INTERESTING LETTER FROM PHILIPPINES.

MASBATE, P. I., June 18, '02.
DEAR ONES AT HOME:—I have not written to you for nearly two weeks. The last letter was written when I was on the "Resurreccion" in quarantine in Manila bay. All boats leaving Manila are kept in quarantine for five days to see if cholera will develop. If it does not, they are allowed to proceed to their destination. We were therefore one week on the way. The "Thomas" came into Manila just as we were about ready to leave. We were hoping for mail, but had to sail before it was distributed. As she carried 575 sacks of mail we hope to get some yet.

Our Normal opened this morning with twenty in attendance but we hope to have forty in a few days. We have had a big fair here. It was given primarily for the patron saint of the town, but some of the Americans got it modified so as to make quite a creditable agricultural fair. The school house was used in which to display a sample of all the products of the province. We had hemp, coconuts, copra (dried coconut meat), cocoa, rice, tobacco, corn, sugar cane and some garden stuff. Then there was coal, iron, copper, and gold ore. One specimen of gold ore had been tested and produced $23.75 a ton. Then there were mats, hats, woven screens, and other samples of handwork; also samples of all kinds of timber found on the island. The inspector of constabulary in charge of the civil commissary had an exhibit of all the things which he has to sell, and I had a table and exhibited a sample of all our school supplies, such as books, charts, globes, bells, slates, etc. Then there was an exhibit of as many American tools as could be found on the island, the object being to show the people what the natives can raise, and the natives, American methods and tools.

(June 29) The "4" of July will soon be here and it seems hardly possible. I think it must be that we do not have the changes in temperature here that you do at home, that makes the year seem so short, but I am sure that it does not seem one year since I left Colorado, but it will be this week. Some of the boys were trying to get up some kind of a celebration for the "Fourth," but there were not enough to insure anything. I suspect we will have a quiet time of it. There are only a few soldiers here now as all of the 30th Inf. have gone to Manila, and there are only 15 men from the 10th Inf. here to guard the military property and supplies. It is probable this part will be abandoned as a military station and the province put in charge of the constabulary. Still I believe the constabulary is able to protect the province without the soldiers, and as I said before, the town will be better off without them unless it is absolutely necessary for them to be here.

At present there are seven other boys here with me in this house, and I wish you could see how we are crowded together; some of the boys will be going to their stations now. I expect four will leave this week. I will be located at Molo, and am very thankful, as it is a much better place than some I have been at.

(July 12.) It has been some time since I last wrote, but we have only had two mails in the last two months and are quite anxious to get another. My busy time here in Masbate is about over now as the Normal school is closed and most of the boys have gone to their stations. There have been from five to nine of us in this house for several weeks and it has been quite hard to find time, or rather an opportunity to write, and no chance at all to sit down and have a quiet think.

I will soon be left alone and will have charge of the office until Mr. Shorter, the superintendent, comes, about the middle or last of August, and then I will go to my teaching at Molo again.

We have had lots of fun and excitement for the last ten days as the "Pachyderm," the government survey boat, has been here all that time taking on coal. She has a fine set of oars and all of them have been on shore more or less. July "4" the women rowed a race against the sailors and beat them in a two mile race. All of the Americans were invited on board the ship to witness the race. In the afternoon the officers played a game of baseball with the civilians and were beaten by the narrow margin of one run in a seven inning game. Score 12 to 13. There were ten American officers, so it was quite a treat to have them stay so long with us. I am boarding for the present with Mr. Wright and pay $1 a day, so you see living is not over cheap. A boat is in, so must send at once. Yours, C. B. COLLINS.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO.

I wondered in the grogshop, Tom; I stood beside the bar. And drank a bowl of lemonade and smoked a bad cigar; The same old kegs and jugs were there, the ones we used to know; When we were on the round up, Tom, some fifteen years ago. The barkeeper is a new one, Tom, the one who used to sell Corrosive tanglefoot to us, is roasting now in—well; The other has a plate-glass front, his hair is combed quite low. And looks just like the one we knew some fifteen years ago. Old Souk came up and called for booze, he has the self-same grin; While others burned the lining from their throat with Holland gin. And women stood beside the door, their faces seamed with woe, And wept just as they used to weep, some fifteen years ago.

I asked about our old-time friends, those cherished sporty men, And some were in the poorhouse, Tom, and some were in the pen; And one, the one we liked the best, the hangman laid him low; The world is much the same, dear Tom, as fifteen years ago.

I asked about that stately chap, that pride marked for its own, Who used to say that he could drink, or let the stuff alone;

He perished of the James H. Jams, out in the cold and snow— A few survive who used the booze some fifteen years ago.

New crowds line up against the bar and call for crimson ink; New hands are trembling as they pour the stuff they shouldn't drink; But still the same old watchword rings, "This round to me, you know!"

The same old cry of doom we heard some fifteen years ago, I wandered in the churchyard, Tom, and there I saw the graves Of those who used to drown themselves in red fermented waves;

And there were women sleeping there where grass and daisies grow, Who wept and died of broken hearts some fifteen years ago. And there were graves where children sleep, have slept for many years, Forgetful of the woes that marked their fitful sojourn here;

And 'neath a tall white monument, in death there lieth low The man who used to sell the booze some fifteen years ago.

PROCLAMATION OF ELECTION.

The qualified electors of the village of Cedarville in the County of Greene and State of Ohio, are hereby notified that on Saturday, the 4th day of October A. D. 1902, between the hours of 5:30 o'clock a. m. Central Standard time, and 5:30 o'clock p. m. Central Standard time, of said day, a special election will be held under the provisions of an act entitled: "An act to amend Section 4304-20 of the Revised Statutes of Ohio, and to supplement said section by inserting supplementary sections 4304-20a, 4304-20b, 4304-20c, 4304-20d, 4304-20e, 4304-20f, 4304-20g, 4304-20h and 4304-20i," passed by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio on the 31st day of April, A. D. 1902, at the usual place of holding elections in said village, to determine by ballot whether the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage shall be prohibited in said village in accordance with the provisions of said act.

The voting places designated for election is in the Mayor's office for voters from the South Precinct and the Township Clerk's office for voters from the North Precinct in the incorporated village of Cedarville, Greene Co., O.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the corporate seal of said village to be hereunto affixed this 5th day of September, A. D. 1902.

D. H. MCFARLAND, Mayor.

MAYOR THOMAS GIVES WM. HARLOW LIMIT.

Local option people and those interested in the movement both in corporations and townships over the county have watched with interest the trial of Wm. Harlow, a bartender for Grassy Berry, the Xenia saloonist, for selling intoxicants contrary to a city ordinance and the Real law. The law gives the plaintiff the privilege of taking the case before any mayor in the county. Xenia's mayor, having once been tried by the Committee of One Hundred, feared such a step again, consequently the case was taken to Jamestown and tried before Mayor Thomas. The case was set for Monday and all day testimony was heard from both sides. Tuesday morning the case was resumed, the attorneys presenting their arguments. Snodgrass and Dean were the prosecuting attorneys in the case and Fitzgerald and Armstrong represented Harlow. It is said that Mr. Snodgrass gave the case his closest attention and was able to secure some valuable testimony from the witnesses.

The defence attempted to prove an alibi in that Harlow was in Dayton the day on which he is charged with selling the liquor. After hearing all the evidence and carefully considering the case Mayor Thomas found Harlow guilty on the second charge of keeping a place where intoxicating liquors are sold and fined him $200 and costs and committed him to the work-house until paid, which is the full limit for the first offense.

Mayor John S. Thomas is not a lawyer but is known the county over as one of the leading educators. He is a man of sound judgment and from the testimony offered has given the proper decision. Mr. Thomas was placed in a very close place when the time came for making the decision, but it was given and we believe given on the strength of the testimony.

It has always appeared to the writer that should our city police courts, county and state courts be conducted on the principle of the United States court at Cincinnati, there would be fewer offenders of the law. Our local and county officers are too lenient with prisoners.

CASES NOLLIED.

The Ohio State Register published at Washington, C. H., gives the following:

"The indictments were nollied against the following named persons: Arthur McDermott, Dosie Bennett, George Marshall, J. W. Bennett, Lou Dalbey, Curt Cline, Wm. Midner, Howell Little, Harry Carter, Aaron Shepard, Alf Spencer, Oscar Kincaid, Porter Knisley, Wm. Timmons, D. F. Thompson, H. M. Barber, W. W. Northrop.

The indictments were returned two years ago and were in connection with the case of John R. Gibson and C. E. Young against the Hagar Strawberry Company of Cedarville, which attracted considerable attention in a recent term. The company bought straw from the plaintiffs and removed it in violation of the contract. The parties named above were employees of the company and were indicted for trespass. The civil action was compromised and the other proceedings dismissed."

ONE OBJECTION.

About the only objection we hear to local option is "Well what is to be done with the drugstores? You assure me that they will not be permitted to sell and I will support the movement." This seems to be the bone of contention and it is from the fact that people are not fully acquainted with the recent local option laws enacted by the legislature. There was a time when local option for a town was a great boon for the drugstores, but not so today. It matters not what kind of legislature you have if the local and county officers can be forced to do their duty. Heretofore when the drugstore cases come up there was a lack of system in conducting the cases. Those interested in the work of prosecution failed to follow up the work closely. Then when the case reached the county courts, it went to no one knows where. If these cases are followed up in the proper manner by an organization that has the support of the people, there is little fear but that there will be prosecutions of the offenders.

DEATH OF JOHN STANLEY.

Mr. John Stanley, an old and respected citizen who has lived west of town for over thirty years died at his home Sabbath morning about half past eight o'clock. Several years ago Mr. Stanley suffered an attack of typhoid fever but never fully recovered from the effects.

The deceased was born in Berkeley county, Virginia and was in his sixty-third year. He came to Greene county and lived on his farm near Massies Creek cemetery some thirty-four years ago. He was a man of good standing and held in highest esteem by all who knew him. He was a member of the Presbyterian church at Clifton. Besides a sister, Hester, who has kept house for him, he leaves one brother, a resident of Wichita, Kansas, and Mrs. John Lowry and Mrs. William Gage, of Xenia. The funeral services were held at the residence Tuesday at 1:30 o'clock, the exercises being conducted by Rev. Brownlee, of Clifton.

ELECTED OFFICERS.

A fair sized crowd attended the mass meeting in the opera house Monday evening. The object of the meeting was for the purpose of effecting an organization for work in the coming local option campaign. Prof. R. A. Brown called the meeting to order and Rev. W. J. Sanderson led in prayer. Dr. J. O. Stewart was chosen temporary chairman. Upon motion a nominating committee was appointed by the chair to nominate permanent officers. The committee reported the following, who are the officers of the organization. President, Prof. R. A. Brown; Vice president, Foster Alexander; Secretary, Rev. W. J. Sanderson; Treasurer, H. H. McMillan. After some discussion on the question of local option the meeting was adjourned to meet again at the call of the president and secretary.

AN AFTERNOON PARTY.

Mrs. Walter J. Wildman entertained in honor of her mother, Mrs. E. A. Atkins, at Osceola, I., last Friday afternoon, from two to five. The decorations were goldenrod and asters. Mrs. Wildman was assisted in a delightful manner by Misses Blanche and Mary Ervin, Vera Andrews, Zola Downard, Anna Orr, Echo Sterrett and Edith Smith and Floy McDorman, of Salma. The ladies present from a distance were Mrs. C. L. Spencer, Xenia; Mrs. Wright, Dwight, Ill.; Mrs. Warner, Indianapolis; Mrs. Murray Wildman and Miss Bessie Watt, Chicago; Mrs. Blair and Mrs. McLaughlin, of Salem, Ill., and Mrs. Moon, of Wilmington, O.

ONE REASON.

One reason why local option should be in effect here is that it would be the means of cutting off the supply of liquor for a few from Xenia and Jamestown. At present there are several persons who make a trip about a week to this place for the purpose of taking liquor back to Jamestown. We have heard it said, there is as much whiskey sold in Jamestown today as there ever was. If this is true how is it then that these people have to come here for their drinks? Local option here would be of great benefit to our people and to the towns nearby who have it also. Look at the question from a moral standpoint.

COMMISSION MEETS.

The Court House Commission met Tuesday and heard the arguments from attorneys in regard to some changes in the court house. The Commission will investigate. The question of metal furniture was brought up, but there was no action taken. It is to be hoped that since Mr. John W. Smith has taken his seat there may be something done towards letting the contract. Judge Shearer was allowed $900 for legal services for the board. Alexander and Son were allowed $450 on the court house carpets. The contractors received $1700 of the amount due them.

TAXES REDUCED.

Some thoughtful person said to be from Jamestown was in town Tuesday distributing some bills that had been in use during the recent campaign in that town. The following is the circular. "Taxes Reduced. What Local Option has done for Jamestown in the way of reducing taxes last year. This is to certify that the rate of taxation for the incorporated village of Jamestown, Ohio, for the year 1901 was $2.70 on each $100 valuation, and that the rate of taxation for the incorporated village of Jamestown, Ohio, for the year 1902, (the first half of which is due December 20th, 1902) is $2.45 on each $100 valuation. J. H. McPherson, County Auditor. Asa Little, County Treasurer.

A NEW CIRCUS.

The Democratic hippodrome with Tom Johnson as stage manager and Herbert L. Bigelow as the star performer, with a complement of "end men" are already "coming down the pike" and 'tis said that this place will be filled in circus fashion for a date in a neighboring city. The Cleveland mayor and Cincinnati preacher are traveling in an automobile that has been named the "Red Devil," and these three boon companions are presumed to do the hot air balloon act at each performance. It is said that there will be only one performance and that the street parade is cut out altogether.

MOBILE TRAVEL.

With the advent of the automobile it is not at all improbable that great highways, similar to the old national roads, although superior in construction and form, will latitudinally and longitudinally traverse the country, uniting great centers of population.

This will be made necessary from the fact that the auto will come into general use and because of its speed, will be used more and more as a passenger carrying conveyance, not for profit, but taking the place of the horse and carriage, it will be used preferably to the steam and electric railway modes of travel for reasons that will at once suggest themselves to the reader.

The history of the U. P. church which has been running in these columns for several months has been discontinued for the present.

OPENING OF COLLEGE.

The ninth year of Cedarville College began Wednesday morning. The opening exercises were conducted by President McKinney. The chapel was well filled with people who came out to hear the address of the morning by Rev. S. E. Maytin, pastor of the First U. P. church, Xenia. The pastor's theme was "Man's Dominion." He divided it as follows: First, "Man's power over inanimate creation;" second, "Man's power over the lower animals;" third, "Man's power over invention and art;" fourth, "Man's power over himself;" fifth, "Man's power with fellow man;" sixth, "Man's power with God." Rev. Martin's address was well received by both students and friends, it being interesting and profitable. Rev. Martin's impression has been made with Cedarville people and the announcement of his coming will be received with pleasure. Rev. Luther McCampbell, of Almonte, Michigan, was present and led in prayer. Most all of the old students are back and quite a number of new force are found in the different classrooms. The ninth year of the school has opened under favorable circumstances and the high standard of work will be continued throughout the year.

KARLIT BULL, Editor and Proprietor.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 19, 1902.

An adequate sense of proportion is the rarest thing in human nature.

Lipton is building a new boat, Shamrock III. He is a good sportsman, a good advertiser and a good loser.

You can keep a fooster from crowing by fastening a string to his foot and passing it over his neck. He never crows unless his head is thrown back.

Did it ever occur to Mr. Bryan that the title of his paper "The Commoner," is perhaps a trifle presumptuous in view of the fact the Great Pitt has been dead some time. However, only the presumption of other people worries Mr. Bryan.

John W. Gates has sailed for Europe. When he returns, Mr. Osgood will give the Gates a jar.

Krupp, the German gunmaker, has invented a projectile that will pierce the best armor plate ever made. This will render useless every battleship in the world. The type of vessel known as torpedo destroyers will probably be the warships of the near future.

The gunning season has begun, football will be done after the colleges open and the automobile is always with us. Surgery is a paying profession.

If the Alphonse Bryan, of the Commoner, does not cease bowing and scraping to Gaston Bryan, of perpetual-presidential-candidacy-ambition, the nomination catastrophe will come along with disastrous result.

Economic conditions are reflected by the work of inventors with wonderful certainty. At present, the scarcity of anthracite coal and the cheapness of Texas oil finds expression in the inquiries relating to oil and vapor burning apparatus on which it is evident a large number of inventors are at work.

A Parson's Noble Act. "I want all the world to know," writes Rev. C. J. Budlong, of Ashaway, R. I., "what a thoroughly good and reliable medicine I found in Electric Bitters. They cured me of jaundice and liver troubles which have caused me great suffering for many years. For a genuine, all-round cure they exceed anything I ever saw." Electric Bitters are the surprise of all for their wonderful work in Liver, Kidney and Stomach troubles. Don't fail to try them. Only 50 cts. Satisfaction is guaranteed by Ridgway & Co.

President Roosevelt's recent eulogy of ex-Speaker Reed was a graceful tribute to a deserving statesman and an exhibition of wise and honorable political ability.

Take Care of the Stomach. The man or woman whose digestion is perfect and whose stomach performs its every functions is never sick. Kodol cleanses, purifies and sweetens the stomach and cures positively and permanently all stomach troubles, indigestion and dyspepsia. It is the wonderful reconstructive tonic that is making so many sick people well and weak people strong by conveying to their bodies all of the nourishment in the food they eat. Rev. J. H. Holladay, of Holladay, Miss. writes: "Kodol has cured me. I consider it the best remedy I ever used for dyspepsia and stomach troubles. I was given up by physicians. Kodol saved my life." Take it after meals. C. M. Ridgway.

Bird-Shot For Tiger.

No use to hunt tigers with bird-shot. It doesn't hurt the tiger any and it's awfully risky for you.

Consumption is a tiger among diseases. It is stealthy—but once started it rapidly eats up the flesh and destroys the life. No use to go hunting it with ordinary food and medicine. That's only bird-shot. It still advances. Good heavy charges of Scott's Emulsion will stop the advance. The disease feels that.

Scott's Emulsion makes the body strong to resist. It soothes and toughens the lungs and sustains the strength until the disease wears itself out.

A Reminder of a Tragedy. In his book, "All the Russias," Henry Horman gives an interesting description of the bedroom of Czar Alexander II, which is kept exactly as it was on the morning he left it. He was brought back an hour after he left it bleeding to death from injuries inflicted by the assassin's bomb. As the room was, so it remains. The half smoked cigarette lies upon the ash tray in a glass tube. A little revolver lies before the mirror. Upon each of the tables and upon several chairs is a loosely folded clean handkerchief, for it was the czar's wish to have one of these always within reach of his hand. There lie all his toilet articles, a few plain bottles and brushes. It is all modest beyond belief, and the brushes are half worn.—Leslie's Weekly.

Just Retribution. "My little one," said a newspaper man, "is two years old now, but has always had her bottle of milk. Recently we began to give her regular food. We have a young pup at the house, so in explanation of the change I led her out on the porch, ready showing her the milk." "Tootsie, that baby dog drinks your milk now?" She did not say anything, only stamped her foot at it.

The next morning my wife and I heard a terrific racket and squealing. "Thinking the baby had been run over or hurt herself, we ran out. In the corner of the porch was the poor little dog, his nose in the air, the tears streaming from his eyes, and howling with all his puny might. The baby stood over it with a stick in her hand, and she was certainly using it." "What for whip poor doggie?" we demanded. "Teal my milk," she lisped. "Not doggie—piggy!"—Philadelphia Telegraph.

A Boy's Wild Ride for Life. With family around expecting him to die, and a son riding for life, 18 miles, to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, W. H. Brown, of Leesville, Ind., endured death's agonies from asthma, but this wonderful medicine gave instant relief and soon cured him. He writes: "I now sleep soundly every night." Life marvelous cures of Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Grip prove its matchless merit for all Throat and Lung troubles. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1. Trial bottles free at Ridgway & Co's. drug store.

To Kill Mosquitoes. "Did you ever try to kill off the mosquitoes with oil?" "You bet we did," replied the old farmer. "We just flooded the marsh with it last year."

"Oh, it settled the mosquitoes all right and pretty near took the house too. Somebody dropped a lighted match in it. This year we're takin' our chances with the mosquitoes, not wishin' to have our fire insurance policy canceled. But there ain't no sort of doubt that it does the business if you're thorough."—Chicago Post.

The Danger of a Little Knowledge. "Don't you sometimes regret that you did not devote more time to your education in early life?" "No, sir," answered the politician. "If I had learned to talk grammatically, the voters in my district would think I was puttin' on airs and driftin' away from the hearts of the people."—Washington Star.

A Sad Disappointment. Ineffective liver medicine is a disappointment, but you don't want to purge, strain and break the glands of the stomach and bowels. DeWitt's Little Early Risers never disappoint. They cleanse the system of all poison and putrid matter and do it so gently that one enjoys the pleasant effects. They are a tonic to the liver. Cures biliousness, torpid liver and prevent fever. C. M. Ridgway.

THE GIANT OF THE FORCE.

Terror inspired by a New England City's First Policeman. Some of the old inhabitants of a small New England city were exchanging reminiscences the other day about the establishment of its police department. The force was small in numbers, but one of its members was almost a giant in size, 6 feet 4 1/2 inches tall and broadly built. There chanced to be a hitch about the delivery of the men's uniforms, so that only one was received promptly, and the Goliath of the force stalked forth in his splendor alone.

Naturally he created a sensation. As he patrolled the long, winding street that ran the whole length of the place there were many comments upon his personal appearance, most of which were discreetly uttered after he had passed out of hearing.

At length, however, a shuffling, shabby, sly eyed, croak voiced ne'er do well stepped up and touched the gorgeous figure on the arm. "Say, mister," he whispered humbly, "tell me the safest law to break, and I'll break it for the honor of walking down Main street with them buttons."

The information requested was not vouchsafed, and the giant marched on in his buttons and his dignity. But a little farther along a small boy who was playing in the front yard was no less impressed, although more bewildered, by the glittering and mighty apparition. He gave one look, eyes and mouth at their roundest, and then indoors, crying to his mother: "Oh, mamma, look, look! Is he war or the circus?"

Even after he had become a familiar figure to the citizens the huge guardian of the peace retained some of his impressiveness. To one prisoner at least he so embodied the terrors of the law that the man submitted to an arrest which a few words of explanation at the time could have averted. When in court he did at length explain, the judge inquired in astonishment why he had not done so before. Smiling confidentially at his honor, the accused replied: "Well, judge, it's like this: You're folks, but as for that Bunker Hill monument with a helmet on top, he may be a first rate handouttin' machine, but he ain't a man. I didn't dare argy with him. No, sir. Pd as soon thought of tryin' to make my position clear to the town fire injun."—Youth's Companion.

Beware of the Knife. No profession has advanced more rapidly of late than surgery, but it should not be used except where absolutely necessary. In cases of piles, for example, it is seldom needed. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cures quickly and permanently. Ungualled for cuts, burns, bruises, wounds, skin diseases. Accept no counterfeits. "I was so troubled with bleeding piles that I lost much blood and strength," says J. C. Phillips, Paris, Ill. "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me in a short time." Soothes and heals. C. M. Ridgway.

His Difficulty. The witty Samuel Willberforce, bishop of Oxford, had no patience with admirers who persisted in regarding him, with others of his cloth, as extraordinarily important. A lady who met him one day at dinner evidently felt obliged to keep the conversation at a high level. She began with much solemnity: "My lord, you must have had a great many serious questions to deal with in the course of your life. What is the most tremendous difficulty you have had to encounter?"

"The bishop's napkin was slipping away from him." "Keeping a dinner napkin on this silk apron of mine," said he as he clutched it at it.

The Elder Brother Lives Longer. Your elder brother or sister will enjoy a longer life than yourself. Examination of a thousand pairs of brothers and the same number of pairs of sisters revealed the fact that the elder brother had an average life of six years more than the younger, while in the case of the girls the excess was slightly less. These figures do not prove that the younger will die before the elder. It may be that there is a difference of ten years between the dates of birth, so that your elder brother, although having a longer life, may die before you.

NOTED AS A MATCHMAKER.

Mrs. R. T. Wilson, wife of one of New York's multimillionaires, is noted as a great matchmaker. She is called the dean of the matchmaking society. Her husband came from the south immediately after the civil war and settled in New York. He was enormously successful as a financier and soon was very rich. As the family of children grew up in luxury their mother began to look about for suitable matches. The first great match was when Mrs. Wilson succeeded in wedding her eldest daughter to Ogden Goelet, one of the great landowners of Manhattan. Mrs. Wilson's second daughter married the diplomat Michael Herbert Orme Wilson, the eldest son, married an Astor, and Grace Wilson capped the climax of her mother's matchmaking when she was married to young Cornelius Vanderbilt. Richard T. Wilson, Jr., was recently married to Miss Marion Mason, Boston's most beautiful belle.—Detroit Free Press.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Scientific Knowledge Applied to Boiling Potatoes.

We often hear the remark that some would be cook "cannot boil potatoes." The truth is few cooks prepare this dish properly, says Alice Dynes Feeding, B. S., in Good Housekeeping. The girl who understands science knows that the potato does not boil. The water boils, and the heat conveyed by this medium cooks the potato. Physics has taught her that under ordinary pressure water never becomes any warmer after the boiling point (212 degrees F., 100 degrees C.) is reached. Therefore she allows the water to remain at boiling temperature until the heat has penetrated and cooked the vegetable. She then removes the water at once and has a mealy, flaky potato. True, without her knowledge of science she might obtain the same result accidentally, but she is quite as likely to continue the cooking until the starch is partly dextrinized, and a gummy, sticky potato is the result. The unscientific cook is quite likely to endeavor to hasten the cooking process by adding fuel to the fire, thus causing violent boiling, believing that she is thus attaining her object. She may cause the vegetable to break by the mechanical action of the water, or the liquid may splash over on the stove or pass off in steam, but in no case is the cooking accomplished in less time.

EATING FOR PLEASURE.

Many Palatable Articles of Food That Are Most Injurious.

Eating for the satisfying of hunger is a normal act. All living things, plants and animals alike, save man and the brutes he has debauched, do this as naturally as the winds blow themselves to rest. But eating to still the wanton cravings of the palate is unnatural and abnormal—is a physiological sin. It is no longer sufficient that food shall be nutritious and not distasteful; it must be palatable. That is the first requisite, and if it has the added virtue of sustaining qualities—well, very good.

Just stop to think how much of your food is adapted to satisfy the fancies of the palate without regard for and often to the direct detriment of the highest efficiency of the food material. It is well known that oatmeal which has not been cooked long and well, that the starch globules may be all broken up, is exceedingly indigestible. But when thus properly cooked oatmeal is gelatinous and sticky. It does not look so well, and many people won't eat it so prepared because they like to taste the oatmeal flavor as the kernels are crushed in the mouth.

Then there is the matter of meat cooking. The deadly frying pan, that self-inflicted instrument of death that has contributed so much to personal discomfort and permanent injury and hence to domestic trouble and discord, exists today solely because the people pander to their palates rather than feed their bodies.

What excuse is there for pastry of any kind except that it "tastes good"? Much of it is notoriously indigestible, and that part of it which can be easily taken up by the blood is generally the food elements that are not needed—the sugars, etc.—they having been included in sufficient quantity in the plain fare.

Tea and coffee, both long acknowledged to be poison, to say nothing of other drinks sometimes taken with or between meals, are not in any way needed in the human physical economy, but their use is almost universal.—Everywhere.

THE COACHMAN'S PASSING.

When Railroads Came, the Old Timers Disappeared From Earth.

One often wonders what became of the old coachman when railroads drove the last of the mails off the road and those who had "now a few pleasures that were not associated with the movements of lively teams and the hum of rolling wheels or the general intercourse with the traveling world could enjoy those things no more. There must be deep pathos in the unwritten romance of that period. With few exceptions the drivers of stagecoaches had no aptitude or inclination for other work, though they were masters of their own.

Many a time in boyhood I have heard amateur whips admiringly tribute to the professionals of an older generation who, for all their dissolute habits and uncouthness, were workmen to the core with hands as gentle as a woman's. Bob Pointer, who taught many Oxford undergraduates how to handle an awkward team, was one of the hard drinkers, but nobody ever saw him in "difficulties" to which his skill was not equal. His wise maxims are still remembered and worth remembering:

"Never let your horses know you are driving them, or like women, they may get retive. Don't pull and haul and stick your elbows skimo. Keep your hands as though you were playing the piano. Let every horse be at work and don't get flurried. Handle their mouths lightly. Do all this, and you might even drive four young ladies without ever ruffling their feathers or their tempers."—Henry H. S. Pease in Outlook.

WOMAN'S INFLUENCE.

The Average Mother Is Serious, Unselfish and Loving.

While it is a common theory that, no matter what the father and husband may be, the mother and wife must rise superior to her environment, the fact remains that the home is as much the man's as the woman's, and he is relieved of none of his responsibilities because society assigns it to her as her special province.

No man has a right to shirk his duty to his children because, perchance, he has a good wife and they have a good mother. The wife and mother rules by love if she rules at all. The father and husband may rule by authority as well as love. The wife and mother who finds that her love is losing its influence over her children requires, but is too often denied, the disciplinary authority of the husband and father. The wrecks of children may be traced oftener to the failure of the husband to come to the assistance of the wife than to any fault of the latter.

Too much, we believe, is said of the shortcomings of women in these days. Those mothers and wives who are neglectful of their homes constitute the minority. The average American mother is serious, unselfish and loving. If this were not the case, we should not have, as we have today, a higher average of young manhood than any other country on earth. The assumption that wives and mothers are mainly to blame for the waywardness of children is neither reasonable nor fair. It is due usually to a few exceptional cases which, because of their exceptional character, deeply impress the observer. In general woman's devotion and love do not change as the child grows old, save for the better.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Time Cribbing.

What is called "time cribbing" is a common practice in English factories. It consists in running the machinery several minutes beyond the legal time limit. An inspector remarks that "five minutes cribbed at each starting and stopping time amount to a total of fourteen days of ten hours per annum, and this amount is practically stolen from those workers who are paid weekly wages." The fine for violating the law is so small (82) that the factory owners laugh at it.

A Growsome Souvenir.

Curious are the manifestations of the souvenir microbes. A business man of New York wears on his watch chain a locket in which are a common button and two slivers of wood. The wood was cut from the floor on which President McKinley stood when he was shot, and the button was cut from the waistcoat of one of the men who helped overpower the assassin. This would seem to be the limit in souvenir collecting.—New York Press.

Candlesticks.

Patent candlesticks have the advantage of being practical and keeping the candle burning always at the same height. There is a tall silver piece extending above the candlestick about the height of the candle. This is really a case for the candle, and beneath it is a strong spring. The candle is put inside the case, with only the wick appearing at the top. This is lighted, and as the candle burns down the spring below is constantly pressing up and holds the candle always in the same position, and there is no gradual lowering of the light, as is the case with the ordinary candlestick when the candle burns down.

The Sink.

Upon the proper care of the sink the healthfulness of the kitchen largely depends. It is possible to keep the sink fresh and clean by using copperas and water or by using ammonia. One pound of copperas dissolved in a gallon of boiling water is the right solution, and one cupful of this to a quart of hot water makes a good daily wash for the sink. Strong and cheap ammonia is first rate for cleaning out the pipe when it is poured down it unadulterated, but if you like a painted sink nothing is much better than kerosene oil to rub over the paint and brighten it.

Fire Screens.

Pretty fire screens are cheaply made by having the home carpenter fashion a frame of pine the desired size in one piece, which is generally 36 inches high and 30 inches wide, mounted on projecting feet finished with rollers. Enamel the frame with two coats of ivory, cream, gray, brown, turquoise or pale blue enamel paint and when perfectly dry add a curtain of plain or figured india silk in harmony with the furnishings of the room, running it on little brass rods, top and bottom, and having a tiny ruffle above the rod.

Money Lenders In Europe.

The continental monte de pieto had their origin in the Italian monte di pieto, large numbers of which were founded in Italy throughout the sixteenth century and the objects of which were in the first instance essentially charitable, the avowed purpose of the institution being to counteract the injurious effect of usury by lending money on deposits at an almost infinitesimal rate of interest. The Franciscan monks were the first to lend money on goods, and in 1515 they were allowed by the pope to receive a moderate amount of interest. But in process of time the Italian monte di pieto became extensive banking corporations, which were occasionally plundered or half ruined by forced loans exacted by tyrannical princes and sometimes brought to entire collapse by injudicious financial speculations.—London Telegraph.

Not Doomed for Life.

"I was treated for three years by good doctors," writes W. A. Greer, McConnellsville, O., "for Piles, and Fistula, but, when all failed, Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me in two weeks." Cures Burns, Bruises, Cuts, Corns, Sores, Eruptions, Salt Rheum, Piles or no pay. 25c at Ridgway & Co's. drug store.

Waterless Regions.

Hundreds of horses and thousands of cattle in the Hawaiian Islands never take a drink of water. They live on the upper altitudes of the mountains, where the cattle run wild from the time they are born until they are sent to the slaughter house. Except possibly for two or three months in the rainy season there are no streams or pools of water in any part where the cattle roam, but everywhere there grows a recombent, jointed grass known by the native name of mannia. This is both food and drink.

AN ODD COLLECTION.

Why a Book Lover Buys Old Bibles and Hymnbooks.

"All book collectors have their weaknesses," remarked a man who is often seen poring over the sidewalk counters of secondhand bookshops, "and mine, I confess, runs in the line of old Bibles and hymnbooks. Not particularly because they are Bibles and hymnbooks, but because I simply can't stand it to see such books tossed about as dusty, almost worthless secondhand goods. Except in the case of rare old Bibles or quite ancient hymnbooks, such books cost but a trifle. Religious books, as a rule, are almost unsalable in secondhand shops, and I buy a great many; only, however, such as contain family names and inscriptions of pathetic character.

"My first purchase of the kind was an Episcopal prayer book, battered and torn, with the name of an old friend of mine in gilt on the cover. It gave me a shock to find it on a secondhand counter, so I paid the required dime and carried it home. The man is dead, and his children are living in other cities, well to do. I have no idea how his prayer book became public property. People are queer. I offered it to a remote relative of the former owner, but she said she didn't care about it. Since then I have bought in other old family Bibles and hymnbooks which belonged to people I had known or which contain interesting written matter. It is pitiful to see a Bible inscribed, 'To my dear son Henry, from his devoted mother,' or, 'Elizabeth, from a loving father,' or, 'Little William's birthday gift to Uncle William.'

"When these books come into my hands, I erase or tear out the inscriptions, and if my shelf of old Bibles and hymnbooks ever gets started out again as 'religious junk' it will all be anonymous and wanting in that distressing quality which has made me perhaps absurdly sentimental over it."—Detroit Free Press.

Argument From Precedent.

Lincoln was once arguing a case against an opponent who tried to convince the jury that precedent is superior to law and that custom makes things legal in all cases. Lincoln's reply, given in Miss Ida Tarbell's life of the great war president, was one of his many effective analogies in the form of a story.

Lincoln told the jury that he would argue the case in the same way as his opponent and began:

"Old Squire Bagly, from Menard, came into my office one day and said:

"Lincoln, I want your advice as a lawyer. Has a man what's been elected justice of the peace a right to issue a marriage license?"

"I told him not, whereupon the old squire threw himself back in his chair very indignantly and said:

"Lincoln, I thought you was a lawyer. Now, Bob Thomas and me had a bet on this thing, and we agreed to let you decide; but if this is your opinion I don't want to; for I know a thunderin' sight better. I've been a squire eight years and have done it all the time."

Use Golden Rule flour.

QUITO WATER PORTERS.

Around a fountain in one of the principal squares of Quito assemble every morning the city's aguadores. These water porters differ from the less energetic ones of some South American cities in carrying their jars on their backs instead of on the backs of mules. Their earthen jars are deep, have a wide mouth and hold about forty liters.

The porter carries it on his shoulder fastened with leather straps. He never detaches himself from his jar, either to fill it or to transfer its contents to that of his customer.

He turns his back to the fountain so that the jar comes under one of the jets of water, listens to the sound of the water in the jar, and his ear is so well trained that he always walks away at the exact moment when it is filled to the brim.

Arrived at your house, he goes to your jar, makes a deep bow and disappears behind a torrent of water. I could never receive without laughing the visit of my aguadero, the respectful little man who bowed to me behind a cataract of water.—From the Andes to Para.

Fortune Favours a Texan.

"Having distressing pains in head, back and stomach, and being without appetite, I began to use Dr. King's New Life Pills," writes W. P. Whitehead, of Kennedale, Tex., "and soon felt like a new man." Infallible in stomach and liver troubles. Only 25c at Ridgway & Co's. drug store.

Butterflies and Birds.

Of all the "children of the air" that gladden a June day the monarch butterfly is one of the most noticeable. Its wings shimmer like gold alloyed with copper as it pursues its lazy flight in the sunshine. The male monarch is a true dandy and carries on each hind wing a black sashet bag containing a strong perfume, most attractive to the other sex. The monarch is immune from bird enemies. The callow birding that takes a bite from every after connects the noisome taste with orange wings—a too hasty conclusion of which the vicerey butterfly takes advantage and by donning the monarch's uniform escapes scatheless, although any bird might find it a beaksome morsel.—Country Life in America.

Lingering Summer Colds.

Don't let a cold run at this season. Summer colds are the hardest kind to cure and if neglected may linger along for months. A long siege like this will put down the strongest constitution. One Minute Cough Cure will break up the attack at once. Safe, sure, acts at once. Cures coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, all throat and lung troubles. The children like it. C. M. Ridgway.

"After my first baby was born I did not seem to regain my strength although the doctor gave me a tonic which he considered very superior, but instead of getting better I grew weaker every day. My husband insisted that I take Wine of Cardui for a week and see what it would do for me. I did take the medicine and was very grateful to find my strength and health slowly returning. In two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was able to take up my usual duties. I am very enthusiastic in its praise.

Wine of Cardui reinforces the organs of generation for the relief of pregnancy and childbirth. It prevents miscarriage. No woman who takes Wine of Cardui need fear the coming of her child. If Mrs. Unrath had taken Wine of Cardui before her baby came she would not have been weakened as she was. Her rapid recovery should commend this great remedy to every expectant mother. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow.

The funeral service was held last Monday at 1:30 o'clock, Dr. Robb officiating. She is survived by one sister, Mary, who will make her home with Mr. Spencer and family for the present.

It Makes a Difference. Mamma—Emerson, I told you you couldn't go in swimming and I observe that you have.

Emerson—My dear mother, you used the wrong verb. You should have told me that I "must" not go in, not that I "could" not.—Chicago News.

When the Day Went to Sleep. Once upon a time from behind the curtain of darkness came smiling day and, wrapped in the gray dawn, took its bath in the sparkling dew. Then its morning garment was changed to cloth of gold, new made by the sun.

The day wore on. Through the hours it went wearing a smile of satisfaction until the donning of the more somber evening dress, after which it was wrapped in the mantle of the night.

Moral—Even the day has its close.—New York Herald.

A Little Different. A clergyman, proceeding along a country lane a few miles from Glasgow, met a lad and in the course of some conversation asked him if he had ever been caulked.

"What be that, mister?" asked the lad, whereupon the gentleman said:

"Has the bishop ever laid his hand upon you?"

"No," said the lad, looking slyly at the gentleman, "but the gamekeeper has."—London Answers.
