FACULTY MEMBER TO LEAVE

When school opens in the fall of 1957, a very familiar face at Cedarville will not be seen.

Mr. Stoll is leaving Cedarville College at the end of this school year to complete work on an advanced degree.

As he leaves Cedarville he will be going to Grace Theological Seminary at Winona Lake, Indiana, where he will finish his Th. D. within the next two years. He plans to work for the Winona Lake Christian Assembly while there, and to do preaching at various churches. In his "spare" time, Mr. Stoll will also be refereeing basketball games.

Mr. Stoll was with Baptist Bible Institute of Cleveland for 2 years and has been at Cedarville all four years of its existence as a Baptist college. Previous to this he had taught for two years at Wheaton Academy.

During his time here he

CEDAR DAY

Tuesday, May 7, has been officially designated as "Cedar Day." On this day, our campus will be open to the citizens of the village to visit and inspect our classes and facilities.

Since the time our school has been here at this place, the townspeople have been very kind to us. According to a letter issued by President Jeremiah, this occasion is to be a tangible "Thank You" to these people.

At 7:30 Tuesday evening there will be a musical program presented in Milner Chapel. Rev. Hall Dautel, of Portsmouth, will present an organ recital and several of our own students will present some musical selections.

During this evening program the accomplishments and blessings of the past 4 years will be reviewed, and our expectations for the future will be pre-

"Grains of sand are very small but enough of them can sink a ship," spoke Augustine. Small things are generally regarded as unimportant but this statement enlightens the mind of their cumulative import. If they are considered of meager consequence and are therefore treated with no

Throughout all the dormitories one can hear a clickety click of typewriters. From early morning until the minute the monitor yells, "lights out!" fingers mechanically type out words, sentences, terms, papers. Every pound racks a nerve. Soon the typist feels like a frazzled rag worn out and ready for vacation. It is times like these, when your nerves prick like porcupine needles, that your roommate is the most childish; your teacher is the most unreasonable; and your best friend is most annoying. Everyone feels they're so abused.

Cheer up! It has happened this way twice a year since the Renaissance re-instituted colleges. It is a time God tests our trust in Him. How are you measuring up to His examination?

thought nor care, it is probable that their sum will become weighty in one's life, probably to its sinking. Only a clairvoyant mind can perceive this truth.

This is a BIG age. The bigger, the better. Men "despise the day of small things" while they delight in the day of big things. Big crowds, big speakers, and big results bespeak successful evangelism. Big houses, big television sets, and big bank accounts bespeak successful living. Nothing is worthwhile unless it can be described as gigantic, marvelous or supreme. This type of thinking enslaves the minds of men. Do not become consumed by this pernicious philosophy.

served as an advisor to the class of 1954. He has ably filled the position of registrar and has been a help to all students along the academic lines. Mr. Stoll will be missed at Cedarville College. His Bible courses were challenging to all students and quite enjoyable.

We have enjoyed the fellowship and friendship of the Stoll's and wish them happiness as they go on in the Lord's service.

Following the evening program all guests are invited to enjoy refreshments in the dining hall.

All in all, the program, which is open to the public, and planned especially for the townspeople promised to be not only interesting, but enjoyable for those who attend.

We wonder why...

..Mr. Ambrose wears a knotted white handkerchief on his head. Is the sun too hot?

..Florence Bockhold has so much time allotted to her in Rife. Must you wash your face, Florence?

..Tom Shelow wants all of Rosemary's kittens. A lot of weddings this summer, eh, Tom?

..Mr. Jeremiah wants to get even with Shirley Shirley. Couldn't be because of "Jeremiah's tribulations," could it?

..it would cause a riot if we printed a certain something about Shirley Shirley.

..all of the dates for the Junior-Senior Banquet are so hush-hush.

..no one seems to know where the Junior Rock is.
