CEDARVILLE COLLEGE BULLETIN

VOL. 54 NO. 1

FEBRUARY-MARCH 1972

STUDENTS FAVOR UNIQUE PROGRAM

For an education or a college to offer a worthwhile challenge, it must have a strong center in which all other activities revolve. At Cedarville College, that hub is Bible-based Christianity. The revolving activities are the academic disciplines, social atmosphere, and spiritual opportunities.

One of the biggest decisions facing a college-bound student is the choice of what college to attend. Wrestling with such questions as—"What can this college offer me?"—"Will the faculty be good?"—"What social opportunities are there?", the student eventually makes a decision. This past fall, 285 freshmen chose Cedarville College. A recent report released by the American College Testing Program reviewed the major considerations voiced by the 1971 freshmen who came to Cedarville.

An all-important consideration shown by the ACT poll was the fact that 67% of the high school seniors who entered Cedarville chose the college for its special academic curriculum and approach. Standing apart from other schools in its Christ-centered outlook of learning, Cedarville does offer a unique curriculum.

Approaching literature by reading and studying such contemporary authors as F. Scott Fitzgerald or Ernest Hemingway, or delving into science, realizing that all is God's creation, the Cedarville student anticipates study from a truly factual perspective.

Another aspect of academic consideration viewed by the students was the quality of education available at Cedarville. Approximately 64% of the 1971 freshmen class selected the school for its intellectual atmosphere. Confident of the dedicated faculty at Cedarville, 79% of the new students came to the college partially for this reason.

Social interactions, a crucial phase of a student's college career, play a major role in molding and shaping the personality of a future minister, school teacher, youth director, or business executive. Seventy-nine per cent of the new freshmen made a decision based on the social opportunities at the liberal arts college.

In exploring the social possibilities at Cedarville, the entering freshmen found a wide range of activities from men's and women's social clubs, to choir, band and orchestra. A chance to be involved in student government, student publications or student radio also awaited the incoming freshmen.

As the hub of activities at Cedarville center on Christianity, Christian service is a natural by-product. A factor in the decision of 94% of the young people who arrived on campus last fall was the prospect of Christian service. Attracted by chances to work with youth in Bible clubs or church groups, to travel every weekend with Swordbearer's or choir and to visit orphanages and rest homes brought many high school seniors to the Christian campus.

Integrating the academic, social and spiritual into an education revolving around the Word of God, Cedarville College does provide that worthwhile challenge.

TESTIMONY CHALLENGES

An ambitious student, pursuing a major in secondary education in the field of math, as well as a minor in Bible and German, JoAnne Buschmann hoped to take her talents to Germany to teach in an overseas Bible school. However, on Wednesday, November 10, 1971, while traveling to advanced German classes at Wittenberg University in Springfield, Ohio, her car careened off the road, striking a pole and a tree, killing her instantly.

A Colorado native, JoAnne, 21, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Buschmann. Because of her father's career with the Armed Forces, she had the opportunity to live in many cities, not only in the United States, but in Germany.

Actively involved, JoAnne's testimony in various Christian service assignments has challenged students. Offering to use her own car in Christian service, JoAnne traveled to Bible clubs and rest homes in the Cedarville area. She also worked as a Personnel Assistant in Maddox Hall.

The eldest of five, JoAnne is survived by three brothers and one sister, and her parents and grandparents.

Her concern for Christian education has prompted the establishment of a memorial scholarship fund in her name. Approximately $776.00 has been collected. Contributions can be mailed to the Director of Development, Cedarville College, Cedarville, Ohio.

FROM THE PRESIDENT'S DESK

Dr. James T. Jeremiah, President

It is reported that an outstanding industrialist, a man of some wealth and accomplishment, made a statement to a teacher in a Christian college that should encourage everyone who is engaged in this area of Christian service: "The cloth we make wears out, and the marble we finish will eventually disintegrate; the ideal you plant in a human mind lives eternally."

An ideal has been defined as "a standard of absolute perfection, excellence, or beauty." This "ideal in a human mind" endures when it is related to and based upon truth, the truth of God's Word. For this reason, we believe it is vitally important that each one of our students learn to understand the relationship of God's Word to the academic studies in which he is engaged. The Psalmist declared, "Thy word is true from the beginning. . . ." ". . . the truth of the Lord endureth forever" (Psalms 119:160; 117:2). Jesus prayed, "Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth" (John 17:17).

The Bible in both the Old Testament and the New Testament teaches that there is such a thing as absolute truth and that it has a powerful and lasting effect upon those who received and obey it. It cleanses, it sets apart, it satisfies, and it brings abiding peace to the hearts and minds of those who receive it.

The truth of God's Word gives a foundation upon which a Christian student can build a worthwhile Christian character. It presents a challenge to a Christian teacher in a Christian college to encourage his students to seek truth and know that God is the author of it.

It goes without saying that there is a point of view which is expressed quite openly these days which repudiates and ridicules the idea that there is absolute truth. It insists that the teacher should stress that there are no right answers, no constant truths, and, consequently, no moral principles. One writer puts it, "We have to let students know there are no right answers. The truth does not make much difference basically."

In another article in this Bulletin our readers are presented with some reasons why students have selected Cedarville College. You may count on it that Christian young people these days are perceptive enough to know that it does make a difference whether there are absolutes, or whether we are always seeking the truth but destined never to find it. They have experienced the truth of God in their hearts when they trusted Him as Saviour and are concerned that their lives be so related to this transforming message that they will count for God in the days to come.

For Christians, it is vitally important where one pursues his college education. Many have mistakenly chosen the secular institution because of prestige, scholarship, or other less important matters, only to be lost to the cause of the Christ in whom they have entrusted their souls for salvation. Though it cannot be dogmatically stated that every Christian young person should enroll in a Christian college, it would appear that every Christian student should have just cause why he should not prepare his life for Christian service in a Christian college.

ART WORK DONATED

A visual story of aviation painting done by Dayton, Ohio artist, Gerald Page, was presented to Cedarville College by Ernst & Ernst, a certified public accountant firm in Dayton, on November 4, 1971.

The 1962 painting depicts the beginning of the Wright brothers' saga, from the bicycle shop, to Kitty Hawk, to today's jet age. Originally placed in the office of Ernst & Ernst, the painting was removed after the company's move to the Winters National Bank building in Dayton. Because of the new office setting, the firm decided to give the work to an area museum or area college. An alumnus of Cedarville and an employee of the company, Richard Bresson, suggested his alma mater.

According to Cedarville President, James T. Jeremiah, the art work, which is on display in the college library, will be permanently placed in the new Science Center.

VARIETY COLORS ARTIST LECTURE SERIES

Melody Four Quartet

As the highlight of the November 20th Harvest of Harmonies all-school banquet, the Cedarville College family delighted to the unique and inspirational sound of the Melody Four Quartet. The group, consisting of Clair Hess, Glen Jorian, Ray Felton and Bill Pearce, shared such songs as "A New World," "Joshua" and "Heaven Came Down," during the Artist Lecture Series performance. An audience of over 800 students, faculty and friends of the college enjoyed the two hour concert by the Quartet.

Huminik — Espionage

What happens when a United States scientist becomes a double agent? What is the truth about Soviet espionage in the U.S.? These and many other questions concerning espionage were answered when John Huminik, a man who lived for six years as a counterspy for the F.B.I., appeared as part of the January 15th, Cedarville College Artist Lecture Series.

Mr. Huminik's extraordinary story began in 1961, when Huminik, at the urging of the F.B.I. let himself be recruited as a spy by Valentine Revlin, a member of the Russian Embassy. For six years he worked for a Soviet spy network, operating out of the Embassy in Washington, D. C. Risking his life on many occasions, he stole and photographed highly classified defense and space documents for the Russians that had been altered or falsified under F.B.I. supervision.

This unique insight into the world of espionage was a most interesting and informative experience for the college community.

CHRISTIAN SERVICE BROADENS EXPERIENCES

"Did you hear what happened in my youth meeting last night?" "My Sunday School class had four new members today." "I just wanted to tell you that a girl gave her life to Christ on campus evangelism today."

These are just a few of the excited comments made daily by Cedarville students as they return from their Christian service assignments.

Reflecting over Christian service work accomplished during fall quarter, Pastor Harold Green, campus pastor, said that approximately 500 students were involved in weekly obligations with another 10% working monthly. This past quarter has shown the greatest increase of activity in the Christian service department in the last several years.

Not only active with other campus obligations, some students volunteered for week-day service opportunities in such things as Bible clubs or Bible study groups. Surrounding communities such as Jamestown, Xenia or Springfield have attracted students as they seek to begin new ministries. Warner Junior High School in Xenia was the meeting place for an afternoon Bible club. Community Hospital School of Nursing opened its doors to a Monday Bible Study conducted by a Cedarville sophomore.

As the weekend arrives on campus, many students anticipate Christian service assignments with Swordbearers, orphanages, detention home, churches or nursing homes.

A very active quarter, Swordbearers, a totally student-oriented organization which works within area churches, traveled to Sunbury, Strongsville, and Painesville, Ohio, as well as canvassing in Xenia on a regular basis. Campus evangelism visited surrounding campuses on the average of four times a week. The Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Home in Xenia invited students to conduct 18 Sunday School classes and to hold evening services each weekend.

Accepting individual responsibilities, some students stepped into the capacity of choir director or youth minister with churches in Troy, Beavercreek and Medway, to cite a few. Campus music groups, the choir, trios or the sextet were on the road each weekend to minister to churches as far west as Iowa.

With the beginning of winter quarter, Pastor Green is looking for more student involvement as those active in Christian service challenge and excite their peers. Two new opportunities, a Saturday Teen Club in Union, Ohio, and a counseling service in Dayton for pre-delinquent or delinquent boys move into the organizational limelight with the winter quarter.

ENGLISH HISTORY PORTRAYED ON STAGE

Dramatic Ministries of Ashbury Theological Seminary presented "Becket" to the Cedarville College community on January 10, 1972.

The Jean Anouih play is the story of Thomas A'Becket and Henry II, King of England. The production relates the lives of two men, once were close friends, who find themselves in bitter opposition.

Dramatic Ministries is the outreach arm of the Speech Department of Ashbury Seminary. "Becket," one of the three touring programs produced by the Seminary, was sponsored on campus by Literati.

CHOIR BEGINS CONCERT TOUR

Traveling north for an annual spring concert tour, the Cedarville College Choir will spend two weeks sharing its music with audiences in northern Illinois and Michigan. The 45-voice choir will be featured in concert March 15-26.

Under the direction of David Matson, music department chairman, the group will perform a wide spectrum of music from the Baroque period to contemporary pieces. Traditional works by such men as George Frederick Handel, Heinrich Schuetz, and Felix Mendelssohn will be presented by the choir. From the contemporary period, the "Redeemer", a collection of songs about the person of Jesus Christ, by Leland Sateren, will be sung.

To be included on the choir program will be many familiar hymns. Pieces by hymn writers, John Peterson, Don Husted and Robert Shaw will be among the several numbers performed in this part of the program. A unique opportunity will be given as an original composition by Mr. Lyle Anderson, Instructor of Music, "Unto Thee O Lord," will be one of the final selections.

Having been recognized for its choral music, the college choir has performed before audiences in churches, high schools, state prisons, civic assemblies and on other college campuses. The group has been featured through the media of radio, television and recordings. Participating in major oratorio presentations, the choir has appeared in concert with the Springfield (Ohio) Symphony Orchestra.

Student accompanists for the two week tour are Connie Anderson, piano, and Becki Chandes and Ron Bechtel, organ.

WHO'S WHO RECOGNIZES EIGHTEEN STUDENTS

Exhibiting excellence in the areas of academics, extra-curricular activities, scholarship and leadership, eighteen Cedarville College students have been selected for mention in the 1971-1972 Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Nominated from their academic discipline by the faculty of that discipline, the Student Affairs Committee made the final decision.

Those juniors and seniors chosen for the 1971-1972 honor are the following: Carol Bierbaum, '73, Speech and English; Mary Chambers, '72, Psychology; Meda Edelblute, '72, Elementary Education; Kathy Endres, '73, Elementary Education; Dave Globig, '72, Bible and Business; Paul Hubble, '72, Social Science; Dave Jewell, '72, Social Science; Lyle Miller, '72, Physical Education; Sue Moore, '73, Social Science; Ralph Perkins, '72, Speech and Bible; Sue Scott, '72, Psychology; Phil Stine, '73, English; Tom Strong, '72, Bible; Carolyn Stubrich, '72, Elementary Education; Vickie Tobias, '72, English; Mike Wilhite, '72, Bible; Jeff Woodcock, '72, Psychology.

Growing into a national program from beginnings in 1934, Who's Who Among Students seeks to fulfill four main purposes in its structure. To inspire and to motivate students to achieve to the best of their ability is the primary focus of the award program. By recognizing students who have invested their college time intelligently, other students can profit from their example. The third purpose for the program is to establish a means of compensation for outstanding achievement. The final aim is to form a standard of measurement for students comparable to other recognized scholastic and service organizations.

Each honored student receives a certificate of recognition, listing in the annual Who's Who publication and free student placement service. A key emblem and a copy of the publication are optional.

SWORDBEARERS PLAN TOURS

Indianapolis, St. Louis, and Washington, D. C. will be just three cities to be visited by the Cedarville College Swordbearers, during their spring tour, March 15-26. The Swordbearers organization, composed of over 100 college students, works primarily with church youth groups helping them to establish a stronger witness for Jesus Christ.

For the first time in their history, Swordbearers plan for two different groups to minister to churches during their spring trip. The Eastern group of 12 students, under the advisorship of Stan SeEVERS, Assistant Director of Development, hopes to visit churches in the Virginia, Washington, D.C., and central Pennsylvania areas. The second team of 15, working with Henry Phillips, Assistant Director of Development, will travel to the Indianapolis, Chicago, and St. Louis areas.

Totally student-planned and organized, the two teams will present the same program outline. Expecting family-type rally situations, the programs consist of an opening period for songs and testimonies, one-hour seminar sessions on Evangelism, the Establishment, Quiet Time, and Astrology, and an evangelist service to conclude the rally.

The tour by the Swordbearers is a faith venture and the members will be staying in the homes of church members throughout the two-week span.

FACE NEW M.O.C.

Growing from a wrestling club basis into their second year of intercollegiate competition, the Cedarville College wrestlers opened their winter season with a meet at Wilberforce and an invitation to the Taylor Tournament on December 11.

With a first team of seven experienced men and two returning lettermen, under coach Harold Green, prospects look good as they move into full season play. The two returning lettermen, Steve Francis and Mark Stevenson will join first team members, Lyle Miller, Yontz Miller, Bob Pycraft, Rich McGee, Steve Larson, and Dennis Bunting in the opening meets. The team will be wrestling in the 118, 126, 134, 142, 150, 158, 167, 177, and 190 weight brackets.

New faces in the Mid-Ohio Conference and on the wrestling schedule place the Yellow Jackets in competition with Ohio Northern, University of Kentucky, University of Dayton, Defiance, and Eastern Kentucky.

The wrestling schedule for February includes:

Feb. 12 Bluffton—home

Feb. 19 Tournament

Feb. 22 Earlham—away

The M. O. C. tournament will be held at Malone College on Feb. 19, 1972.

SOCCKER RECAP

Amassing 52 goals to their opponents' 22, the Cedarville College Yellow Jackets crushed all District and MOC foes to win the NAIA District finals in November. This was a first for the Cedarville soccer team.

Coach Paul Berry, in his first year as head coach, guided the talented Yellow Jackets, receiving the Mid-Ohio conference coach of the year award.

It was a successful season for the Cedarville team. Post-season honors, both individual and team honors focused on several outstanding players as well as possible all-Mid-Ohio and All-Ohio.

In summing up the reason for the great season, Coach Berry explained, "The men have given up ideas of personal glory, and are out to win. We believe that we should seek God's help to do our best; and when we do our best, we're tough to beat."
