“Little Women” on stage at Cedarville University

CEDARVILLE, OHIO – Cedarville University’s theatre department will present “Little Women,” directed by Rebecca Baker, associate professor of theatre, October 2-4 and 9-12 in the Stevens Student Center Devries Theatre. Show times vary based on date.

Inspired by Louisa May Alcott’s classic novel, this award-winning adaptation allows the audience to experience one year in the life of the March family. It follows family and their struggle to follow their hopes and dreams during the trials of the Civil War.

“I don’t want this production to seem like a sepia-toned old-fashioned movie,” said Baker. “I want it to feel completely ‘now.’ The cast might be wearing period dresses instead of jeans, but my goal is to communicate an old favorite in a lively and contemporary fashion.”

The production will begin with an event in the lobby of the Stevens Student Center. It will include food and live music from the Civil War era.

Cedarville University’s theatre department will continue to entertain this season with “Fiddler on the Roof” from Jan. 29 through Feb. 8, and “Doubt: A Parable” from Mar. 19-29. Tickets for all performances cost $15 for adults and $12 for students. To purchase tickets, visit cedarville.edu/ticketinfo or call 937-766-7787.
