Dear All-America Performer,

Congratulations on being selected as a recipient of the National Soccer Coaches Association of America/New Balance All-America Award for 1985.

Your selection as one of the top performers in the United States is a tribute to your hard work, sportsmanship and dedication to the sport of soccer. All of us at New Balance are proud to be associated with the All-America Awards and look forward to presenting each of you with a separate award for your accomplishment.

Good luck in your future endeavors and enjoy your stay in St. Louis.

Sincerely,

James S. Davis
President

All-America Teams

With the National Soccer Coaches Association entering into a new sponsorship agreement with the New Balance Shoe Company in 1985, the annual announcement of the 340-member All-America team takes on a new look.

Each of the releases for the teams involved in the All-America process featured highlights for that particular team.

For example the Senior College All-America teams had several players honored for their play. Tom Kain of Duke University became a four-time All-America performer with his selection to the NCAA Division I team. The trio of John Stollmeyer (Indiana), Michael Brady (American) and Michael King (FDU-Teaneck) are now three-time All-Americans.

Hylton Dayes (Wright State) joins Kain as a four-time NSCAA/New Balance All-America while Bridgeport's Mark Vanston was selected for the third time to spotlight the Division II squad choices for 1985.

Jeffrey McEvoy (Williams) and Mark Burke (Colby) are not only from New England but both became three-time Division III All-Americans with their placement on the NCAA Division III team this year.

Headlining the NAIA All-America choices for 1985 was Vernon Skinner of Erskine College. He joined Kain and Dayes as four-time members of the NSCAA/New Balance All-America team. Timothy Lee (Geneva) and Louie Cuevas (Westmont) became three-time All-America performers in 1985.

Three athletes, including two from NCAA champion George Mason University, were named as three-time All-America soccer players when the 1985 Women's Intercollegiate All-America Soccer Team was announced.

With their selection, Pam Baughman and Lisa Gmitter of George Mason and April Heinrichs of North Carolina-Chapel Hill achieved status as NSCAA/New Balance All-Americans for the third straight season.

Mike Goforth of National Junior College Athletic Association champion Florissant Valley Community College (St. Louis, Missouri) was among the first team choices to the 1985 Junior College All-America Soccer Teams.

Repeat selections to the 1985 team included forwards Femi Olukanni of Foothill Junior College (CA) and Alfredo Moya of Brevard College (NC).

Rina Geil of Monroe Community College (NY) is one of two players returning to the NSCAA/New Balance Junior College Girl's All-America team for 1985. Geil, a defender, was joined on the 11-member team by 1984 choice Diane Kelly of Mercer Community College, a striker.

Six players were repeat choices on the 1985 Boy's Secondary Schools All-America Soccer Team.

Forward Scott Douglas of Barrington High School (RI) and midfielder Michael Tunson of Granby Memorial High School (CT) were named to the first honors eleven after making third and second honors respectively on the 1984 team. Keeper Bryan Martin of Westminster Prep (CT) and midfielder Kevin Nute of Sunset High School (OR) were selections to the third honors eleven after both were selected for fourth honors in '84. Forward Tom Tanner, Henninger High School (NY), was the fifth senior repeating his All-America selection in 1985. Junior Phil Sheridan of Bridgewater-Raynborn High School (MA) rounds out the sextet returning to the secondary schools All-America team.

Laura Anton of Ursuline Academy in Dallas, Texas became the first three-time All-America Girl's Secondary School selection when the 55-member team was released. Anton, a forward, was a member of the NSCAA All-America team in both 1983 and 1984, including first team selections in all three years.

Four Missouri State Youth Soccer Association players were named to the 1985 United States Youth Soccer Association Boy's All-America team.

Named to the boy's team were Missourians Kevin Grimes, Jeff Horton, Steve Kickham and Mark Santel. Also on the 16-member boy's team were 1985 Secondary Schools All-America performers Mike Piro (Ohio) and Tom Tanner (New York). Beth Morgan (Ohio) was also a double-dipper in that she was named to the NSCAA/New Balance Girls Secondary Schools team for 1985.

NSCAA President Tom Fleck and the entire NSCAA membership thank all the committeepersons who make the NSCAA/New Balance All-America process run so smoothly each year.

Further, the NSCAA congratulates all of those 340 All-Americans who are able to be in attendance today. We are proud to have you as members of the nation's oldest, ongoing All-America soccer team.

Finally, a big thank you to the New Balance Shoe Company for its support of the NSCAA All-America team in 1985.

THE NSCAA/New Balance All-America Program

One of the benefits of membership in the National Soccer Coaches Association of America is the sponsorship by the group of the All-America teams. The All-America teams are sponsored this year by the New Balance Shoe Company, Inc.

Second Vice-President Bill Holleman heads the Awards Program for the NSCAA.

The NSCAA is indebted to our 38 committee members for their work in the selection process for our All-America program. We thank all for their work in bringing the NSCAA/New Balance All-America teams to you today!

Play soccer with a bunch of stiff's, and you can wear any old shoe.

On the other hand, when the competition is intense, you'll be glad you're wearing New Balance soccer shoes. Because they're made with the kinds of technical advances that can help you play your best.

Bryan Robson, captain of England's 1986 World Cup team, wears our shoes. In fact, it was with his help that we developed a complete line of shoes for every type of weather condition and playing surface.

New Balance shoes—from kids' to indoor—have features that can help you improve your game. Features like our Flexextended™ Saddle, for sure footing on those sudden stops and twists. Cushioned inserts with highly protective cleat guards. And width
