Cedarville College 1984

Foreword

“There’s A World Out There”

The words of a song in the Wilson/Herman musical remind us that “there’s a world out there...full of shine and full of sparkle.”

There is without doubt a world beyond this town and college. The opportunities that lie before graduating seniors and, for that matter, all of us, are boundless. We live in a country that prides itself in being “the land of opportunity.” Throughout history, pilgrims, immigrants – in short, people – have come to our shores seeking greater opportunities. As Americans, we still reap the benefits of being a part of a society of boundless opportunity, “full of shine and full of sparkle.” Yet, the realm of our opportunities goes beyond Cedarville, our home town, state, or even America. The entire world is out there laden with opportunities for all of us.

Hand in hand with these opportunities come responsibilities. For the world that’s out there has been created by a God of mercy, justice, and righteousness. The people we’ll meet, the elements which surround our daily lives – in fact, every breath we take – are all opportunities that God has entrusted to us. We each must first of all fear this majestic and powerful Creator, and then seek to serve Him who has created us and the world. May we not be so caught up with the shine and the sparkle of the opportunities that we forget to fear and serve the One who gave them their luster. As we honor the seniors tonight and graduate them tomorrow, as we celebrate and say our goodbyes, let us return to the world that’s out there ready to serve the world and our God.

“Only fear the Lord, and serve Him in truth with all your heart, for consider how great things he hath done for you.”

I Samuel 12:24
