Watch Out Lil' Abner

Bachelors beware! Sadie Hawkins Day is just around the corner. Saturday night at 8 p.m. the fun and frolic will begin at the gym.

This year's Sadie Hawkins promises to be an exciting one. Skits, games, entertainment and contests are planned. The entire student body and faculty are welcome to come to this shindig sponsored by the Junior class.

Marryin' Sam with "real" marriage licenses will be there. Then of course for those marriages which didn't work out there will be Divorce Court. To help the romance situation, Love Potion will be served coaxing the slower ones along.

Pumpkin carving contests will be featured. Class competition will be highlighted. For those who aren't carving pumpkins a "get acquainted" game will be helpful in making new friends.

Famous entertainment will highlight the evening. Faculty members will favor us with Jug Band numbers. Skits and a variety show will fill out the entertainment.

M. C. for the evening will be the class sponsor who received the most votes in the penny election. Dr. Alan Monroe will be filling in for Mr. Jim Phipps and Dr. Jack Scott will be Dr. Merlin Ager's replacement. Neither sponsor will be able to attend if chosen as M. C.

Apple bobbers should get in form. The best apple bobber will be rewarded just as the best pumpkin carver. However, the rewards will be of a considerably different nature.

For those who have not purchased tickets, the price is fifty cents for singles and seventy-five cents for a couple.

If you are a girl and too shy to ask someone, there is help. Vicki Tobias and others offer their assistance with a dating service. They will call the fellow and ask him for a slight fee. (10c) Results have been good, so don't miss this year's edition of Sadie Hawkins!

TRUSTEES MEET

In a recent interview with Dr. Jeremiah, WHISPERING CEDARS found the trustees of Cedarville College are very concerned about the academic, social, and athletic needs of the students.

A meeting of the Board of Trustees convened October 17. In this meeting they discussed the construction of the mobile home park to be north of Maddox Hall. "Three to Grow On" was of prime interest to the board.

The science building at present has $200,000 backing in pledges and bonds. However, our proposed student union building will cost $800,000. The student union was and is one of the major concerns of the board.

The trustees will be setting up a monthly day of prayer for this program and for all other needs of the school. But don't wait till then to pray for our facilities. Make it a matter of prayer each day.

Dr. Jeremiah also noted that enrollment was a great concern. If more students were admitted this would necessitate more dorm and classroom facilities.

To get a better view of problems such as these, the board is divided into four committees. They are academic, business, student affairs, and development.

Artists Come To Cedarville

Eric Street

October 30, 1970 is the opening date for the 1970-1971 Cedarville College Artist Lecture Series. Alfred Eric Street, French classical guitarist, will be the first artist to appear for this year's series. Street made his American debut in June of 1968. His concerts have been, for the most part, held in New England and Eastern states.

Other artists include the National Shakespeare Theatre, one of America's foremost theatre groups. They have performed in many of the major colleges across the nation. Last year they held performances at Ohio State University and Wittenberg University. Also, Dr. Ruth Batson of Wheaton College will be giving a lecture on literature. Gordon Lange, lecturer, business man, and civic leader, will give a lecture. He is also a syndicated news columnist. Gerald Goodman hales from Cleveland, Ohio. His concert will be musical in nature. He will be singing with the accompaniment of his ebony harp. To round out the series the

Introduce Video-Tape Machine

There is something new in the Education department of Cedarville College. It is a device that actually records sounds and photographs pictures simultaneously; this device is called a video-tape machine. This machine takes a picture by a small hand movie camera and records the sound by a tape-recorder.

The video-tape machine is a compact, portable machine, run by battery. Dr. Merlin Ager and Mr. Dwayne Frank are the educational professors in charge of the video-tape machine. Unless it is in use, the machine is kept in one of the two offices of either Dr. Ager or Mr. Frank.

The video-tape machine can be hooked up to any television anywhere, thus making it easy for the professors to teach a seminar anywhere.

Dr. Ager and Mr. Frank use this new video-tape instrument during their seminars in taping their student-teachers. These supervisees are able to utilize this machine in evaluating their presentations in the classroom. These students, observing themselves in action, can point out and correct their mistakes in expression and gesture.

Already many teachers in public high schools in the United States have made use of this little instrument. These teachers are better able to prepare themselves for their classes by being made aware of mannerisms they have developed that might be distracting their students' attention.

This year's freshmen at Cedarville who have an interest in secondary or elementary education will benefit greatly during the next four years here through the use of this video-tape mechanism, for they will see and hear themselves as they appear to other people. Sometime within the next four years, there is a possibility of acquiring additional video-tape machines for the educational department.

The professors, Dr. Ager, and Mr. Frank, are aided by this video-tape machine in their evaluations of the progress of the young people under their supervision.

This video-tape machine will not produce perfect teachers, but as Dr. Merline Ager says, "Video-tape is not a panacea, to all the problems of teaching; it is just a tool."

Ecology? Gordon Lange

Findlay Chamber Ensemble of Findlay College will present an instrumental concert. The ensemble has performed in many areas of Ohio.

These Artist performances are sponsored by the Office of Student Affairs.

Swordbearers Hold Conference

Saturday, November 7 may be a most impressive day in the lives of over 1300 teens. The annual Swordbearers' Conference will be held in Cedarville with Don Lonie as speaker for both the morning and evening rallies.

The morning will begin with a rally to be held at 10:00. The group of young people will disperse into various discussion groups after lunch. Then the evening rally will be held at 6:30.

The young people, varying in age from 13 to 18, are coming to this conference from Ohio and various surrounding states. They will be hearing a most dynamic speaker who has made several recordings of the informal talks he has given at various high schools. Mr. Lonie may be called a "comedian for Christ." He makes people laugh, but he also "steps on some toes" through his talks. He tries not to hide the truth from anyone.

Don Lonie

This type of conference has been held for the past few years. The teens have always enjoyed the fellowship with other Christian young people. Let's pray that the coming conference will be a great success.

Dane Rohm Goes To Columbus

A trip to Columbus, breakfast with Congressman Brown, hearing President Nixon speak, and sending back a live report to WCDR were all part of an exciting weekend for Dane Rohm.

The weekend began early Saturday morning as Dane was host to Congressman Brown during homecoming activities. One of the highlights of the congressman's day was a tour through the radio station. Dane commented that Congressman Brown was really impressed with the station, and especially with the new fully-automated system.

It was through Congressman Brown that Dane received Press Credentials and was thus able to cover President Nixon's speech, Monday, October 19, 1970.

The crowd, estimated between 60,000 and 100,000, was one of the largest ever to assemble in Columbus.

The primary purpose of the President's speech was to back Republican nominees Roger Cloud, running for Governor, and Robert Taft, Jr., running for U.S. Senator.

In his speech, Nixon emphasized the need for more Republicans in Washington D.C. to support the President and help solve our many national dilemmas, such as racial conflict, inflation, and the Vietnamese war.

As a message to the youth of America, Nixon pointed out that dissenters and rioters are not really a part of American youth today, nor will they be American leaders tomorrow. They do not believe or hold dear any of the ideals America stands for, and even though they live here, cannot rightfully be called Americans.

A brief look into the future reveals that WCDR will be covering, comprehensively, the November 3 elections for Greene and Clark counties and the state of Ohio.

We Have 961

The student body totals nine hundred and sixty one this year. This is a total increase of thirty six more than last year.

The freshman class has a total of three hundred and nineteen students. While this figure is lower than that of last year's frosh enrollment, it is almost as much as the combined figure of the junior and senior classes, which have one hundred and sixty seven each.

The sophomores total two hundred and sixty-five while part-time students and special students total twenty-eight and eighteen respectively.

Mr. Hurst remarked that there were 72 transfers this year, and that most of these students came from junior colleges in order to get their teacher's certification. Mr. Hurst also observed that there seems to be more interest from foreign students, represented by a man from Syria, Phillip Oabdi and Joseph Weah as well as others.

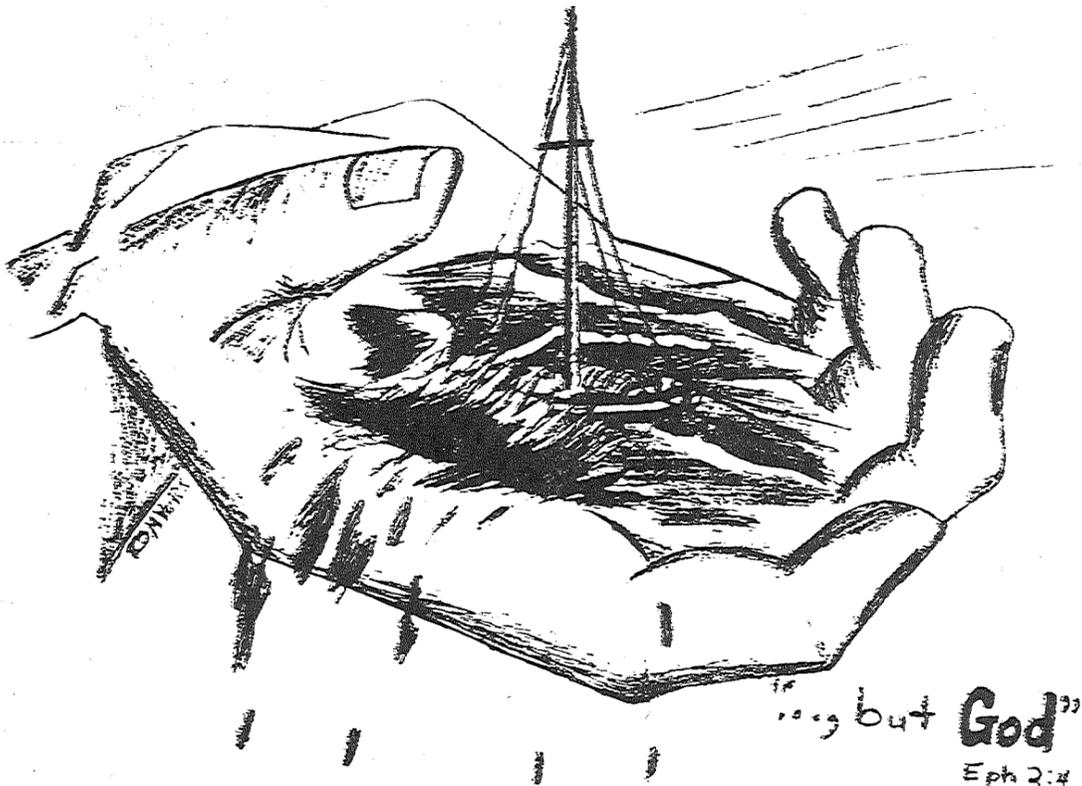

As a last highlight, there is a total of 417 men and 544 women enrolled giving a ratio of four women to three men.

With these figures, it's easy to see that this should be a bigger and better year for Cedarville College and its student body.

What DO You Believe?

Business World—

Ministry And Business Meet

by Barry McCoy

Welcome to Business World...

You may not think business is your thing, but as you will see, it holds fascination and interest for everyone.

Are ministers interested in business? How about elementary teachers, doctors, or even musicians? In the weeks to come I'll be talking about insurance, bargains, charge accounts, and just plain dollars and sense about "how to" and "how not to" in the complex world of business.

A Different Gap

In a time of generation gaps, missile gaps, and credibility gaps, there is also a gap in the church. It is between the clergymen and the businessmen.

Although many of the entrepreneurs of the church work as trustees, teachers of Sunday School, or leaders of the youth groups, many feel they cannot communicate with ministers, most of whom have been sheltered from the pressures of the world of products, profits, and productivity.

Sound bad? It is in some areas and a group of laymen and ministers, called Church and Industry Institute, are trying to change the situation.

Here's how it works. Owners of local business establishments allow seminary students to come on the job and take part in the functions of management and labor.

After such a situation was set up, one of the businessmen commented, "The students were afraid they were going to be seduced — that they might become a part of something they often disliked entirely." A student's view was, "A manager gives his people a certain amount of freedom, but in the end they either comply with his wishes or get fired. It is obnoxious to me!"

A Tid-bit

Here's a tid-bit for you. Have you ever wondered what the dealer who sells you that new car paid for it himself? Here's the list: GM, American Motors, Ford and Chrysler follow these lines. Larger models and station wagons — 25% off the sticker price; compacts and middle weights — 21% off; Hornet, Valiant, Maverick — 17% off.

steady ticking as long as he is wound every day. It makes no difference to the clock if the weather outside is cold or windy. Even during a hail storm, the clock keeps ticking. He does not let the surroundings upset his timing in any way. The events of the day may be shattering, but the clock keeps his cool.

There is symbolism relating to the Christian through the constant ticking of the clock. Storm or rough days should have no impact on our lives as long as we are wound up in Christ. For as long as He is guiding, the Christian keeps ticking.

"Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid."
(John 14:27)

The peace of God is that eternal calm which lies far too deep down to be reached by any external trouble or disturbance; and he who enters into the presence of God, becomes partaker of that undisturbed and undisturbable calm.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

When I read the "Communist Rules for Revolution" in my September 1970 copy of "Chapel of the Air Newsletter," I felt so shocked that I thought it was a matter of utmost importance that everyone read them. I hope the following meets with your editorial approval.

For those who tend to forget or deny that much of the turmoil in the world today is Communist-instigated, 51 years ago, published in the Bartlesville, Oklahoma Examiner-Enterprise, the following abbreviated "Communist Rules for Revolution" were given to party members:

A. Corrupt the young, get them away from religion. Get them interested in sex. Make them superficial, destroy their ruggedness.

B. Get control of all means of publicity and thereby:
(1) Get people's minds off their government by focusing attention on athletics, sexy books and plays, and other trivialities. (2) Divide the people into hostile groups by constantly harping on controversial matters of no importance. (3) Destroy the people's faith in their natural leaders by holding the latter up to contempt, ridicule and obloquy. (4) Always preach true democracy but seize power as fast and ruthlessly as possible. (5) By encouraging government extravagance, destroy its credit, produce fear of inflation with rising prices and general discontent. (6) Foment unnecessary strikes in vital industries, encourage civil disorders, and foster a lenient and soft attitude on the part of government toward such disorders. (7) By specious argument cause the breakdown of the old moral virtues: honesty, sobriety, continence, faith in the pledged word, ruggedness.

C. Cause the registration of all firearms on some pretext with the view of confiscation of them and leaving the population helpless.

The above is now almost 100% an accomplished fact. Gradualism is the method by which it is done.

How sad it is that those of us who love God and country aren't as patient and persistent in our pursuit of truly "a nation under God" where brotherly love pours forth from our hearts and we daily see as our way of life that which is decent, right and just for all men!

Most sincerely,
(Mrs.) Pat Stuart

Right On Center!

Where Do You Stand?

by Jeff Lough

This summer I had opportunities to discuss issues with college students from all over the United States. I found through these discussions, one area in which I had not solidified my thinking. I have now and would like to pass on to you some thoughts I uncovered concerning conscientious objectorism.

The first fellow to initiate my thinking on the idea of conscientious objectorism was an atheist that I was witnessing to on the docks at Kodiak. We had been talking about God and the ministry of Christ when he finally said something to this effect:

"OK, fine. You believe in God. You want to pattern your life after Jesus' example, and you want me to do the same thing. But what I want to know about you is this. Will you go into the army? Would you kill someone? Personally I just can't see Christ in a uniform."

My pat answer was something to the effect that I would go if called. (Sound familiar?) But I wonder how adequate that answer is. How about it... can you see Jesus in a uniform?

Another fellow I talked to, however, posed me the question that really made me think about my position concerning conscientious objectorism.

That question was simply this: What right do I have to take another human's life? Now think about it! Please do not do yourself the dishonor of thinking you can go into the army without killing anyone. By joining or allowing yourself to be drafted you are placing yourself in a position whereby you may have to kill.

Personnel Office Endeavors To Solve Parking Problems

Many changes have been made in efforts to relieve the parking situation here at Cedarville. Charts have been placed around the campus to show where students are to park and where they are not to park.

Colored coded signs are posted at each lot. Car stickers with red letters and a white background are off-campus students. These students include Cedar Park, Gordon House, Harriman Hall, and commuters. Cars bearing red letters are to park on the blacktop beside the cafeteria.

Faculty and staff cars are denoted by stickers with blue-letters on a yellow background.

These cars park between the radio station and cafeteria in the first row of slots beside the cafe-cafeteria. Students who park in faculty slots will be ticketed.

On campus students are to park behind the library and the field posted near West Hall. These cars, with white stickers and blue lettering, should be from students in Faith, Patterson, Maddox, Bethel and Williams Halls outside of their regular dorm areas.

Signs will be posted marking the various lots. Cars in the improper lots will be ticketed. Any questions should be referred to the Student Personnel Office.

Welcome New Faculty

James Phipps, Speech

Mr. James Phipps, a recent graduate of Cedarville College, is a new addition to the faculty this year. He feels that it is a unique privilege to work with those he learned to respect as a student. At present, he is teaching history of public address, argumentation and debate, inter-collegiate debate, persuasion, and radio programming processes.

The closeness and sharing found on this campus, believes Jim Phipps, are unique to a small college. In order to get involved in college activities other than teaching, Mr. Phipps broadcasts Cedarville High School football over WCDR, advises the Freshman class, and works on the Cedarville Athletic Committee.

What brought Jim Phipps to Cedarville as a student? The good impression created by students from his area played an important part. Also, he felt the Lord leading him here in spite of a scholarship at Berkeley.

8 Year Debator

During his student days, Mr. Phipps debated on the college team. Under Mrs. Mattox' supervision, the debate team took second place in the state in 1966. Jim Phipps was a debator for eight years, and he loves the competition of debate. He is trying to rebuild the debate team, as he has received many invitations to debate this year.

In spite of his busyness, Jim Phipps takes time for animals. When his dog was lost, he spent hours roaming the streets until it was found. Even more recently, a puppy dumped from a car found it's way to the Phipps' doorstep, where it found a good home — even if they didn't want two dogs.

Edwin Harvey, Science

"All that kid ever thinks about is science!" These might easily have been the words of anyone who knew Professor Edwin Dane Harvey as a boy. Science has always held a special fascination for him and his major interests have always been scientific.

Professor Harvey is presently teaching Analytical Geometry/Calculus and General Physics here at Cedarville. He received his A.B. at Oberlin and his M.S. at Ohio State University.

Mr. Harvey's primary goal in life has been to someday teach in a Christian College. He feels Cedarville College has a fine Science department for a school this size and expresses bright hopes for its future.

His Desires

Professor Harvey has one special desire for his students: that they might see science as it really is — centered around an almighty God. He states: "God is in science just as much as he is in theology or any other field of knowledge. Through science we become keenly aware of the accuracy and perfection of God's creation. The only imperfections we find are those that man has brought about."

Mr. Harvey's interests fall into three major areas: his family, science, and music.

The Harvey family now resides at Columbus, Ohio, and includes his wife, Dorothea, and six children: Clifford, a Junior transfer from Wheaton; Nelson, who is in the Marine Corps; Phillip, a Freshman at Ohio State; Nancy, a sixth grader; Doris, a first grader; and the youngest, Theodore, a four year old.

Previously, Mr. Harvey worked as Staff Physicist for the Hercules Powder Company for nineteen years. He was also part of the Science department at Potomac State College, West Virginia.

Musical Interest

His musical interests revolve around the French horn and the organ. His favorite sport is baseball and he is also an amateur radio operator with call letters W-8KEP.

Mr. Harvey enjoys working with young people, and has been closely associated with them. He now serves as Deacon and Organist in Clintonville Baptist Church, Columbus, Ohio.

Professor Harvey's outlook on life can best be expressed in the words of his favorite verse, Lamentations 3:23: They (the mercies of God) are new every morning; great is thy faithfulness.

Vicki Tobias

Vicki Tobias Spends Month In Bolivia

Vicki Tobias wanted to be a summer missionary in Brazil, but through the advice of her pastor and a missionary, the Lord steered her west to Bolivia. She spent two months this summer in Cochabamba working at the Andes Evangelical Mission there as a part of a team of six college students.

The Andes Evangelical Mission is an interdenominational faith mission founded in 1907 by George Allen. Mr. Allen came from New Zealand, took his ox-cart up into the mountains, and began a work there. Today over 100 missionaries are affiliated with the mission.

Her Hopes

From her earliest remembrances, Vicki had always wanted to be a missionary. She had various dreams about being a missionary nurse or a general missionary, but now feels that the Lord wants her to get her MA in the States, then teach missionary children. Her hope is that after teaching for a few years she can go into youth work. She feels a burden for the young people, since so few missions have a work with them.

Vicki celebrated her birthday, July 31, in Bolivia. At dinner she was surprised with a cake and flowers.

Mission Work

Their work at the mission was varied, usually doing the little essentials that would free the missionaries for evangelism. They painted two large rooms, sewed curtains, typed, drew charts, passed out tracts, taught a Bible School for the missionary children during the Field Council, and the fellows did some electrical work. They started to organize the library at the Christian school for grades 1 through 9. There was also a two week tour of Bolivia to visit other missionaries. Vicki estimates that she covered about 600 miles, which doesn't seem like much until you consider the Bolivian road system.

Minor Adjustment

Of course, there were some minor problems, like adjusting to the higher altitude. The elevation was between 8000 and 14,000 feet, so the oxygen supply was thin. This made it difficult to do any work, and also made getting more sleep a necessity.

There are some things that Vicki probably won't ever forget — like the isolated Indian village where they stayed, living like the natives. The tremendous thing about this village was that in a year and a half the 400 people who lived there accepted Christ.

Thai Student Seeks U.S. Education

Boonchuay Lysoowan, nicknamed B. C. because it's easier to pronounce, is one of the new students at Cedarville this year. He has something that no other freshman has: he comes from Bangkok, Thailand.

He is nineteen years old and has been out of school for one year. He said that the school system in Thailand is very different from the system in the United States. In his country instead of the students changing classes every hour, the teachers change classes every hour. This practice must cut down on the congestion in the halls that is found in United States' schools.

He misses his family, who are all in Thailand. He has eight sisters which is another thing that makes him unusual. He said there were other boys in his neighborhood he could play with when he was growing up; but he wishes he had had a brother to pick on.

Like many other students at Cedarville, B. C. does not know why he decided to come or how he got here. When he asked why he came he replied, "to get an education." He feels that United States' universities provide a much better education than the schools in other countries.

He first heard of Cedarville in Grand Ledge, Michigan. From there the Lord took over and here he is with the rest of the new students at Cedarville.

B. C. has a rougher time than most college students. Since he has some trouble with the English language, he must work harder to get the lessons. Not only does he work hard on his lessons, but he also works in the cafeteria, which takes up a lot of his time.

His major area of interest is business. After he graduates, he plans to return to Thailand and go to work.

B. C. has many things which make him an unusual college student: his name, Boonchuay Lysoowan, his birthplace, Bangkok, Thailand, his family, eight sisters, and his attitude, he wants "an education."

It's Greek To Me

Greetings and salutations from the city-state of Cedarvillius. I climbed Mt. Olympus to listen to the oracles proclaimed by the gods.

The Grecian feminist movement of the city-state is progressing steadily. The ladies of Gamma Chi held "The Harvest of Fashion" show October 26 at 7 p.m. in Maddox Lounge. Ladies interested in joining Gamma Chi were able to obtain applications then. Initiation for new members will be held November 2. Future plans include a Come-As-You-Are Party.

Kappa Delta Chi women will be holding initiation ceremonies in early November. Since the stork has visited their advisor Nancy McPheeters, the women are in the process of selecting a new advisor.

The weekend seemed to hold much activity for the men in the city-state. Thirty-three Alpha Chi members and dates spent the weekend at Skyview Ranch. They enjoyed the superb cooking of Dr. "Uncle Al" Monroe and made him an honorary member of Alpha Chi. They also participated in athletic events such as horseback riding, volleyball, games, a hayride, and a climatic bonfire. In November they will be in charge of setting up and servicing the annual WEEC banquet held at Cedarville College.

Pi Sigma Nu's Activity Night October 23 was a great success. Everyone could comfortably enjoy the flicks shown in the gym. Karate expert Louis Tewis made another appearance in Cedarvillius, and the novelty human croquet game was initiated. Wickets and balls were all over the gym as well as many laughs. Operation Nightmare will be coming in early November along with a barn party for members only. The oracles have faded so I will descend Mt. Olympus. Watch for me again when I receive more news from the city-state of Cedarvillius.

WHY A DIAMOND?

From Biblical times, the diamond has been linked with love and fidelity. Throughout the ages, it was considered one of the most precious substances. The ring mounting, being circular, denotes "love without end." With this tradition, naturally, your engagement diamond should be chosen carefully, and be of the finest quality within your budget. We will be happy to explain the "Four C's" of diamond value to you according to the standards of the American Gem Society — a select, professional organization of fine jewelers working in behalf of fine diamond customers like you.

Bobby Austin Leads Varsity Soccer Team

Meet Bob Austin, veteran soccer star for Cedarville College. Respected as both a talented player and a Christian, Bob is a member of many campus organizations and sings with a special group of soccer players.

Bob grew up and played his first soccer in New Milford, New Jersey. He gives the credit for his becoming interested in soccer to his father, who played soccer in college. Bob's dad taught him the basic skills, which gave him a head start when he began to play in junior high school. Given further training by his high school coaches, Bob quickly developed from a "we played like animals" style soccer player to a good high school performer.

Austin expressed a high opinion of his high school soccer team. He listed several players who have made good in college ball. The varsity goalie, Jeff Fried, went to the University of Washington, and several other players are now playing at prominent universities around the country. Bob emphasized that inexperience because of the newness of the sport was offset by a lot of hustle and a dedicated coaching staff. The New Milford High School soccer team went to the State tournament the last two years Bob played. Austin was also chosen for one all-city, one all-league, and one all-county team during his high school career. When asked about particular experiences in soccer, he replied that the State tournaments he played in were especially thrilling.

Bob enjoys playing soccer for Cedarville, and also said that he was being challenged by the position change that Coach Ross made, putting him at center-halfback. He appreciates the chance to play more and the action enables him to "hustle and play like an animal." Bob likes to be in on all the play and apparently was unsatisfied at wing because of the limited action he got.

Bob, who is possibly the best shooter on the team, rates this year's team as "the best passing team I have ever played on," with all the players working well together and no real individual standouts. When I asked about the Homecoming game against-Walsh, his one word of opinion was "ridiculous." He felt that the freak shot which Walsh scored on was pure accident.

Bob also expressed the opinion that the schedule had made a difference in the performance of the team. He said that crowds really fire up players and he would play much better in the last home games. He feels strongly that the present edition of the 'Jackets is improving rapidly, with Cliff Jensen getting badly needed experience in the goal and with several talented underclassmen looking better and better. Bob ended the interview by predicting a winning season for this year, with a "tough" year next year. Barring unforeseen problems, Bob Austin should have something to do with that "tough" year next season.

Cross Country Team Prepares For Upcoming Conference Meet

Preparing for homecoming, the Yellowjacket cross country team traveled to Richmond, Indiana, for the Earlham Invitational. Favored Malone won the meet by getting second, third, and fourth. Cedarville's harriers finished sixth among several teams with Loren Richmond's 17th place time of 22:45 leading the Yellowjackets to the finish line. Other Cedarville finishers and times were Brent Myers 33rd, 23:10; Ernie Welborn 36th, 23:19; Bob Wood 41st, 23:41; Steve Gruber 43rd, 23:42; Jack Rupp 66th, 24:27; and Les Chambers 70th, 24:33. Coach King would have preferred better times, but conditions had much to do with the slower times.

The cross country team took five of the first seven places on their way to defeating Mount Vernon Nazarene College and Huntington College in Cedarville's homecoming event. The final score was Cedarville 20, Mount Vernon 55, and Huntington 61. The Yellowjackets were led by three freshmen with Loren Richmond getting first with a time of 21:59, Brent Myers getting second with a time of 22:14, and Steve Gruber getting fourth with a time of 22:24. Other Cedarville finishers were Dave Jewell 6th, Ernie Welborn 7th, Bob Wood 8th, Jack Rupp 9th, Les Chambers 11th, Mark Alexander 15th, and Ron Yoder 16th. Incidentally, John Jacobs finished in a tie for first with a time of 21:59. The Cedarville resident ran as an independent.

Coach King now prepares his men for the conference meet on November 7 and will have three meets to observe his harriers. They are dual meets with Defiance and Marion, and a triangular meet with Ohio Northern and Urbana.

Frosh Strengthen Harriers

This year has already been the best cross country year ever for Cedarville College. The team has a shot at the conference championship next Saturday and if they fail to win the Jackets are a strong favorite for second. Largely responsible for this success are four freshmen who have combined with last year's strong nucleus to make a powerful team.

Loren Richmond, number one-runner so far this season, has broken the school record, with a fine time of 21:29. When asked how he felt about holding the record he responded with, "I'm very happy to hold the record; however, I'm not satisfied with the time and realize that in order to keep it I will have to improve greatly." In high school Loren did not participate in cross country but played four years of basketball, track, soccer, and baseball. He is from Friendship, New York and loves the Christian atmosphere of Cedarville. Next spring in track Loren hopes to run the three mile.

Brent Myers, consistently the number two man in the freshman running line-up, has a best time this season of 22:14. Brent ran cross country in high school for two years, with a best time of 10:16 for the two mile course. He also played basketball and track. From Lima, Ohio, the young endurance man said he liked Cedarville College and that it was a great place to run. Brent plans to try out for basketball and wants to run the three mile in track this spring.

Steve Gruber, with a best time of 22:18, considers Cedarville College a great school that really "makes it." Steve played four years of high school cross country and track and also wrestled for one year. From Greenville, Ohio, Steve's best time in the two mile is 9:58 and he plans to run the quarter and half mile in track this spring.

Jack Rupp, playing a wide variety of sports in high school, enjoys Cedarville College very much. Jack ran one year of cross country and played four years of basketball. To these he added one of golf and two years of track and field. Jack's best time this year has been 23:23. Coming from Stryker, Ohio, Jack should strengthen the field division of track as he throws the javelin and participates in the pole vault.

As you can see by their credentials each freshman has the potential to become a very good cross country runner. With this new strength added to our team, Cedarville has a great possibility of winning next week's conference meet.
