LEDARVILLE COLLEGE

XXXI Cedarville, Ohio, October 1948

No. 4

4. 1.

Dear Graduates and Former Students:

How long has it been since you last visited your Alma Mater, Cedarville College? Probably a long time ago. Well, here's your chance to come back for a few days or hours, whichever you can spare. We have planned an extensive Home-coming program lasting from Friday evening, October 15, until Sunday noon, October 17. There are some rooming accommodations in Cedarville, together with the hotels in Xenia, eight miles away. The College Boarding Club serves very delicious meals (cafeteria style) at a nominal price. Registration will be held from 9 a. m. to 10 a. m. Saturday morning, October 16, in Recreation Hall on the campus.

Cedarville College has and is making rapid strides forward both in additions to the campus and number of students. This year we have 175 students registered with a large increase in the number of women students. Additions have also been made to the teaching and administrative staff.

The reputation of any college lies in the achievements of its alumni, not in pretentious buildings or campuses. The success of any college depends largely upon the interest of the alumni in their Alma Mater. That interest may be shown in various ways. Some alumni have sent their sons and daughters to Cedarville. Others have dropped a word to prospective students in their locality. Still others have given gifts, large and small, either in cash or in some tangible form. We thank one and all for these forms of assistance. There still is much to do to advance the cause of your Alma Mater.

Won't you please make a special effort to come and enjoy the Homeroming festivities? It would be fine to have entire former classes present. We'll be seeing you on October 15, 16, and 17.

Ira D. Vayhinger President

P.S. Please advise us if you plan to attend Homecoming.

VICTORIES

. Cedarville College opened its t'mrd year of intercollegiate football after & fifteenyear layoff, meeting Ohic Morthern University at Cox Field in Xonia, Tuesday night, Sept. 14. With cixteen lettermen returning from last year, a good season was in prospect. However, Ohio Northern's Folar Bears dimmed the outlook by defeating the Yellow Jackets, 26 to O.

Scoring three times in the first seven minutes, the boys from Ada showed a well-balanced attack. Cedarville showed a superior brand of football from then until an intercepted pass gave the Northerners their fourth touchdown midway in the last quarter. Cedarville was outgained but not outplayed in this starting setback.

Georgatown Collage, from Georgetown, Kentucky came to Osborn, Ohio Scotember 22 with revenge in their eye. Hoping to repay the Jackets for the 1947 season's 13 to 13 tie, they put on an attack that proved devastating once it started to click.

In the first half the Yellow Jackets showed great improvement over the brand of ball played against Ohio Northern and left the field after two quarters trailing by only 6 to 0. Georgetown came on the field the second half with a show of de-· termination and it paid off as they scored again midway in the third quarter, making the score read Georgetown 13 Cedarville O. going into the final quarter. A brilliant passing attack, aided by haphazard Cedarville playing, enabled the Tigers to score four more times and left the final score 38 to 0, Georgetown.

a strong Ashland eleven was the third opponent and the Jackets, showing little improvement and failing to capitalize on lacing. .

AHEAD

Ashland's Purple Raiders, using a strong "T" formation, scored once in the second quarter and made good the extra point to lead, 7 to 0, at the half. An attempted reverse, resulting in a fumble, gave the Raiders possession of the ball on the Cedarville 9. From there the Jackets made a valiant stand but Ashland scored on the fourth try, again kicking the point, to lead, 14-0, in the 4th period.

Cedarville was able to penetrate Ashland territory as far as the four-yard line, but inferior play enabled the boys from up north to halt their only threat. Ashland scored its last touchdown on an intercepted pass and the placement was good. The final score: 21 to 0.

Saturday, October 9, the Yellow Jackets of Cedarville journey to Bluffton to meet a favored Bluffton College squad. The Jackets are still looking for their initial win, and this is the time. The remaining schedule shows no weak sisters or breathers, but this reporter sees victories on the way. The team as yet has not come up to pre-season expectations, but it will -- and soon.

The students, faculty, and alumni must get behing the team, showing that, even in defeat, those who continue to try are honored.

CEDARVILLE COLLEGE BULLETIN

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office, Cedarville Ohio, April, 1915, under act of August 24, 1912.

RAH-RAH FOR CEDARVILLE

A welcome addition to the college this year is the increase in the number of women students. From among this number, four women students have been chosen as cheerleaders for the year: Joan Sipe, Englewood, Ohio; Viola Thurman, Englewood, Ohio; Eloise Rutan, Mechanicsburg, Ohio; and Geraldine Powell, Huntington, West Virginia.

All of the cheerleaders have had some high school experience. Frof. Edith Stangland of the physical education department has been working with the four women, coaching them in the fine points of leading songs and cheers. The cheerleaders presided recently at a bonfire pep rally on the campus and later led a student assembly pep session. They will be there for the Homecoming game, so plan to be present and help cheer the Yellow Jackets on to victory.

1948 CEDARVILLE COLLEGE BAND

Cedarville College will have a sixteen-piece marching band this year, ready for the Home-coming football game October 16. Under the leadership of Prof. James Hamsey, the band plans an extensive program for the Home-coming. There are ten college students in the band with six players from the college area.

Prof. Ramsey is especially qualified for band work. While in the Navy, Mr. Ramsey played in several bands. For a time he was an active member of the Wilmington Municipal Band, and at present plays trombone with the Jamestown Band.

Instruments for band members are still needed. Persons having band instruments to donate to the college band are urged to—do so. Their gifts will be greatly appreciated and will be acknowledged by a letter.
