College cost increase 10%

On Friday, April 11th, the trustees of Cedarville College once again met with Dr. Dixon to deal with important matters of business.

Dr. Dixon reported that one of the trustees' actions during the course of the meeting was the approval of the budget for the 1980-81 school year. This action included the establishing of student charges for that year.

The cost of tuition was increased from $45.00 to $50.00 per credit hour, which is an 11.1% raise. Board for the 1980-81 school year underwent a raise of 9.6% increasing it from $310.00 to $340.00 per quarter, and the cost for rooms also increased from $235.00 to $258.00 per quarter raising the cost by $23.00 or 9.8%.

Dr. Dixon explained that the trustees and the school administration did not want to initiate the 10% overall increase in charges across the board, but found it necessary to do so in the face of rising inflation. The current amounts charged would just not be able to handle the increasing costs of food, salaries, and other such items.

President Dixon also added that many other colleges have been forced to raise their costs by more than 10%. Cedarville's sister GARBC schools are also increasing their costs by similar amounts.

Another action taken by the trustees was the approval of WCDR's establishment of a regional radio network which will serve other non-commercial radio stations owned by Christian schools.

The establishment of the network will raise no costs for the college since the necessary funds will be provided by the Christian schools who use it. Programs will be made available to the Christian schools through the use of a laser beam.

Dr. Dixon also reported that the developmental committee worked with Cedarville's new director of development, Charles Ross, on campaign strategy for funds for the new athletic/academic center.

No further plans for the center were made. The steel structure of the building will be erected, and further work will continue as funds are made available. October 1st has been proposed as the center's completion date.

Dr. Dixon also mentioned that the trustees expressed a continuing interest in meeting with groups of students while they are on campus.

Cedar Day festivities planned

An old traditional day carried on by Cedarville College in past years will be celebrated May 3. On this weekend Cedar Day will begin its festivities and activities for which it is known.

Cedar Day was started many years ago and was originally a tradition for college and community. At this time they started the Cedar tree planting ceremony.

Eventually the tradition developed into a Spring Homecoming and last year was used as a recruitment time also.

This year, however, there has been a separate weekend set apart for prospective student day. Returning to the traditional idea of an inhouse social, the committee hopes to better the relationship between community and college.

Jeff Faucet and his committee have planned many activities for Cedar Day; most have been scheduled, but others are tentative.

Friday, May 2, the Athletic Department has the NCCAA national track meet scheduled for 3:00 and 6:00, running into Saturday at 10:00 and 4:00. Also on Friday there will be an honors chapel, honoring those people with high academic achievements.

Friday night the Road Rally and a Concert Choral Program will be taking place, thus kicking off this traditional weekend.

On Saturday the first activity will be the Cedar tree planting ceremony.

The Athletic Department also has scheduled Men's Tennis at 3:00 and the Women's Satellite Tourney, which has not yet been scheduled.

Before every activity starts there will be a siren going off where it will be taking place.

Other activities include canoe-racing, obstacle courses, and possibly a dunking booth for each class.

Lunch on Saturday will be served next to the Administration building during which the Symphonic band will be playing. At 4:00 Mr. Strobridge will be showing and narrating exciting slides on the history of Cedarville College and the town.

Most of these activities will be taking place between lunch and dinner on Saturday; however, certain activities will be available at all times for your pleasure. These include the paddleboats, innertubes, and possibly a water slide.

Inside Senate

Increase in price of pop forces Senate to raise price

By now, many of you in the student body will have experienced the hassle of running down to the pop machine in your dorm with thirty cents, only to have to turn around to retrieve another nickle from your room at the other end of the building. Yes, inflation has finally caught up with Cedarville, or, Cedarville has finally caught up with inflation.

Student Senate did not initiate the rising price of pop without reason. The cost of purchasing pop from our local Coke distributor has risen from twenty-six cents to twenty-eight cents a can. Senate was virtually forced to pass on this price increase to the student body so that you as consumers can continue to enjoy the pop machines in each dorm. Most of the money left after the Coke distributor has been paid is used to pay the students' wages who service these machines on campus. Any net profit left over from this is placed in Senate's general fund, where it is passed onto the student body by way of any expenditures which arise during the course of the year.

April 4, Cedarville's student body voted not to change the requirements for those who wish to qualify for nominations for Student Senate officers. Seventy-three percent of the students voted in favor of deleting the requirement of one year's experience in Senate in order to run for President, Vice President, Secretary, or Treasurer. A positive vote by seventy-five percent of the voting students was required to make an ammendment to the Constitution, which would have allowed anyone within Cedarville's student body to run for these offices. The purpose of such a measure, as introduced by this year's Student Senate, was to enable Senate to become more representative of the student body as a whole.

Deichert explains hall changes

"What happened to the Poptarts?" "Why isn't there any cheese on the salad bar?" "Where is the yogurt?" The above questions have recently become a standard by-line of disappointed Cedarville College students.

The noticeable changes in the food service program over the past two quarters have been the result of rising food prices. In his maneuvers to stay within his budget, Director of Food Service Steve Deichert admits that "I have cut costs wherever I can." Deichert maintains that although many popular items have been eliminated, students are still being provided with an excellent selection of food.

Some items, such as yogurt, boxed cereals, and poptarts were removed from the serving line because of their abuse by students who smuggled them out of the dining hall. Yogurt was being consumed in quantities of two and three containers per person, despite the one container limit. Food Service could not continue to supply yogurt at the expense of one thousand dollars every day.

Deichert believes that the majority of students understand his dilemma and are willing to live with the changes.

To compensate for the changes, Food Service has initiated many new things, such as an enlarged salad bar. An outdoor barbecue at John Bryan State Park is being planned for later this spring.

In communicating his concerns to the student body, Deichert presented a question and answer session in March, but only thirty students attended.

BY REBECCA JONES

Money is a concern of most college students, especially with spring quarter's depleted bank accounts. Questioned on what the mandatory health service fees were used for, I did some investigating. Admittedly, $94,000 seems like a large amount of money to use up in a year, however, when dealing with 1300 students large sums dwindle fast. $7.50 per student is used to pay for insurance, bringing the total down to $66,000. From this we subtract health service budget of $52,000, which includes salaries, supplies, repairs, and etc. This leaves $14,000. Staff benefits of $5,000 deducted from the remaining amount leave a total of $9,000 overhead, which is used in the general fund. 90% of all money paid to health service finds its way to some health related task.

Carter's draft registration heads for key vote

BY PATRICK SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CPS) - The fate of President Carter's proposal to re-institute military registration for 19- and 20-year-old males will be determined later this month when the House Ways and Means Committee takes its key vote on whether to approve $13 million for the proposal.

Most committee watchers expect the measure to pass easily.

A House subcommittee has already defeated an $8.5 million request that would have allowed the Selective Service System to register women for the first time.

Even those favoring starting registration for the first time since 1973 carefully note that a registration system won't necessarily lead to a draft.

"The draft will only be re-instituted if there is a war," maintains Warren Nelson, an aide to Rep. Les Aspin (D-WI), generally considered a congressional expert on military personnel.

"As it stands now," Nelson adds, "the new registration system will be simpler and less time-consuming than the old method."

The new system envisioned in the bill would require that 19- and 20-year-old males report to the nearest post office during the month of June or July.

Bill proponents argue that post offices are usually quiet in those months. Draft opponents, however, have charged President Carter purposefully deferred the registration date until college students are on summer vacation, and can't organize large anti-draft demonstrations.

Substantial congressional opposition to registration remains, led by representatives Pat Schroeder (D-CO) and John S. Seiberling (D-OH).

"Compulsory military service - except in times of constitutionally approved war or compelling national emergency - raises serious questions of propriety and indeed legality in light of the constitutional prohibition against involuntary servitude," Seiberling wrote in a public letter to the president.

Rep. James Weaver of Ohio, another opponent, feared registration would make it easier for the U.S. to engage in "adventures" around the world.

In his letter, co-signed by 38 of his colleagues, Seiberling worried that registration would be a "massive invasion of the privacy of millions of young Americans."

The proposal as it now stands would require registrants to tell the government their name, address, birth date, and social security number.

The information would be entered into computers by Internal Revenue Service keypunch operators. Bill advocates say IRS key-punchers are simply the ones who would be available at that time of year, that the information on the registration forms would not be shown to other government agencies.

In 1978, President Carter rejected a Congressional Budget Office (CBO) proposal that would automatically register people

A full peacetime conscription system, by compiling information from existing government files. The CBO report figures the Social Security System and the IRS could provide most of the needed information.

The report also noted that the automatic registration system could miss as much as 40 percent of the eligible people, and thus create serious political and legal obstacles to a draft based on such an incomplete list.

In requesting registration, of course, President Carter said the point was to provide the Pentagon with a manpower (Continued on page 7)

Carter's anti-inflation budget cuts aid to students

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CPS) - President Carter's newly-proposed balanced federal budget may cut as much as $50 off the amount of financial aid each student receives next year, while drastically reducing help to colleges trying to remove architectural barriers for handicapped students.

The budget, introduced in March as a means of combating inflation, proposes giving the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG) program $140 million less than what President Carter had proposed in January, when he submitted his first budget to Congress.

Steve Leifman, lobbyist for the Coalition of Independent College and University Students (usually referred to as COPUS), estimates the cuts, if approved, would mean that every student with BEOG aid will get $50 less next year, although tuition on most campuses will be going on.

"The danger in that," Leifman explains, "is that the people who can least afford the cut are going to be cut first."

Congress still must approve the president's next budget, but Leifman expects it to approve the BEOG cut because "Congress is so screwed up."

"The environment in Washington is very peculiar," he says. "People want a balanced budget, but not at the expense of their own programs."

If the cuts are approved, total BEOG funding for the 1981 fiscal year would be reduced to $2.16 billion, approximately the level of fiscal 1979.

"When you look at the number," Liefman notes, "it doesn't look like much of a cut. But when you figure in an 18 to 20 percent inflation rate, it becomes a substantial cut."

At the U.S. Office of Education, news of the cuts were met warily.

"We feel the reduction can be accomplished without disrupting the current application system," ventures Thomas Butts, acting deputy commissioner for student financial aid.

"We knew that whatever we did we had to be responsive to the economic issues we face," he adds.

"Overall, one out of every six students receives some form of financial aid," COPUS' Leifman complains. "We've launched a major campaign to stave off the budget cuts. But the most effective way to stop this is through the people who benefit from the programs." Leifman hopes for a grassroots protest against the cuts.

Carter's new budget also asks Congress to lop $25 million off the amount previously set aside for renovations designed to make campuses more accessible for handicapped students.

Title VII of the 1973 Rehabilitation Act demands that campuses remove architectural barriers for handicapped students. A recent U.S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare study estimated it would cost $561 million for colleges to meet the June 2, 1980 deadline for complying with the federal regulations.

College enrollment will peak in 1981

WASHINGTON, DC. (CPS) - The National Center for Education Statistics, in its annual survey, is predicting that college enrollment will hit an all-time high in 1981 before falling to levels that could pit four-year private colleges against two-year community colleges in a battle for older, part-time students.

The NCES expects 11.69 million college students to enroll in 1981, a record number. By 1988, however, it sees enrollment shrinking up 11.048 million.

It projects that small private colleges will lose the greatest percentage of students. Private school enrollment should fall to 2.294 million in 1988, down from 2.49 million projected for 1981, and 2.478 this year.

NCES analysts predict that the private four-year schools will have to attract more older, part-time students to compensate for their losses.

Two-year community colleges, though, have been the most successful recruiting older, part-time students. One reason, according to the study called "Projection of Education Statistics to 1988-89," is that community colleges are usually in urban areas convenient to commuter students.

Older, part-time students currently account for 40 percent of the nation's two- (Continued on page 7)

Fellowship Choir Grows

With only fourteen members, the Fellowship Choir began two years ago as an attempt to meet the needs of students remaining on campus during Sundays. Today, the choir has developed into a body of twenty-five, with a high membership of over forty. Rich Connors, co-ordinator for the Fellowship music program, directs the voluntary group.

As a Christian Service activity, Fellowship Choir sings primarily during the Sunday services. They have performed in larger roles, such as the Christmas Cantata, "The King of Love."

The choir practices from 5:30 to 6:30 on Wednesday nights. Anyone interested in joining should see Rich Connors. Anyone interested in directing the group for next year should inquire at the Christian Service Department.

The present Fellowship Choir members are: Ron Abbott, Jim Baldwin, Linda Barker, Joyce Blackmer, Rich Connors, Karen Ebersole, Carol Elcan, Bonnie Flint, Sally Fulmer, Judy Goff, Anna Hottel, Jim Jobson, Karen Jones, Tim Mathewson, Darcy Morton, Marcy Morton, Ron Rost, Dave Schonefield, Patty Shaffer, Sheila Stephenson, Dallas Steward, Elaine Swartgood, Ginger Ward, and Chris Yoder.

AS OLD LEAVE, new singers join the fellowship choir.

NORMAN'S CHOIR goes to the loony ben.

Songs sung with a new twist

RUTHELLYN COOK

Normon Lobochevsky, impersonated by Craig Miller, was conductor and emcee for an evening with his famous Normon Tabernacle Choir.

The program began with an educational classical performance of "Hey, Diddle Diddle" arranged in the style of Bach.

It seemed that the producers of this evening thought of everything. They even provided a helpful translator for the next number, a Spanish guitarist. The profound text of this number defies description.

The audience was stumped as they tried to decipher the meaning of the A.T.I.B.R.T. on the programs. A.T.I.B.R.T. was a timely interruption by real talent. The first one was an excellent piano solo by an alumnus of CC, Diane DeNicola.

The Normon Tabernacle Choir took the next song, "Close To You," quite literally. Some choir members became birds to "suddenly appear" around a poor guy who also suffered from having a star "fall down from the sky" on his head. Angels sprinkled him with "moondust" and "starlight" in the form of baby powder. Finally, he was run off the stage by frantic birds, angels, and firis.

After a brief intermission, here came the N.T.C. cheerleaders. These guys crazily, purposely tried NOT to perform stunts with the mini-tramp and mat.

The next A.T.I.B.R.T. was "Send In the Clowns" sung by Lisa Ramsey. Even though her microphone persistently faded in and out, Lisa continued singing.

"Take Me Out To the Ball Game" was sung in a unique way. The choir purposely began a beat early, so the accent of the music didn't fit the accent of the words. Perhaps this will help clarify: "Take ME out to the ball GAME..." This technique gave the song an unusual and humorous twist.

"The Ladies Lament" was performed in a previous show winter quarter. The girls humorously mourned over their "dateless" weekends.

Doug Phillips sang "Bless the Beasts and Children" for the last A.T.I.B.R.T.

A humorous film promoting CC closed the evening. Their second attempt at a film of this type (their first attempt was at last year's N.T.C. show when the projector wouldn't work right) went well, much to Normon's relief.

Student Recitals -BY ESTHER SMITH

Recital includes piano and organ music

Cheryl Sprunger will be presenting a cross-section of keyboard music on May 2, at 8 o'clock. The recital will include both organ and piano music of several different composers, the first part of the program being devoted to the piano music of Haydn and Ravel, and the second half, to organ music.

From the Baroque period, Cheryl will be playing organ pieces by both Bach and Walther, and also a piece by a contemporary composer, Halmut Walcha, written in the style of Bach. A prelude by another contemporary composer, Myron Roberts, who wrote the selection describing a woman organist he had known who had died, will finish out the selections.

The recital is not required for Cheryl but she chose to perform the music as an added incentive to work on the pieces throughout the year.

Meharry and Acker perform joint recital

Lisa Meharry and Jeff Acker will be presenting a joint recital on Tuesday, May 22 at 7:30. The recital is not required for either of the performers but was set up under the encouragement of Richard Chenowith, Lisa's French horn instructor as a preparation for her senior recital next year. Jeff became involved in the program because he desired more experience in performing.

The first half of the program will feature Lisa on the French horn accompanied by Debbie Oliver. She will be playing two pieces; the first, Mozart's Concerto No. 2 and the second, Ricardo Strauss' Concerto No. 1.

The second half of the program will feature Jeff Acker at the organ. Jeff's part specializes on church music beginning with the Baroque period and moving through to contemporary pieces. He will play selections by Bach, Brahms, Langlais, and Messiaen.

The recital will be an hour long, taking the audience through all periods of music.

Jerome Hines brings his bass voice to CC

On Saturday, April 26, at 8:15 p.m., Cedarville College will be privileged to have Jerome Hines present for the final presentation of its 1979-80 Artist Series.

Born in Hollywood, California, Mr. Hines has come a long way from a youngster who could not carry a tune to an opera star.

His bass voice has been heard in opera houses throughout the world, and he has held title roles in numerous operas. Performing in the Soviet Union, he received a standing ovation led by Premier Kruschchev.

Mr. Hines' program April 26th will consist of a varied repertoire, including sacred renditions, Negro spirituals, and operatic and classical selections.

Concert Chorale presents home concert

After spending their entire spring break traveling, the Cedarville College Concert Chorale, under the conduction of Dr. Lyle J. Anderson, will present their first full home concert of the 79-80 school year on Saturday evening, May 3 at 7 o'clock. The concert is designed to be a well-integrated worship service that will edify the believers and glorify God.

Several different styles of music are included in the repertoire with a wide variety of soloists featured. Besides being accompanied by flute on "Psalm of My Life," the Chorale will also be accompanied by a section of the Brass Choir on "Press on Children of God." The selection "Stand By Me" will feature a dramatic reading.

All students, visitors, faculty and staff are invited to attend the concert.

MIS'ers gain cross-cultural experience

This summer 64 students will participate in a cross-cultural experience for the cause of Jesus Christ our Lord.

After a number of students applied to the Missionary Internship Service (MIS) committee, much screening was done. Each of the students was required to give five references. These five references were then requested to give two more references that knew the applicant well. Thd these likewise were asked to give two more references.

Following the completion of this chain of reference, an interview was scheduled. Each applicant was reviewed by some members or all of the MIS committee. If the applicant, according to many evaluations, appeared to be capable of the task set before him, the MIS committee then okayed him for a summer of service.

Although the applicant may have been accepted by the MIS committee, he still has to be approved by a particular mission board. If the student passes all of the tests, he is then sent out by his local church under the auspices of both the MIS committee and a particular mission board.

This year two musical teams are being sent out, one to Australia and one to Brazil.

The students traveling to Australia under the leadership of P.G. (Pastor Green) and Craig Miller include: Seniors, Jim Bocain, Paul Buettell, Rich Crist, Dawn Jansen, and Ginny Stone; Juniors, Dave Bergandine, Jill Griswold, Lisa Meharry, Carl Prokop, and Cozette Wicks; Sophomores, Shirley Clark and George Stephens, and Freshmen, Faith Linn, Bobby Shomo, and Tammy Will.

Students participating in the Brazil excursion include: Seniors, Craig Kuns, Jim Neely, Kiko Souza, Carol Stoltzfus, Ginger Ward, and Amy Young; Junior, Cal Clark, Sophomores, Lenna Barrand, Becky Ferrell, and Vini Jaquery; and Freshmen, Matt Mills and Lorna Snyder.

Cedarville will also be sending out a men's basketball team to the Philippines. This team under the leadership of Coach Don Callan includes: Staff member, Gary Kuhn; Senior, Kent Craig; Juniors, Ted DeShields and Greg Greve; and Sophomores, Drew Baker, Larry Green, Chris Johnson, and Mark Wornack.

Two other teams that will be traveling for the purpose of spreading the gospel to all lands include a team to China and a team to Israel.

The China team under the leadership of Dwayne and JoAnn Frank sent out by ABWE consists of eleven members including: Seniors, Jim Luce and Julie Marihugh; Juniors, Dave Fogle, John Hart, Tammy Kearby, and Carey Weaver;

The Israel team includes: Seniors, Janet Davis and Melanie Smith; Juniors, Becky Blackburn and Anne Tawney; Sophomores, Donna Gall and Michelle Wickham; and Freshmen, Marsha Spencer, Dallas Stewart, and Beth Wind.

Going to the field of Scotland this summer under the auspices of EBM are two Cedarville students, Junior, Karen Johnson and Sophomore, Deanna Palmer.

The remainder of the summer missionary personnel sent out by Cedarville are all solo experiences. These include:

*under BMM, to the American Indians, Freshman, Bonnie Merrill; *under UMF, to the state of Colorado, Sophomore, Tammy Champlin; *under BMM, to the field of France, Sophomore, Lorraine Markh; *under BMM, to the Ivory Coast Freshman, Gary Canter; *under BMM, to the Mexican people, Senior, Evie Williams; and *to the field of Brazil, Senior, Lynda Patton.

Composed of five teams, one duo, and six solo experiences, the summer internship personnel are in need of our prayers as they seek to raise the support needed and prepare themselves for the ministry that is before them.

You can have a vital part in their ministry by supporting them in prayer daily, both now and throughout the summer.

Ross unites with Cedarville ranks

Charles Ross arrived on campus Monday, April 17. He will replace Lee Turner as the Director of Development.

Mr. Ross has spent the last three years as the Director of Development for the Old Time Gospel Hour in Lynchburg, Virginia. While there it was his responsibility to raise funding for Liberty Baptist College, Thomas Road Baptist Church and the radio broadcast. One of his accomplishments was the development of a field staff to represent the college throughout the country. He also sang tenor in the Old Time Gospel Hour volunteer choir.

Mr. Ross grew up in Kane, Pennsylvania. During high school he was involved in 4-H and raised dairy cattle.

He graduated from Penn State in 1957 with a bachelor of science degree in agricultural economics and rural sociology. During his junior and senior year of college he was a member of the National Grange Youth Committee. He was the chairman of that committee during his senior year. He was also involved with the campus 4-H program.

After graduating from college, Mr. Ross served as the assistant county agent at Penn State. In 1961 he became the county 4-H agent at the University of Connecticut. In 1967 he took the position of Director of Development at Worcester Polytechnic Institute in western Massachusetts. He went to Lynchburg in June of 1977.

Both Mr. Ross and his wife Martha grew up as Baptist but neither were ever saved. After studying with the Jehovah Witnesses for two months the Ross's started attending Temple Baptist Church of Worcester, Massachusetts and in May of 1972 Mr. Ross accepted Christ as his Saviour in his office. His wife Martha accepted Christ as her Saviour a few weeks later.

Mr. Ross did not intend to come to Cedarville College at all. Dr. Dixon asked him to come visit the college anyway and then reconsider taking the position of Director of Development. After seeing the college he changed his mind and decided to come.

Mr. Ross sees Cedarville as an opportunity to use his professional training at a college that is standing true to the word of God and is training students to stand true to the Word of God in both their religious and professional aspects. He likes the warmth and sincerity of students here.

The immediate project that Mr. Ross has been placed with is funding for the field house and long range funding through gifts and various other ways. Mr. Ross plans to get the story about Cedarville College out to places where funding is possible.

Mr. Ross has a wife Martha (Marty), and two daughters, Sandy, 17, and Sara, 13.

Cures for Spring fever

As the days grow warmer and the sun shines brighter, the average Cedarville student will feel less and less like studying and more and more like getting into the great outdoors.

If you have been struck with a severe case of spring fever, perhaps the following paragraphs can give you some suggestions as to areas of interest where you can enjoy the sights and the sounds of spring.

One of the closest and most popular outdoor areas to which Cedarville students commonly resort is John Bryan State Park. Located near Clifton off Route 343, John Bryan is open from daylight to dark. Besides the natural beauty of the park, you can also view the scenic wonders of the Gorge which is adjacent to John Bryan.

As long as you are in the area of John Bryan, you might also want to stop at the Clifton Mill which is also located off Route 343. The Mill is open from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. and features a grist mill which operates today much as it did generations ago. Another of the Mill's attractions is a country where you can purchase products made at the Mill.

Yet another area of interest is located in close proximity to Cedarville. That area is the Indian Mound Park, a 100-acre site of land located west of Cedarville on Route 42.

Indian Mound Park offers several attractions. One of those is Williamson Mound, an early prehistoric burial and/or signal mound of the Hopewell Indians, for which the park is named. Remains of an early sawmill and a prehistoric fort can also be seen in the park.

If you tend to be more naturally inclined,

Indian Mound Park also features a deep gorge and the lower and the upper falls of Massie's Creek.

Perhaps you enjoy the gurgling and babbling of streams. If so, then the Little Miami, Ohio's first scenic river, is just the area of interest for you. A scenic river map of the Little Miami, giving canoe launching sites, can be obtained by writing to the Greene County Recreation and Parks Department, 651 Dayton-Xenia Road, Xenia, Ohio 45385.

If you should get tired of viewing the wonders of spring from a land or a water perspective, there is another view you might try - an underground one. Such a view can be obtained at Ohio Caverns, located near West Liberty on State Route 245. Open from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., the Caverns do require a moderate admission charge.

Finally, if you prefer to enjoy the beauties of spring in either a more organized or a more exotic way, the Cincinnati Zoo might be the area of interest for you. The zoo's summer hours are from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., and it not only exhibits animals but features botanical gardens as well. The zoo's location, 3400 Vine Street, is just a five minute drive from I-75, so if you should like to share the glories of spring with some furry friends, they should not be too hard to find.

Creation v. evolution stimulates pastor to more study

BY MARK MORLEY

Professor Emeritus Austin D. Elmore has long served on the faculty of Cedarville College. As instructor of biological sciences, his life is one of commitment to Christ and to a Biblical view of God's created world.

Born and raised in Crawfordsville, Indiana, Mr. Elmore accepted Christ as a senior in high school in 1931.

Soon after his conversion he became involved with a group of young men in a local church in the town, all of whom were aspiring young ministers. Such involvement led him to be a part of traveling gospel teams which ministered in local churches throughout the area, where he often had occasion to preach.

Following graduation from hometown Wabash College, he entered the full-time ministry, being subsequently led to a pastorate in Oklahoma City for five years. Following his tenure there, he was led to Indianapolis, where he served in the Beechgrove Baptist Church for fourteen years.

He was then called to Bloomington, Indiana, where he was instrumental in starting a church which served as a vital outreach to students on the Indiana University campus.

The controversy of creation versus evolution catapulted Mr. Elmore back into the world of formal schooling, leading him to take post-graduate classes in biological sciences at Indiana University. This eventually led to an invitation extended by Dr. James Jeremiah to teach at Cedarville College.

Mr. Elmore was able to finish requirements for the master's degree, and thus, in 1961, accepted the call to come to Cedarville, where he served as full-time professor of Biology until his retirement in 1977.

Presently, Professor Elmore is employed as a part-time professor by the college. He also travels to Central State University once each quarter to take part in a symposium on the creation-evolution controversy.

The family holds a special place in Mr. Elmore's life. His wife has served as a full or part-time employee in the administration offices through the years, as well as being an encouragement to his own work. The couple has two children, a son and a daughter, both have married and gone on to serve the Lord, the son a pastor and the daughter a homemaker.

Cast and crew prepare Spring musical

BY KAREN McHUGH

On May 8, 9 and 10, Cedarville College will host performances of the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, The Sound of Music in Alford Auditorium. Evening performances will begin at 8:00 p.m. and a matinee performance will be held at 2:00 p.m. on Saturday, May 10.

The cast for the musical was chosen by audition from interested members of the student body. Small groups rehearsals have been taking place several times a week since the return from spring break on March 24. Some area children also have parts in the play and have been preparing for their roles since February. Rehearsals are currently being held in the afternoons and again from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays.

In addition to memorizing lines and action, the cast and chorus must also prepare the sometimes complex musical numbers. One of the pieces to be performed by the chorus is a four-part a cappella selection which is to be sung in Latin. The younger children are also developing their vocal skills for singing harmony in the musical. A pit orchestra under the direction of Mr. Charles Pagnard will provide the instrumental accompaniment for the music.

The director of the musical is Mrs. Rebecca Baker, who is a member of Cedarville's Speech Department. Mrs. Baker asserts that all involved are working extremely hard in order to ensure an authentic and effective performance via acting, set, costumes, and all areas of the production. This year, the musical is being co-produced by the Village Players and the Cedarville chapter of MENC (Music Educators' National Conference). Mrs. Baker has commented that the co-operation and sharing of responsibility is working well and allows a wider group of people to contribute to some aspect of production.

Mike Brumbaugh, a senior pre-seminary major is student directing and has taken part in previous dramatic productions on the Cedarville Campus.

Set construction and other preparations are coming along well and Mrs. Baker anticipates a good turnout. She recommends, however, that Thursday evening and Saturday matinee performances will provide greater opportunity for better seats, as Friday traditionally sells out first.

Tickets will go on sale May 1, and will be available to Cedarville students, and college faculty, staff and their families for a discount price of $2.25. The cost will be $3.00 for all other adults and $1.50 for all children under twelve. Further ticket information can be obtained by calling the ticket office in Alford at (513) 766-2211, extension 201. This office will be open on Weekdays after April 21, between the hours of 2:00 - 4:00 p.m. and 7:00 - 8:00 p.m.

Unity of the Spirit Basis for unity

BY DAVID JAMES SUGG

In our last examination of the question of unity, the first part of Ephesians four as it related to Paul's basis for unity. In that study, a key element of verse three was ignored, as it deserves a special consideration. In this column time must be spent on the meaning of the phrase "the unity of the Spirit" in verse three, for this forms the goal towards which the Christian is exhorted by Paul to reach. The question that remains for us to answer can be clearly stated as follows: What is the unity of the Spirit?

Many answers have been given to this question. A prominent one has been that this unity of the Spirit should be seen as a mystical unity, rather than a cognitive unity. Those who would assert the former view usually interpret this phrase to mean the mystical unity that all believers have in the body of Christ. There may be some elements to truth in this statement, but it is my opinion that this fails to fully define the terminology that Paul uses here. This article will attempt to show that the cognitive view is more in line with the rest of the writings of the apostle Paul.

In Philippians Paul also deals with the subject of unity. In chapter one verse twenty-seven, Paul speaks "... that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel ..."

Paul continues this thought in chapter two, when in verse two he states "Fulfill ye my joy that ye be likeminded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind." Then in verse five Paul continues, "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus ..."

From these passages, one can observe that Paul saw the unity of Christians, not only in the body of Christ, but also in a common mind that Christians are to share in. For Paul, the unity among Christians is not the mystical level, but rather the cognitive level. Paul sees the unity of the Spirit as being based on the unity of God, and that this unity is best expressed by a common mind. Paul saw this unity as a doctrinal unity, for doctrine is a strongly cognitive activity.

In Colossians chapter three and verse fourteen, Paul gave a second important characteristic of this unity that Christians should have, and that is the characteristic of love. Paul writes, "And above all these things put on charity, which is the bond of perfectness." To fully examine this area will demand another column, though, so it will be taken up next time.

Jackets smash Malone

Although plagued by several injuries and hampered by incimate weather, Cedarville won their opening MOC tennis match against Malone College.

John DeLancey returned to action after being sidelined with a leg injury for two weeks, but lost 6-1, 6-3 to Ray Zaleski of Malone.

Curt Berger, John Snoke, and Dan DeLancey were also winners in the singles matches, while Doug Wiseman and John Snoke won in doubles.

Dale Schaecterle and Tom Holwerda were extremely strong in their doubles match winning 6-0, 6-0 to secure the 5-4 team victory for Cedarville.

John and Dan DeLancey were both impressive on April 7, in Cedarville's victory over Wilmington. John won an encouraging match 6-1, 6-2 despite being hampered by injuries. Dan DeLancey won 6-0, 6-1, while Curt Berger and John Snoke also defeated their Wilmington opponents.

All three of the Cedarville doubles teams won in the 7-2 overall team victory.

On April 11, Cedarville put their best and healthiest team on the court for the first time in the early 1980 season. Cedarville defeated Mount Vernon 9-0 in the Yellow Jacket's second Mid Ohio Conference contest.

John DeLancey moved back into the number two spot in the lineup while the Jackets won their eighth straight match.

Cedarville remained undefeated in both regular season and conference play on April 12, by defeating Walsh College 9-0 in Canton, Ohio.

Doug Wiseman continued to play well for Cedarville winning 6-3, 6-2 over Mike Bruin from Walsh.

Freshman Dan DeLancey also looked impressive in defeating Ed Ungashick of Walsh 6-0, 6-0.

In doubles action, Dale Schaecterle and Dan Murphy won 6-1, 6-0 over their Walsh opponents.

The win over Walsh gives Cedarville a 3-0 record in the Mid Ohio Conference, and a 9-0 record in overall play.

CC races to a comfortable win

The Findlay Invitational ended in a run-away victory for the Cedarville Track team, who gained eight first-place finishes, three second-place, and four third-place finishes. The closest team to Cedarville's 145 total points was Findlay with 107 points; followed by Walsh, 102 points; Ashland, 95; Bluffton, 79; and Heidelberg, 56.

Rich Crist brought home first-place honors in both discus and shot put, with tosses of 120 feet and 44 feet respectively. Mark Buble also had a double victory in the 440 yard dash (49.89 sec.) and the 220 (22.82 sec.). Tom Seymour high-jumped 6 ft. 2 in. for a first-place finish; and Mark Peters took top honors in the pole vault event with a 14 ft. vault. Seymour also placed first in the 120 yard hurdles with a time of 15.6 seconds. The last first-place medal earned by the one-mile relay team of Bubel, Craig Herl, Jim Spurrier, and Tim Lord, finishing with a winning time of 3 min. 29.9 sec.

In addition, Dale Shaw placed second in the 3 mile race, as did Bob Boynton in the 440-yd. hurdles, and the 440 relay team. In third place were Averill in the 880-yd. run; Spurrier, 440-yd. hurdles; and Boynton, long jump and javelin.

The Findlay Meet was also a psychological victory for the Cedarville men as the Earlham Relays were a disappointment for the team. Cedarville finished sixth of seven teams with 23 points. The two first-place Cedarville finishes were Rich Crist in the shot put (45 ft. 1 3/4 in.) and Mark Peters with a 13 1/2 ft. pole vault.

White returns to football

Dr. Bob White's major interests have always been working with kids and football. Before coming to Cedarville he coached football and taught industrial arts at Covington High School in Covington, Kentucky. Circumstances led him to Cedarville College where he thought he would still have the opportunity to work with young people. Although he may be the first one to meet many of the prospective students and acts as an advisor to some students, he finds that he doesn't have the really close contact with kids that he would like to have.

In just a few months Dr. White will be returning to the career he left seven years ago to come to Cedarville College as the Director of Admissions. He will be coaching football and teaching industrial arts at Wilmington High School in Wilmington, Ohio. He desires a closer contact with kids and believes that the Lord has led him back to his old career.

Dr. White has had a great interest in football all of his life. He played four years for Ohio State. In 1958 he was an All-American and in January of 1960 he played in the Hula Bowl.

After receiving a bachelor of science degree in industrial arts education from Ohio State University in 1960, he played a year of football with the Houston Oilers. After that he spent six months in the army and then came out of the army and taught industrial arts for awhile before going back into the army for another eighteen months. After ending his army career he taught industrial arts and coached football at Covington High School in Covington, Kentucky where he grew up until coming to Cedarville on July 9, 1973. While teaching school in Covington he furthered his education and received his masters in education from Xavier University. In 1978 he received his Ph.D. from Miami University.

Dr. White claims "My whole experience here has been just a delightful one. One of the highlights has got to be the fine people I have met." During his time here, Dr. White has seen the school grow from nine hundred students in 1973 to an expected 1470 next fall. Besides being the Director of Admissions he has taught the coaching football class for which he has donated most of the equipment.

Many students will miss the advice and guidance that Dr. White has given to students of Cedarville College over the past seven years. His efforts have definitely been one of the major contributing factors to the increased enrollment at Cedarville College. Admission is the first step a student takes at any college. Though we regret the departure of our Admissions Director, we wish him lots of luck and success as he moves back in to his old career.

Rain slows women's tennis season

The inclement weather gave the Women's Tennis Team an unrequested vacation of three cancelled matches - Central State, Ohio Northern and Bluffton. Their record stands at 2-2.

A home contest against Wilmington April 7 resulted in a 9-0 victory for the Cedarville women. Patty Harding, playing in No. 1 position for this match, won 6-1, 6-1. Shawn Taylor, in the No. 2 spot, defeated her opponent 6-0, 6-0; and Colene Fox, No. 3, also won 6-1, 6-1. Cheryl McMillan and Beth Lindley, 4th and 5th respectively, each took their match 6-0, 6-0; and Glenda Maxey gained a 6-4, 6-4 victory.

Doubles competitors Decker/Penquite won 6-1, 6-2; Taylor/Harding, 6-0, 6-0; and Boyd/Oscar were on top 6-0, 6-0.

These scores were indicative of the quick recovery made by the team after a hard-fought loss to Kenyon, 0-9, April 3.

A contest with Wright State April 1 ended in a 3-6 split in Wright State's favor. No. 5 Shawn Taylor won 6-0, 7-5; and Colene Fox in sixth position gained a 6-0, 6-1 victory. Third doubles team Nancy Oscar and Cathy Boyd also defeated their opponents 6-2, 6-3.

With hopes of ore favorable weather conditions, the team is looking forward to a heavy schedule the rest of the season, including the Satellite Tourney scheduled for May 2-3 on the Cedarville Courts.

Golf team upsets Malone

The CC Golf Team shot a five stroke upset over Malone April 11, their second victory of three meets so far this season. Jim Baldwin was first place medalist with a score of 72. The over-all team score was 385, a 77 stroke average; Malone's average was 78 for the top five players.

Coach Al Monroe was admittedly surprised by the upset, but pleased, as he considers Malone to be the strongest competitor in the league. He commented that the composite score of the top four finishers was 301 points, tying the established Cedarville record.

In a previous meet April 7 the team defeated Wilmington 315-354 (four-man total) with Brian Johnson scoring the low of 74. April 1, Mark Womack tied Sinclair's Pat Gunning with a score of 83, but Cedarville lost the meet with a tea score of 443 to Sinclair's 437.

In the Number 1 position for Cedarville, Mark Womack has an individual record of 2-0-1, averaging 80.3 strokes per game. In the No. 2 spot, Brian Johnson has a 3-0-0 meet record, averaging 77.7 strokes per game. Jim Baldwin, No. 3 golfer, is averaging 80.3 strokes per game, compiling a 2-1-0 individual match record.

expects two-year college enrollment to decline "only slightly" over the next eight years precisely because of the community colleges' attraction to part-timers.

If private four-year colleges can't compete effectively with two-year schools for the older, part-time students, NCES warned that "many of them could face closure."

The agency's projections for four-year public colleges and universities were less drastic. It expects total public college enrollment to fall to 8.754 million in 1988 after a 1981 peak of 9.2 million. Public colleges' larger base should allow the bigger schools to survive the coming era of limits.

Most experts expect college enrollments will decline because of the dwindling number of current school-age children. Other studies predict enrollments will start to grow again in the 1990s, when the children of the post-World War II baby boom reach college age.

pool from which it could either expand the size of its forces, or replace casualties in a war lasting several months. however, would require separate congressional approval.

The current legislation would provide funds to implement registration, a power the president already has.

Officials emphasize that registration will not remedy the two major military problems that some critics argue have undermined the nation's combat readiness.

Military experts say too few technically-trained officers and enlisted personnel are staying in the service. As a result, the armed forces currently lack an adequate corps of experienced field leaders.

Secondly, they say the low volunteer rate has sapped the strength of reserve units, on which the Pentagon must rely for immediate reinforcements in wartime.

CC hosts science fair

Cedarville College hosted a high school science fair on Saturday, April 12. The fifth annual fair was sponsored by the Registrar Office and Chi Theta Pi, the organization interested in the health-science professions. Chi Theta Pi Vice President Dave Marsteller functioned as co-ordinator of the event, with other club and faculty members serving as judges.

The Science Fair was held for two purposes: to expose high school students to outside competition in the areas of the Biological and Physical Sciences, and to expose students to the Cedarville College Science Department.

Chi Theta Pi was encouraged by the participation of forty-two students from four Christian schools, an increase of two and one half times over last year's fair.

Two grand prizes of one hundred dollar scholarships to Cedarville College were awarded. Joy Rice of Marantha Christian School, Columbus, Ohio, was a recipient for her exhibit "Dream Recall." John Lund, representing Bethesda Christian School, Brownsburg, Indiana, was awarded for his "Aerodynamics" exhibit.

Choir sounds their brass

RUTH ELLYN KOOL

The Brass Choir Concert on April 11 provided an evening of varied music.

Beginning the concert were two old-time favorites. In "A Mighty Fortress," the first selection, chimes added to the triumphant atmosphere created by the music. The next number, which had a syncopated theme, was "Praise the Lord! Ye Heavens Adore Him." The glockenspiel gave a final touch to the piece. Mr. Pagnard performed trumpet solo in both of these selections.

The third number, "Like a River Glorious," built up to a climax. The climax came, quickly followed by a hushed conclusion of "perfect peace and rest."

Juniors hosts annual J.S.

On May 23, the Junior class will host its annual Junior-Senior banquet in honor of the Graduating class of 1980.

The special guest performer will be the well known singer, Mrs. Ellen Roweton.

Mrs. Roweton has recorded three albums, "In Pleasant Places," "Beautiful Hands" and "Brand New Day," traveling over three-fourths of the states, eleven European countries, Canada and Mexico.

"Ellen Roweton combines musical artistry with emotional sensitivity," comments Don Wyrzten. "When I hear her I have not only a deeply satisfying musical experience, but also a warm, personal, spiritual experience."

"She goes far beyond entertainment. Her heart has been broken; her life has gone through the wringer, but she has come out on top because of the supernatural power of Jesus Christ in her life." Ellen really communicates and radiates.

I highly recommend her ministry."

So this year the Junior class is taking Don Wyrzten's advice and featuring her as the entertainment.

The banquet will be held at the Sheraton Hotel in Columbus. The reception will begin at 6:15 p.m. with dinner following at 7:00 p.m.

Dinner will consist of French Onion Soup - Parmesan and Woldorf Salad for the appetizers. The main dish will be Breast of Chicken Cordon Bleu with Baked Potato, string beans with mushrooms, and the Chef's choice for the vegetables.

Rolls and Butter will accompany the dinner. Finishing off the dinner Chocolate Mousse, Chantilly will be served for dessert. Beverages will consist of coffee or tea.

The colors for this year's banquet are pastels intertwined with fresh, spring daisies, and pom-poms.

The theme will be "Growing In Grace."

Forensics team finishes season

This is the first year that Cedarville has participated in forensic competition since the debate team in 1972.

The members competed against the best college students in the state of Ohio. The Forensic team took part in five competitions and had placings in all the finals except one.

There were fourteen members of the Forensic team this year; the students are listed, starting with the Seniors and the competitions they participated in: Lori LaHaye, poetry, prose and dramatic duo; Dave Sugg, extemporaneous; and Marnie Vail, after dinner prose. Juniors: Mark Anderson, informative, poetry and prose; Becky Jones, poetry; Rick Jones, rhetorical criticism and after dinner speaking; Anne Lawney, dramatic duo; Lisa Ramsey, dramatic duo; Lisa Scaggs, poetry and prose; and Trudy Tangblade, prose and dramatic duo. Freshmen: Kelly Avery, dramatic duo; Deatra Huffman, poetry and dramatic duo; Faith Linn, dramatic duo; and Gary Moore, dramatic duo.

Miss Brohard felt that Lisa Scaggs did an outstanding job. Also two freshmen, Faith Linn and Gary Moore did very well.

The Forensic team had a ministry among the other college students by sharing the Gospel on a one to one basis. Also one forensic coach commended Miss Brohard on the way that the Cedarville team was a good audience. Miss Brohard is looking forward to next year and has tentatively planned a meeting May 15 at 4:00 p.m. in room 22 of GSC. All those who are interested in joining the Forensic team next year are invited to come.

Blood Bank looks for donors at CC

On April 23, the Greene County Community Blood Center is having a Blood Drive. The Drive will be held in Maddox Lounge from 1:00 to 6:45 p.m. Refreshments will be served to the donors.

Blood Mobile Units are held regularly each month somewhere in the Greene County area. The Units are staffed by registered nurses and other trained personnel.

A community effort is needed to maintain an adequate supply of blood needed by Greene County residents. Only through sufficient donations can the Greene County Blood Program continue.

A call can also be made to: Dayton, 461-5267; Springfield, 399-2611; Xenia, 372-0911, for an appointment.

a change of pace came next with "Now Sing We Joyfully Unto God." A men's chorus, made up of the male brass choir members and their bus driver on tour, raised their voices together in praise to God.

The Brass Choir divided into three parts for the end of the first half of their concert. They played "Canzon a 12" from three different areas of the chapel. One group played from the left and one from the right while one group remained on the platform. Directing from "center stage," Mr. DiCuirci kept the three groups in time.

After a brief intermission, the concert continued with a salvation cantata called The Cross, The Grave, The Triumph. This cantata is a collection of hymns arranged for brass choir. Members of the choir gave dramatic readings to tell verbally the story described by the musical selections. The choir played five hymns from the cantata, including "In the Cross of Christ," "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today." The final number "Crown Him With Many Crowns" concluded the program.

As applause continued, Mr. Pagnard saw that an encore was in order. He suggested a song to the choir, whereupon the first chair trumpeter literally leaped from his chair and raced along behind the choir to retrieve some music from "offstage." The concert closed with "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name."
