Student Council Boosts Campaign for College's New Expansion Fund

Student Council President Mark Haseltine presented a challenge gift of $200 to Dr. James T. Jeremiah, Cedarville's president, at the afternoon session of the Fall Day of Prayer on October 11 in an effort to encourage the faculty and student body to raise $1,000 to be used in the College's most recent expansion drive.

ABLE STUDENTS AWARDED SCHOLARSHIPS

Thirty-two Cedarville College students are receiving financial assistance this semester because of their special abilities in various fields. Twelve students have been awarded academic scholarships; thirteen men have received athletic grants in aid; and seven other students have been given scholarships from various funds in their local areas.

Those who have received academic scholarships from the College are: Bette Adamson, Carole Boren, Paul Brower, Carol Brown, Peggy Buerer, Carolyn Coppock, Edward David Gordon, Norman Nicklas, Shirley Marie Otto, Patricia Schonscheck, T. James Walker, and David Warren. An academic scholarship pays half of the student's tuition and gives him the opportunity to work 20 hours a week for the College.

Athletic grants in aid have been earned by: Gary Brandes, Sam Canine,

President Jeremiah had announced to the student body the day before that the board of trustees had taken a 30-day option on the 80-acre Roy Waddle farm which is located to the north and west of the main campus. In order to secure this property, a $12,000 down payment must be paid by Nov. 1. So far the trustees can account for about $7,000 of this amount.

If the students and faculty can raise $700 by October 26, the Student Council has promised to give an additional $100, which would make a total of $1,000 raised by the immediate college family. It was suggested that campus organizations make group contributions to the fund and that students contact their home churches for additional gifts to the expansion fund. The first of three offerings to be received on Fridays netted a little over $100.

Since many feel that the acquisition of this adjacent property is essential for the future growth of the school, Student Council and administration are urging all of the students, staff, and friends of the College to work and pray that the $12,000 goal will be realized by Nov. 1.

EDITORIAL
APPARENT BEAUTY

As I was walking down the campus path a few days ago, someone said to me, "I think we really have a beautiful campus." Is this as true as we would like it to be? From a first glance it may be, but when we begin to examine the situation, how true is it?

From first impressions, we do have a beautiful campus. It is one of the finest around. Come with me, if you will, and we will take a second look at some of the situations that exist on our campus.

As we begin our walk around the Cedarville College campus, one of the things that seems to be rather noticeable is the messy looking garbage cans that are sitting around everywhere we go. When the gymnasium is completed, it will not be such a pleasant looking sight to see the rear of the dining hall cluttered with who-knows-how many garbage cans. We cannot blame the dining hall for this because they certainly do not have any other place for them, but it would seem that some kind of an enclosure could be provided for these. This would help the general appearance behind the dining hall and also improve the view from the front of the new gymnasium.

We continue our stroll around the campus and upon coming to the girls' dormitory, we find in the entrance ways several more garbage cans, filled to capacity. Do you think this is a very pleasant sight?

Night is fast approaching as we bring our stroll to an end. We as a student body feel that our campus is beautiful, but I wonder if a passerby at night would think the same thing. If one drives by on Main Street and glances up toward the Administration and Science Buildings, all he can see is a bright glare of light. Wouldn't it give a better appearance if the lights were fixed in such a way so as to shine on the exterior of the buildings, rather than shining out from them? Likewise, the lights that are found on each end of the Girls' Dorm and the Bookstore Dorm show nothing of the beauty of these buildings.

It seems that the path which goes from the Administration Building to the corner of Main and College streets could be improved by a few lights along the way. For those of the fairer sex, these lights would help to take away their fear of the dark. A few decorative lights in the right places could do much to help beautify our campus.

What would be wrong with a few benches sitting around the campus? How many times have you wanted to go out some place and study or just be alone, but have had no place to sit? Perhaps the couples would appreciate some places where they could sit and talk privately on campus. Would some attractive benches detract from the appearance of the campus?

Would not these be worthwhile projects for some of the organizations or classes? Would money spent for lighting, benches, or shrubbery make a good student body project?

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Miss Editor:

We are told by philosophers that aesthetics is subjective. One finds beauty in the multi-hue of a precious opal, while others are in awe of the loneliness in a treacherous sea storm destroying the adjacent shores. Beauty in the eye of man is beheld with joy that stirs the pure heart.

We need the sense of sight in most cases to actualize beauty, yet could it ever be that something can be made beautiful if not seen? Is there anything created or made that could be used to represent beauty but must be kept hidden from man's view in order to retain this "beauty"? What is both functional in use and beautiful in seclusion?

In our modern world of vogue and vanity, beauty has become the quality only pleasurable to the sex gratifying standpoint. Exhibitionism of the human body is the only gateway to the world's so-called beauty. Fashions that flaunt the feminine features are destroying the true concept of beauty God first intended such features to have. Now if you would take a walk with me, Miss Editor, around the campus of Cedarville College, how many fashions are "flirting with the world"? Is there evidence that the world's beauty has a higher estimation than the beauty God first incorporated?

Miss Editor, would you agree with me that more material and less immodesty should be seen on our campus? I'm sure one of the intentions of the knée was for saintly kneeling, not to be sinfully appealing.

It is the contention of many here that more knees are seen than bent. Be it true or not, I appeal to you, Miss Editor, to join efforts in upholding the God-given standards of modesty and separation that Christ and His beauty may be seen and honored here at Cedarville College.

STUDENT OPINION POLL

"What name would you like to have for your dorm, and why?"

Phil Brower, Sticka: Powell Hall, after Dr. Powell of the Council of Fourteen, recently retired from a Tacoma, Washington, pastorate.

Bud Connell, Bookstore: Brian Hall, because they should name dorms after famous or infamous alumni.

Larry Killian, Cedar: Webster Hall, after our famous mother.

Lois Kennedy, Harriman: Sticka, to make me feel more at home.

David Nims, Bookstore: I think slowly and haven't thought of anything yet.

Ellis Howard, Bookstore: Mc Chesney Hall, because he was a past president and served as legislative representative for Greene County.

Dan Park, Rife: Ichabod Hall, because that means "the glory hath departed."

Grace Brown, New Dorm: Williams Dorm, because of his outstanding contributions to the school.

Mona Ballard, New Dorm: Maddox Hall because of the prominence he has achieved in American education.

Mr. Gleason Ledyard

AUTHOR, WORLD-TRAVELER BEGINS ARTIST SERIES

Gleason Ledyard will begin the College Artist Series when he presents a colored slide lecture in Alford Memorial Auditorium at 8 p. m. on October 22. Mr. Ledyard, a former missionary to the Eskimos and veteran pilot in the Canadian Arctic, has recently completed a seven and one-half month tour of the world, taking him through more than 40 countries.

Equipped with cameras, Mr. Ledyard traveled through jungle, swamp, and river and rode in a Land Rover over many miles of primitive trails in Nigeria and Sierra Leone. He and his wife narrowly missed being captured by the Communists after visiting a leprosarium in Viet Nam.

Already the author of five books dealing with his work in the Arctic, Mr. Ledyard has written a new book based on the lives and work of the natives who are reaching their own people with the Gospel.

TEA OPENS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE FOR GAMMA CHI

On Tuesday, October 9, 1962, Gamma Chi held its autumn reception in the Cedar-Cliff High School. Approximately sixty girls attended.

A welcome to new students and upperclassmen was given by Gamma Chi's President, Bonnie Nash. Following this, Donna Johns, program chairman, introduced the evening's program which included a piano solo by Shirley Byrd, a reading by Julie Petrie, and a parody by Maryalyce Jeremiah. Before devotions, Donna Finley sang "Oh, Master Let Me Walk with Thee." Michal Geeting, vice-president, discussed Galatians 2:20, the society's verse, for the devotional time.

Just before refreshments, all the girls who attended passed through the reception line and were greeted by this year's Gamma Chi cabinet: Mrs. Maddox, adviser; Bonnie Nash, president; Michal Geeting, vice-president; Shirley Byrd, secretary; Julie Petrie, treasurer; Donna Johns, program chairman; Helen Wing, social chairman; Donna Finley, parliamentarian; Rita Millikin, Student Council representative; and Maryalyce Jeremiah, Student Council alternate.

Other Artist Series events for this semester are:

November 3 Harold Strobridge - historical slides of Cedarville College and community.

December 4 Howard Tuvell - pianist

January 4 Ruth Smith and Joe Zimmerman - duo pianos.

Attendance is required for all artist series programs.

Dozier Carter, Dan Davis, Ray Davis, David Jeremiah, Rodney Lane, Jerry Olsen, Terry Shetler, Richard Spencer, Norris Smith, James Sprague, and Gary Walthall. Athletic grants in aid vary in amount according to ability and need.

Jody Ronk was awarded a scholarship by the P. T. A. of Bensley School, Richmond, Virginia. Loretta Cushey and Judy Hartzell received scholarships from the Elizabeth M. Bayer Estate of Butler, Pennsylvania, and Philip Gilmore was given a scholarship from the Alden Linstrom Scholarship Fund of Trenton, Michigan. Paul Gale was awarded a scholarship by the Cedar-Cliff P. T. A., Cedarville, Ohio.

Dorothy Olsen received scholarships from the Lincoln Savings and Loan Association of Cleveland and from the Berea Newcomers' Club of Berea, Ohio. Becky O'Keefe also received scholarships from the College Club of Cleveland and from the Parma Senior High School P. T. A., Parma, Ohio.

Cedarville's academic scholarships are awarded on a semester basis with a minimum of a 3.00 academic average required for renewal. Christian character, service, cooperation, and need are considered in the administrative committee's selection of recipients for this aid.

Athletic grants in aid are made available to those with demonstrated ability who meet the standards set up by the athletic committee upon approval by the athletic committee and the athletic scholarship committee.

MORNING PRAYER MEETINGS STARTED BY COLLEGE FACULTY

In an interview with Mr. Wyse, he stated, "The faculty felt it imperative to look to the Lord for guidance and direction in meeting the spiritual, personal, academic and material needs of our school." Because of this the faculty has started a meeting each week for special sessions of prayer.

The prayer meetings are held Wednesday mornings at 7:30 in the botany laboratory. Attendance is not mandatory. After a short devotional, the time is spent in prayer. Faculty members having 8 o'clock classes are free to leave while others may continue in prayer for a longer period of time.

PROSPECTIVE STUDENTS TO VISIT CAMPUS

After two stagnant years, our prospective students program becomes mobile again. High school students from all of the Regular Baptist churches in Indiana and parts of northern Ohio have been invited to visit our campus on October 26.

The Student Council will be in charge of campus tours for the groups throughout the afternoon. Our visitors will be attending classes during the morning and will meet in the chapel late in the afternoon for an open forum to be conducted by members of the administration. The heads of each department will be on hand to answer questions.

A musical program consisting of a cross-section of our campus talent will be presented for the visitors in the evening.

Chief Engineer Paul Gathany, assisted by Bill Lobsiger and Don Davidson, install transmitter.

WCDR-FM TO BEGIN OPERATION NEXT MONTH

WCDR-FM, the new Cedarville College educational radio station, is expected to start broadcasting November 26. It will operate on ten watts at a frequency of 88.1 megacycles and will have a range of approximately eight to ten miles.

The studio is located on the third floor of the Administration Building, where Paul Gathany, chief engineer, and David Jeremiah, station manager, are busy preparing for their first broadcast. Mr. Gathany has just begun testing the equipment now that the transmitter is here and set up.

The faculty radio committee, consisting of Mr. John Reed, chairman, President James T. Jeremiah, and Miss Ruth Smith, is supervising the programming of the station. Members of the Radio and TV Speech class will assist in operating the station. Mr. Reed is inviting those who are talented and interested in this field to contact him for auditioning for a position on the staff.

The station will be operating from 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. daily, and from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sundays. The programming will include: The "Grace Hour," with the Rev. David Canine of Blanchester; a weekly message by Dr. Robert L. Sumner of Portsmouth, and another by the Rev. John Balyo of Cleveland; and the "Fellowship Hour," a Moody Bible Institute production.

There will be two dramatic features, "Miracles" and "Hymn History." Various live devotionals and a nightly quartet time, usually recorded but with a live broadcast once a week, are being planned. "Word and Testimony" and "Melodies with a Message," two College productions now being aired over three area stations, will be part of the regular schedule. The Modern Music Masters plan to sponsor a daily hour of classical music.

All college basketball games will be presented play by play with away games given as delayed broadcasts.

STUDENT BODY SETS $2500 PROJECT GOAL

With a goal of $2,500, this year's student body project promises to be the best ever. Co-Chairmen Tom DeLanzo and Ted Ocheltree have an early start toward this goal with a "Dollar Day" in chapel and a "Fill-a-Jug" week. Already over $100 has been collected. Several men students paid a dollar apiece to enter the beard-growing contest which started last Monday and ends Nov. 16. It is hoped that competition will arouse student interest.

No special project has been decided upon, but interest has been toward beautifying the campus with decorative lighting, shrubs, and ivy.

YELLOWJACKETS BEGIN PRACTICE

Practice began Monday, Oct. 15, for the 1962-63 varsity basketball team.

According to National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics rules, organized practice may not take place prior to the Oct. 15 date. However, the Cedarville athletes were engaged in a pre-season conditioning program that included cross-country running and weight lifting.

Practices are being held in the Central State girls' gym until the new Cedarville gym is completed.

GIRLS COMPETE FOR CHEERLEADING POSITIONS

If you keep your eyes on the area behind the old gymnasium, you will see a few signs of the things to come. Among these are the young men beating the pavement in an attempt to shape up for the coming athletic events.

Present also, are those girls who hope to represent our school as cheerleaders this year, along with head cheerleader, Donna Thompson. The girls have been performing to the best of their abilities to earn a position on the list of 12 finalists.

Cindy Atkinson, Bette Adamson, Martie Bennett, Joanne Neely, Annette Whaley, Dawn Mitchell, Ann Halley, Vicki Curcio, Ardith Cayton, Irene Lane, Pat Kaster, and Sylvia Wing are the 12 girls who will go before the student body on Oct. 22 for the final decision.

Until then, I am sure that you will be able to see them somewhere, run-

ANNIVERSARY HOMECOMING PLANS REVEALED

Alumni and former students will return to the College campus the weekend of Nov. 16-17 for the annual homecoming. The theme of homecoming, "As the Cedar Grows," will be in keeping with the 75th anniversary of the school.

According to Miss Joy Mackay, head of the social committee, dorms, classes, and organizations may spend up to $25 for display materials, $10 more than in previous years. It is hoped the extra allowance will result in bigger and better displays.

Activities will include a faculty-alumni luncheon, an alumni meeting, and a pageant, "As the Cedar Grows," under the direction of Mrs. C. R. Madrox. There will not be an alumni-varsity basketball game because of a new Mid-Ohio League ruling which prohibits varsity action until December 1. However, the varsity squad will present a display of their talent in the afternoon.

Miss Mackay says there will be a baby-sitting service available for children under eight.

BOOKSTORE, RIFE TRIUMPH IN INTRAMURAL FOOTBALL OPENERS

Bookstore squeezed past Bethel in the closing seconds, 18-12, and Rife smothered Cedar 27-0 in a twin-bill that initiated the intramural flag-tag football season.

A last-second pass from Tom Evans to Dave Fisher on a fourth down play climaxed a hard-fought battle and broke a 12-12 tie in the opener. A game Bethel team had tied the score just minutes before on a hard run through the line by Denny McDonald. "Mac" also passed for the other Bethel TD, tossing to Paul Brower in the second quarter.

In the nightcap, Cedar held Rife at bay in the first quarter, but was unable thereafter to contain Rife's Lynn Jefson. The strong-armed quarterback ran for one touchdown on a pass interception, and passed for three more, two to Al Merwald and one to Jim Grafton. Rife added a safety in the second quarter when Marv Stephens of Cedar was caught in his own end zone.

Football was not originally part of the fall intramural plans of the C. C.

athletic department. However, interest in this popular fall sport resulted in a petition of 150 names which eventually was submitted to President Jeremiah. The petition stated the wish of students to have tag football, and it resulted in the setting up of the following schedule:

- Oct. 16 Sticka vs. Bethel
Rife vs. Bookstore
- Oct. 18 Bookstore vs. Sticka
Cedar vs. Bethel
- Oct. 23 Cedar vs. Bookstore
Rife vs. Sticka

- Oct. 30-Nov. 1 Play-offs
  1. Team 2 vs. Team 3
  2. Team 4 vs. Team 5
  3. Team 1 vs. winner of 2
  4. Winners of games 1 and 3 playoff to determine championship.
