

1996

Cigarette Shadowbox

Gareth Phillips
Cedarville University

DigitalCommons@Cedarville provides a publication platform for fully open access journals, which means that all articles are available on the Internet to all users immediately upon publication. However, the opinions and sentiments expressed by the authors of articles published in our journals do not necessarily indicate the endorsement or reflect the views of DigitalCommons@Cedarville, the Centennial Library, or Cedarville University and its employees. The authors are solely responsible for the content of their work. Please address questions to dc@cedarville.edu.

Recommended Citation

Phillips, Gareth (1996) "Cigarette Shadowbox," Cedarville Review: Vol. 1 , Article 6.
Available at: <https://digitalcommons.cedarville.edu/cedarvillereview/vol1/iss1/6>

Cigarette Shadowbox

Browse the contents of this issue of Cedarville Review.

Keywords

Poetry

Creative Commons License

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Noncommercial-No Derivative Works 4.0 License.

About the Contributor (Optional)

Gareth Phillips is a junior, studying philosophy and English. He hopes to pursue graduate studies in literature and creative writing.

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.cedarville.edu/cedarvillereview>

Part of the Poetry Commons

You understand, you are the confidante, in this,
The time I have to think the thoughts I wish.
We shared a birthday once,
And not a moment since.
Somehow I went to meet the future as it came;
But you remained, untarnished black and white
Within the wooden picture frame.

-- Gareth Phillips

Cigarette Shadowbox

Familiar faces disappear in smoke,
Removed from questions uttered in a glance.
The orange-embered fireflies evoke
Some semblance of a rhythm. We entrance
Ourselves in softer silence — we are wise
To sleep so still, immersed in bluish moods
And songs autistic angels improvise.
The candles dancing crop eludes
The hunger of the haze, and thoughts adrift
Can fix a course from down beneath the waves
Of undulating sound and bitter mist,
By reckoning the tallow tower's flame.
But we will reckon silence to the storm
In this grey extended moment we perform.

-- Gareth Phillips