocheltree are working with the senior high young people at Fort McKinley Baptist Church, Dayton, Ohio. Pat is at Dille Labs and Ted is assistant manager of G. C. Murphy Company. Ted will be representing the Scioto Hills Regular Baptist Youth Camp in churches in Ohio this winter.

Jim and Esther Entner are in Dayton where Jim is at the Miami Valley Hospital (where Nancy McDivitt was graduated) as an intern. Esther travels to Cedarville College to teach in the Elementary Education Department.

Jim Neely is busy as assistant pastor at First Baptist Church, Lapeer, Michigan.

Ruth Himsel Ager divides her time between Minda Lee (born November 22, 1962) and her husband, Merlin (class of 1960), who is teaching at Cedarville College and working for his Ph.D. at Ohio State University.

Linda Johnson Thomas has two girls, Amy, twelve months, and Ruth, two years. Her husband Dave is a science teacher in Centerville, Ohio, where he has taught three years. The couple is active at Washington Heights Baptist Church, Dayton.

William Jennings spent one year with General Motors, two years teaching school and one year on construction in Flint, Michigan, before moving to Florida. Married, he has two children, Jayne Lynn, two years, and Billy, a little over two months.

David and Jean Gardner are serving with the Association of Baptist for World Evangelism in Iloilo City, Philippines. They have two children, Patty and Steve. They write from the Philippines, "The Lord gave us several very profitable short campaigns this year. We helped several churches open new mission churches through one and two-week campaigns in the new areas. We saw many saved (about seventy-five professions in all) and a good number of these are continuing to attend the meetings.

Gordon and Alice Wimer and their two children Karen and Kenneth are working under Baptist Mid-Missions in the Republic of Chad, Central African Republic. Gordon is a second-generation missionary, having lived in Africa while his father, Theodore B. Wimer, was a long-time missionary there.

Class of 1955

S. Nelson Collins is with Mutual Security Life Insurance Company, Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Verne I. Kirby is serving under Baptist Mid-Missions in Anchor Point, Alaska.

James R. Johnson recently resigned as editor of the Ohio Independent Baptists after serving four years. He also is a reporter for the Springfield Sun.

Bernice Mick is manager of the Cedarville College Bookstore.

Robert F. Rogers is a missionary pastor in Western Pennsylvania serving under Fellowship of Baptists for Home Missions. A daughter, Grace May, was born to Pastor and Mrs. Rogers in July.

Paul A. and Bernadette Coon Schenck (class of 1954) are home missionaries under Fellowship of Baptists for Home Missions. He is serving on the youth committee of the Ohio Association of Regular Baptist Churches. They recently completed the work of establishing a church in Twinsburg, Ohio.

Class of 1962

Warren W. Allen began his fifth year as pastor of Newtonsville Baptist Church in Ohio. A daughter, Cathleen Gay Allen, born September 19, now gives Mr. and Mrs. Allen three girls and one son.

Stephen W. and Ruth Boalt are in Iowa where Steve is minister of youth and music at Grandview Park Baptist Church. The couple have three children, Wendy, Steve, and Lisa. The church has seven choirs. Ruth is church pianist.

Class of 1961

Bob Domokos recently was graduated from Grace Theological Seminary, Winona Lake, Indiana, with a B.D. degree and was called as pastor to Bible Baptist Church, Huntington, Indiana.

Louis Schramm teaches sixth grade at Pittsboro, Indiana, and with Margaret, his wife, is the senior high youth sponsor at Bethesda Baptist Church. Louie is planning to get his master's in elementary education and his principal's license by spring.

Dick Graven is in the Army presently

HOMECOMING ECHOES

Another fall has gone and Homecoming of 1965 is a thing of the past. The weather for the day did dampen the Alumni, but all who came for the event certainly enjoyed the fellowship with friends and graduates. Approximately one hundred registered for the luncheon in the Student Union of the College, while others registered during the day.

The main event of the morning was the parade which was started promptly and attended by the largest crowd ever witnessed for an event of this kind. First prize was won by the junior class with a large, beautiful "Old Woman's Shoe" float full of class members. The theme of the Homecoming was "God Gave the Increase."

One highlight of the luncheon was the presentation of a check for five hundred dollars by Treasurer Stuart L. Chaffe to Dr. James T. Jeremiah, President of the College, in partial payment for the film "Higher than Higher Education" being underwritten by the Alumni Association. Speakers during the luncheon were Dr. Jeremiah, Dr. George S. Milner, Dr. Clifford Johnson, Richard McIntosh, and Lee Turner.

The Yellow Jackets played the Berea College, Kentucky, soccer team, but lost. Quite a number of Alumni met in the Student Union for the business meeting that followed, with President William I. Brown leading the discussion.

On Saturday evening the film "Higher than Higher Education" was premiered for the Alumni, prospective students, and present students. Mr. Lee Turner introduced the film by saying that it was made possible because the Alumni sponsored it as a project. Credit was given to Mrs. Clifford Maddox, the students who served on the staff and cast, and producer Max Kent who was also present for the premiere showing. Following the film, Mrs. Maddox introduced the cast and staff.

PROSPECTIVE STUDENTS

We are discontinuing our semiannual Prospective Student Days. In its place we are suggesting a day each month when prospective students are encouraged to visit our campus. We will not plan extra activities for these days but have selected days that include extracurricular activities.

December	10	Christmas Music Program
	11	Cedarville vs Earlham
January	22	Cedarville vs Huntington (3:00)
February	25	Choir Concert
	26	Cedarville vs Detroit Tech. (8:00)

Alumni must purchase tickets to all basketball games at one dollar and twenty-five cents per game. Alumni and pastors are encouraged to bring groups of young people to the basketball games. A reduced price of seventy-five cents will be charged to young people attending in a delegation, and the church will be recognized over the public address system.

We are anxious to send this publication to everyone interested in the College. Pastors, let us know how many you can use to distribute in your church. Individuals, let us know of friends or churches that would enjoy receiving this paper.
