SEVENTY-THIRD ACADEMIC SESSION BEGINS

Forty-nine born-again Baptist persons make up the 1966-67 faculty at Cedarville College. Of this number thirty-four teach full-time, ten have combined teaching or administrative responsibilities, three teach part-time, and two are on educational leave working toward their doctor's degree.

At the beginning of each academic year, the faculty assembles for two days to discuss plans for the year. This year's discussions included study of the college curricula with the view of further strengthening the academic program and course offerings. Study was also given to other aspects of the college program which are related to ultimate accreditation.

Each day began with a period of Scriptural meditation followed by a time of prayer. President James T. Jeremiah presided at the sessions and Dr. Clifford Johnson, Academic Dean, assisted him.

In addition to the concentrated study sessions, special presentations were made by faculty who had attended the curriculum workshop at the Council for the Advancement of Small Colleges meeting in North Chili, New York.

In analyzing the success of the faculty sessions, President Jeremiah noted, "These meetings were especially helpful this year. Many of the faculty indicated that the discussions provided insight into some of the problems facing the college in the coming years."

Following the last session Friday, September 2, 1966, faculty and staff were invited to the annual President's Banquet as the guests of President and Mrs. Jeremiah.

—Dr. Clifford Johnson Academic Dean

STUDENTS REGISTER

The week of September 5-10 was New Student Week at Cedarville College. This six-day period was designed to orient these men and women to the facilities and program of the school. Two-hundred and ninety-five new students, 151 men and 144 women, participated in the busy schedule of events. Fifty of these students have transferred from other intsitutions.

The following Monday, September 12, was registration day for the approximately five hundred returning students bringing the size of the entire student body to around eight hundred. Classes began the following day, and Cedarville College resumed its busy pace for another academic year.

FROM THE PRESIDENT'S DESK

Dr. James T. Jeremiah, President

Dear Friends:

Cedarville is an approved college of the General Association of Regular Baptist Churches. Last year almost 90 per cent of our students came from Baptist churches, most of which are in fellowship with the GARBC. At the present time it would be impossible to operate this college without the sacrificial financial support given by many of our churches. It is apparent, therefore, that we exist primarily for, and by, this Association which approves us.

During the Association meeting held in Grand Rapids, Michigan, in June of this year, a number of resolutions were adopted, one of which has particular relationship to the missionary and educational agencies approved by the Association. We refer to the resolution entitled "Reaffirmation Regarding Creation."

In a time when belief in the Bible and the God of the Bible have been considered by many to be long outdated, Cedarville College gladly joins our Association in reaffirming its belief in the authority of Scripture and the power of the God revealed therein. From the beginning, this has been our conviction as a Baptist college.

So far as creation is concerned, we accept without apology the historical record given to us in the early chapters of Genesis. We believe they teach that the creation of man lies in the special, immediate, and formative acts of God. It is our belief that he was not brought into being from previous or existing forms of life. All men have descended from the historical Adam and Eve. We reject and refute both naturalistic and theistic evolution.

Since our young people have in most cases faced many of these theories and will continue to do so throughout their lifetime, the arguments for these positions are presented by the faculty of Cedarville College and the Biblical answer is clearly given. It is not our intention to ignore theories which seem to contradict Biblical teaching, but to present them and clearly indicate that there is another side to the argument which is both Biblical and reasonable.

We are aware of the philosophies of men which are crying for, and receiving an audience in some institutions of higher learning. Cedarville College was brought into existence "for the Word of God and the testimony of Jesus Christ." Therefore, we accept the authority of Scripture. Where human opinion contradicts the Bible, even though this opinion may come from individuals with high intellectual reputation, we accept the clear teaching of the Bible as the final authority.

FACULTY FACTS

At least thirty-six Cedarville students will have the privilege of learning piano under Miss Ardith Martin, the music department's new instructor of piano. Miss Martin received her B.A. in music from Huntington College in Indiana in 1964 and presently is working toward a graduate degree at the College Conservatory of Music of Cincinnati.

A 1955 graduate of Taylor University, Mrs. Joyce Moore, will be instructing girls in physical education. She has had extensive experience teaching in the Indiana high school systems. Mrs. Moore's husband, Brad, teaches in the education department, and together they make the fourteenth couple that are employees of Cedarville College in some capacity.

Mr. Harmon Bergen, assistant college libraran, has completed the master of arts program in library science at Indiana University. Mr. Bergan received his undergraduate degree in German from Wheaton College in 1958. Counting Mr. Bergen, 55.9 per cent of the Cedarville full-time faculty now have at least a master's degree.

Warren L. Webber, Professor of Music and Chairman of the Division of Fine Arts, has received his doctoral degree from Ohio State University. Dr. Webber majored in Higher Education and Music Education, and he minored in Administration-Supervision and Music History. His dissertation topic was "Communications in the Internal Governance of Small Church-related Liberal Arts Colleges." Dr. Webber received his master's degree in music education from Drake University in 1954, and he was granted his two bachelors' degrees by Central College of Iowa in 1949. Dr. Webber has been with Cedarville College for ten years.

COUNSELORS WORKSHOP

Selected upperclassmen will be used again this year to assist in residence hall supervision at Cedarville College. Approximately one hundred applications were received last spring for the position of dormitory counselor. Thirty-eight sophomores, juniors, and seniors have been selected to serve in this capacity for the fall semester. Criteria for selection included grade point average, spiritual maturity, social adaptability, and leadership.

These thirty-eight students returned to campus on August 31 for a full day of workshop training before the beginning of the fall program. During the New Student Week they meet daily with the Student Personnel staff for additional instruction and then weekly during the first semester and periodically during the second semester. Training includes pointers on counseling, residence hall supervision, and spiritual leadership.

Each counselor is responsible for fifteen to twenty students in a residence hall area. His duties include personal counseling, enforcement of college regulations and standards, and concern for the health and safety of his counselees. The counselors assist new students in their adjustment to college life and help returning students to develop into mature Christian young people. Counselors also provide leadership for residence hall prayer meetings and socials. They make weekly and semester reports on student and residence hall activities to the personnel office. They work with the adult residence hall supervisor in greeting guests and supervising lounge activities.

Their remuneration is their semester room fees and the satisfaction of a job well done. Many counselors have found this training and experience valuable as they go into vocations of teaching, pastoral work, or business management.

In the light of the prophetic Scriptures, we should expect insidious attacks upon our Christian faith as the end time approaches. Many of the descriptive phrases written by Paul to Timothy indicate that Biblical truth will be opposed by unbelieving men. "For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers . . . false accusers . . . heady, high minded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God; having a form of godliness but denying the power thereof. ever learning and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth" (II Timothy 3:1 to 7). Peter predicts the same trend in words recorded in the third chapter of his second epistle. "Knowing this first, that there shall come in the last days scoffers walking after their own lusts, and saying, Where is the promise of His coming? for since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation." Jude warns, "For there are certain men crept in unawares, who were before of old ordained to this condemnation, ungodly men, turning the grace of our God into lasciviousness, and denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ" (Jude 4).

Considering the positive teaching of Scripture concerning special and immediate creation and the modern-day attacks on this position, as well as the clear warning of Scripture concerning the trends of the last times, Cedarville College is thankful for the "Reaffirmation Regarding Creation" adopted by our Association. By the grace and help of God we shall be true to the historic Christian faith expressed in the doctrinal statement signed annually by our trustees and faculty. Our students shall be given every opportunity to become acquainted with the Biblical basis for these convictions.

NEW STAFF

Ralph Yarnell Jr. has been added to the development staff as Director of Alumni Relations and Communications. He succeeds Mr. Michael Nicholls who accepted a teaching assistant-ship with the University of Dayton. Mr. Yarnell received his B. A. degree in English from Shelton College in New Jersey in 1965 and currently is completing his master's work in Human Relations at Ohio University.

One of the newest residents of Williams Hall is Mrs. Frances Howell, the new dorm supervisor. She has come from Piedmont Bible College after two years as Dean of Women and full-time teacher in education. Mrs. Howell received her B.S. from Georgia State College in 1922 with a major in home economics and a minor in chemistry. The University of Cincinnati granted her the M.Ed. in general education in 1962.

ATTENTION PASTORS

Has your church had a showing of our film "Higher Than Higher Education"? Requests for the film are still being received. Pastors are advised to write as soon as possible and reserve the film for their church.

MATCHED GIFTS

Charles E. Spahr (left), president of Sohio, gave signed checks to Thomas G. Shirreffs, director of employee relations and administrator of Sohio's matching gift plan, for forwarding these checks to the presidents of 86 colleges. Cedarville College received $2,000; half was given by Sohio employees and half by the company.

DEVELOPMENT REPORT

Construction of the new library is ahead of schedule. However, recent developments may force us to stop building soon. Gifts totaling $200,000 have been received, and we had tentatively been promised a loan for the additional $200,000 needed to complete our new $400,000 library. However, we were not able to obtain the loan due to the recent "tightening" of money throughout the nation. Contacts are being made with other sources in an effort to secure the necessary funds.

Since this turn of events is beyond our control, we accept it as providential and ask God's people to stand by us with their prayers and sacrificial giving during this time of uncertainty.

We have been encouraged recently by several who have indicated their desire to give $1,000 to our "Fulfillment of Faith" program. Their names will be included on the honor roll plaque that will be erected inside the new library. Other churches and friends can still have their names included on the library plaque if we receive a sincere commitment that $1,000 will be given within the next five years. We trust this will enable many additional churches and individuals to share in the building of our new library.

DORMITORY

During the last four weeks, more noticeable progress has been realized on the dormitory than through the previous three months. It is being constructed under the management of the Commercial Investment Trust Company. A strike and the absence of skilled laborers in the Dayton area have delayed expected completion of the structure until at least the second semester.

WCDR GRANTED POWER INCREASE

The college radio station, WCDR, was given approval by the FCC to install a transmitter and antenna with an output of 1,150 watts. This will enable the station to cover a radius of 35 miles. The station previously broadcasted with a power of 15 watts.

Part of the post office building has been remodeled to handle new equipment and needed broadcasting area. Included in the mahogany-paneled complex are a master control room, two announcing studios, an additional auxiliary control room, a reception room, office, record and tape library, and radio shop. The antenna tower was erected the first week in September. The transmitter had already been installed.

The newly energized WCDR hopes to return to the air around the end of October under the operation of 18-20 students according to Station Manager, Paul Gathany. At this time the station will reapply to the FCC to broadcast at 35,000 watts, full capacity for the station. The station was able to purchase the higher-powered transmitter for the same price as a 1,000-watt-power source.

CLASS AGENT PROFILES

As an introduction to the new alumni organization of Cedarville College, the "class-agent system," the next few bulletins will include brief remarks and pictures of the ladies and gentlemen who will operate this program. One individual from each class of alumni will work to unite his class in fellowship, activities, and assistance to Cedarville College.

Jim Neely, his wife, and five prospective Cedarville students live in Frankfort, Kentucky, where Jim is serving as Minister of Music and Education in the Thornhill Baptist Church.

Jim majored in music and is the class agent for 1961.

Cedarville College turned out its first chemistry major graduate, Mark Haseltine, in 1963. Mark expects to receive his Ph.D. in chemistry in June from the Kansas State University.

A dictionary informed Ty Bryant, the 1964 class agent, about Cedarville. With a degree earned in business administration. Ty has now served two years with Firestone Industrial Products Company in Noblesville, Indiana. He soon expects to be promoted by Firestone to Field Sales Representative and by his wife to the status of father.

agent is Gordon Griffin, who with his wife, Julie, are living in Grand Rapids, Michigan. Gordon is attending Grand Rapids Baptist Bible Seminary and also is teaching
