$100,000 Campaign Tribute To Dr. McChesney

Honors Long Service

The year 1944 will mark the 50th anniversary of Dr. W. R. McChesney's connection with Cedarville College. During all these years he has given his services without reserve.

Since 1944 also marks the 50th anniversary of the College, the Board of Trustees has authorized the $100,000 campaign for the enlarged student self-help program to be a tribute to the unselfish devotion of Dr. McChesney to the College.

DR. W. R. MCCHESNEY

The members of the Board feel that no greater tribute can be paid to the loyalty of Dr. McChesney than the successful conclusion of this campaign. Pledges are made payable over 25 months and will mark the 50th anniversary of the College on September 19, 1944.

Dr. McChesney began his teaching career in 1890. Called to help found Cedarville College he has served it as teacher, secretary of the faculty, vice-president and from 1915 to 1940 as president.

He has remained at Cedarville to develop the principles of Christian education so dear to him, and the calibre of its graduates and students bears eloquent testimony to the moral and cultural values of the small Christian college.

As a preacher and lecturer he has few equals. He is in constant demand for sermons, after-dinner speeches and commencement addresses.

His very large contribution to the civic life of Ohio is attested by his presence in the state legislature.

The completion of the campaign for $100,000 now in progress for Cedarville College will be a crowning tribute to a half century of devoted service by a servant of Jesus Christ.

The College owes President-emeritus McChesney a debt of gratitude which it never can repay. This token of appreciation will make permanent the work which he helped begin and so successfully fostered during all these years.

NEW MEMBERS ADDED TO THE BOARD

Commencement saw two new members added to the Board of Trustees. The Board elected Mr. Rankin MacMillan to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge S. C. Wright. Always a loyal friend, he brings to the Board an experience rich in community and agricultural leadership. His appointment will be hailed by alumni and friends of the college everywhere.

The Alumni elected Attorney Joseph A. Finney, '06, as their representative to serve on the Board. As an interested alumnus and friend, his contribution to the work of the Board will be of great importance.

The members of the board are:

Dr. W. Clyde Howard, Chicago, President

Dr. Leo Anderson, Cedarville, Vice-president

Dr. Dwight R. Guthrie, Springfield, Secretary

George H. Hartman, Cedarville, Treasurer

Harry G. Pounsford, Cincinnati

S. Frank Creswell, Cedarville

GOVERNOR BRICKER

ENDORSES COLLEGE

SELF-HELP PROGRAM

GOVERNOR JOHN W. BRICKER

Governor John W. Bricker has added his endorsement of the student self-help program of Cedarville College. He says: "I am glad to learn that Cedarville College has purchased a 200-acre farm near the town of Cedarville. That should be an unusually fine location for a student work program centered around the college farm.

"I also noted with interest your plan to raise a fund which will be used for the development of the work program and other Cedarville College needs. I feel that it is worthy of encouragement because of its objectives. Student self-help is to be commended and a student self-help program may have considerable significance and importance after the war is over."

"THE PIONEERS ARE THE LUCKY ONES"

This challenge came to us from the lips of one of the founders of Madison College, Tennessee, during our recent visit on their campus. For forty years this brave soul has spent her life in toil and sacrifice that she might make possible a college education for the thousands of young people who have come to that college with vision and ambition, but little money.

She was thus expressing her deep conviction that both education and life must be reached by the same road—a road paved with the stern elements of sacrifice. She believes that education will make its worthwhile contribution to life only in so far as it partakes of these same elements of work and sacrifice that give meaning to life.

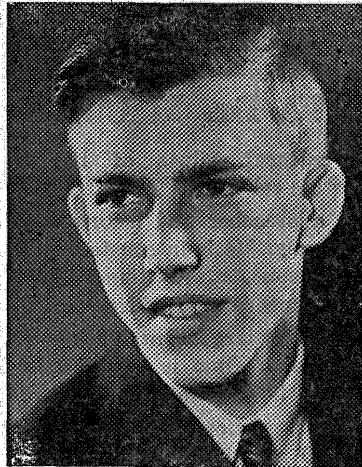

Cedarville College was cradled in sacrifice. Opening amid the bitter years of the depression of the early nineties, it was literally built on prayers and tears. Those pioneers were the lucky ones for they laid the only foundations that God can use to build strong men and women.

Once more Cedarville enters what is for her a pioneering field. The enlarged self-help program will mean a venture in faith. But we face it with the same courage and invite the same sacrifice that founded the college and made our first half century such a notable one. It will call every alumnus, every friend of the college and every lover of youth to join in the sacred procession of sacrifice.

In this pioneering movement also will come a growing faith in a new day for Cedarville College—new in influence, new in power and new in the relating of Christian Education to life. Most important of all, students who have thus made their own way to an education at Cedarville will provide a competent and sacrificial leadership in the challenging new day to which all the world is coming.

Yes, "the pioneers are the lucky ones."

RECEIVES HIGH HONOR

JUSTIN HARTMAN

Justin Hartman, '38, recently graduated from the Theological Seminary of Oberlin College. He was selected as the member of the graduating class to receive the Monroe Fellowship, valued at $600, in recognition of high scholastic standing. The fellowship can be used for further study at Oberlin or at any other theological school approved by the faculty.

Justin is the son of Mr. George H. Hartman, a member of the Board of Trustees and Treasurer of the College.

Cedarville is justly proud of the increasing number of its graduates who achieve high honors in the scholastic world.

Harold Thomas, Everett Keener, and Arthur Geake, of the class of '41, are now located at Patterson Field.

Noah Sharpe, '39, is stationed at Port Columbus where he is continuing his course as a civilian pilot.

Robert Guthrie and Layden Wilson of the class of '42 and Robert Allen and Henry Campbell of the class of '44 have joined the armed forces since the close of the school year.

DELEGATION STUDIES

SELF-HELP COLLEGES

In anticipation of the enlarged student self-help program, a delegation from Cedarville spent a week-end visiting several colleges and institutions in the South. Traveling as far as Nashville, Tennessee, the group made an intensive study of Madison College, which has an enviable record of student self-help over nearly 40 years.

It was possible to interview faculty members, the business manager, as well as student workers. Close scrutiny was given to the work of the farm and the various industries, as well as the sanitarium. The party made a thorough study of the production and distribution of farm and industrial products, of student labor, and of the methods by which the work program is fitted into the college curriculum.

A stop was also made at Berea College, Kentucky, where the administrative program, involving over 1500 students, was given careful attention. Their varied work projects made the information secured there invaluable.

A later visit was made to the Kentucky Female Orphan School at Midway. The unusual success of this institution in securing finances through their annuity plan has attracted wide attention throughout the Middle West.

Cedarville College is constantly seeking the best experience from many self-help institutions. Much information has been secured which will give impetus and direction to our program beginning in 1943.

The group making the trip consisted of Walter S. Kilpatrick, President; Ira D. Vayhinger, Business Manager; Miss Glenna Basore, Registrar; and Mrs. Eloise Kling of the Department of Education.

"THE REAL FRONTIERS ARE THE FRONTIERS OF THE HUMAN SPIRIT"

DR. CLAYTON E. WILLIAMS

"France fell because she did not have adequate spiritual forces in those fields where the destiny of the nation was being determined.

"In the last analysis no nation will be saved because it happens to have superiority in armored tanks or flying fortresses, unless it also has superiority in these things which make a nation strong from within.

"No battle is ever lost until resolution and devotion are lost; no battle is ever lost until the willingness to sacrifice and die is gone from the human heart."

Thus did Dr. Clayton E. Williams,

ANNUITY BONDS ARE ATTRACTIVE TO DONORS

The annuity plan is the most satisfactory way to make estate gifts to Cedarville College. The donor or the person whom he may name receives an income for life which cannot be reduced. Upon the death of the person receiving the income, the College will immediately come into possession of the gift.

When the gift has thus become available to the College it will be used according to the wishes of the donor. Nearly all kinds of property can be given to the College in this manner including farms, stocks, bonds or any other form of security which has a market value.

Cincinnati, point out France's weaknesses to the audience at Cedarville College's forty-sixth Commencement exercises, May 16. His remarkably thought-provoking address was followed with great interest by the graduates, their parents, and the capacity house which attended the program.

Degrees and diplomas were conferred by President Kilpatrick upon nineteen. The honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon the Reverend John Elias Jones, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of Richmond, Indiana, and upon the Commencement speaker, the Reverend Mr. Williams, pastor of Cincinnati's historic Seventh Presbyterian Church. The two men thus honored had an interesting point in common in that each had studied extensively at the University of Paris, France.

BEQUESTS HELP STUDENTS

During the past year Cedarville College received $2400 from the estate of the late Dr. Thomas Watters, a former member and secretary of the Board of Trustees. Many people are finding this method of disposing of their estates a very practical way of aiding worthy young men and women who are seeking an education. Such bequests are tax free in Ohio and may be designated for a definite purpose or their use left to the discretion of the Board of Trustees.

Here is a suggested form of bequest for the use of donors:

I give and bequeath to Cedarville College, a corporation, of Cedarville, Ohio, the sum of _____ dollars to be used in such manner as the Board of Trustees shall deem wise.

Finney and Shanks, Trustees
