DR. WHITCOMB TO DELIVER
SPECIAL BIBLE LECTURES

John C. Whitcomb, Jr., Th. D., professor of Old Testament and director of post-graduate studies at Grace Theological Seminary, Winona Lake, Indiana, will present a series of special Bible lectures November 7-9. Dr. Whitcomb will address the students and faculty at the 10 a. m. chapel hour and at 7:00 each evening in the Alford Auditorium on subjects relating to creation, the flood, evolution, and science and the Scriptures.

He will also conduct question and answer periods following the evening services for those who are interested.

MAYOR PROCLAIMS NOV. 12-18
CEDARVILLE COLLEGE WEEK

As part of the College's 75th anniversary plans, the citizens of the village of Cedarville are planning some special events honoring the establishment of the school in 1887. Some of the town's businessmen have been working on ideas since last summer and have come up with some tentative plans.

The merchants of Cedarville are planning to place a 16-page insert in the Xenia Gazette, giving the Cedarville College story. The College and Student Council are helping to sponsor portions of the insert.

An Open House for Cedarville residents is being planned for either November 13 or 15, with a program in Alford Memorial Auditorium.

The town has asked the College to decorate the business district for the anniversary, and plans are still in progress for this.

Mr. Harold J. Spitler, mayor of the village of Cedarville, has issued the following proclamation.

Whereas, Cedarville College was established in the year of 1887 A. D. and,

EDITORIAL IS HONESTY YOUR POLICY?

If I were to ask you the definition of honesty, could you give me the correct answer without hesitation? According to Mr. Webster, one of the definitions is fair. The question immediately comes to my mind, is this always to be found on the Cedarville College campus? We must all admit that in the true sense of the word, it is not.

With your permission, I would like to cite a few examples of some incidents found on our campus, a campus noted for its honesty.

Will you not agree with me that if you are given a job, it is your duty to fulfill it? Then why have some of our fellows been found playing basketball or reading magazines while punched in on the timeclock as working? Yes, this has been found to prevail more than once.

What better pastime is there than that of eating? I'm sure we must admit it is one of the best, but is it fair to get more than your share? I'm speaking of those who have been found to enjoy eating the same meal twice—once on their own card and once on someone else's. Yes, this has happened in the dining hall, but the thing that amazes me is that they are girls—not fellows.

It is a known fact that everyone of us likes to receive packages of food from home. But it's also a known fact that we like to benefit from them ourselves and not find the food disappearing because some of our "friends" helped themselves to it without an invitation. It must be that these "friends" forget the Golden Rule, "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you."

Another question that comes to my mind is how would you like to see a friend walk up to you, only to discover that he or she had borrowed some of your clothes? This was, of course, without your permission. Yes, this too, has been done.

Have you ever gone to your mailbox expecting a newspaper or magazine, only to find that for some reason or other, it had suddenly disappeared? Some of our students seem to enjoy helping themselves to mail belonging to other students.

For some reason, many of our students insist on turning in a Christian Service Report, completely filled out but yet have never attended a church service and have not fulfilled their assignment. This same applies to chapel cuts. Isn't the only right and proper thing to do when you are absent from chapel or some other required program, to turn in a slip? Yes, we have students who persist in not doing this.

It seems to me that all of these incidents are against the ethics of honesty, and so I ask you, why are they being done?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Miss Editor:

I am writing this letter because my conscience prevails upon me to do so and my stomach fully agrees. I know others agree with me, too.

The other night I went to the cafeteria, got my meal card, and explored the containers of knives and forks for one of each which lacked dehydrated vegetable from lunch. I probably should have been thankful for this extra portion of food. One of the girls pulled a piece of meat from a pan with a half inch of grease in it, dripped it onto a plate, and tossed it to the next girl. She scooped up a big gob of potatoes which promptly adhered to the scoop and later to my stomach wall. With some effort she extracted them onto the plate. They looked beautiful with a large black hair in the center. She ladled a brown, mysterious liquid on them, threw a few overly tender vegetables on the plate, and banged it before me. I then had my choice of chef's salad, garden salad, or tossed salad. Naturally they all consisted of lettuce, lettuce, and lettuce. I reached for a glass of chocolate milk which turned out to be white milk in a stained glass. The brownies looked a little soggy, but after considering their experiences in the Civil War, they really didn't taste bad.

If one wishes to criticize, he should give suggestions. Here are mine. 1. The cafeteria should be run by a professional dietitian who has been trained to feed large groups. 2. Cafeteria employees should be required to wear hair nets or caps. 3. There must be some better way to clean dishes. All the food can come off! 4. Food consistency is very important in planning diets. Why do we always get ice cream or canned fruits on soup days? 5. Why is the food always cold? Why put warm food on cold plates? Dish warmers aren't that expensive. 6. Foods can be prepared so they won't be greasy. Why can't the meats be drained for a minute before serving? 7. Why do large boys receive small girls' portions? I have never eaten a filling meal here. 8. Why are expensive ready prepared foods used? Why do we get poor grade meat with these expensive powdered potatoes? 9. Why does the cafeteria run out of food before they are done serving? Why are we served foods which many don't like or eat and are thrown away? Example - sauerkraut.

Perhaps our present cafeteria staff is trying their best. Is this good enough? It is hard to plan and cook for 400 students, but we need well-balanced meals in sufficient quantities to keep up our strength for studies and activities.

Dear Editor:

I just finished reading your October 6th edition of Whispering Cedars. In my estimation it is the finest paper of its type that I have seen. The presentation in its entirety was top notch.

STROBRIDGE TO PRESENT
HISTORICAL SLIDES
OF CEDARVILLE

Harold Strobbridge, a Cedarville businessman, will present a slide-lecture program on the history of Cedarville College and community, at Alford Memorial Auditorium on November 3 at 8 p.m. as the College's second Artist Series event.

Mr. Strobbridge has colored slides and black and white slides taken from photographs of the village and some of the early buildings. He has pictures of May Day celebrations, baseball games, and freshman initiation which were taken during the early years of the College.

This program is being planned in connection with the 75th anniversary of the founding of the College which is being observed this month.

WHITCOMB BIBLE LECTURES (con-

Dr. Whitcomb graduated with honors from Princeton University in 1948 with a B.A., majoring in ancient and European history. In 1951 he graduated with high honors from Grace Theological Seminary with his B.D., received his Th.M. in 1953, and his Th.D. in 1957. He has taught in the Old Testament and Hebrew department since 1951 and has served as director of post-graduate studies since 1961.

Dr. Whitcomb has traveled through much of western Europe and the Near East. He lived in China for three years, visited mission stations in many parts of Peru, and helped in the establishment of a church in Puerto Rico under the auspices of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church.

He has contributed articles to several theological journals and Bible dictionaries and has authored a defense of the historicity and authenticity of Daniel entitled Darius the Mede: A Study in Historical Identification. He co-authored with Dr. Henry M. Morris a defense of the universality of the flood entitled The Genesis Flood: The Biblical Record and Its Scientific Implications.

He contributed the commentaries on Ezra, Nehemiah, and Esther in the Wycliffe Bible Commentary. His chronological charts on the Old Testament Patriarchs and Judges, Old Testament Kings and Prophets, and The Babylonian Captivity, are now being used in over 150 colleges and seminaries throughout the western hemisphere.

SENIORS SPONSOR "WITCHES BREW"

The Senior Class sponsored the first all-school party, "Witches Brew," October 27. The party was held in the Alford Memorial Auditorium.

Original plans called for outside activities, including a "rope-walk." However, unexpected snow and cold weather forced the party to be held indoors.

Activities included a song-fest, a pumpkin carving contest, and a monologue on tape by Mr. John Reed of the speech department. Miss Joy Mackay gave devotions, and cider and donuts were served after the festivities.

FACULTY MEMBERS SERVE ON COLLEGE COMMITTEES

Students very often complain about not getting test papers back for a whole week, but they never consider the duties of their instructors outside of the classroom. Many of the professors serve on several faculty committees.

Dr. Jeremiah, Dr. Maddox, Dr. Johnson, and Mr. McIntosh serve on the administrative committee which deals with administrative problems and their solutions. The self-evaluating committee consists of Dr. Johnson, Mr. Webber, Dr. Maddox, and Mr. McDonald whose main goals are teacher certification and the regional accreditation of the College.

In order to coordinate the artist series at Cedarville, Mr. Webber, Mr. Russell, and Mr. Spencer work on the artist series committee. The committee working on the programming and supervision of the new radio station consists of Mr. Reed, Miss Smith, and Dr. Jeremiah.

The planning of all-school functions is done by the social committee, Miss Mackay, Mr. Thornton, Miss Kearney, Mr. Moody, and a student, Ted Ocheltree.

When prospective students send their applications to Cedarville, they are carefully screened by the admissions committee composed of Dr. Johnson, Dr. Maddox, and Mr. McIntosh. New books and supplies for the library are recommended by the library committee made up of Mrs. Chaffe, Mr. Turnbull, and Mr. Gale. Dr. Williams, Mr. McIntosh, and Mr. Miller serve on the

CEDARVILLE COLLEGE WEEK (continued from page 1)

Whereas, Cedarville College has remained in continuous operation beginning in the year of 1887 A. D. and,

Whereas, Cedarville College has played a prominent part in the supplying of educators for Greene County and other parts of the United States, and,

Whereas, Cedarville College is a growing and progressive institution and an important part of the community;

Now, therefore, I, Harold J. Spitler by the power of the authority invested in me as Mayor of the Village of Cedarville, in the State of Ohio, do hereby proclaim the week of November 12-18, 1962, as CEDARVILLE COLLEGE WEEK in the Village of Cedarville and urge all citizens to take suitable action in observing this occasion.

OPINION POLL

"What is your pet peeve on campus?"

Tom Evans: Lack of table manners on the part of boys.

Sue Geyser: Faculty members and classes (in that order).

Hank Cook: The naive discussion of short skirts.

Jan VanWyk: Nothing to do.

Dave Prosser: Girls!

Mark Haseltine: Pious people.

Pat Good: The mail room.

Carole Boren: Boys—lack of them.

George Tulloch: All the guys that come in our room so we can't study.

Terri Bauer: Crowded halls.

Many members of the Cedarville faculty also serve as advisers to the various campus organizations. The class advisers are Mr. Thomson for freshmen, Mr. Elmore for sophomores, Mr. Gromacki for juniors, and Mr. St. Clair for seniors. Advisers for the student publications are Mr. Spencer for MIRACLE and Mr. McIntosh for WHISPERING CEDARS. Miss Smith is the adviser for Kappa Delta Chi, and Mrs. Maddox is again the adviser for Gamma Chi. Mr. Dowell serves as adviser for Alpha Chi. Student Council has as its adviser Mr. McIntosh. The Student Pastors' Fellowship is advised by Mr. Gromacki and the Fellowship for World Missions by Mr. McDonald. Mrs. Maddox is the adviser for the dramatic society, Sock 'N' Buskin.

Besides these responsibilities, more than one-third of our faculty members are currently engaged in work toward advanced degrees.

FOOTBALL WARS DOMINATE FALL SPORTS SCENE

BOOKSTORE 7, STICKA 7

Sticka and Bookstore battled to a 7-7 tie in a clash between two would-be contenders for the Intramural Football crown.

Bookstore opened the scoring late in the first quarter on a touchdown pass from Tom Evans to Art Thompson on a fourth down play. The Evans-to-Thompson combo clicked again for the extra point, giving Bookstore a 7-0 lead. Sticka hit paydirt early in the third quarter on a disputed 75-yard run around left end by Tom DeLanzo. Bookstore claimed that DeLanzo had stepped out of bounds on his sideline trot. But it was to no avail, as the play was declared valid by the officials. Roger O'Bryon passed to DeLanzo for the extra point, sending the game into a deadlock.

BETHEL 14, CEDAR 0

Bethel scored on a pass and a safety late in the fourth quarter, downing Cedar, 14-0.

An outclassed but nonetheless stubborn Cedar ball club held Bethel to only one touchdown, a Denny McDonald to Paul Brower pass, over the first three quarters. However, Bethel tallied twice more in the last three minutes, once on a safety and once on another McDonald-to-Brower pass play. Cedar's Mark Haseltine went over the goal line in the first quarter when he intercepted a pass. But the touchdown was nullified when an official inadvertently blew his whistle, thereby stopping the play and downing the ball several yards short of the end zone.

STICKA 19, BETHEL 13

Even though they scored two touchdowns in the last quarter, Bethel was unable to overcome an early Sticka lead, as they succumbed to the "Pins," 19-13.

Bethel's Jon Walborn intercepted a pass on the first play of the fourth quarter for one TD. With 2:06 to go, Jim Sprague passed to Paul Brower for the other. However, time ran out before the Bethelites could regain possession of the pigskin. Sticka opened the scoring with a TD pass from Roger O'Bryon to Chet Copeland in the first quarter. They added another marker in the second frame on a run by Tom DeLanzo, and ended their scoring with a short run around end by O'Bryon in the third quarter. This proved to be the winning margin, in view of Bethel's too-little-too-late rally.

BOOKSTORE 7, RIFE 7

Bookstore was involved in its second 7-7 tie in as many days when they tangled with Rife to produce the stalemate.

Neither team was able to score in the first half, although Rife did penetrate Bookstore territory late in the second quarter. However, they were stopped on the one-yard line by a stout "Bookie" defense. Rife finally managed to break into the scoring column early in the third quarter when Jim Grafton intercepted a pass and scampered into the end zone. Don Dean ran for the extra point. Bookstore knotted the contest early in the fourth quarter. On the third play of that frame, Tom Evans threw a pass to Brian Twiest, who made a fine catch, good for about 45 yards and a first down. Three plays later, Evans charged around end for the TD and repeated the play for the extra point.

BOOKSTORE 19, CEDAR 13

Tom Evans' second touchdown of the game broke a 13-13 tie with less than four minutes to play, as Bookstore edged Cedar 19-13.

The hard-running sparkplug of the "Bookies" broke the scoring ice early in the first quarter when he snatched an Art Thompson pass and scampered into the end zone. Cedar scored its first touchdown of the season later in that frame as quarterback Ed Eastman fought his way up the middle for the score. A short scoring pass from Eastman to Mike Shingleton in the second quarter put the "Shack" ahead 13-6 at halftime. However, an Evans-to-Dave Fisher pass tied the score in the third quarter, setting the stage for Evans' late-game heroics.

STICKA 32, RIFE 0

The strong right arm of Roger O'Bryon threw Rife Hall out of contention for the league championship as Sticka crushed Rife 32-0.

O'Bryon threw four touchdown passes while Rife absorbed the worst licking of any of the teams this season. The next most decisive spanking was administered by Rife itself when it buried Cedar, 27-0.

Sticka scored early in the opening quarter on a run around end by Kent Tennant. They added two more scores in the second quarter on O'Bryon passes to Chet Copeland and Tom DeLanzo. Copeland scored another TD on a toss from O'Bryon in the third frame. Sticka closed the rout with O'Bryon's fourth TD pass in the last quarter, this one to Tennant.

STICKA 27, CEDAR 0

Sticka clinched first place by defeating winless Cedar, 26-0.

A tight defensive unit, which allowed only three touchdowns all season, plus fine ball handling by Roger O'Bryon, Tom DeLanzo, and Chet Copeland, earned Sticka its third victory in four tries. Each of these three scored a TD in the first half, giving Sticka a 19-0 lead at the break. The "machine" was halted in the third quarter, but scored a gain on a pass from O'Bryon to DeLanzo in the final frame.
