HISTORY

Of U. P. Church Continued by Rev. Ross.

A LONG CONTROVERSY

Session and Congregation Bitterly Opposed the Marriage of James Kyle to His Deceased Wife's Sister.—The Case Remained Unsettled For Over Twenty-nine Years.

During the pastorate of Rev. Mr. Haney the trial of Mr. James Kyle for marrying his deceased wife's sister began. This case became the most important in the history of the congregation and had no little part in the repeal of the rules of the church. The first action was taken by the session on April 19, 1871, by temporarily suspending the parties. They were cited to appear and answer charges on August 29, when the charges were decided not relevant. Two elders, one a brother to the accused, appealed to Presbytery and that body sustained the appeal on Sept. 26 and referred the case to a commission for settlement. On Feb. 6, 1872, the commission was dismissed and the session was directed to report the case in full to the Presbytery. Two other complaints concerning the same case came up at the same meeting. On April 23 the case was referred to another commission which reported two sessions and favored "exclusion from communion" of the accused parties. On Jan. 28, 1873, the session asked for an explanation of Presbytery's action and got the reply that the parties were actually suspended.

On Jan. 25, 1875, the suspended parties asked Presbytery through session for restoration. This was considered on April 26 and refused. The Cedarville session restored them on August 24, 1877, and an appeal from this session was taken up to Presbytery on Oct. 30. This appeal was adjudged regular and was sustained and the record was ingrafted in the minutes of session on Dec. 21, 1877.

This case culminated in a memorial which was sent up to the General Assembly in 1877 asking for a deliverance. The answer sent back revived the agitation of the question which had been regarded as settled in 1869, and brought the whole question before the church at large in such a manner that it continued and gathered interest and became so perplexing that the question was sent down in overture in 1900 to the Presbyteries, which resulted in the repeal of the rule by a large majority.

After the resignation of Mr. Haney various candidates were heard, the members of Presbytery preaching occasionally so as to assist in the direction of affairs. On April 22, 1873, the session called a congregational meeting for Saturday, April 26, to take steps for the moderation of a call. This meeting was in connection with the preparatory service of a communion at which Rev. H. H. Hervey, of Lake Presbytery, was conducting the services, and who was very acceptable to the people. The call was duly moderated for Mr. Hervey and was presented to Presbytery, sustained and forwarded to him, but it was declined by letter and returned. It had been most hearty and fully unanimous and promised a salary of $1250 per annum. The hope that he would accept was cherished so fondly that his declination was a great and bitter disappointment, which served to destroy the growing harmony and arouse the bitter feelings of the past. In offering supposed reasons for this disappointing insinuations of a tart and bitter kind were cast back and forth, until some of the members of session became thoroughly unpopular with a large part of the congregation. Finally the great body of the congregation was determined to have peace and a congregational meeting was called to make the effort to accomplish that end. A committee consisting of three members from each side was appointed to bring in a report of a plan that would harmonize the congregation. They were not out long till they brought in a unanimous report that if two members of the session, who were named, would resign and get out of the session all the dissatisfied ones would come forward at once and do their duty. The two men were present and showed no signs of resigning and an adjournment was taken for two weeks to let them have time to consider the matter. In two weeks they met again. This time there was a large attendance. Mr. Paul Kerr was chairman, who stated the object of the meeting but the elders refused to retire from the session and the congregation in disgust got out of the house as soon as possible, and in private conferences the members concluded to ask for their certificates.

The session had a called meeting on Jan. 12, 1874, and asked Rev. H. P. Jackson to act as moderator. The first parties to ask for letters were two of the elders and their families and they were granted, then some verbal requests were made for others and they were granted, then a man came in with quite a list of names on a paper asking for certificates and they were also granted. He had hardly left the church building when another man appeared with a list of fifteen or twenty names to be certified away and the session became frightened and called a halt. They saw that if all were granted certificates, that asked for them, it would break up the congregation. Session passed a resolution not to grant any more certificates till they had sought the advice of Presbytery which was soon to meet in Xenia. At that meeting held Jan. 27 a petition from eighty-two members of the Cedarville congregation was presented asking for a new congregation or a reorganization of the old one. Presbytery held an adjourned meeting in Cedarville on Feb. 23 to examine into the difficulties. They appointed a provisional session consisting of Austin McDowell, James Patterson, James Spencer, James Bryson and James Collins, with Rev. B. Turnbull as moderator, to act in conjunction with the Cedarville session. This was done so that in no case would the congregation be disorganized through the resignation of all the members of session.

The provisional session was instructed to "reconstruct" the congregation by submitting the question of adherence to each elder in turn, with power to dissolve the relation of those elders who were not re-elected and order a new election to take their places.

GOES TO BELLBROOK.

George Harper has been successful in getting the superintendency of the township schools at Bellbrook, being elected by the board at a meeting held a few days ago. Mr. Harper has for two years taught school in District No. 2 and given a perfect satisfaction. He was re-elected for the third year, but resigned as he desired something better. He will leave Monday morning for Lebanon, where he will take up normal work and review for his duties this fall.

WILBERFORCE COMMENCEMENT.

Thursday was commencement day at Wilberforce and a large number of strangers drove through town in that direction. Commencement day at Wilberforce is a great day with the colored people and many white people as well, for there is great interest taken in the educational work about the institution. To show how anxious a young man was to get his best girl to the commencement we relate an incident of a Selma boy who could not hire a livery rig at either Jamestown, Cedarville, So. Solon or So. Charleston, so he conceived the idea of hiring a double team and a rubber tired buggy of a neighbor, for which he offered the sum of five dollars for the day. The neighbor, thinking that a good sum, told the young man he could have the rig, and it is needless to say that this fellow was about the happiest in the vicinity of Selma.

WILL THEY PAY.

There is a question on the minds of many who are up in the railroad business as to whether the fast trains recently put on between Cincinnati and New York will pay or not, owing to the excess fare. Nothing but first class fare is honored on these trains and an extra fare of about eight dollars which includes a berth, is charged between the cities. With this there are comparatively few that can afford to travel on these trains. The new service was inaugurated Sunday and trains have been arriving on time. On the Big Four Wednesday a man was killed by the Twentieth Century Limited near Albany, N. Y. The train was going at the rate of sixty miles an hour when the engineer first saw the man. An effort was made to stop the train but it was impossible. The train backed up to the spot and it is said hardly a vestige of the person could be found as the body was torn to pieces. The train then hurried on to New York to arrive there on-time.

THE NEW RESERVOIR.

The new reservoir for the Hagar Strawboard & Paper Co., which is being constructed on the company's farm west of town, is about completed. It covers about ten acres and the banks range from six to ten or twelve feet in height. About six years ago the company constructed the first basin, but it is not so large as the second. Mr. Hagar says that his company has the finest basin in the state and we all know that Mr. Hagar never does things by halves. He always leads. The principal feature of the new reservoir is the filtering process, something not found in the old one. The basin is constructed alongside a hill around which is an old mill race. In this race have been placed five courses of six inch tile covered with eighteen inches of first class sand and gravel. On the edge of the race will be constructed a rack to be filled with straw. The water and refuse from the mill will continue to empty in the old basin and thence into the new one. When the water rises to the edge of the race it will pass through the straw and then into the race where it will seep through the eighteen inches of gravel and sand to the tile and thence to the creek. It is said that by this filtering process the water will be perfectly clear and that there will be no offensive odor during the summer months. The work when completed will cost the company several thousand dollars.

SABBATH

Desecration Will No Longer Be Tolerated by

MAYOR MCFARLAND

He Stops Sunday Swimming.—Boys Narrowly Escape to the Village Bastille.—How a Mayor May Become Popular With the People.

We are pleased to note that we have an official that is taking active part in a work towards checking Sabbath desecration. Of late, or rather since the warm days in the spring, boys have congregated in great numbers along the creek to play cards. Since the hot days they gather almost daily, and particularly on Sabbath, at a point along the creek known as the "bend," where they spend the day swimming. At times they have been very boisterous and Mayor McFarland has been called upon to stop the nuisance.

Last Sabbath being an extremely hot day boys to the number of twenty-five were at this point and were raising considerable disturbance, regardless of the fact that they were violating one of the village ordinances. Mayor McFarland, accompanied by Marshal Grindle and Officer Kennon, visited this spot last Sabbath and were prepared to bring the crowd to the Mayor's office, but they found most of the boys were out of the water. The officers decided to give the boys another chance and the mayor gave them a good lecture, which may possibly do them some good. At any rate there is no more swimming in the day time.

Mayor McFarland is to be commended in his action of creating order about town. He has since he entered office been the means of dispersing Saturday night crowds on the streets near the railroad. In his work so far he can feel that he has the support of every loyal citizen, even though he be condemned by the law-breakers.

In the last election the main fight in Xenia was the election of a mayor who would enforce the law, for he has powers that if enacted are of great benefit to his people. Just so with the mayor of Cedarville, his power is almost equal to that of a mayor of any city and it is only by the enforcement of the laws that makes him popular with the people. There is yet one or two things that are allowed to operate, and particularly on Sabbath, and with a little time we believe the mayor will, and we know he can, put a stop or close up, and in so doing he will have the endorsement of every citizen.

HEAD WAS CRUSHED.

The body of Elijah Williams, colored, of Yellow Springs, was found in the Ervin quarry at that place, Tuesday morning. He fell thirty feet, alighting squarely on a sharp stone, crushing his head. Coroner Johnson finds that death was due to falling over the embankment while in an intoxicated condition. Williams was forty-three years old and was employed at the Miami powder works.

FATE OF A CLIFTON WOMAN.

Mrs. Ella Johnson, nee Luce, of Clifton, wife of Thomas Johnson, formerly of this place, was seriously injured Tuesday morning by being kicked and trampled by a horse in a livery stable of her brother. It is said that Mrs. Johnson went to the stable to get a basket of coals to use in starting a fire. She entered alone and when found a few minutes later she was lying unconscious at the horse's feet and the horse was still kicking at her. So vicious was the animal that the brother could not get near to assist his sister and was forced to drag her to place of safety. Physicians were summoned and an examination was made, though she lay in an unconscious condition all day. A shoulder was dislocated, nose broken and several ribs on the left side. So badly was her face bruised and lacerated that both eyes were closed by the swelling. At present Mrs. Johnson is resting easier and hopes for her recovery are being entertained.

SHOULD FEEL GRATEFUL

While in Jamestown Tuesday of this week we had the privilege of going through the Wickersham House of that town upon the invitation of the owner, Mr. Albert Wickersham. The building has been thoroughly renovated, being painted and papered from the kitchen up. A cellar is being constructed under the building for a furnace to be used in heating the entire building. Handsome electric light fixtures have also been added. Mr. Wickersham has one of the model hotel properties in this section and the citizens of Jamestown should feel grateful towards the owner for his pride in giving them such a hostelry.

ASK FOR ADMISSION.

There was considerable stir in church circles here the first of the week when it became known that the R. P. church as a whole had asked for admission into the United Presbyterian church at the meeting of the General Assembly of the latter, held recently at Allegheny, Pa. The Synod of the R. P. church appointed a delegate to visit the General Assembly, but owing to sickness he sent a letter which was read before the Assembly. This body did not take any action towards admitting the church but appointed a committee to investigate and examine into affairs and report at the meeting next year. The action of the R. P. Synod, in requesting admission to the U. P. church, was quite a surprise to most everyone and particularly here where the church is supposed to be very strong. The Reformed church, formerly known as the Dutch Reformed, also asked for admission into the U. P. church.

A BAD PREDICTION.

Farmers have been clamoring for rain and we fear the one this morning brought about thoughts that were anything but pleasant, owing to so many having clover hay down. The weather report on Thursday gave a prediction for clear weather today and on this no doubt many acres of clover were cut down yesterday. As little rain is required to spoil clover hay we fear the shower this morning will cause great loss. But then, prospects are good for the best wheat crop in years and, with hogs and cattle selling at such high prices the farmers have not much grounds for kicking after all. Even if the clover hay is lost we had the rain.

Bathroom Conveniences.

The bathtub has been called one of the best symbols of modern civilization. Certainly the condition of the bathroom is a good index of the character of the housekeeping. If not so luxurious as the baths of the days of "Quo Vadis" the up to date bathroom of fashionable elegance at least outrivals them in the completeness of its appointments. In the simple matter of soap dishes there is a surprisingly extensive array. Especially attractive are those of nickel. There are simple skeleton trays which allow the water to drip through the bars. Small nickel trays are corrugated, thus preventing the soap from lying in the water. Circular and elliptical dishes are equipped with a perforated tray which performs the same service in the interest of economy. Some of these dishes are furnished with covers. Dishes with a nickel frame have porcelain trays. Very convenient are the nickel dishes which can be readily and securely attached to the side of the tub or fastened to the wall.

ELKS' CARNIVAL

The Jabour Circus & Menagerie Co.'s Aggregation consists of the following features, and is pronounced the finest "class of performers" the performing world ever produced before the patronizing public:

1. Loop the Loop.
2. The Ferris Wheel.
3. Trained Wild Animal Show.
4. Beautiful Orient.
5. Congress of All Nations.
6. Moorish Palace.
7. Star of Egypt.
8. Dog and Pony Circus.
9. Mexican Village.
10. Flying Lady.
11. Japanese Tea Garden.
12. Projectoscope.
13. Three Austin Sisters.
14. Balloon Ascension and Leap.
15. High Dive into Tank.
16. Seven Grunath Sisters.
17. High Dive into Net.
18. Slide for Life.
19. Ladies' Military Band.

The Jabour Aggregation consists of 131 performers. It is a gorgeous spectacle of Oriental splendor, the greatest of all animal shows, a glittering array of special features and attractions.

Loop the Loop and Cycle Wheel. The former is the most thrilling and sensational act now before the public. The most immense and emphatic hit of Forepaugh & Sells Bros' Circus at the Madison Square Garden in New York City. A sensational feature in which the laws of gravitation are opposed. Both of the above acts are carried at an expense to the management of $2000 per week.

The Cycle Wheel is an exhibition in which three ladies ride on a small track set at an angle of 70 degrees. The Ferris Wheel, a miniature representation of the World's Fair Ferris Wheel. Another attractive feature of the exhibition which will be alike enjoyed by both young and old. It is an exact reproduction of the mammoth wheel seen at the World's Fair, and is but fifty-five feet in height and so constructed that it is much safer and more pleasant to ride in than the original Ferris Wheel.

ELKS' MID-SUMMER CARNIVAL

How to Make Paper Cases.

Cut six pieces of writing paper, measuring four and a half inches square. Fold each side over to the depth of one and a quarter inches, which will give at each corner a square of one and a half inches. Cut on one side of this square only; turn the sides up and fasten with a paste made of a teaspoonful of flour and about four tablespoonfuls of tepid water. Pour the remainder into a saucer, the depth of which will probably be an eighth of an inch. Dip each case into the batter and then into fine breadcrumbs; dip into the batter again, then again into the crumbs. Have a frying pan on the fire with hot drippings; take each case by the bottom and hold it deep enough in the hot drippings to brown the breadcrumbs. The result will be a pretty, neat case, two inches square and an inch and a quarter deep, which use as directed.

Unique Floor Covering.

A woman who for years has used the ordinary table oilcloth to cover her bedroom and her summer cottage floors says it is the cheapest and most satisfactory covering she knows of. She lays it with plenty of paper underneath to give it spring and body. Contrary to one's first impression, it wears remarkably well and is much easier wiped off and kept clean than the bare floor. If one has never investigated table oilcloths, she will be surprised at the wide range of patterns and colors offered for sale even in country stores. Two very pretty ones were noted lately in a desert camp house. On the little dining room was a small oak leaf pattern, green on a brown ground, looking when down much like the old fashioned "three ply." The other was a neat geometric design in shades of brown.

MAYOR'S

Court Deals With Numerous Law-breakers

DURING PAST WEEK

Some Startling Information is Given by Charles Jefferies as to Where He Purchased Liquor.—Mayor McFarland Seems at Home in His Work.

The quietness which has prevailed about the city bastle for several months was broken last week by the appearance of several violators of the law. Mayor McFarland has had but one or two cases since he entered upon his duties; but within the last two weeks has been kept busy. None of the charges preferred have been grave ones, consequently most of the offenders received light fines.

Last week Henry Young, colored, was requested by His Honor to donate $2 and cost toward the support of the village government.

Ike Robison, colored, was under the impression that he needed fire arms for defense in his battle against the world. The mayor presented Ike papers for $1 and costs in exchange for the revolver.

Daniel McElroy was taken up by Officer Kennon for plain drunk, and under the ordinance the mayor was compelled to assess $5 and costs.

William Creswell was also a violator of this ordinance and made arrangements with the mayor for the payment of a like amount.

Ed Banks became entangled in the west end of town, Saturday night and was Mayor McFarland's guest for a while, Tuesday afternoon. Edward received $2 and costs for his trouble. The most important case that has been before the mayor, and one that has revealed some startling information, was the arrest of Charles Jefferies, for purchasing whiskey for a minor, Charles Ballard, colored. Jefferies was released from the "pen" several months ago, he being implicated in the Dallas robbery. Ballard is had about fifteen years of age and was considerably intoxicated when arrested, Saturday night. At first when young Ballard came before Mayor McFarland he refused to tell who gave him the liquor, but finally gave out Jefferies' name, who was arrested on the charge of giving liquor to a minor. It was on the arrest of Jefferies that the mayor upon close examination found that the boy had purchased the liquor. The mayor learned on further questioning that the whiskey was purchased at C. M. Ridgway's drug store on Saturday evening, June 14. Jefferies pleaded guilty to above charge and was given $10 and cost and sent to the works. Young Ballard while in such a state of intoxication caused from drinking Mr. Ridgway's quarrelsome whiskey attempted to abuse his father, in fact, disturbed the entire neighborhood and was fined $1 and cost.

VERY STEEP GRADE.

Messrs. J. E. Lowe, Dr. Manning, of Dayton, Attorney Hartley and R. R. Grieve, of the Xenia, Cedarville, Jamestown and Wilmington traction company, were in town Wednesday morning on an inspection tour of the route. One object of their visit to this place was to see what could be done in the betterment of a grade at the John Taylor farm west of town. They say that this is the only grade on the route that will give them any serious trouble, and they were out on that day taking another survey at that point. The party, after a short stop in town, proceeded towards Jamestown.

Leads Them All. "One Minute Cough Cure beats all other medicines I ever tried for coughs, colds, croup and throat and lung troubles," says Dr. Scott Curran, of Legation, Pa. One Minute Cough Cure is the only absolutely safe cough remedy which acts immediately. Mothers everywhere testify to the good it has done their little ones. Croup is so sudden in its attacks that the doctor often arrives too late. It yields at once to One Minute Cough Cure. Pleasant to take. Children like it. Sure cure for grip, bronchitis, coughs.

The independence of Cuba under republican sponsorship from this country is one of the chief glories of the times, and the withdrawal of our troops from the Philippines, advocated by the democrats, with the consequent turning of the islands over to rapine and pillage would be the crowning infamy of the age.

You've got to hustle all the time to keep in the swim. If you are slipping down the ladder of prosperity, take Rocky Mountain Tea. Makes people strenuous. Ask your druggist.

Five years ago, when the republican party succeeded to the control of national affairs, business was stagnant, credit impaired, currency disordered and industries prostrate. After the task of putting the national house in order was accomplished, the party not only brought the country to the highest point in its prosperity but to the highest point of prosperity in the history of the world; and this in spite of three wars in two hemispheres, Cuba, China and the Philippines.

Starling proof of a wonderful advance in medicine is given by druggist G. W. Roberts of Elizabeth, N. J. An old man there had long suffered with what good doctors pronounced incurable cancer. They believed his case hopeless till he used Electric Bitters and applied Backlin's Arnic Salve, which treatment completely cured him. When Electric Bitters are used to expel bilious, kidney and mucus poisons at the same time this salve exerts its matchless healing power, blood diseases, skin eruptions, ulcers and sores wash. Caution! This is not a gentle word—but when you think how liable you are not to purchase for the only remedy universally known and a remedy that has had the largest sale of any medicine in the world since 1868 for the cure and treatment of Consumption and Throat and Lung troubles without losing its great popularity all these years you will be thankful we called your attention to Backlin's German Syrup. There are so many ordinary cough remedies made by druggists and others that are cheap and good for light colds perhaps, but for severe Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup—and especially for Consumption, where there is difficult expectoration and coughing during the nights and mornings, there is nothing like German Syrup. Sold by all druggists in the civilized world. G. G. GREEN, Woodbury, N. J.

Sarah's Ways. A recent writer says of Sarah Bernhardt: "It takes years of your age to see Sarah. The last time I saw her she was about twenty, and now she is only sixteen. One thing I learned from her own lips, and that is that the cranks who make out that she owes her perpetual youth to very limited sleep are entirely in the wrong. The theater over, she delights in two or three glasses of beer, and then for a solid nine hours of sleep, and pity help the servant who disturbs her."

Irish Emigration. In Ireland for years emigration has been, as it were, a fever. From the time they arrive at the age of consciousness boys and girls in that country are turning their hearts and their eyes to the lands beyond the seas, whether so many of their kind and kin have flown before them. "It's going to America," a phrase that should have the saddest of all meanings to them, is for the young people of Ireland only the expression of a fondly cherished hope.—Donahoe's Magazine.

And Hanna Refused. The enterprising manager of a lecture bureau recently offered Senator Hanna $10,000 for a series of eighteen lectures in the south and middle west. He was sorely disappointed when the Ohio boss refused to consider his offer. "Why?" said the manager plaintively, "it's as much money as he gets for serving two years in the senate, and he could easily make the circuit in a month."

In the great parade of the Shrines at San Francisco the flag was greeted with deafening cheers. The Moolah Patrol will make the pilgrimage home by way of Portland, Tacoma, Seattle and St. Paul, and all along the route the Exposition flag will be exhibited.

A Startling Report. One that Speaks Volumes— Tells of a Great good done of a Certain Cure— For the Nervous Weak and Sleepless. Mrs. B. E. Toland of 103 Clinton St., Washington, D. C., writes: "I was troubled with severe nervousness and depression. Being advised to try Dr. A. W. TWO IRISH STORIES.

A Blind Man in a Fight and a Queer Bottle of Wine.

The late Lord Morris was full of legal stories, but the following did not belong to his bag: A case of assault came before a Kerry court. In the course of it the counsel for the defense when examining a witness for the prosecution asked, "And you say the man who assaulted you is blind or is as good as blind?" "Yes, sir." Then, how came he to get into the strait-jacket? "Well, counselor, it was this way: Whenever he heard the 'blows going' he slipped in for a vacancy, and when he found it he let fly like a godd man." "But you said just now that there was a storm of thunder and lightning going on at the time?" "There was so, yer honor." "Then I suppose it got darker and darker." "Thar's for you, counselor." "And you say this man was nearly blind. Surely the darkness would have made him quite so?" "Not at all, sir. Contrariwise, every time a flash of lightning came he struck out and hit me in the eye." "It was raining, too, I suppose." "It was so, sir." "Perhaps, then, as you are so exact, you'll tell the gentlemen of the jury the size of the drops of rain." "I will thin. To the best of my recollection, they varied in size from a shillin' to 18 pence!" "This hazy view of the size of drops of rain is somewhat suggestive of a drop too much of another sort and reminds me of another whose absurdity is due to the provision of a drop too little, or rather, a drop of the wrong sort. A priest who is a total abstainer was expecting his cousin, a Dublin solicitor, on a visit and, knowing that he did not hold the same views as himself on the drink question, went to the village grocer and ordered a bottle of port. This was duly delivered and decanted by his reverence. At dinner time he hospitably poured out a glass and said, "There, Cousin Tom, that's the best vintage Ballyporeen affords." The solicitor sipped it critically and then said, "Well, Cousin Cornelius, to my mind it tastes a wee bit too much of the masherkins' (mushrooms). It proved to be catchup.—A Kerry Man in London Spectator.

Sky-lark Journeys. The English skylark has inspired several of the most beautiful poems in our language, and its migrations are of a character which, it would seem, might appeal to English poets only less effectively than its song does. In violation of the general rule that birds move southward in the autumn, immense numbers of skylarks which have summered in central Europe arrive in England in September and October to pass the winter in the British Isles. In October an entirely distinct immigration of skylarks enters Great Britain from Scandinavia, while all through the autumn British bred skylarks emigrate southward, many of them going to the continent for the winter. Yet others remain in England all the year round.—Youth's Companion.

Saved From an Awful Fate. "Everybody said I had consumption," writes Mrs. A. M. Shields, of Chambersburg, Pa., "I was so low after six months of severe sickness, caused by Hay Fever and Asthma, that few thought I could get well, but I learned of the marvelous merit of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, used it, and was completely cured." Wanted. We would like to ask, through the columns of your paper, if there is any person who has used Green's August Flower for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Liver Troubles that has not been cured—and who also means their results, such as sour stomach, fermentation of food, habitual constipation, nervous dyspepsia, headaches, dependent feelings, sleeplessness—in fact, any trouble connected with the stomach or liver? This medicine has been sold for many years in all civilized countries, and we wish to correspond with you and send you one of our books free of cost. If you never tried August Flower, try one bottle first. If so, something more serious is the matter with you. Ask your oldest druggist. G. G. GREEN, Woodbury, N. J.

you want FACTS and FIGURES. Remember, the question is: Not only HOW MUCH, but HOW FAR. The measure of paint value is not the price per gallon, but its covering capacity. HIGH STANDARD LIQUID PAINT is cheaper than other paints because it COVERS MORE (One gallon covers 400 ft. two coats—under favorable conditions, even more than this). IT WORKS MORE EASILY, IT LASTS LONGER, IT WEARS BETTER, and therefore IT IS MORE ECONOMICAL.

A VISIT OF CONDOLENCE.

Little Edna Expressed Her Sympathy in Her Own Words.

Little Edna was a solemn child. Whether that was due to her own peculiar disposition or to the fact that her old black mammy delighted in mournful events it is hard to say.

On one occasion Edna went with her mother to pay a "visit of condolence" to her aunt, whose husband had recently died. She was very fond of this aunt, who had expressed a wish to see the little niece, so she and her mother came all the way from their country home, and on the road mamma talked seriously to the little girl.

"You must be very sweet to auntie, darling. She has had such a sorrow."

"Yes, it was dreadful," said Edna, with a sympathetic sigh.

"It certainly was, and you must say something very nice to her."

"What, mamma?"

"Oh, I don't know, dear; anything that comes into your kind little heart. And you must hug and kiss her and tell her how much you love her. Poor auntie!"

"Oh," said Edna, and she lapsed into silence until they reached their destination.

On seeing the child her aunt was very much affected and cried a good deal, and Edna sat on her lap, patting her hands and stroking her hair while thinking of something "comfortable" to say.

At last she made up her mind to speak. She leaned over and kissed her auntie softly on the forehead. The tear stained face was raised to hers, and the child whispered:

"Auntie, darling, did you joy yourself at the funeral?"—Ohio State Journal.

Why She Forgot. "Bridget, I want a pound of steak, a bag of salt, two ounces of pepper, a loaf of bread and a pound of butter. Do you think you can remember them all, or shall I write them down?"

"Sure, ma'am, I can remember one by the other. When I have bread, I know I want butter, and when I have steak I know I want pepper and salt."

"All right. Go and don't be long." Bridget was not long. She was back in a very short time, but with an empty basket.

"Why, where is the dinner, Bridget?"

"I couldn't remember one of them, ma'am."

"Why, I thought you could remember each article by the one before it?"

"Faith, ma'am, I had nothing to remember the first one by!"—London Tit-Bits.

Wise Distribution of Time. Once when dining quite by chance with Dr. Creighton, the late bishop of London, at a certain club Lord Rosebery remarked: "Ah, my lord bishop, what a nuisance this dining is! Two things I absolutely dread—a long dinner and long sermon. I think that a sermon and a dinner, however good either may be, ought never to last more than a quarter of an hour or twenty minutes at the most."

"Well, well," said Dr. Creighton musingly, "could we not arrange matters this way, my lord? Knock, say, ten minutes off the sermon and put it on to the dinner."—"Men of the Moment."

The Elephant. Animal trainers say that the elephant is the most intelligent of the brute creation and that this is one of the few animals that reason from cause to effect. Everything that the physical structure of an elephant will permit it to accomplish can be taught these curious thinking animals. To successfully instruct an elephant, however, requires a peculiar education on the part of the trainer. This latter must not only have a thorough understanding of the art of training, but he must also have a scientific knowledge of the animal's possibilities and limitations.

Greek Water Coolers. In many places in Greece a cream colored water jug or jar is made which is so porous that when filled with water the moisture keeps continually exuding to the outside and there evaporating, which wonderfully cools the contents, especially when the vessel stands in a draft. These cheap "water coolers" are used by everybody, rich and poor, and great numbers of them are manufactured and sold every year.

Disappointed. A little girl was sent to school for the first time. On her return her mother asked how she liked it.

"I didn't like it a bit," the mite replied. "The teacher put me on a chair and told me to sit there for the present, and I sat and sat, but she never gave me any present."—Normal Instructor.

ANSWERS BY EXPERTS.

Under the caption "Answers by Experts" The Chicago Record Herald publishes daily an article by an authority of national reputation on some topic of everyday interest to nearly all newspaper readers. Some problem of family or school life is considered in every Monday issue; methods of developing health and vigor of body are treated on Tuesdays; various movements and mental phenomena attracting popular attention on Wednesdays; natural methods of promoting good health and good looks for women on Thursdays; momentous decisions in the lives of eminent men, related by themselves, on Fridays, and "Modern Thought About the Bible," presenting the differing views of eminent theologians on important Bible topics, on Sundays. The "Answers by Experts," in brief, tell you things you want to know, and are written by men and women who do know. The list of contributors of high standing is the most extensive ever announced by an American newspaper.

Carlyle's Method of Work. Speaking of his method of work, Carlyle said he had found the little wooden pegs which washerwomen employ to fasten clothes to a line highly convenient for keeping together bits of notes and agendas on the same special point. It was his habit to paste on a screen in his workroom engraved portraits, when no better could be had, of the people he was then writing about. It kept the image of the man steadily in view, and one must have a clear image of him in the mind before it was in the least possible to make him be seen by the reader.

How Often the Watch Ticks. Many watches make five beats per second, 300 each minute, 18,000 every hour or 432,000 per day. Thus it will be seen that a half dozen turns of the key once a day, taking up but a few seconds of time, stores up a medium of power in the spring which is cut up into nearly a million of beats. If we multiply the daily beats by 365, the number of days in a year, we find that the watch ticks 157,788,000 while the earth is making one annual trip around the sun.

A regular schedule was inaugurated Tuesday on the Springfield and Xenia traction line between Springfield and Yellow Springs. The Springfield Sun says that E. W. Guckert, traveling for the National Music House, of New York bought the first ticket in Springfield. The trip is made in 30 minutes and the fare is 15 cents or 25 cents for the round trip.

Buggies painted at Wolford's.

The arrangement of mails since the new schedule went into effect is not as satisfying as it might be, from the fact that the evening papers from Cincinnati are much later arriving here. The change in time of trains is about the greatest that has taken place for several years, and it will be some time before the people will become acquainted with the new schedule.

A Tooth Brush that won't shed for 25c B. G. Ridgway.

STRAW HOG—A large male one. Owner can have same by paying for this notice and calling on Charles Cooley.

Messrs. J. W. Pollock and R. F. Kerr were in Indianapolis, Ind., this week, where they sold seven head of their polled Durham cattle in a combination sale Wednesday. An excellent sale is reported, fifty head bringing an average of about $400. Mr. Kerr had two head and Mr. Pollock five and their sales went to Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa.

Mr. D. Q. Fox, a wholesale grocerman of Springfield, was in town last Saturday, the guest of Dr. E. C. Oglesbee. It will be recalled that when Harry Frey, the railroad promoter, had a number of Springfield business men visit this place just about the time the Fox granted Frey his franchise, Mr. Fox made a speech on that occasion to the effect that a road would be built immediately. He was asked Saturday what he knew of the situation. His reply was just what he contemplated this visit his thoughts reverted to the former visit and he felt ashamed to face our people for he had been mislead. He expresses great hopes of a railroad for this section by some company.

If you want your clothes to be clean and white, use Maple City Soap as directed on the wrapper.

There will be a meeting of council on Monday evening at which time the railroad question will be taken up. Squire Bradford has been obtaining consents for the Springfield & Washington, C. H. railroad company and will be ready with same on Monday evening.

A robbery was committed in the west end of town, Saturday, when James Gaines' residence was entered and a box containing some clothing, watch, razor and about $4 in money was taken. The next morning the box and clothing were found floating on the creek, but the other articles were missing. The officers have a good clue as to who performed the work, but no arrests have yet been made.

Notice—Party who borrowed my pipe tongs will confer a favor by returning them. C. M. Crouse.

The Xenia ball team came up from that place last Saturday and crossed bats with the paper mill team. The home boys came out victorious by a score of nine to two.

Olney brand of peas, tomatoes, corn and beans at Gray & Co's.

A natural curiosity was found on the farm where the reservoir is being constructed for the paper company. Two large trees of the sycamore variety, about three feet in diameter, were found joined together by a limb some three inches in diameter. The limb had grown from one tree into the other, the trees being about six feet apart. Such a case as this is rather unusual.

An Urgent Call.

After dinner one very disagreeable night last week a certain Madison avenue physician, looking from his office window and seeing the rain beat against the glass, decided that he would have a quiet, uninterrupted evening at home. He was soon in his house coat, a novel in his hand, and tobacco smoke was curling around him. About 10 o'clock some one rang the doorbell. "The doctor is wanted right away at—" began the caller. "He can't go, sir," answered the servant quickly. "He left word that he was not well and that unless it was a case of life or death he would not venture out."

"Well, you tell him he must come over. We need him to sit in a poker game."

A Kentucky Word.

In the mountains of eastern Kentucky when a man speaks of his wife to a third person he calls her "um," or when a wife speaks of her husband she calls him "um." For instance, "um" is going to Saylorsville tomorrow," or "um" shot a bear yesterday." The word is said to have originated with young married folks over 100 years ago, who were too diffident to use the phrase "my wife" or "my husband."

While at the table before strangers the husband who desired his wife to pass the bread or sorghum would attract the attention of his wife by clearing his throat, "ahem," "oohum," and finally degenerating the phrase to "um," which was the final understanding when each was addressed.—Exchange.

Setting.

If betting could be stopped, an enormous bulk of those who engage in it—apart, of course, from professional bookmakers—would save a great deal of money, but there is no more chance of abolishing betting than of abolishing champagne, cigars and snuff boxes. It would not be a bad thing if bookmakers were licensed, but they never will, partly because of the difficulties of finding a satisfactory licensing tribunal and chiefly because of the outcry that would be raised about the "legalization of gambling."—Baltimore Magazine.

Foot Superstitions.

The Chinese value a pair of boots which have been worn by an upright magistrate, and the custom of wishing a friend a "happy foot" is still observed all through Europe.

The casual putting the left shoe on the right foot, pulling it on uneven or crosswise, bursting the shoe latch or tie, lacing it wrong and losing a button are all bad signs.—London Tit-Bits.

The Caddis Scored.

It is told of a learned professor, who was better at Greek than golf, that after a round on the links, in which he had fozzled most of his caddies, he turned to his caddie for advice as to improving his play.

Left in the Dark.

A little girl about three years old was out playing when suddenly it became very cloudy. She ran into the house and startled her mamma by saying: "I'm not going to stay outdoors any more."

They're Growing Up.

"By George, I'm beginning to feel pretty old."
"Why? You don't look it."
"I know, but I've just been introduced to a stunning girl whose picture I remember seeing in a magazine as she sat in a washbowl, posing as an advertisement for a baby food factory."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Blowing Up.

"Isn't it awful how thin Mr. Henpeck is now?" remarked Mrs. Gabbie to her husband. "And he used to be so stout."

Bad Business Policy.

"Don't die!" she wailed when he was brought home to her after a collision with a trolley car.
"I'll try not to," he answered.
"I knew you would," she said. "You are always so good and thoughtful, and you have such a head for business. You can't afford to die." Why, if you should die the company would get off with the payment of a paltry $5,000, while if you live a cripple we may get as high as $50,000. Oh, it would be worse than folly to die under the circumstances.—Chicago Post.

Modesty of an Ameer.

The late Ameer Abdur Rahman left behind him, we are told, copious diaries from which he directed his successor to extract and publish those portions which bore upon his private and domestic life, omitting all political questions. It is now to appear under the modest title of the "Encyclopedia of the World." This is not so bad for an informal domestic record even of an oriental potentate.—Madras Mail.

Where Running is a Crime.

In the city of Hot Springs, Ark., running is a misdemeanor. Any person going faster than a walk is arrested and fined. This law is in the interest of invalids who throng the streets and suffer relapses from the excitement caused by the undue haste of a stranger. One who runs is supposed to be a thief, murderer or escaped lunatic.—Exchange.

No Compulsion.

"Say, ma!"
"Yes, Reginald."
"Kin any little boy be president when he grows up?"
"Yes, Reginald."
"But, say, ma."
"Yes, Reginald."
"He don't have to if he'd rather be a first bass man, does he?"—Indianapolis News.

A Literary Glimpse.

During a recent visit of Marion Crawford to New York he met at a social function Miss Mary E. Wilkins. The lady said something pleasant about a recent novel of his. Smiling and bowing, he asked, "And do you write, Miss Wilkins?" She was absolutely too surprised to reply.—Current Literature.
