VISITORS WELCOME TO CEDAR DAY WEEKEND

The 1974 spring "unOlympics" comes to the Cedarville College campus in the form of Cedar Day's spontaneously organized fun on May 4th. The traditional event, a "must" during the spring quarter at the College, is planned by Alpha Chi, a men's service organization. Cedar Day provides a chance for the College family to unwind for a full day of fun and activity

From the beetle push to raft races to road rallies, Cedar Day activities will try the craftiness of those participating. Tug-a-war contests between the guys and gals across Cedar Lake are anticipated to add humor to the already festive atmosphere. Visitors are encouraged to participate. Come prepared.

On the evenings of May 3rd and 4th, the Drama Department will present the annual spring play. This year's drama presentation "The Miser" promises to provide an evening of enjoyment and entertainment.

The activities of Cedar Day have been expanded to include prospective students. The opportunity to visit and tour campus buildings during the afternoon open house will help the prospective student gain a better insight into the facilities that are on campus.

Demonstrations and displays in the new Science Center will be a part of the Cedar Day program designed for the potential student. Faculty will be available to answer questions of interested students and parents.

A full day of athletic contests in the area of tennis and track will gain the attention of the sports-minded individuals. The Cedarville Yellow Jackets will host the finals of the Mid-Ohio Conference tennis tournament which is scheduled to begin at 9:00 a.m. on May 4th.

The second annual National Christian College Athletic Association track championship will be held on the Yellow Jacket track on the spring weekend. Such schools as Grace College, Malone College, Baptist Bible College, and John Brown University are expected to bring full teams.

This issue of the Bulletin was delayed in order to bring our readers an accurate account of the tornado's effect on Cedarville College.

FROM THE PRESIDENT'S DESK

Dr. James T. Jeremiah, President

It is always encouraging to see visitors on our campus. Each year hundreds of young people come to Cedarville with their parents, christian education directors, and parents. Our staff endeavors to do everything possible to make them welcome. We have reason to believe our guests do feel a warm welcome because many young people return to become full-time students on the campus.

Two days in the school year are set aside for special consideration of our guests. One, of course, is Homecoming in the fall, and the other is Cedar Day in the spring. In other sections of this Bulletin you will be made aware of the program arranged for the Cedar Day activities on May 4, 1974.

When you visit the campus this time, I sincerely trust you will make it a point to see the new science facility which sacrificial gifts have made possible. I think you will discover that this building is not only spacious but is well equipped to provide the study opportunities a college science building should make available to the faculty and students. We do not need to apologize now for the science equipment. We believe we have an exceptional science faculty and a good program for young people who are interested in this area of study.

In the pages of our Bulletin you have heard many times before that the science facility on the campus of Cedarville College has been constructed by private funds, not by government subsidies. This building has cost $750,000 and the complete payment of that sum has been realized in gifts and pledges with the exception of approximately $35,000. We are praying and working to the end that this amount may be paid by the time college classes begin in the fall.

I want to thank all of you who have contributed and sacrificed that this need may be met and encourage a little more sacrifice on the part of some in order that the final payment may be made when it is due. In my judgment it is a cause for great rejoicing to see this building constructed, furnished, used, and nearly paid for.

We cannot help but be reminded again of the promise found in II Corinthians 9:8: "And God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work."

PASTOR'S CONFERENCE SCHEDULES NOTED LECTURER

Dr. John Whitcomb, noted author, will be the principle speaker at the Pastors' Conference held annually at Cedarville College. The conference this year is scheduled for September 9-12.

Dr. Whitcomb received his undergraduate degree from Princeton University, and the B.D., Th.M. and Th.D. from Grace Theological Seminary. He is presently serving as Professor of Old Testament at Grace Semi-

Dr. Whitcomb has contributed articles to several theological journals, including New Bible Dictionary and Encyclopedia of Christianity. He is the author of the Genesis Flood and The Early Earth.

CONFERENCE PERSONNEL COMMUNICATE MISSIONS

A doctor, a teacher, an administrator, and church planters-the personnel for the annual missionary conference at Cedarville College brought informative and challenging messages to the week-long sessions. March 31st marked the beginning of the yearly event which was built around the 1974 theme "How Shall They Hear."

Experience on the mission field provides the best resource to relate what missions is all about, and the visiting missionaries used their experiences and their interpretations to communicate the activities and responsibilities involved in missionary service.

A small nation south of the Continental United States is the adopted homeland for missionary Don Block, his wife and two children. During his presentation he shared the ministry among the rich and poor alike in French-speaking Haiti where he serves under Baptist Mid-Missions.

Of interest to those specifically in the area of education was the presentation of missionary teacher, Miss Martha Dunn. She described her experiences and impressions of her work teaching missionary children in Fortalesa, Brazil. Miss Dunn began her missionary service under Baptist Mid-Missions in 1968.

Accepted by the Association of Baptists for World Evangelism in 1967, Cedarville graduates Dr. James Entner and his wife Esther began a medical evangelism ministry in Palawan, Philippines. The family who is home on their first furlough related the responsibilities of medical missions and the youth ministry of the Palawan Christian Student Center.

While preparing for a work in Algeria that was to close, the Robert Schultz family felt a deep burden for the French people while involved in language study in France. During their week at the Cedarville missionary conference, the Schultz family spoke of their three years in France, where they were involved in church planting, tract distribution, Bible classes, literature work, and youth groups. The Schultzes serve under the Evangelical Baptist Mission.

Rev. and Mrs. Donald Hare, who serve under ABWE, brought over twenty-five years of mission field experience to the Cedarville campus. They related their responsibilities of founding local Baptist churches and directing the Baptist Bible Seminary and Institute in Sao Paulo, Brazil.

During the week, the student body was presented with new things to see and to think about. As in past years, the conference had a major impact on many students, an impact that may be significant in the years to come.

Tornado Rips Campus Causing $226,700 Damage

The words recorded by news reporters and the pictures captured by photographers depicting the dramatic reality of a destructive tornado remain imprinted on the minds of the Cedarville College community reminding many of the work of God in the protection of the lives of the campus family.

Destruction and confusion trailed the killer wind of Wednesday, April 3, involving thousands of individuals in a stunned Greene County, Ohio. Cedarville College was providentially spared from the major damage that struck Xenia, just a short eight miles from the campus. The tornado, touching down almost without warning for many, carved its way northeast from Xenia, through Wilberforce to Cedarville. Nearby Central State University was rendered 80% unusable according to officials of that institution. The only building that sustained major damage on the Cedarville campus was Patterson Hall, a men's residence. Minor damage was done to Bethel Hall, the New Science Center, the Athletic Complex, and the Health

On Thursday morning following a night of further tornado watches, the student body gathered together in chapel services for a time of prayer and praise for the protection of God in specific situations in the lives of the College family.

A glance in a car rear-view mirror prompted one alumnus to seek protection in a gas station storage room. Following the passage

Patterson's Roof-Going . . .

Patterson's Roof Scraped From Street

Cedarville's Gym Is Collection Center

KILLER TORNADO APPROACHES CEDARVILLE

of the thundering wind, the storage room was almost all that remained of that station. The car in which he had been riding just a short moment before was crushed by a semitrailer truck that had blown over on it.

A voice of warning hurried a coed into a crowded cellar of a Xenia restaurant. In a matter of minutes, the restaurant where she had been standing was reduced to rubble.

Employment responsibilities were to take several Cedarville students into the Xenia area that Wednesday afternoon. A misscheduling and a faulty alarm failing to stir an afternoon napper delayed departures for Xenia. Those students would have been in a store that was completely devastated by the tornado's force.

The alumnus who experienced God's unique protection during the storm has realized, as have others, that God spared him for specific reasons. What God wants for his life has taken on a new and more pertinent meaning.

Disaster Team At Xenia

. . . Gone!

Cedarville Students At. C.S.U.

On the scene in Xenia, Wilberforce, or Central State University or in the background at relief and collection stations, many individuals of the College community responded to the call for aid from stricken Greene County.

The Alpha Chi-Red Cross Disaster team almost instantly began tackling the challenging tasks of searching for missing persons, aiding injured victims, supplying food and clothing, clearing destroyed property, and many other unrecorded duties.

With the assistance of the United Parcel Service in Springfield, Ohio, over 250 Cedar-ville students helped in sorting semi-truck loads of clothing and food. The college gymnasium was transformed into a collection center for clothing sent from surrounding states as well as many Ohio cities. Other students, faculty, and staff have helped with the slow, discouraging job of cleaning up destroyed property and helping people to start all over again.

WALK-A-THON

If one were to ask a Cedarville student, staff or faculty member what he will be doing on May 2, the answer would probably be the same . . . taking a long walk, a fifteen mile walk. No, Cedarville College is not beginning an all-campus physical fitness program. The purpose of the third Cedarville College Walk-a-thon is to raise money for campus improvements. The Student Body Project is an annual fund-raising effort initiated and conducted by the students of the College.

During the last three years, the SBP has raised over $72,000 from gifts and sponsors who have participated. Such contributions as a $6,000 tithe to the Campus Student Fellowship, a $14,000 gift to the new Science Center observatory, a van for Christian Service, gymnasium and field bleachers, an all-purpose sound system, storage building and concession facility near the new athletic complex, and other valuable improvements have enhanced the campus.

According to SBP Chairman, Jeff Kistler, each student is encouraged to seek fifteen sponsors for at least one dollar a mile for the 15-mile trek to Springfield's Cliff Park. Challenges among dormitories and other groups is anticipated to add to the excitement of the 1974 Walk-a-thon. A motivating part of the 1972 event, which will continue in the '74 event, is the distribution of tuition scholarships for students who are most enthusiastically involved in the collection of sponsors.

In past years, the excitement of seeing over 700 students stretch over a quarter of a mile plus a full day of fun and fellowship prompted a unique spirit of unity to campus life. For more information and pledge forms, write Student Body Project, Cedarville College, Cedarville, Ohio 45314.

Mr. Robert Burkett, Dean of Men, was selected to serve as a judge in the Regional High School Debate Tournament held at Vandalia-Butler High School in Vandalia, Ohio.

Dr. Dwayne Frank, Associate Professor of Education, was a guest speaker at Central State University. He spoke to a group of student teachers on "The Role of the Teacher as a Disciplinarian." Dr. Frank also conducted a workshop for the social science teachers of the Springfield Local School District on the construction of a Learning Activity Package (LAP) in February and served on the North Central Accreditation team for Shawnee High School in Springfield.

Professor of Biology, Dr. Walter Griffeth, was appointed to serve as a commissioner

Completes Ph.D Program

Dr. McGoldrick completed his undergraduate training at Temple University in 1961 and work for the Master of Arts from Temple in 1964. The title for his dissertation was "Luther's English Disciples: Robert Barnes and William Tyndale."

The Cedarville professor is a member of the American Historical Association, American Society of Church History, American Society for Reformation Research, Conference on Faith and History, and the American Security Council. on the three-man Greene County Park District Board in February.

Dr. June Kearney, Associate Professor of Physical Education, was invited as a speaker during Alumni Week at Taylor University, Upland, Indiana, in February. Her subject centered on women's athletics and was entitled "Trends and Coaching Philosophy."

Dr. Cleveland McDonald, Chairman of the Social Science Department, conducted a three-day Family Life Conference at Bible Baptist Church in Newark, Ohio, in mid-February.

Mr. Ken Nichols, Director of Counseling, will be the guest speaker at the Christian Association for Psychological Studies in Stone Mountain, Georgia, on April 21.

MISS JEAN FISHER

Third Faculty Member Plans Short-term Mission Assignment

An international exchange in the area of educational methods and cultural patterns will be a result of Miss Jean Fisher's short-term missionary assignment to the Philippines. Miss Fisher, Associate Professor of Christian Education at Cedarville, will be the third faculty member to spend time on a foreign field while on the College faculty. She will be involved in a team-teaching situation with Filipino educators at Baptist Bible Seminary and Institute in Manila, Philippines, from June until the fall term at Cedarville begins in September.

A visit to the mission field of Ghana. West Africa, promoted the idea of traveling as a Christian educator to a foreign nation for a short term. Miss Fisher will have that educational experience during the first term at BBSI. She will be teaching such courses as Christian Education of Children, Christian Kindergarten, Visual Aids and Projects, and Christian Education of Youth.

One particular goal of her four-month stay in the Philippines is the exchange of ideas. Miss Fisher will be taking methods of Christian education in which she has expertise and sharing them with those Filipinos with whom she works. At the same time, her associates will be guiding her as she adapts the methods and materials to the Philippine setting and learns the principles that are involved in integrating educational materials from one country into the educational system of another.

Comments shared with her by faculty and students who have spent time in the Philippines excite her for the up-coming trip. She has learned that many Filipino students are eager to learn and she anticipates an enriching experience while there.

"PASSING THE TORCH"

Many individuals and families are interested in subsidizing the cost of a student's education. A "Passing the Torch" gift of $10 monthly will help train future Christian leaders.

Participation in the "Passing the Torch" Program has grown to 907 units, providing $125,336.72 in pledges, and gifts.

SPORTS REPORT

Women take 4th in State Tourney

Facing such strong teams as The Ohio State University, Bowling Green State University, Ohio University, the University of Dayton, and others, the Cedarville Jackettes captured fourth place in the Ohio State Women's Intercollegiate Basketball Tournament held in Wooster, Ohio, in March. The fourth-place win in the State Tournament overshadowed the 9-11 record earned overall this season.

Coach, Dr. Maryalyce Jeremiah, cites the major highlight of the season as the victory over the University of Dayton for the fourth-place finish in the State Tournament. Dayton had beaten the Jackettes twice during regular season play. A continuing highlight of the season, Dr. Jeremiah related, was the "ability of the girls to come back." At one point during the season, the Jackettes lost seven games in a row, but each time the girls were ready to face another team.

Vic Millard is NAIA All-American

The 1974 Cedarville wrestling Yellow Jackets competing in a tougher schedule than the 1973 season, finished the year with a third-place win in the Mid-Ohio Conference competition and a fourth-place victory in the NAIA District 22 finals. The standout for the season was junior, Vic Millard, from New Albany, Pennsylvania. Described by wrestling coach, Harold Green, as quiet and retiring off the mat but aggressive and ruthless while in competition, Vic earned his way to fifth place at 177 lbs. in the National NAIA wrestling tournament held in River Falls, Wisconsin, in March. At the conclusion of the season, he won first place in the M.O.C. competition and first place in the NAIA District 22 finals in his weight class.

Injuries sting Jackets

Plagued by early-season injuries to two of the starting five, the Yellow Jacket round-ballers finished the '73-'74 season with a 10-16 record. Starting strong with a 6-0 record, the loss of Ric Watson (11.4 p.p.g.) and repeated absence of Jon Meyers (17.4 p.p.g.) turned the tide.

However, the record fails to show the outstanding performance displayed by Coach Don Callan's varsity Yellow Jackets. Although out most of the season, Meyers was high scorer followed closely by junior Steve Young (15.4 p.p.g.) and senior retiring member, Bill Potter (13.5 p.p.g.). Meyers, Young, and Watson all averaged over 3 assists per game. Watson's 82.4% free throw shooting was high enough to place him in the top ten of the National Christian College Athletic Association (NCCAA) rankings. Underclassmen Dave Burtner, Dan Coomes, and Dale Thatcher came off the Jacket bench to supply the added enforcement of the team ranks.

COLLEGE OFFERS TWO SUMMER SESSIONS

A program that can aid the undergraduate's advance in his academic pursuits—that's Cedarville's summer sessions. A program that can provide extra course work for missionaries or pastors—that's Cedarville's summer sessions. A program that can offer a certified teacher the opportunity of another teaching field—that's Cedarville's summer sessions.

During the summer of 1974, Cedarville College will again offer two sessions, the first beginning June 18 through July 19, and the second beginning July 22 and ending August 21.

Classes in all departments will be offered in one or both of the sessions. Prospective students can choose to take work in Biblical education, business, education, English, history, music, speech, physical or biological science, and psychology. A possible total of 20 quarter hours credit can be earned.

Information regarding tuition, room and board, and additional course descriptions can be obtained by writing the Registrar, Cedarville College, Cedarville, Ohio 45314.

NNOUNCING: CHRISTIAN EDUCATIONAL PUBLICATIONS

In recent years, the trend towards the development of audio-visual media in secular circles presents a challenge to the audio-visual personnel in the Christian community, according to Mr. Paul Gathany, Manager of WCDR-fm, the College radio station. Recently Cedarville College began to meet that challenge with the development of Christian Educational Publications, an outgrowth of the Cedarville College Tape Service.

The newly expanded branch of educational radio at Cedarville will offer cassette tapes, records, and films published by individuals or groups contacted by Christian Educational Publications. The film distribution service, which will get under way in the spring will begin with the film "The World of Numbers," narrated by Dallas Theological Seminary professor Dr. John Reed, a former Cedarville College professor.

A catalog of current, available materials is to be published by June 1, 1974. For more information concerning the new division of Cedarville College, write Manager, WCDR-fm, Cedarville College, Cedarville, Ohio 45314.
