Cedarville University

Cedarville University is a Baptist institution of arts and sciences of 3,000 students. The school is located on a 400-acre campus at the north edge of the village of Cedarville, Ohio, a quiet town with a population of approximately 3,000. The village and its surrounding area have long maintained a reputation for providing a wholesome environment for learning.

Though located in a rural community, Cedarville is conveniently situated in the center of a triangle formed by Columbus, Dayton, and Cincinnati, which allows easy access to three of the fastest-growing metropolitan areas in the nation.

Founded in 1887 by the Reformed Presbyterian Church, Cedarville College was established by individuals who had a vital interest in the spiritual welfare of young people. In 1953, the operation of the College was transferred to the trustees of Baptist Bible Institute of Cleveland with the goal of enlarging the Institute's ministry. The name Cedarville College was retained, and the school continues to perpetuate the original purpose of its founders. The school credo, "...for the Word of God and testimony of Jesus Christ," reflects this commitment. The institution became known as Cedarville University in 2000.

Since its founding, Cedarville has coupled a balanced liberal arts program with a conservative theological position in regard to doctrine and patterns of conduct. All classes are taught by dedicated Christian professors who integrate the knowledge of their respective fields with biblical perspectives.

In keeping with the liberal arts concept, the curriculum centers on a basic program of general studies, including biblical education, communications, humanities, physical education, science and mathematics, and social science. Students choose a major field of concentrated study related to their abilities, interests, and career goals. The University offers more than 100 undergraduate and graduate programs of study.

The University recognizes that students must live and work in a society where computers and computer networks are an essential part of everyday life. To equip students to function effectively in this environment, Cedarville launched CedarNet, the award-winning campus-wide computer information network. CedarNet, which allows access to the Internet, the world-wide web, and OhioLINK, links computers in every dorm room and office on campus. The University is the current recipient of the CAUSE Award in the category of campuses with operating budgets of under $100 million. This award recognizes the nation's most outstanding use of campus technology. Also, Cedarville has been identified as one of the nation's "100 Most-Wired Campuses" by Yahoo! Internet Life magazine.

Cedarville views individual ministry involvement to be a vital and necessary part of each student's education and personal growth. The Christian Ministries Division provides training and assistance to the hundreds of students who volunteer for any of the more than 150 different ministries each semester.

Cedarville attracts students from 47 states and nearly 65 percent of the student body comes from out of state, including more than 30 international students.

Residence hall living is considered an integral part of the educational process with approximately 75 percent of the student body residing on campus in University housing.

Dr. Paul Dixon, President

Dr. Paul Dixon is in his 25th and final year as president of Cedarville University. He has accepted a request from the University's Board of Trustees to serve as the school's chancellor effective June 1, 2003.

Dr. Dixon is a graduate of Tennessee Temple University and Temple Baptist Theological Seminary. In 1986 he received his doctorate in higher education from the University of Cincinnati. He is the recipient of two honorary degrees: the Doctor of Divinity from his alma mater and Doctor of Laws from Liberty University.

After 14 years in an evangelistic ministry, Dr. Dixon became the president of Cedarville University in 1978. Under his administration, the University's enrollment has grown over 90 percent, with 3,000 students in fall 2002.

Dr. Dixon has extensive experience in professional sports chapel programs. For more than 25 years he was a popular speaker for such teams as the Cincinnati Reds and Bengals and for many other National League baseball and NFL teams.

Mrs. Dixon, the former Pat Landers of Chattanooga, Tennessee, serves as the assistant to the president for institutional enhancement. She is professor emerita in the Department of Language and Literature where she taught for 25 years before retiring in 1996.

The Dixons have one son, Scott, who is an assistant professor of Bible at the University. He and his wife, Sara, have five children and reside in Springfield.

Psalms 37:23 has been a challenge for Dr. and Mrs. Dixon since their marriage in 1960: "The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord, and he delighteth in his way."

Dr. Don Callan, Dean School of Health and Human Performance

Dr. Don Callan is in his 43rd year at Cedarville University and his fifth as the Dean of the School of Health and Human Performance. As one of four Academic Deans on campus, he oversees the Department of Exercise and Sport Science, athletic training, and the Yellow Jacket athletic program. On Feb. 1, 2003, Cedarville University officially recognized the renaming of the Athletic Center to the Callan Athletic Center.

At one time, Callan jointly held the positions of athletic director, head men's basketball coach, and department chair. He was the school's athletic director from 1961 through 1997 in which Cedarville went from offering just a couple sports to 14 varsity programs.

Callan served as head men's basketball coach from 1960 through 1995. Upon completing his legendary career, he was the NAIA's third winningest active coach and ranked 19th all-time with 579 victories.

Callan is a member of the Halls of Fame at the NAIA, NCCAA, Cedarville University, and Taylor University, his alma mater. He received the prestigious Lifetime Achievement Award presented by the Agonis Club of Dayton, Ohio in 1996 for his longtime commitment and contribution to athletics in the state of Ohio.

Callan is founder of the Missions Involvement Service at Cedarville University. He has been especially committed to worldwide sports evangelism for four decades.

Dr. Callan is a 1955 graduate of Taylor University. He received his master's degree from Ball State University in 1960, and his Ph.D. in physical education from The Ohio State University in 1968.

Dr. Callan and his wife, Nedra, reside in Cedarville and have two married children. A daughter, Jan Leach, and her husband, Mark, reside in Fairfield, Ohio with their two children. The Callans also have a son, Jon David, who lives in Wilmington, Ohio with his wife, Karen, and their two children.

Pete Reese, Athletic Director

Pete Reese is in his 15th year at Cedarville University overall and begins his fifth year as athletic director where he oversees 14 varsity Yellow Jacket sports. He possesses over 30 years of athletic administration experience.

Reese previously held the positions of assistant men's basketball coach and Director of Athletic Facilities at Cedarville. Among his many responsibilities, he guided the construction of new complexes for baseball, softball, soccer, and track & field. The University's Alumni Association recognized Reese for his outstanding contribution as their 2002 recipient of the Distinguished Service Award.

Reese was Cedarville's head baseball coach from 1989 to 1991. He was named the 1990 NAIA District 22 and Mid-Ohio Conference Coach of the Year after leading the Yellow Jackets to their first MOC title in 20 years and the top seed in the district tournament.

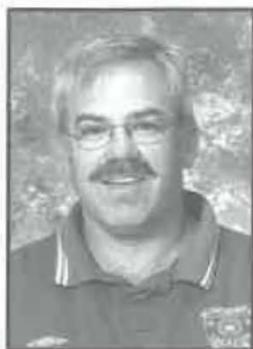

From 1965 to 1988, Reese was associated with The Master's College in California, formerly known as Los Angeles Baptist College. At one time or another he held positions as athletic director, chairman of the physical education department, professor, and coach.

Reese is a 1960 graduate of Cedarville College and has a master's degree in education from Eastern Michigan University. He established himself as one of the most dominant basketball players to ever play for the Yellow Jackets and he was inducted as a charter member of the Cedarville University Athletic Hall of Fame in 1984.

Pete and his wife, Joyce, live in Xenia and have two married children. A daughter, Kim Ray, and her husband, Ken, reside in San Jose, California. Their son Chris, a 1989 Cedarville graduate, is athletic director and head basketball coach at Multnomah Bible College in Portland, Oregon. He and his wife, Cheryl, have two children.

Athletic Training

Cedarville University athletes receive the highest quality of health care by a team of certified athletic trainers (ATCs), physicians, nurses and other allied health professionals. An ATC is assigned to each varsity team to assist with conditioning, evaluation and rehabilitation of injuries and prompt referral to specialists if indicated.

In addition to the five full-time ATCs, approximately 30 athletic training majors are involved with all aspects of delivering athletic training services including traveling with the teams to away contests. These athletic training majors represent the next generation of certified athletic trainers seeking to obtain their education from a nationally recognized program within the context of a Christian world view.

Dr. Evan Hellwig

Director of Athletic Training Education Program

Dr. Evan Hellwig is in his 14th year at Cedarville University and serves as the Sports Medicine Coordinator. His duties include being the curriculum director for the Athletic Training major, plus he is the liaison between the athletic department and all allied health professions that the University works with.

Dr. Hellwig is an Associate Professor in the Department of Exercise and Sport Science. He is a certified athletic trainer through the National Athletic Trainers Association and is a licensed physical therapist. Hellwig is a 1984 graduate of Mankato State University, achieved his Physical Therapy Certificate from the University of Iowa School of Medicine in 1986, and earned his Ph.D. from the University of Virginia in 1992.

Greg Hughes enters his fourth season as the head baseball coach at Cedarville University. He took over a program that had won just two games in the previous season and has guided the Jackets to 41 victories in his three years at the helm.

Hughes came to the Yellow Jackets following a three-year stay at Wilmington College as head coach. He started a rebuilding process for the Quakers from a 3-31 record to 12 wins in each of his last two seasons.

"I'm really excited to be at Cedarville," says Hughes. "I've always wanted to be at a Christian institution. Our baseball facility is just one example of a new commitment to the program and I feel that I'm here at a good time."

Prior to coaching at Wilmington, Hughes earned his master's degree at Eastern Kentucky University where he was a graduate assistant from 1994 through 1996 under highly-respected head coach Jim Ward. In his two seasons with the Colonels, he saw four ECU players drafted and signed by Major League organizations. Other highlights included Ward's 800th career victory and a 1996 upset of Alabama, who finished the year ranked No. 1 in the country.

Hughes is a 1992 graduate of Indiana Tech in Fort Wayne where he played three years for the Warriors including the school's first team in 1990. He twice won the Warrior Award for mental attitude. Following graduation, he served for two years as an assistant coach at his alma mater under head coach Lance Hershberger.

In the fall of 2000, Indiana Tech recognized Hughes with the school's highest athletic honor when he was inducted into the Warriors' Hall of Fame.

Hughes is a native of Dillsboro, Indiana and he graduated from South Dearborn High School in 1988. He started his coaching career by helping out the local American Legion team during his playing days at Indiana Tech.

Greg and his wife, Shannon, reside in Xenia. They were married on Nov. 17, 2001 and have a son, Tanner Wayne, born on February 18, 2003.

Ben Galbreath, Assistant Coach

Ben Galbreath begins his first season on the Yellow Jacket coaching staff after graduating last year from Kent State University. Galbreath helped the Flashes win three Mid-America Conference championships as the work-horse out of the bullpen. He broke the Kent State career appearance record during his junior season and went on to finish third all-time in career appearances in the MAC. Galbreath's main responsibility will be as pitching coach. He is single and resides in Springfield, Ohio.

Ted Galbreath, Assistant Coach

Ted Galbreath begins his first year with the Cedarville University baseball program. Galbreath played first base for the Yellow Jackets in the mid-1970's. He has previously coached at various amateur levels and was the head coach of the Northridge Babe Ruth 15-year old state championship squad in 1994. Galbreath's main responsibilities will be working with hitters, firstbasemen and outfielders. Ted and his wife, Amy, have three children and reside in Springfield, Ohio.

John Meyer, Assistant Coach

John Meyer begins his first year on the Yellow Jacket coaching staff. He was an outstanding catcher at the University of Cincinnati and was drafted in the second round by the Cleveland Indians. After a brief pro career, Meyer began working in college administration and coached in many levels of amateur baseball. His coaching responsibilities will focus on catchers and hitters. John and his wife, Marilyn, who is an administrative assistant to the Cedarville University athletic director, have two grown children and reside in Xenia, Ohio.

Yellow Jacket Field

The Yellow Jackets opened their new home baseball complex for the 2000 season and it's located at the north end of the campus just west of Route 72. The baseball venue includes a natural turf field with a Diamond Pro surface on the infield and on the 15-foot warning track that leads up to an eight-foot high wooden fence. The outfield dimensions are 330 feet down each line, 383 in the power alleys, and 402 to center-field. The site includes 50-foot long dugouts, a press box, electronic scoreboard, and seating for 500 people. The entire field includes drainage and an automatic irrigation system.

The baseball field is part of an athletic complex that includes new fields for softball and soccer as well as an eight-lane track. The project, which features a picnic pavilion and concession stand, was completed under the design and leadership of athletic director Pete Reese.

2003 Season Outlook

Head Coach Greg Hughes begins his fourth season at the helm of the Yellow Jacket baseball program with his most talented roster yet. After winning 15 games last spring, Hughes is confident that this year's squad has the necessary skills to be competitive and add a few more games into the victory column. "I like this team," noted Hughes. "This is a group of hard-working individuals with great work ethic. The chemistry amongst the team is excellent.

"We have set our goals for the upcoming season," added Hughes, "and they include reducing the team earned run average, closing the walk-to-strikeout ratio, plus winning the 'freebie war', which means looking for more base on balls, stolen bases, hit by pitches, and taking advantage of opponent errors."

The nucleus of the squad will be a junior class of nine players who have been together for the past two seasons. Josh Smith, a junior lefthander and Jon Oren, a junior infielder, will be captains of the 2003 squad and seek to provide quality leadership. Smith made 11 appearances last spring while recording 50 innings of work. Oren appeared in 43 games with 40 starts and a .216 batting average.

The strength of the 2003 Yellow Jackets will be the pitching staff. T.J. Couch, a junior righthander, will be looked to for quality innings not only as a starter but coming out of the bullpen as the closer. Couch made a team-leading 20 appearances last spring with 31 innings pitched. He led the staff with 7 saves and 38 strikeouts and is arguably the best closer in the AMC. Other returnees that Hughes will send to the mound include sophomore Daniel Giddings, junior Jacob Richardson and senior John Myers, as well as Josh Smith. Also adding depth to the pitching staff will be freshmen lefthanders Matt Bonin, Andrew Noble and Brian Diercks.

Jameson Adams returns for his third and final season with the Yellow Jackets. The 6-4 senior first baseman led the team with a .338 batting average last season. He added 2 doubles, a home run and 13 RBIs to the offensive attack.

Junior outfielder Barry Chamberlin will add depth when he hits the diamond after another season of action on the basketball court. Another junior, Forest Greetham, led the Yellow Jackets in stolen bases while hitting .314 and will anchor the defense from his centerfield position.

Jeff Lowe, a sophomore catcher/DH, returns after posting some impressive numbers in his rookie season. Lowe batted .310 last spring and led the team with 36 hits and 13 doubles.

Forest Greetham

The 2003 schedule features fifteen home dates in addition to hosting the NCCAA Midwest Regional in May. The American Midwest Conference South Division schedule will slate home and away doubleheaders with Ohio Dominican, Shawnee State, Rio Grande, Tiffin and Urbana. The Jackets will also face NCAA Division I Morehead State as well as other non-conference games with Bluffton, Earlham, Georgetown, Mt. Vernon Nazarene, Taylor and Wittenberg.

Bruce McDonald is the only Yellow Jacket baseball player to ever have his jersey number retired (#2).

Throughout its history, the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) has provided strong leadership for all aspects of intercollegiate sports. Since its introduction of intercollegiate championship basketball in 1937, the NAIA has maintained the highest standards while administering first-rate athletics programs.

Time and time again, the NAIA has stepped forward to address the important issues of the day -- be it racial integration in the '40s and '50s or establishing the first women's championship program in 1980. The NAIA has not been afraid to enact changes while others have watched and waited.

In the past decade, presidents of the NAIA colleges and universities have assumed a position of responsible leadership. The NAIA's Council of Presidents, the organization's primary governing body, is comprised of 32 college and university presidents from all regions of the United States.

With its major emphasis on educational development, it was natural for the NAIA to further strengthen academic eligibility requirements in the mid-'80s. All NAIA participating student-athletes must maintain a certain grade point average (GPA) while accumulating credit hours for a declared academic degree. Unlike other associations, NAIA student-athlete academic eligibility is monitored on a semester-by-semester basis. The All-America Scholar-Athlete program, a long-standing NAIA tradition, recognizes junior and senior student-athletes with a minimum cumulative 3.5 GPA on a 4.0 scale.

Since 1937, the NAIA has administered athletics programs and championships in proper balance with the overall collegiate educational experience. Serving higher education in this manner is a responsibility the NAIA does not take lightly. It is a relationship built on confidence and trust -- a relationship strengthened year after year.

National Christian College Athletic Association

The NCCAA, with national headquarters in Greenville, South Carolina, is a miracle organization. In just a few years an idea has become a reality providing Christian student-athletes in Christian colleges both an opportunity for fellowship and competition on the national level.

The NCCAA game plan is to produce true winners; a game plan that will carry an individual through his or her entire life. The game plan is devised to draw out the student-athlete's greatest potential -- body, mind, and spirit.

This game plan is catching on virtually all over the United States. Since its first tournament in 1968, the NCCAA has grown to encompass more than 100 Christian colleges nationwide, both liberal arts and Bible colleges in nature. The participating schools are dedicated not only to the best athletic competition possible, but also to exemplify Jesus Christ in everything.

The NCCAA believes:

That athletics are a means to an end, not an end in themselves.

That the process is as important as the performance.

That the person (student-athlete) is more important than the program.

NCCAA. It is an organization bringing Christian colleges together not just for athletic competition. More importantly, it is an organization bringing colleges together who have common goals and perspectives in Christian higher education.

He will continue as a member of the volleyball coaching staff assisting his wife, Teresa, who is the head coach.

Clark, who has worked in the sports information office on a part-time basis over the past five years, will have many duties, but primarily will be in charge of the design and layout of CU's media guides, game programs, and the STING, the school's sports information quarterly. He also plans to continue as the women's basketball public address announcer.

Upon graduating from Cedarville College in 1975, Clark lived in Fort Wayne, IN where he accumulated 21 years of business experience in the areas of newspaper publishing, advertising sales, marketing, computer graphics and design, desktop publishing, and journalism.

Jim and his wife, Teresa, reside in Cedarville. The Clarks have two children: a daughter, Mrs. Carla Pittman, is a 2000 graduate of Cedarville College who resides in San Diego, CA with her husband, Scott; and a son, Jonathan, who is a senior at the University.
