WALK-A-THON NETS $40,000

An early morning chapel service with Dr. John Whitcomb of Grace Theological Seminary began the day for the second annual Student Body Project Walk-a-thon, which took place on March 29th. Following prayer and final instructions, the students, joined by faculty, staff, and alumni, started the walk that has the potential of raising the largest amount of money ever in a school supported effort.

The collection of $40,000, twice the amount raised in last year's SBP walk, was the result of this year's event. Pledges that will become the reality of that goal are still pouring in. According to SBP chairman, sophomore Don Davis, each student was encouraged to seek fifteen sponsors for at least one dollar a mile for the fifteen mile trek to Springfield's Cliff Park.

A new aspect to the package of plans for the project is the addition of participating alumni. An alumnus representing each class was challenged to walk and collect sponsors from within their respective classes. Over 2,000 alumni were contacted by their class representative by letter or phone as the March 28 deadline approached.

Another challenging part of the '72 Walk-a-thon was the initiation of tuition scholarships for students who were most actively involved in the collection of sponsors before the walk. Not only providing funds for needed projects at Cedarville, the Walk-a-thon also assisted students in a financial way.

Looking forward to the total collection of funds, students voted to distribute the money as follows:

- tithe — to campus fellowship
- $4000—purchase of a Christian Service van
- $2500—construction of a central fountain on the proposed mall
- $1500—purchase of a clock scoreboard for the new soccer field
- $1000—to the student loan fund
- $3000—purchase of a new sound system for the Gym-Student center

Also the SBP committee has recommended that the new Science Center be the main recipient.

Class competition, club challenges and a full day of fun and fellowship accompanied the marchers on the six hour hike to Springfield. Stretching a quarter of a mile, the over 700 participants enjoyed the time together — a time that will have lasting results in the growth and development of Cedarville College.

SMP COMMITTEE LAUNCHES PROJECT

Three thousand dollars and three thousand books is the goal of this year's Student Missionary Project at Cedarville. Headed by junior Terry Clapp from Boise, Idaho, the drive, launched in early February, has a two-phase program.

Phase I of the drive involves the collection of $3000 during winter and spring registrations. Each student was asked to pledge at least one dollar each quarter. The money collected is to be distributed in three ways. The first $900 will be used to help pay expenses for those students traveling with Missionary Internship Service this summer. Joseph Weah and his family, a student family at Cedarville will be given the second $900 for a return trip to Liberia. The remaining $1200 will be used to ship

COLLEGE INITIATES NEW PROGRAM

With the start of spring quarter, Cedarville College initiated a new course of study, the Interdisciplinary Studies program. Drawing upon the departments of English, Philosophy, Music, and Social Science, the Interdisciplinary major is designed to combine depth of knowledge and investigation in a particular field with a special directed study of the inter-relationships found among the liberal arts. The student examines the basic concepts, techniques, and problems which are shared by the fields related to and including his own.

Requirements for a major in the ninety-quarter-hour program include such fields as Philosophy, Religion and Culture, World Literature, and the four new courses added to the college curriculum.

books [Phase II] to the Fellowship Baptist Academy in Kabongkalong, Philippines.

Phase II is the collection of 3,000 books to assist in furnishing the library in the Philippine Academy. Competition among the four classes to collect books will continue throughout the remainder of the year.

According to the committee chairman, any book can be used from literature, chemistry, business, accounting, Christian education or Bibles. Literature books needed include the following authors: Poe, Cooper, Hutchins, Whitman, Stevenson, Swift, Dickens, Alcott, Anderson, Chaucer, Milton, Keats, Emerson, Hawthorne, Longfellow or Buck. Any individual or church interested in contributing to the SMP book drive should contact SMP chairman Terry Clapp, Cedarville College. The project will continue until June.

FROM THE PRESIDENT'S DESK

Dr. James T. Jeremiah, President

It is understandable that many of us are excited about the new science building. We have been planning it for such a long time, and now it appears to be almost a reality.

Perhaps this is the best opportunity I shall have to express my personal appreciation to the many churches and individuals who have contributed to help in the building of this new facility. A number of our friends and churches have agreed to give $1,000 each over a three-year period. Many of these commitments have already been met, and others are in the process of being completed. This means so much to us because without this type of sacrificial giving, the science building would be completely out of the question. We do not ask for, nor will we accept, government funds to erect our buildings.

As the itinerary in this page will show, I have the opportunity to minister the Word of God in many of our churches. I am delighted to meet a number of our graduates on these occasions and discover that they are active in their local churches and doing extremely well in their professional responsibilities.

These week-end Bible conferences also are times when I become acquainted with prospective students. It is encouraging to know that the Christian liberal arts program of Cedarville is continuing to be of great interest to young people in the churches. The admissions office reports that presently there are more students accepted for the fall quarter than at the same time last year. If all goes as we expect, we will reach a total enrollment of 1,000.

The new interdisciplinary studies major may appeal to many prospective students. Be sure to read about it in this issue of the bulletin. This new program should be of interest to students considering graduate school and seminary and others who desire an emphasis in the liberal arts. This new program appears to offer an educational opportunity for students to pursue a liberal arts major that will prepare them to live as well as to make a living.

In a day when so many colleges and universities are forever seeking truth and leading students to end their search without hope, Cedarville College is more determined than ever to make every effort to offer an education that will enable its students to "set their hope in God." The prophet of God assures us that "Blessed is the man that trusteth in the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is." (Jeremiah 17:7) The happy person is the one who puts his trust in, believes in, and relies upon the Lord. This kind of faith not only brings assurance of an eternal salvation, but also enables us to face the trials and testings of life before we enter into that glorious inheritance.

"THAT WAS POP"

A man who was a mechanic, a carpenter, a plumber, and an electrician — that was "Pop" Marshall. A man who was always a tease and always in a hurry — that was "Pop" Marshall. A man who was faithful in the tasks the Lord had given to him—that was "Pop" Marshall.

When Pop first came to Cedarville in August of 1955, as maintenance staff superintendent from Clarksburg, West Virginia, he left behind a good job, a good salary and familiar surroundings. When he arrived at Cedarville, he came to an unfamiliar community, a cut in salary, and a job that would demand his talents in innumerable ways. Yet that was Pop; he accepted a challenge and loved it.

Many, in reminiscing about Pop's years at Cedarville, remember a hard worker, a man of unusual determination. Miss Jean Fisher, Associate Professor of Christian Education and one who knew Pop well, recalls that he would do anything for anyone. He would come out at all times of the night to fix a furnace in a dormitory or correct an electrical problem. She relates that he loved to help students with an odd job they could not handle. "He always chided them for being so 'dumb' that they couldn't help themselves, but," she says, "he was obviously delighted that he was asked!"

When the Marshall family moved from West Virginia to Cedarville, they moved into Harriman Hall as Resident Advisors of the girl's dorm. Those girls, as well as future students who came in contact with Pop, loved him for his willingness to help out and for his sense of humor. A student from 1963-1967, Mr. Ron Grosh, now Assistant Professor of English at Cedarville, remembers Pop's "crusty" exterior and "soft-hearted" interior. He tells of an incident in which he and two other students borrowed Pop's old delapidated Volkswagen van and loaded it with over a ton of paper for the school print shop. When Pop found out how they had overloaded the van, the three were duly "reprimanded" by him. Later they found out that Pop was gleefully boasting to others how much his van could hold! Pop and Ron remained bantering friends for years.

There was a humorous and teasing side to this unusual character, but there was also a serious side. There was the man Pop who worked long, hard hours keeping the school's physical plant in smooth operation. There was the man Pop who worked strenuously until within five weeks of his death. Knowing him perhaps the longest of the Cedarville family, President Dr. Jeremiah spoke of the many hours of overtime he donated to repair a motor or to relight a furnace or to open a building in the early morning hours. He was a man who got things done and expected others to do the same. "He was an individualist," and for that, he was loved and respected.

Many knew Pop as the school's maintenance man, others knew him as a campus friend, and still others knew him as a

Featured Speaker—

DR. MARK CAMBRON
President, Seaside Mission
North Miami Beach, Florida

In the front row are Cedarville students Dave Jewell and Sue Moore. They are among the many MIS students who spent the summer on a foreign mission field.

MIS PROGRAM ATTRACTS STUDENTS

As the summer months approach, the Missionary Internship Service at Cedarville will give many students the opportunity to spend their summer on the foreign field. More than 25 students will be boarding jets for such places as Africa, France, Hawaii and Haiti.

Looking back to the MIS experiences of summer, 1971, the highlights of the basketball evangelism tour come to mind. Cedarville coach, Don Callan, and seven Cedarville athletes spent five weeks of the summer playing basketball under the direction of ABWE missionaries in the Far East. The tour took the team to Japan, Taiwan, Hong Kong, and the Philippine Islands, where they spent the majority of their time. With the purpose to share the gospel of Christ, the athletes played against teams of the host countries, and had the opportunity to relate their Christian experiences to them. Dr. Callan writes of the trip, "The thrills were fast and furious as time after time God showed His direction in everything from plane schedules to drawing the lost to Himself. Great victories were won, not only on the court, but in the hungry hearts of the Filipinos."

Dr. Kenneth Cooper, author of Aerobics and director of the Cooper Clinic and Research Foundation, appeared on the Cedarville College campus on February 18, 1972. He was a special speaker for the Artist Lecture series.

Dr. Cooper's topic of the evening centered on an exercise system called "aerobics." His theory is that the amount of work done by muscles can be measured by the amount of oxygen consumed. The supply of this oxygen is obtained through vigorous exercises performed on the average of four times a week.

Upon entering the Air Force in 1960, Dr. Cooper continued his research, using thousands of airmen for his experiments. He is now retired from the service and is working at the Research Foundation in Dallas, Texas. Besides Aerobics, Dr. Cooper has several other publications, such as The New Aerobics and Aerobics for Women.

"CHEAPER BY THE DOZEN"

Another MIS alumnus is junior, Sue Moore, who also spent the summer in the Far East. She relates that her MIS experience in Hong Kong changed her life. "It has given me a greater desire to serve the Lord in foreign mission fields," she said.

A blessing that can not be paralleled, Sue comments that the two things that impressed her most, was the love and dedication of the missionaries and the zeal of the Christian nationals amidst a Buddhist culture.

These two adventures are just two of the opportunities that involved Cedarville young people. Summer '72 holds many exciting chances for students as they share the Truth and Love of Jesus Christ. Those traveling with MIS this summer include: Dale Fogle and Melvin Ness to the Central African Republic; Sherlyn Hansen, Kathy Strawn and Donita Swisher to Africa; Clarence Parker, Lynn Mitchell, Doug Schroeder, and Carl Holtz to Liberia; Sharon Hothem to France; Mike Mawhorter, Craig Williford, Debbie Davis, Sue Saunders, Sue Moore, and Raynell White to Hawaii; Becky Kemble and Floyd Fisher to Brazil; Eve Buckingham to Haiti; and Bill Potter, Lynn Howard, Lee Eck, John Harrison, Loren Reno and Coach Berry to the Philippines.

STUDENTS ATTEND GOTHARD SEMINAR

Twenty-six Cedarville students, accompanied by Dr. Stan Ballard, Dr. Jack Scott and Mr. Robert Abbas of the Psychology department will be attending the INSTITUTE IN BASIC YOUTH CONFLICTS seminar, held in Chicago from April 24-29.

The seminar to be attended by the group is held in twelve major cities, across the country three times a year. Approximately 2500 to 3000 people attend each seminar.

The speaker for the week-long conference is Bill Gothard, and the conference is an outgrowth of fifteen years work and experience. The seminar is a 32-hour exposure to life from a new perspective, God's perspective. Based on seven universal, non-optional principles of life, it illustrates that the conflicts faced in life can be traced to violations of those seven principles, but gives practical steps on how to resolve them.

The majority of the students traveling to Chicago's McCormick Place are psychology majors and are looking forward to examining this new approach dealing with life's conflicts and problems.

Missionary Conference Challenges Students

"But If Our Gospel Be Hid," was the theme for the 13th annual Missionary Conference that was held on the Cedarville campus from April 3-7. Under the sponsorship of the school's Fellowship for World Missions, five missionaries, representing all parts of the globe, were the featured speakers for the yearly conference.

A part of the ministry of the Memorial Christian Hospital, in Chittagong, East Pakistan, Jesse Eaton and his wife, Joyce, have been on the field since 1967. After an intensive one year study of the Bengali language, the Eatons joined in the hospital work. Mr. Eaton serves as the first Hospital administrator, while helping to coordinate hospital evangelism, teach two men's Bible classes, and act as principal of the hospital branch of the Bible Correspondence School.

Chaplain (Captain) Cecil D. Lewis, veteran of Vietnam, was the second featured speaker. He is presently enrolled as student-trainee in the American Institute of Family Relations in the Chapman College graduate program, after returning from service in the Asian country within the last year. He is a graduate of Bob Jones University, Grace Theological Seminary and has served pastorates in Georgia, Indiana, Ohio, and Michigan. Since entering the military in 1966, he has received the Bronze Star, Army Commendation Medal, and four awards including one for valor. He has traveled extensively visiting missionaries in Central and South America.

Rev. and Mrs. Howard Street served under Baptist Mid-Missions in the Republic of Zaire, formerly Belgian Congo for twenty-eight years. The Streets have been actively engaged in all of the different phases of missionary work. Presently, they are hosting the guest home in Cleveland, Ohio, for their mission.

Missionaries from Hong Kong, Rev. and Mrs. Donald E. Troot are serving under the Association of Baptists for World Missions. Mr. Troot is the director of the Hong Kong Baptist Bible Institute where both he and his wife taught.

Serving under Baptist Mid-Missions for the past 27 years, Emmanuel Wood has been working with the Jewish populace of Brazil. Both Rev. Woods and his wife are graduates of Moody Bible Institute.

faithful man of God and a faithful church worker. Associate Professor of Bible, Mr. Richard McIntosh, and a member of Pop's church, speaks of him as a man who wanted everything done "decently and in order." As head usher for many years at Grace Baptist Church in Cedarville, he was always there at least 45 minutes before the service began, making sure that the bulletins were ready and the hymnbooks were straightened. "You can tell that the extra, special touch is missing," concluded Mr. McIntosh.

One can tell that the man who was always on the go, to help, to fix, or even to tease, is no longer here. Pop was a man to whom God had given the talent to love the little things, like antiques or flowers, or a small school to which he gave his skill, his humor, and his life as he watched it grow and mature.

TEAM TRAVELS SOUTH

Promises of sunshine and baseball playing weather, attracted the Cedarville Yellow Jackets to another sports first — spring practice in the South.

Realizing the need for good weather in order to practice, baseball coach, Paul Berry and his team of twenty men traveled to Alabama and Mississippi during spring break to compete against Southern colleges.

The team left Tuesday, March 14, and arrived at Mobile, Alabama, to play against Spring Hill College in a series of four games. Their next stop took them to Biloxi, Mississippi, to play Keesler Air Force Base. Rounding out the full schedule, the Jackets played against Livingston State University on the way home.

To finance the trip, the team sponsored the Harlem Saturns vs. Cedarville faculty game in February. Personal contributions also aided in travel expenses.

The first course instituted this spring is American Minorities. It is a study of the social, religious, cultural, and psychological implications of minority status in the United States.

Next fall, students will be offered Man and Reliable Knowledge. This course is an interdisciplinary study of the various epistemological theories and their implications for knowledge in education, philosophy, religion, science, and social science. A Christian theory of knowledge is developed as the basis of integration in this area.

The third in the series of new courses designed for the Interdisciplinary major is Man and His Environment. To be offered winter quarter, the course explores the socio-cultural and spiritual arrangement of man's total environment within a Christian theistic world and life view.

Concluding the series is the Interdisciplinary Studies Seminar. The first two quarters of this seminar will be devoted to research. During the third quarter, the student will give a formal presentation of his findings to a committee selected by the course coordinator.

FACULTY/STAFF

Members of the English Department, Mr. Harmon Bergen, Mr. Ron Grosh, and Mr. Edward Spencer attended the James Joyce Symposium in February, at Miami University.

Mr. James Phipps, Assistant Professor of Speech, was chosen to serve on the Speech Consultancy Advisory Board of the Ohio Speech Communication Association. The first meeting was held in March at Otterbein College in Westerville, Ohio.

Mr. David Matson, Associate Professor of Music, and Mr. Lyle Anderson, Instructor of Music, attended the American Choral Directors Association meeting held in Indianapolis, Indiana, in mid-February.

Dr. Larry Helmick, Associate Professor of Chemistry, is the co-author of an article entitled "Anionic Sigma Complexes Between Amide Ions and the Diazines in Liquid Ammonia" published in the February, 1972, issue of the American Chemical Society. He was also selected for inclusion in the first edition of the "International Scholars Directory."

Dr. Robert Gromacki, Chairman of Biblical Education Division, prepared six ten-minute messages on "Tongues and the Charismatic Gifts" for the tape ministry of the Association of Baptists for World Evangelism (ABWE). The series will be circulated around the world to the 375 missionaries of ABWE.

ALPHA CHI CROWNS SWEETHEART

Anticipation and excitement filled the air on the night of February 8 as Cedarville's Alpha Chi organization crowned their 1972-73 Sweetheart. Junior education major Becky Williams from Wood River, Illinois, will reign as the new Sweetheart. During the next year she will represent the men's organization on Cedar Day, Homecoming, and other Alpha Chi-sponsored activities.

Not only busy as a Personnel Assistant in South Hall, she is active in her Christian service assignment, Swordbearers. She holds an interest in sports. Under the auspices of Cedarville's Missionary Internship Service program, she spent last summer at radio station HCJB, in Quito, Ecuador. Upon graduation, Becky plans to teach and possibly return to Ecuador as a missionary.

Becky was chosen on the basis of outstanding character, academic excellence, and Christian service. Members of her Sweetheart court are juniors Grace Pruden from Prudenville, Michigan; Rosalie Howard from Oberlin, Ohio; and Jan Spradlin, from Wheatland, Maryland.

COLLEGE INITIATES PRESENTATION PROGRAM

Another step forward in communicating the blessings and ministries of Cedarville College is the In-Depth Church Presentation program to be initiated in April. The presentations will involve non-ordained members of the faculty and twelve students.

Traveling to interested churches on weekends, a team of one faculty member and two students will be used throughout Sunday activities. During the day they will be relating the Christian philosophy of education, explaining various aspects of the college, such as spiritual, academic, social, and financial and presenting a slide program of the college. For both young people and adults they plan to use primarily the morning Bible School hour and the evening Training hour.

To show the mutual responsibility of the college and the local church and what is being accomplished through the school's Christian service is another part of the presentation.

Faculty members working with this program include Dr. Clifford Johnson, Academic Dean; Mr. Don Rickard, Dean of Students; Mr. Ron Grosh, Assistant Professor of English; Mr. Larry Killian, Associate Professor of Biological Science; Mr. James Phipps, Assistant Professor of Speech; Dr. Merlin Ager, Professor of Education; and Mr. Dwayne Frank, Assistant Professor of Education.

The College extends an invitation to churches to include this new ministry in their church plans. Information can be obtained by writing the Development Office, Cedarville College, Cedarville, Ohio 45314.

When 6:30 p.m. rolls around each evening, one Cedarville College coed turns back the clock to childhood and the the life of an energetic seven-year-old as Mertz Snertz Kid's Time goes on the air. Written and produced by sophomore, Merla Hammack, the kid's show is the first children's radio program produced by WCDR, the college FM radio station.

The idea for the program grew out of a need for children's programming, something that is lacking in radio production across the nation. "There is very little being done for children," commented Mr. Paul Gathany, station manager. "Shows like 'Aunt Bee's Story Time' do exist, but a greater ministry is needed."

Merla, (Mertz Snertz), a creative radio broadcast major is joined on the program by "Susie", her girlfriend, and "Wolfie", her pet lion. The 30 minute format, which is geared to the interest of a six to ten year old, involves an opening "chat time", a Bible Story, an activity time, and a story from the Sugar Creek Gang series.

Parental reaction to the program around the WCDR listening area has been quite favorable, especially concerning the show's time slot. Purposely aired across from network news shows, "Mertz Snertz occupies the children while parents can listen to the evening news.

Mertz Snertz Kid's Time has proved to be one of the school's most successful radio productions. Sometime in the near future, the show has the possibility of being syndicated with the availability of needed funds.

SUMMER SCHOOL

For the student wanting to get ahead or catch up, for the missionary who wants further preparation, for a new Christian desiring concentrated Bible study, the summer school session at Cedarville College offers many fields of interest. With two summer school terms open, the first term is to begin on June 13-July 14. The second term starts July 17 and ends August 16.

Areas of study that will be available during summer include: Business Administration, Bible, English, Speech, Education, Psychology, Physical Education, Music, Science, Mathematics and Social Science.

Tuition, $25 per quarter hour, is lower during the summer term than the regular school term. Room per week is $12 and board is $15. Maximum load for each student is 10 quarter hours per term.

Interested students not previously admitted should complete the admission procedure before May 26. Information concerning any aspect of the summer school program, and an application can be obtained by writing C. B. Hurst, Registrar, Cedarville College, Cedarville, Ohio 45314.

CHRISTIAN DAY SCHOOL CONFERENCES

"Sense and Sensibility in Christian Education" was the theme of Cedarville's annual Christian Day school conference, held on February 25-26. Guest speaker for the weekend workshop was Dr. John Blanchard, executive director of the National Association of Christian Schools, with headquarters in Wheaton, Illinois.

A wide range of topics added diversified interest to the conference. Exploring such areas as "Maladjusted Behavior and the Teacher's Role", "Financing Christian Education", and "A Christian View of Science", the conference included members of Cedarville's education department. Dr. Blanchard presented "A Biblical View of Education", "Problems of Christian Day Schools", and "Establishing a Christian Day School".

The conference attracted over 65 Christian Day School administrators from a five state region.

MISSIONARY NEWS

"Teaching them to teach others" (II Timothy 2:2) is the verse claimed by Patsy King ('57) in her teaching ministry in Central Africa Republic. She has been working with a training camp for sixty women. Miss King writes that Bible school opened in February, and she is teaching French to the men; New Testament, Doctrine, Arithmetic and Composition to the women. Twenty-five couples are now involved.

John ('64) and Judy ('67) Bigelow write from Alaska that "God has provided a building and the Eagle River Theatre is now Northland Baptist Church. Our home church, West Chicago Baptist of Detroit, loaned us the $10,000 down payment—interest free. The Lord wonderfully worked out every detail. . . ." Their after-school Bible school ministry has grown to three clubs—Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday—and over fifty children are contacted each week.

From the REINERgram, Ray ('59) and Jan ('66), write that they are now constructing their new home in Senador Pompeu, Ceara, Brazil. They are also looking into the possibility of acquiring a closed-down high school building with two large classrooms for their future church site.

JACKETTES REACH REGIONALS

Their first year to enter Ohio State Intercollegiate Women's Basketball tournament brought second place honors to the Cedarville Yellow Jackettes in March. The tournament which brought 22 college teams from all over Ohio, was held on March 2-4 on the Cedarville campus.

Cedarville reached the finals after stopping the University of Dayton, Ohio University, and Akron University. They met the coeds of Ohio State University in the final game, which they lost by a score of 66 to 56. Other participants in the tourney included such schools as Bowling Green State University, Kent State, Ashland, and Wooster.

Playing before a near capacity crowd in the campus gymnasium, Cedarville's Rita Gast, a junior from Eldora, Iowa, lead the scoring for the Jackettes. A freshman, Sally Orihood from Xenia came in second for Cedarville and Jan Martin, a junior from Scotts Depot, West Virginia, finished as third top scorer.

Other teammates contributing to the excellent performance displayed by the Cedarville coeds were Karen DeMars, Columbus, Ohio; Connie Pumpelly, Newark, Ohio; Landra Grant, Cedarville, Ohio; Jean Taylor, Steamboat Rock, Iowa; Roberta Lutton, Delta, Ohio; Frita Franekneckt, Lebanon, Ohio; and Sandy Holwerda, Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Cedarville, 12-4 on the season and co-champion of the Ohio Valley League, traveled to the Midwest Regional held at Western Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant, Michigan. Teams from Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and West Virginia participated in the tournament.

SOUTHGATE CAPTURES VICTORY

An exciting victory was captured by Southgate Baptist Church, Springfield, Ohio, in the Annual Senior Church Basketball Tournament, held on the Cedarville campus, February 18-19, 1972. Sponsored by Varsity "C", the single elimination tournament attracted 32 teams from Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and West Virginia.

Second place went to First Baptist Church, Harvey, Illinois, and third place was captured by First Brethren Church, Dayton, Ohio.

Individual honors went to Loren Reno (Southgate) for the most Valuable Player. The all-star team chosen included Larry Wilson, First Brethren, Dayton; Bruce McDonald, First Baptist, Oxford, Michigan; Mike Zazursky, Southgate; Ed Ropp, Grace Baptist, Cedarville, Ohio; and Jim Brow, First Baptist, Harvey, Illinois.
