21 June- He said my four years in _____ will do me good. I always have felt if Paul had been there my happiness would have been complete."

(Editor's Note: This was an odd day, because Martha mentioned getting a watch for a graduating present, and also mentioned her mother. I believe she is reminiscing back to when she graduated from the school in Xenia, but she never mentioned a shift from talking in present terms to past. I believe that at this point her thinking is becoming less streamlined and focused, and instead she just writes about whatever pops into her head.)

22 June- (Editor's Note: She forgot to say who preached this day, so she put it vertically near the spine. She also talks about Mother again (I assume it is her mother).

"I have been on the sick list all day with a bilious attack."

"The southern Methodist paper gave and _____ of Jennie MacMillan's beautiful life and death- At her death and all through her life she contributed to the Lord's work- but at the last laid down her all at his feet to help the M.C. Church in its different mission. Her all was over ten thousand dollars- Aunt Jennie will never die for while she is sleeping the money is going on to bless the church and the world."

23 June- "This morning all the children went with Edith and Mable to town for a girl- but failed- when they came back Mable and Rankin and her little girls went with Edith back to Selma. They came back with _____ year old."

(Editor's Note: The empty space is written as a long underlined space as if she meant to go back in and fill in the information, but never did.)

25 June- "It has been a long time since I saw Leena- Time brings the changes."

27 June- ""This evening Mr. and Mrs. Rankin and Rachel went with Clayton to the gas line to see Albert."

31" July Thursday.

Dr La[illegible] here and gave me my 18" treatment. Miss Benline not well these days. The Dr has ordered a big chair for me.

The girls invited to a supper this evening. Miss Benline up town I finished Evangeline this evening I had a walk with Miss Benline this evening.

August

1" Aug. Friday. The Dr here and gave me my 19" treatment_ A letter from Jason he has been at Abingdon for a few days_ He met father and Mother Rankin there. He was back at [illegible] when he wrote - I feel sorry for him_ he is very undecided. He will have to look to the rock that higher than him. Miss Benline in bed part of the day.

2" Aug. Saturday.

Not so warm.

The Chant[?] performers here practicing for the meeting out [illegible] anyone this evening.

Miss [Mozelle?] and Miss [Madie?] belong to the performers.

Late this P.M. Miss M[?]

Became very sick - finally called the Dr but at the last had to keep her bed - they got a substitute _ and Miss [Mozelle] had to go alone = Mrs Dal-mare (dash linking word between two lines) Strong here and stared with Madie. I have not been well yesterday and to day and have not been down stairs. Dr [illegible] here and gave me the 20" treatment.

3rd Aug. Sabbath. A beautiful day. Miss Benline in bed most of the time and gave up going to church. Miss Madie much better but still in bed. Miss [Mozelle] at home looking after her patient

I wonder where Clara is

To day. We expected here here ("here" repeated twice; she most likely meant "her" first) yesterday evening - but Fred wanted her to go to Xenia to look after [?]eo [illegible] for Claytons.

This was Rev Taylors last day at our church His farewell sermon. I would have loved to have been there.

4" Aug. Monday Much cooler to day. Miss Benline [working?] on hair = the Dr here and gave me my 21st treatment

This afternoon Several callers

What do you think when the cab drove up this evening Mary and Hugh and Jane were dropped out. How surprised we were = They were with us for supper. We had a nice time this evening = it was lovely in Mary to come to see me.

5 August- "This has been an ideal day. The Dr. Lathina here and gave me my 22nd treatment. Mary and the children making the most of the day with us. At 4 o'clock she left for Columbus- they will get to sister Hunt's about 7 o'clock. Miss Madrie still in bed."

(Editor's Note: After this she was too unwell to write, and passed away on August 12. Someone, I would assume a daughter, continues writing the journal. These are excerpts from that. At the funeral.)

"The face had a youthful appearance with no indication of the cares and sufferings of past years."

"Prof McChesney's services were appropriate, beautiful, and comforting. She was tenderly laid away in the cemetery to await the day when the trumpet shall sound and the dead shall rise. The home-coming at this season of the year was an event to which she always looked forward with much pleasure."

"May we not indulge in the hope that she is still looking forward to another and more blessed homecoming when all including those already there will constitute an unbroken circle with no more separation?"

"The precious letters of condolence which have come in from so many quarters go to show that she was not only loved and appreciated by her own family but by many others who had the privilege of knowing her."

5" Aug. Tuesday,

This has been an ideal day. Mrs Dr La[?] here and gave me my 22 treatment.

Mary and the children making the most of the day with us. At four O'clock she left for Columbus_ they will get to Sister [illegible] about Seven O'clock. Miss Madie still in bed.

(handwriting changes)

The above is the last entry made by the hand of her who for the last 46 years has wielded the pen in chronicling day by day the leading events in the home as well as the important happenings in the community.

But as it required another to compile the story of Moses in the Pentateuch so a different pen must finish the record of that with life which so quietly stepped thru the vail (spelled "vail" meaning "veil") in to the Father's mansion Tuesday morning Aug 12 1913.

Tuesday evening after Mary and the children left [Mother?] began to complain of a severe pain in her side. The doctor was called and gave her some relief from the pain, but she began to vomit.

Wed. She [illegible] [75?] improvement; Vomiting still continued but without any strain.

Thursday [illegible] was but a repetition of Wednesdays experience.

[Miss Tyson?] wrote to Clara informing her of her mothers conditions for some reason she did not get the letter till Saturday morning.

Friday Aug 8" While no vomiting continued mother was still cheerful and hopeful. She took light nourishment every day. Sat 9" The day passed much the same as the previous ones. In the evening Clara came. We first proposed was to have another physician, but Mother objected on the ground she had made so much improvement already She felt it was best to continue on as she was doing

Sat 10 the vomiting ceased and all were encouraged The [illegible] was that vomiting had relieved the system of so much poison her recovery would be hastened. Clara felt obliged to return to Columbus that evening.

Mon. the 11th She continued to take her nourishment regularly, and everything seemed hopeful. However in the evening she became restless which continued till about 10 oclock. From that hour till 4 she slept, apparently comfortably. When she awoke she took her nourishment and expressed herself as enjoy it. But not long after Miss Benline observed a change in her countenance and called Miss Tyson. The doctor was called immediately and a message sent to Clara. Other Physicians were summoned, but all were too late. About 8 oclock and before Clara arrived according to His promises the Savior came and received her to Himself. Neighbors and friends were thoughtful and kind. The doctor was unabated in her attentions, but her hour had come and no human power could retain her.

Preparations were began at [illegible] for the removal of the body to Cedarville.

A message was sent to Fred and thru him to the other members of the family.

The anxious and sorrowing group awaiting its arrival at the old homestead were Clayton, Edith, Homer's Mary and children and Aunt-Mary. The train was expected at 10.45. When it failed to appear at what hour every other [illegible insertion from above

- possibly "passing"] one was carefully inspected until the one in which all our interests for [illegible] were centered came in sight. The moments passed slowly until 12.30 when the precious body was once more brought into the home for a short stay. James [Little?] [Walter?] and Ralph Murdock assisted J.N. McMillan the undertaker. Clara Miss Tyson and Miss Benline came from Kenton. Fred arrived Wednesday 'evening.' Thursday morning Harlan Isabel Donald[illegible] came. IN the evening Charlie Baskin came from S.L. The first message having failed to reach Jason (area marked out) did not arrive till Friday morning.

Wednesday and Thursday and Friday a number of relatives and friends called.

Rev. Taylor having gone to his new charge at Monmouth we were without a pastor. A telegram was sent to Prof. McChesney who was completing his summer's work at [Wooster]. He replied in the affirmative.

The funeral services were held at ten oclock Saturday. Many beautiful floral designs came from a large number of sympathizing and appreciative friends The face had a youthful appearance with no indication of the cares and sufferings of past years

Prof. McChesney services were appropriate, beautiful and comforting. She was tenderly laid away in the cemetery (spelled "cemetery" in the journal) I await the day when the trumpet shall sound and the dead shall rise

The home coming at this season of the year was an event to which she always looked forward with much pleasure. On this occasion all children and grandchildren with the exception of Nellie and her children were present.

May we not indulge in the hope that she is still looking forward to another and more blessed homecoming when all including those already there will constitute an unbroken circle and with no more separations?

These precious letters of condolence which have come in from so many quarters go to show that she was not only loved and appreciated by her hour family but by many others who had the privilege of knowing her.
