This bibliography has been complied through the efforts of several Cedarville University professors since about 1975. The general resources are works that address the larger concerns of the integration of the Christian faith, the world of learning, and the various dimensions of life. The disciplinary resources are organized according to the academic departments at Cedarville around 2009. The enclosed titles do not necessarily imply endorsement of all of their content either by Dr. Estes or by Cedarville University.
