Cedarville College Acquires A Farm

Two Hundred Acres of Highly Productive Land Nucleus of Enlarged Self-Help Program

Cedarville College has purchased a two-hundred acre farm from Edwin Dean as the first step in the enlarged student self-help program. Formerly owned by Amos Creswell, a pioneer Greene County settler, the farm lies barely two miles from the college. It is level, but well-drained and highly productive.

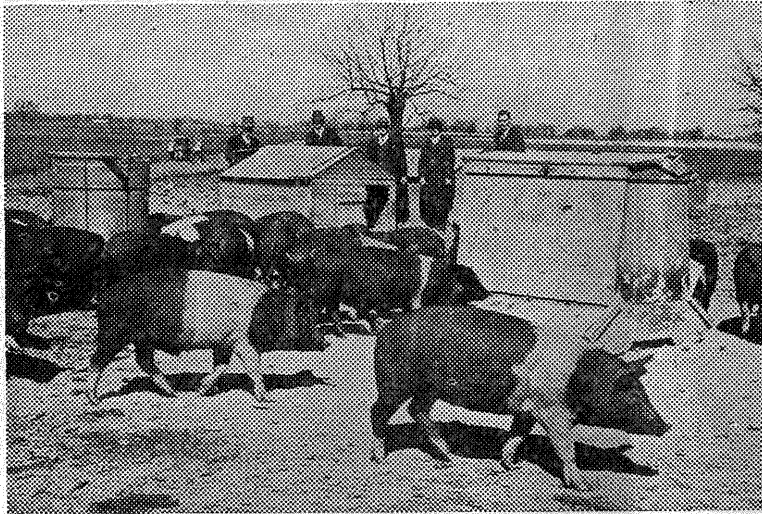

Because of his confidence in the future of Cedarville College and his interest in helping young people to obtain an education, Mr. Dean has sold his farm to the college on very reasonable terms. The college will take possession on March 1, 1943.

The location, size and fertility of this farm are extremely favorable for college operation, and the Board of

THE $100,000 CAMPAIGN

The acquisition of a farm marks the beginning of the $100,000 expansion program of Cedarville College. This $100,000 will provide the purchase price of the farm, the permanent improvements and the necessary equipment and livestock.

It will also include the money needed to adjust the total college problem to the new student self-help plan. These items will include labor grants and loan funds to students, additional dormitory space, the repayment of the accumulated depression indebtedness and the money necessary to balance the budget during the expansion program.

The reasons for making a farm the basic part of an enlarged student self-help program are:

Plans are being made to complete this program by the autumn of 1944, when the college will celebrate its fiftieth anniversary.

It is confidently expected that every alumnus, former student, and friend of Cedarville will respond to this appeal for a greater Cedarville.

How You Can Help Cedarville College in this $100,000 Campaign

The hundreds and thousands of friends can help in this enlarged program of Cedarville College. Here are some of the ways:

1. Send in your cash gift or subscription payable over two years to this $100,000 fund. Use the subscription form found elsewhere in this issue. Deductions in your income tax returns can be made for any money given to the college up to 15% of your net income.

2. Send us the names and addresses of any who may, in your opinion, be interested in helping worthy young men and women to obtain a college education. Full details will be sent them.

3. Upon request, a simple, easy way of presenting the plans and goals of Cedarville College to your friends will be sent you. This will enable any friend, alumnus, or former student to serve as a representative of the college. You need not be an experienced solicitor to follow this plan.

4. In case a donor must receive an income from his gift while living, such gifts will be accepted on the annuity plan. However, contributions so made will be considered as challenge gifts to secure an equal amount for the $100,000 campaign.

5. Many persons are anxious to leave a bequest to Cedarville College in their wills. Send us the names and addresses of any you may have reason to believe would be interested in this manner of disposing of their estates. Such bequests are exempt from inheritance taxes in Ohio.

President W. S. Kilpatrick spent the weekend of April 26 in Chicago, where he preached on Sunday morning at St. Paul's Union Church, of which Dr. Wallace Iliffe is the pastor. He also attended the inaugural ceremonies of several professors at the Presbyterian Seminary of Chicago, including Dr. Jesse Halsey, former pastor of the Seventh Presbyterian Church of Cincinnati.

SHALL WE PRAY!

Again Cedarville College moves out with faith in God as it enlarges its opportunities offered to youth. The campaign for $100,000 is a definite challenge to the friends of Christian Education.

When the first firm foundations were laid a half-century ago, our fathers trusted in the guiding hand of Providence. The record of the years reveals how fruitful was that faith.

We are asking you to join the college trustees and faculty, the student body, alumni, former students, and friends in a covenant of prayer.

Pray for the Board of Trustees, the President, the Director of the Campaign, the committees and the solicitors that they may be wisely led in the development of the student self-help program.

Pray that the hearts of men and women may be open to this appeal of Cedarville College in behalf of worthy young people.

Commencement Speaker

Prominent Cincinnati

Minister

Formerly Served American Church
In Paris

The Reverend Clayton E. Williams, new pastor of the Seventh Presbyterian Church of Cincinnati, has been secured as the speaker for Cedarville College's forty-sixth annual Commencement exercises. Commencement will be held at the United Presbyterian Church of Cedarville, at 10:00 A. M., Saturday, May 16. This early date is the result of the accelerated schedule being carried on at Cedarville this year, in an experimental attempt to adapt the college's program to war-time needs.

Mr. Williams is admirably equipped to bring a vital Christian message to our day. He has spent many years in Europe as a leader in church and social service capacities, and has been an eye-witness of the events leading to World War II. In 1937, the French Government honored him with knighthood in the Legion of Honor.

From 1926 until a few months ago, Mr. Williams was attached to the staff of the American Church in Paris, serving as pastor since 1933. The American Church in Paris is the oldest American institution in Europe.

As an advisor of the American Volunteers' Ambulance Unit with the French Army, Mr. Williams had many opportunities to observe France during the early days of World War II, and after her collapse. He was called upon to broadcast to America on several occasions during the crises of this period.

Mr. Williams is a graduate of Butler College, the University of Pittsburgh, Western Theological Seminary and the University of Paris.

Queen and Orator to be Honored in Special Program

Due to the accelerated college program it was found necessary to eliminate some of the events which traditionally occur during the commencement season. Consequently there will be no CEDAR DAY as we have known Cedar Day in the past, but there will be a Cedar Day Queen and Orator, and they will be accorded appropriate honors.

Plans are being made to hold a brief ceremony for the purpose of crowning the queen and hearing the oration just prior to the Alumni Banquet on Friday evening, May 15. The exercises will be held on the college campus (weather permitting) beginning at 5:30. It is hoped that many of the alumni will plan to reach Cedarville in time to participate in the program.

CLAYTON WISEMAN

WHAT TWO TRUSTEES SAY

The contribution of Cedarville College to the leadership of the country during the past half-century has been highly gratifying. Its enlarged student self-help program will help meet the even greater need of trained leaders in the days just ahead.

WILLIAM C. HOWARD, Chicago

MISS BEATRICE COLLIER

Miss Beatrice Collier, and Mr. Clayton Wiseman, were chosen by the popular vote of the student body to share the "Cedar" honors. Miss Collier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Collier of Xenia, has been a popular leader in campus activities. She has served as house president of Hariman Hall, president of Chi Sigma Phi Sorority, and program chairman of the Y. W. C. A.

Clayton Wiseman, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Wiseman, Cedarville, achieved the distinction this year of being listed in the publication of Who's Who Among College Students. His extra-curricular activities have been president of the junior class, editor of "Whispering Cedars," assistant editor of "The Cedrus," and president of the Y. M. C. A.

The success of this effort to secure $100,000 to enlarge the student self-help program of Cedarville College depends upon the good will and generous response of our friends. I am confident they will rally to our support for the sake of the youth of our state.

productive farming area. This section of Ohio with its very large deposit of limestone is one of nature's gardens designed for raising splendid crops.

2. The students will consume many of the products of the farm. The surplus products will have a ready sale in the open market, thereby solving the sales problem—always a major one in any college student-work program.

3. Although native ability is confined to no section of our country, yet it is generally conceded that boys and girls from rural areas have many qualities of leadership. Their early contact with the soil and the creative forces of life has given them unusual success in the fields where leadership is demanded.

4. The farm work program will tend to develop those deep-rooted character and personality traits which are so much in demand in these days. Only by actual experiences with the processes of growth can meaning and worth be made real to the student.
