"WINE OF MORNING"

The feature length, color film, "Wine of Morning," produced by Unusual Films of Bob Jones University, will be shown in Milner Chapel at 8 p.m. on February 24 and 25. It is based on the novel written by Dr. Bob Jones, Jr., and dramatizes the life of Barabbas, the man on whose cross Jesus Christ was crucified.

"Wine of Morning" is the first Christian motion picture to win all four major awards of the National Evangelical Film Foundation—producer of the year, best film, best directing, and best acting. It was also chosen by the University Film Producers Association to represent American colleges and universities at the International Film Festival in Cannes, France.

The library is sponsoring the film showing, and the proceeds will be used for further library improvements. Blinds for the study room, opaque blinds for the periodical rooms, a screen, and the portrait of Miss Williamson were purchased as a result of the showing of "Martin Luther." A steel cabinet for the pamphlet file and portable book trucks are still badly needed.

"CUPID'S GARDEN" A SUCCESS

The traditional Valentine's Banquet, sponsored by Gamma Chi, was held February 17, 1961, at the Xenia Y.M.C.A.

The theme for the banquet was "Cupid's Garden." A musical program portraying Cupid's work was enjoyable entertainment for the evening. Those taking part in the program were: Jeannie Lockerbie, The Ladies' Trio, Donna Finley, Judy Lachman, Norris Smith, Dave Jeremiah, Donna Thompson, Pat Adams, John Ingram, Carole Lanius, Vance Ashley, Dan Brower, Phil Brower, Steve Boalt, Sam Canine, Dave Earnhart, Judy Marcellus, Lynn Jefson, John Bigelow, Carol Brown, and Carol Zoellner.

Gamma Chi wishes to thank all of those members and non-members of the society who helped make the banquet a success.

ROOM FOR IMPROVEMENT

Without a doubt, Giggling Gert and Banging Burt are the best friends the library has ever had.

It is certain that there is not one book on the library shelves which has ever suffered abuse at their hands. Not a single pen and ink drawing or pretzel-crumb stowaway have they added to the library collection. Not a hinge have they broken; not a tear have they made; not an amputation have they performed; not a spine have they cracked. In fact, they are so solicitous of the books, that rather than risk damage, they limit themselves to an acquisition of knowledge by a process of osmosis.

Their consideration of the library personnel exceeds that of all their contemporaries. When a telephone call comes for Giggling Gert or Banging Burt no search has to be made for them because their arrival is always duly announced, and their location is amply advertised continuously.

It is their unselfish spirit and devotion to their fellow students that prompts them to "liven the place up a bit," and to bring joy and sunshine into the lives of others. It is this that motivates their every action from the moment Gert's giggle and Burt's banging herald their royal presence until the doors close behind them and students resume their toilsome tasks, refreshed by the recess the entertaining floor show had provided.

Of course not everyone can recognize or appreciate the tremendous conversational and dramatic talents Gert and Burt exhibit, especially Serious Sue and Scholastic Stu. They have some odd ideas about life having a purpose and the part the college library plays in the accomplishment of that purpose.

There are also a few students with jobs who talk about budgeting their time and studying efficiently. And would you believe it—there are some students who really like to study! They enjoy it! Of course, Gert and Burt can't understand anything that far out. And anyone incapable of understanding such phenomenon is also incapable of recognizing the rights of such "individualists." Thus it is unfair to accuse Giggling Gert and Banging Burt of poor citizenship or of violation of the rights of others, especially since Burt and Gert are such loyal patrons with remarkably regular attendance records.

IN THE SERVICE OF THE KING ...

DETENTION HOME

"For the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord."

The work that our college students are doing among the children and teenagers at the Springfield Detention Home is very challenging and often effective. There is joy in winning one of these to the Lord Jesus; however, much prayer is needed for the ones who have received Christ as Saviour and must return to the same sinful environment, unsaved family and friends.

The students must be careful in their approach because many are bitter, hard, and resentful. The sower of the Seed must realize also that it is only the grace of God that has kept him from being just like the ones to whom he is witnessing.

Cathy Shelton, who is now working at the detention home for the fourth semester, made this statement: "This assignment has made me realize how inadequate I am in myself, and it is only God's wisdom that has enabled me to know what passages of Scripture to use and what words to say."

SENIOR BIOGRAPHIES

JIM ENTNER

Senior Jim Entner has been one of Cedarville's most active students. A General Science major, he has played on the basketball, baseball, and tennis teams. He is President of the Student Council, Vice President of the Varsity "C", and an active member of FWM. His special interest is a peppy cheerleader and his life verses are Titus 2:13,14. Jim has the distinction of being the first Cedarville student admitted to a medical school. We're sure he'll "do us proud" there.

WILLIAM JENNINGS

William Bryan Jennings is a transfer student from William Jennings Bryan College in Dayton, Tennessee. Confused? So are we! Bill plans to go to Kent State summer school to obtain his teaching certificate. Here at Cedarville he is a History major. Bill represents the Senior class in the Student Council. A sports enthusiast, Bill was on the cross country and track teams at Bryan. His favorite verse is Job 23:10.

WHAT DO YOU THINK... OF THE GIRLS' DRESS ON CAMPUS?

Pat Barrett, Freshman

I don't know about the girls, but the boys dress real sharp.

Dick Cook, Senior

Not too bad. Girls' clothes are nicer than what they were four years ago.

Betty Smith, Junior

Girls should learn what occasion deserves what clothes.

Elaine Adams, Freshman

Not very collegiate.

Norris Smith, Sophomore

I haven't noticed.
