RECEPTION, MEETINGS, HIGHLIGHT WEEKEND

A reception for the Trustees, the faculty, the staff, and their wives was the center of attraction last Friday evening, October 10. Name tags of various colors marked the respective groups in attendance.

Master of Ceremonies for the evening was Rev. Tom Younger. Rev. Jeremiah gave a word of welcome to all. This was followed by a series of games under the direction of Mr. Sherwin Bowser.

DRAMA AT ITS' BEST

William Shakespeare's tragedy, Macbeth, has ever been regarded and criticized with preference among dramatical works. By combining the elements of supernatural agents, so prevalent in the Middle Ages, and the innate wickedness of man, Shakespeare has woven an outstanding tale of remorse and calamity. No apology is needed or should be expected for such a plot.

The dark side of nature is prevailed upon as we become acquainted with the three witches. They are found speaking with one another like women of the lowest class; for this was the class to which witches were supposed to belong. The weird sisters, inspired by the evil forces, encounter the main character of the play, Macbeth, in a moment of weakness after a military victory. They cast at the noble hero a dark Highlighting the program for the evening was a musical program which included a solo by Mr. Richard Cooke, songs by the Cedarville Men's Quartette and one of the Ladies' Trio, and also a singspiration directed by Mr. Richard Cooke.

A devotional talk was given by Rev. Allan Lewis, after which the entire group was served refreshments.

On the committee in charge of the activities of the evening were Mrs. James Jeremiah, Mrs. Robert Underwood, Miss Bernice Mick, and Mrs. C. R. Maddox, Chairman.

Also on the agenda for the week end was a meeting of the College Women's Auxiliary, Saturday, Oct. 11 at 9:30 a.m. in Milner Chapel.

MATSON TO PORTRAY DR. HUDSON

Contemporary authorship has turned out many masters, one of which is Lloyd C. Douglas. By sprinkling his works with a somewhat religious scent he has created some of the most striking novels of our time, two of the best known being, The Robe, and Magnificent Obsession. Dr. Hudson's Secret Journal is another Douglas book of lesser fame, but still his usual admirable qualities.

The stage dramatization of Dr. Hudson's Secret Journal, requires for the lead role of Dr. Hudson a sturdy, middleaged personality who is capable of radiating to his patients confidence and strength. In spite of his saintliness, he has an inward uncertainty known only to himself. The dramatics department of Cedarville College has selected a junior, David Matson, to portray Dr. Hudson, with whom we shall be acquainted at the Homecoming production.

David Matson has had previous stage and film experience while attending Bob Jones Academy, participating in four Shakespearian plays and two religious films. Following this work, he took part in three high school plays at his home in South Bend, Indiana. There is no doubt that with such a stage background, Matson is capable of an excellent performance. The Cedarville College family wishes the best of success to Dave as he steps into the spotlight role of another Douglas specialty.

WHISPERING CEDARS BOOSTS CIRCULATION

With issue number two, the circulation of "Whispering Cedars," student publication of Cedarville College, grew from two hundred to five hundred copies per issue. Each week three hundred alumni, former students, board members, B.B.I. graduates and pastors will receive, a day or two after publication, a copy of the paper. Dolores Osborn is in charge of mailing.

The present mailing list of three hundred represents twenty-one states from Florida to California. The paper is also sent abroad to Miss Patsy King, missionary to French Equatorial Africa under Baptist Mid-Missions. Patsy is studying in France at the present time.

If any students know of graduates or pastors who would be interested in receiving "Whispering Cedars," the staff would appreciate their contacting Dolores Osborn or Marlene Davis.

temptation to secure the fruits of further glory. The opportunity for murdering the king immediately offers itself.

Lady Macbeth urges him not to let it slip by and he is driven to it, as it were, in a state of mental and spiritual bewilderment. Repentance follows, yet his conscience leaves him no rest, for now he is too deeply entangled in the hellish plot. Lady Macbeth, who is the most guilty participant in the murder of the king, falls into an incurable bodily and mental disease and dies as the result.

King Duncan's murder is the murder of Banquo, a general of the king's army. These are but the beginning of a bloodstained sequence of events that are interwoven with the inward struggle of an eternally condemned man. In the glorious array peculiar to the knight and armor period, blood is spilt, greed increases, and hearts corrupted. Eventually the tragedy of Macbeth concludes with his fall at the hands of Macduff against whom he remembers that he has been warned by the witches. Regardless of his wretched condition, we cannot altogether refuse to sympathize with the state of mind, the ruin of so many noble qualities, and the struggle of a brave will and cowardly conscience.

The successful execution of such a performance involves not only excellent acting, but a deep appreciation for Shakespeare. This has been accomplished by traveling summer stock as well as the more elaborate Shakespearcan festivals held in several localities of Europe and the United States.

Known for their rather extensive stage layouts, Bob Jones University has specialized in Shakespearcan drama. The film version of Macbeth produced by the University will be shown October twentieth at Cedarville College under the sponsorship of Gamma Chi. The quality of the performance should not be overlooked, and it is with great expectation we look forward to this high type film entertainment.

Presiding at the meeting was Mrs. Milner, president. Mrs. Jeremiah gave a welcome to the group. The chairman read the constitution drawn up by the committee. The group adopted the constitution. Following this a lengthy discussion took place as to things the group could do to help the college. Adding to the thought of the meeting, Mrs. Draxler gave a very timely devotional talk. The meeting closed in a season of prayer.

SELF, JACOBS TEAMS IN LEAD

Once again on last Tuesday our teams battled their way towards a championship title. The contests were between Jacobs' team and Dautel's team; Entner's team, and Self's team.

The contest between Jacobs' team and Dautel's team was a rather wide open contest. In the beginning Jacobs intercepted a pass thrown by Bob Humphreys which was run back for a TD. Later on, Vance Ashley was good for a TD on a sleeper play. Dautel then threatened a comeback by passing to Skaggs for a TD. The score at half time was 18-6, in favor of Jacobs' team. During the second half, Dave Skaggs was good for two more TD's on passes from Humphreys and Dautel. Dautel's gang made deep penetrations into enemy territory but Jacobs' boys seemed to have a defense that stopped them every time. For Jacobs' team, Jay Wickham and Marvin Wiseman were good for two and one TD's respectively. Final was 30-18 in favor of Jacobs' team.

Self led Entner the whole game except in the last few minutes when Entner's team came through with a TD to tie the score at 13 apiece; however, Self's team was able to take the extra point on the now ruling which prevents tie games. Final score 14-13 in favor of Self's team.

On Thursday, because of a lack of men, Entner had to forfeit his game to Jacobs' team. In the other contest between Dautel's crew and Self's team, Chuck Taylor caught a pass in last $1\frac{1}{2}$ minutes of the game to put Self's team ahead of Dautel for a 25-20 decision. Both Humphreys and Skaggs were good for a TD apiece which helped Dautel who led most of the game. On Self's team, Dave Ernhart was good for one TD and Don Sowell was good for two.

"MIRACLE" PLANS CAR WASH

One of the annual events here at Cedarville College is the car wash sponsored by the yearbook staff.

Warren Woodard, Business manager of the yearbook staff, is in charge of the car wash this year and he's looking for a very successful year.

The staff is out to exceed last spring's profit of about one hundred dollars. With a little cooperation they should do better this fall.

In order to make this a success, however, they need you, so come and bring lots of elbow grease and give them a hand. By helping them out you're helping the school because all proceeds to toward making and sponsoring a better yearbook.

They're charging one dollar and fifty cents and five dollars for a wax job. Don't forget the time is this Friday afternoon and Saturday all day. Bring your car out and let the "Miracle" staff perform a miracle on your car.
