Homecoming Activities Planned

"That the generation to come might know . . . that they might set their hope in God . . ."

Psalm 78: 6 & 7

Beginning the 1972-73 school year, Cedarville College celebrates Homecoming 1972 with a wide variety of happenings on campus.

The weekend opens at 8 p.m. Friday with a concert featuring the Dayton Rotary Boys' Choir, part of the school's Artist Lecture Series, in Alford Auditorium. The choir, organized in 1912, is comprised of sixty young men from the Dayton and surrounding areas. The group is under the direction of Mr. John W. Heisy.

Mr. Heisy is a native Daytonian and is the Director of Vocal Music at Meadowdale High School in Dayton. He has also taught at the University of Dayton.

The Dayton choir has sung at the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C., the Marble Collegiate Church in New York

Freshman Class Elects Officers

The class of '76 held election of officers Friday, October 13. The temporary officers of the freshmen class are: President, Kirby Lancaster; Vice-president, Edward Baggett; Secretary, Susan Gazdik; Treasurer, Becky Hilton and Chaplain, Ken Wimer.

Also elected were two representatives to the student council, Sally O'Shell and Dale Wright, and two representatives to the student body project, Laura Roby and James Smith.

All of these officers expressed the desire to lead the freshmen class to be a united body and used to the glory of God as a class. Dr. Daniel Wetzel is class advisor.

City, the Naval Academy, University of Colorado and Ohio State University, among many other performances.

There will be many alumni on campus this weekend and three class reunions. The classes of '57, '62 and '67 will be gathering in the Gym-Student Center Friday evening at 7:30 p.m. On Saturday at 1:00 p.m. the alumni also plan to have their own soccer game on the old soccer field.

Later on in the evening a pep rally and bonfire will be held at Cedar Lake. There will be singing, cheerleading, a pep band to liven the spirit and an introduction of the soccer team.

Homecoming Day, Saturday, Oct. 21, begins with a Trustees' Meeting at 8 p.m. in the Library: At 10 a.m. the parade begins.

The "Air Force Logistics Command Band," based at Wright Patterson Air Force Base, will be one of the main feature guests of the parade. The band travels thousands of miles each year. During this past year and a half, they have toured nearly every Central and Eastern state and participated in parades of national importance, on television and radio, and in outdoor concerts and other functions.

The Air Force Marching and Concert Band is under the direction of Captain Earl E. Turner. Captain Turner attended Northeast Missouri College where he received his B.S. degree in Music. He completed requirements for his M.A. in Music Education from Missouri State Teachers College.

Other participants in the annual parade will be Congressman Clarence J. Brown, the Homecoming Queen and her court, the soccer team, college band, Cedarcliff's high school band and drill team and the class floats.

The parade ends on the east end of the soccer field and a special ceremony at the site of the new Science Center will follow. A commemorative cornerstone will be placed into the new building. The brief ceremony is scheduled to take place on the east side of the building about 10:45 a.m.

Late in the morning the Cedarville College Invitational Meet in Cross Country begins at the east side of the track, north of the tennis courts. At the Invitational will be Defiance College, Mount Vernon and Walsh College.

Just prior to the 3 p.m. soccer game, a Sky Dive will be presented by the Greene County Sportsmen Parachute Club. They will land on the new soccer field, located inside the track on the north campus.

Cedarville College will take on Bluffton College on the old soccer field. Half-time ceremony will include presentation of Homecoming Queen and her court by Steve Shank, president of the Student Body. Also there will be awards presented for floats by Ronald Grosh, president of the Alumni Association.

The dormitory halls in most dorms will be decorated on Saturday, as well as the entrance areas, and will be open to all to visit between 12:30 p.m. and 2:45 p.m. Saturday.

Fall Production Cast Selected

The cast for My Three Angels, the fall play production of Cedarville College students, has been announced by Mrs. Miriam Maddox, director. Chosen to perform in My Three Angels were Mel Lovette as Felix Ducotel; Lois McNamara, Emelie Ducotel; Cheryl Huff, Marie Louise; Sheryl Wade, Mme. Parole; Dan Bergen, Joseph; Cal Turner, Jules; John Street, Alfred; Sharon Franks, Henrietta Trochard; Ron Summer, Paul; and Bob Fisher, Lieutenant. Don Harmon will be student director and Larry Strawn is the stage manager.

Crowning a new queen is traditionally a highlight of Cedarville College's Homecoming week-end. This tradition will be continued as either Yvonna Cope, Cindy Hofert, Bonnie McNeill, or Roxanne Regan will reign as Homecoming Queen, 1972. The crowning will take place at half-time ceremonies during the 3 p.m. soccer game Saturday.

A senior elementary education major, Yvonna Cope is a member of the Gospel Echoes Trio, the Swordbearers' Summer Group, Swordbearers on campus going canvassing Friday nights and Personnell Assistant in Maddox Hall. One of her favorite verses is Romans 11:33, "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments and his ways past finding out."

After graduation, Yvonna is not sure what the Lord will have her do, but regardless of where He leads and what she does, the Crawfordsville, Indiana girl prays that she may always be actively witnessing for her Lord and faithfully serving Him in every aspect of life.

Cindy Hofert, a member of SEAC, is the second candidate and comes to Cedarville from Buffalo, N.Y. Isaiah 40:31, "And they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength . . ." is her favorite verse. Cindy, also a senior elementary education major, plans to be married in March and then plans to teach wherever the Lord leads.

Charleston, W. Va., is the home town of the third candidate, Bonnie McNeill. She is a member of the Gamma Chi, and has her Christian Service at the Heathergreen Rest Home. "Trust in the Lord . . ." begins the verses in Proverbs 3:5&6 which are the elementary education major's favorites. Upon graduation, Bonnie would like to teach first grade but is waiting on the Lord to open a door and show her His will.

The final candidate for Homecoming Queen, 1972, is Roxanne Regan, a commuter from London, Ohio. For the psychology major, Romans 8:28 is special: "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God to them who are the called according to His purpose."

Which senior girl will be queen? Come to the soccer game with Bluffton Saturday to see the half-time ceremonies and the crowning of Cedarville's Homecoming Queen, 1972.

Evangelist Paul Dixon Is Conference Speaker

On Nov. 4, Swordbearers will be sponsoring their annual youth conference with Evangelist Paul Dixon. This year the theme will be built on Ecclesiastes 12:1—"Remember thy God in the days of thy youth."

In addition to the morning and evening messages by Mr. Dixon, the young people will attend afternoon seminars on Quiet Time, Politics and Youth Involvement in the local church from a student's point of view. This year, Rev. Joseph Stowell, pastor of Southgate Baptist Church in Springfield, will conduct a seminar for adults on Youth Involvement in the local church from the adult point of view.

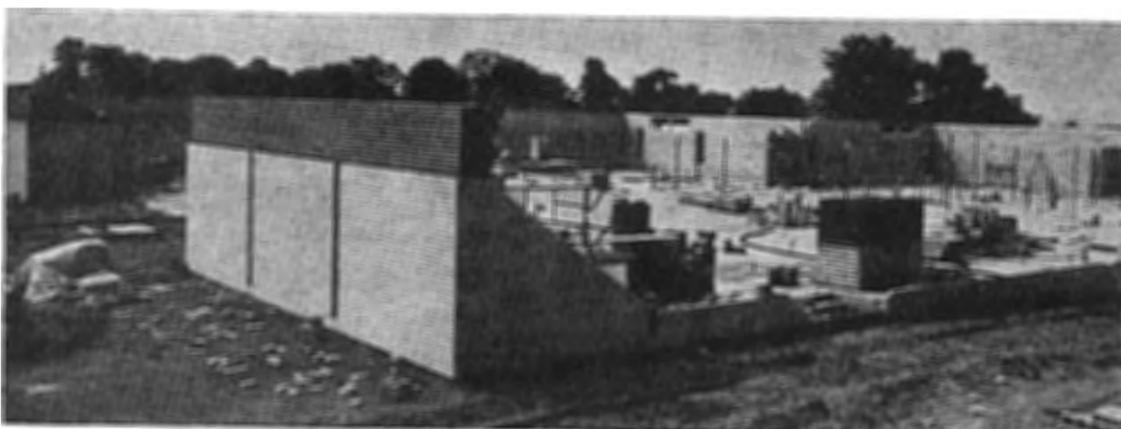

At the close of each conference, the Conference Committee immediately begins working to plan for the conference for the following year. The committee this year is composed of Doug Schroeder, Dan Thompson, Rich McGhee, Bonnie Bodenmiller and Becky Canine.

Workers are still needed to handle the projected 1500 young people. If interested, please contact someone on the committee.

Find Involvement In Student Council

Student involvement is the voiceless cry of many Cedarville students. We want to be involved with the school government and to express our opinions, but what do we do to make this cry a reality? Many organizations on campus offer opportunities for us to participate, but the club that most directly affects each one of us as students is the Student Council.

Student Council meets every Wednesday evening at 8:15 p.m. in the Gym Student Center to discuss issues applicable to our present and future days at Cedarville. Is it possible to find out how Council goes about bringing prevalent discussions to the attention of its members? Yes, any student can visit the meetings.

We are reminded that Student Council is set up to listen to our requests and to bring them forth for interaction. If we have an issue we would like brought before Council, we should go to one of the representatives and ask him or her to present it to the members. If we sit back with our ideas or questions, how can we expect the Student Council to know what we are thinking? Go to a representative with your ideas or questions and let him help find the answers. Young Voters Campaign At Miami

By Laura Roby

With horns blowing, flags waving and cameras clicking, the 1972 Republican National Convention got under way with a new purpose — get the youth vote involved.

While McGovernites claimed they had full support of the youth, the Young Voters from the President proved otherwise. More than 3500 young people paid their own ways to Miami to show their backing of Nixon and Agnew.

Contrary to press reports, the activities of the YVP's were not "staged."

Waiting at Miami International Airport from 7 p.m.-1 a.m. in August heat for hotel assignments began the Convention's program for many of us. This hardly shows a great deal of organization.

A spontaneous demonstration brought the delegates to their feet on nomination night. The press corps knew absolutely nothing of the demonstration before it exploded, but tried to pass it all off as "staged."

Those who wished not to become involved could sit on the beach all day. But most of us took advantage of the opportunities to meet President Nixon, the First Family, Agnew, Reagan and other Senators face to face at rallies.

While the youth inside the Convention were demonstrating, those on the other side of the guarded, barbed fence were demonstrating also.

Bitterness and emptiness distorted the faces of all the hippies, yuppies and zippies as we watched police drive the mob away from Convention Hall.

Older politicians seemed especially interested in the young voters. However, Governor Reagan remarked that the majority of voters is still over 35.

As the Delta engines roared for take-off, we realized that as Nixon campaigners, we could not become complacent about getting others involved in the campaign.

Elections 72

By Bruce Olson

Editors' Note—Whispering Cedars invites persons wishing to express alike or opposing opinions to send them to the paper.

As I approach the election of 1972, I sense that we are facing an election that may well be looked upon in the future as a very decisive trend the nation will follow for several presidential terms to come. This election has the potential of making the Republican party an equal party if not a majority party. Such a phenomenon could help change the course that this country has taken for the past forty years, since the country last decided to try a different brand of leadership in its effort to extricate itself from the depression.

Why does this election, in contrast to other recent elections, hold these possibilities? There are several reasons I feel this way, primarily because this presidential contest is not so much a "me too" situation. By this I mean that the out of power party is offering in many cases some very definite alternatives course of the incumbent party. This course of action may well lead to the defeat of the Democratic Party this year, but it is commendable that the Democratic Party has provided the American voter with such a clear cut choice. Such a clear choice may make this election one of the few presidential races where a majority of the voters have voted on the basis of issues and not on the sole basis of party label.

I believe that on November seventh the American people should and will cast a decisive majority of their votes for President Nixon, possibly giving him the mandate he so desires. A vote differential even approaching the current polls is almost too much to ask for, though its effects on the other offices on the ballot would be most welcome! I feel that a reasoning similar to self-preservation will be a motivating force in the minds and actions of millions of voters.

Most people are vitally interested in maintaining or improving their present lot, and the idea of income redistribution does not appeal to them. Unfortunately for Senator McGovern, most of the income to be redistributed would apparently have to come from those earning 12-10 thousand dollars a year, precisely the income range where one of the largest segments of voters find themselves. Although most well, they are frustrated by their inability to realize much gain in their real income, and as such they are not receptive to new welfare schemes.

Though it is impossible to touch on all the issues, or even most of the major ones, this article would be incomplete without mention of the President's success in winding down the American role in the war. Contrary to the assertions of his hostile critics, the President has had a great deal of success, for it would be foolish to call withdrawal of half a million men from Vietnam a failure. The President has quite properly refused to a unilateral withdrawal and consequent abrogation of our commitment to the freedom of the people of South Vietnam.

President Nixon is also definitely committed to the maintaining of our position of superiority in the matter of military power, willing to spend the money on armaments rather than trying to trust the good will of the Communist world.

I feel too, that President Nixon deserves high marks for his success in foreign affairs, especially for his summit talks with the Chinese and Russian leaders. The very real chances for future trade, which is one of the best foundations for peace, are encouraging. I feel that an economic stake in peace is beneficial, and may serve to ease East-West tensions even more.

Finally, as a Christian American I should support a man who has a moral commitment against abortion, a sin which to an extent may be compared to the Old Testament practice of sacrificing children, which practice God condemned and punished those nations that practiced these sacrifices. Whether he knows it or not, President Nixon is helping to bring blessing on this country as a result of the attitude he holds towards the nation and people of Israel. While it is certain that God does not need the re-election of President Nixon in order to carry out His Will, I sense how God is using the President as an instrument to bring blessing to Israel, and I would like to see this continue during President Nixon's second term in office.

Finally, whether or not you agree with me, do not fail to use your newly acquired right to vote. If you fail to vote, you will have no right to complain about the new President.

RANDOM THOUGHTS

By Judy Johnson

There is always a certain challenge in returning to school in the fall and anticipating new experiences. No matter how the summer may have been, there is an optimism in the hearts of most when thinking of the opportunities ahead.

I, too, am caught up in the syndrome of optimism, and would like to share my thoughts with you in a column on a regular basis, not because I am convinced that I am Suzy Spiritual, but because writing is one effective avenue of communication. And as an English and Bible major, I am vitally interested in communication.

This summer Psalm 116 became very meaningful to me. I had read it before, but somehow the words came alive for me this summer. Especially the first part of verse 10 made an impression on me. The verse says "I believed, therefore have I spoken." So often we make personal witnessing a traumatic experience, one to be greatly feared and undertaken with feelings of inferiority. But in this verse, the Psalmist expresses the simplicity we can and should have in our witness. It is merely a matter of speaking out because of our belief in a Saviour. And if it is difficult for us to speak, our belief must not be deep enough. So in this time of challenge, let's take up the challenge in God's Word to believe and to speak.

Students, faculty and administration are urged to submit letters and forum articles to the Whispering Cedars throughout the year. Whispering Cedars reserves the right to edit, accept or reject contributions. Forum authors will be consulted regarding any editing changes.

All letters or articles should be sent to the Whispering Cedars editors through inter-campus mail and must be signed.

Swordbearers Tour Ten States

By Nanci Sioux

Imagine eleven college students spending twelve weeks traveling together and at the end of the final week, all still getting along well. Can it be done? Sure, the Cedarville Swordbearers proved it so this summer when they traveled to 59 churches and two camps in ten states.

In their church format with rallies and seminars, the Swordbearers discussed quiet time, led by Bruce Klett and Rosalee Howard; astrology by Tom Seidler and Yvonne Cope; dynamic Christian living by Terry Clapp and Dave True; dating by Steve Overholt and Becky Canine; rock music by Steve, Becky, and Rosalee; puppets by Ray Belle Fisher, and evangelism by Debbie Dear and Bruce. Musical groups included two quartets, solos, duets and the girls trio (Yvonne, Rosalee and Nancy Tallmon).

Debbie Dear expressed that after being with camps one week the campers would just begin to open up and listen. There was just not enough time to get to really know people in the meetings.

The most frustrating thing felt by Steve Overholt was that after talking with a young girl at camp and sharing the plan of salvation with her, she wouldn't accept Christ as her Saviour.

Leading a Methodist boy to the Lord in Hadden Heights, N.J. was the most exciting moment for Rosalee Howard. The boy had lots of questions about assurance of salvation but even after talking with his pastor was unable to find peace. The Lord gave Rosalee the verses to share with the young man and allowed her to lead him to an assured saving grace of Christ.

Exodus 4:12 was the verse claimed by Becky Canine as she learned that the Lord has to give His children wisdom when dealing with others. She also found that the only way for the group to get along together was to keep their eyes on the Lord as stated in Matt. 22:37.

Yvonne Cope and Nancy Tallmon shared a highlight as they became more aware of the importance of not taking people for granted. While staying in Decatur, Ill., they stayed with a supposedly happy missionary family with a 14-year-old girl. As they left the home, the girl gave Yvonne a letter to read full of hatred for her parents and life in general. The next night in Pana, Ill., the Cedarville girls were surprised to see the 14-year-old in a service and later that night were able to lead her to the Lord. The young Christian's letters changed and she is growing greatly spiritually.

SBP Sponsors Talent Night

Each year one of the first programs presented by the Student Body Project to raise funds is the New Student Talent Night. This is an opportunity for freshmen and transfer students to exhibit their talents before the student body. This year's New Student Talent will be held Oct. 28 at 8 p.m. in Alford Auditorium.

Two auditions have already been held and another is scheduled sometime before Homecoming. All freshmen and transfer students are eligible to audition.

The evening will consist of musical numbers, both sacred and secular, skits, oral interpretations and general talent.

The Swordbearers made a stop at Shepherds Home for Retarded Children in Union Grove, Wisc. where they spent one day. There Tom Seidler, the group leader, was touched to hear a little retarded girl recite Psalm 23. "Mentally retarded, yes, but disconnected from God, no," he exclaimed.

Throughout the summer the eleven students worked together with the purpose of glorifying God first and then representing Cedarville. Perhaps the greatest lesson they learned as individuals and as a group was summed up in a statement made by Tom: "We rub elbows with people who will someday be in Hell because we haven't cared enough to embarrass ourselves and embarrass them by stopping them and approaching them with Jesus Christ."

Filipino Completes Education at Cedarville

By Carolyn Bonnell

Hard to obtain visa papers and money lost . . . just one of the many experiences of Miss Lucille Perla, a Filipino transfer student, as she was led by God to Cedarville College to complete her education.

Lucille, saved at an early age was brought up by Christian parents who were fruits of missionary labor. She comes from a family of eight girls and one boy. Her father is employed by the government.

To please her parents, Lucille went to Bible school, planning to stay one year. But God called her into full-time work and she remained for four years. Lucille then worked with young people at student centers and in the church. There she felt the need for a psychology background. She entered a Philippine university as a political science major.

Lucille became involved in political affairs. She found that many Filipino students were forming radical organizations and demonstrations.

"I was convinced," said Lucille, "that they were fighting for a just cause."

Lucille believes that the Communists are successfully infiltrating Philippine schools, using demonstrations to cause rebellion and spread hatred toward the government as well as break up the family, church, and school.

"So just like any patriotic citizen of the Philippines, I rebel against injustice and corruption in our government. But the devil was using this spirit to get me farther and farther from the Lord."

Lucille was asked to run as school senator. She was uncertain as to whether God wanted her to become more entangled in campus politics.

She laid a fleece before God. If she should receive a letter of acceptance from Tennessee Temple, she would know that God wanted her to leave the Philippines. That very day the letter of acceptance arrived.

The Lord supplied all of her needs. A visa was granted and money provided. Her visa was the first that the American consul had been able to grant in two weeks because the American embassy was being picketed.

Last April Lucille reached her destination — Tennessee Temple. She later applied to Cedarville College and was accepted a month later.

Lucille has been impressed by the friendliness and helpfulness of the faculty and students at the college. Several verses which have been a blessing to her since coming to the United States are Philippians 3:13, 14 — ". . . forgetting those things which are behind and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

Lucille Perla checks her mailbox, waiting for letter from home.

Jackets Host Invitational

Homecoming Week at Cedarville will present a great challenge for the Cross Country team. Oct. 21 at 11:00, this year's first home invitational will take place. The four teams participating are: Defiance College, Mt. Vernon, Walsh, and the hosting Cedarville Yellowjackets.

Two trophies will be presented to the first and second place teams and the top ten runners will also receive trophies. Cedarville coach Elvin King is optimistic about his team's chances despite his top two runners being out of action. Jim Chambers is out with mononucleosis and Brad Crombaugh has a pulled achilles tendon. This will leave Cedarville's hopes up to Senior, Ernie Welborn, Sophomore, John Hutchison, and Freshman, Paul Beck. Thus far, the team has compiled a 1-1 record in dual meet competition.

The leading runner in the five mile invitational is expected to be Bob Simple of Defiance College. Yellowjacket runner's will have to work very hard to match strides with this talented runner. With all this great talent coming to town, it promises to be a very exciting day on the Cedarville course.

One of the men running cross-country Saturday is Paul Beck.

Larry Bollback and Dan Estes keep the soccer ball in action for the Jackets.

Cedarville Faces Bluffton

By Rick Johnson

Homecoming weekend would not be the same without a Saturday afternoon soccer game. This week's opponent will be Bluffton College. Cedarville will enter the game with an impressive 3-1-1 record, their only loss coming at the hands of Wilmington College.

This year's Yellowjacket team is being led by co-captain Larry Bollback, who has a knack of putting the ball in the goal when it's needed most. The Bluffton game is very important because they are in the same conference as Cedarville. A win would also bolster the team's chances for qualifying in the NAIA tournament at the end of the year.

The game will start at 3:00. A large crowd is expected to be on hand with the alumni returning to the campus. With Cedarville coming off a big 4-2 victory over Ohio Northern, there should once again be plenty of action. The game was completely dominated by the Yellowjackets, which gave the second string lots of time to play. This means the regulars should be well rested for Saturday's clash. The way the team has been playing lately it looks like an upcoming victory and a happy homecoming weekend.

Judges Select Cheerleaders

Friday the thirteenth proved to be a test for a group of students who have been seen practicing cheers and jumps. Five of these candidates were selected to the varsity cheerleading squad and three were selected for the junior varsity squad.

New varsity cheerleaders are Leslie Lespline (captain), Sharalyn Eley, Marcy Pruden, Karen Urban, and Darlene Van Wyk. The new junior varsity cheerleaders are Sue Cook, Bobbie Lotts, and Mary Beth Potter.

A wide selection of judges were used in choosing the new cheerleaders. Among them were many representatives of the various college organizations, and various personnel such as the Campus Pastor, Academic Dean, Athletic Director, and others. Judging was divided into seven categories, each having a rate of 1-5 points. These categories were gymnastic ability, execution of cheers, enthusiasm, strength of voice, poise, posture, personality, rhythm timing, and an over-all rating.

The first activities for the new cheerleaders will be Friday's pep rally and the Homecoming game on October 21.

Ball Floats In for Homecoming

Cedarville College will have a unique method of bringing its soccer ball onto the field for the homecoming game.

Prior to the game against Bluffton Saturday afternoon, four men from the Xenia Parachute Club will descend upon the field, carrying with them the game ball. Mr. Adams, captain, Mr. Vondreau, Mr. Reisinger and Mr. Seaman will jump from an altitude of 7500 feet, leaving trails of colored smoke above them.

Having made over 1080 jumps, Adams has been with the Xenia club for over three years. Seaman, also a three year member of the club, has made more than 900 jumps. Both Vondreau, with 720 jumps, and Reisinger, with 550 jumps, have been with the club for a year.

One of the first men to jump at Cedarville eight years ago was Jim West, owner of the Xenia club. He has also performed for the University of Kentucky, South High School and various county fairs.

Field Hockey Gets Underway

Once again it is fall, and just as regular as the season itself, are activities such as Old Testament, Freshman Initiation, and Women's Intercollegiate Field Hockey.

The team, coached by June Kearney, has already played and won its first game. The game played on October 11th was against a first year team from Mount St. Joseph in Cincinnati. The Jackettes played on their own field and on a rain drizzled day. However despite the weather, Debbie Stuart in the first half was able to score the only goal of the day as the Jackettes defeated the Mounties 1-0.

The Jackettes were to play Mount St. Joseph again Monday, October 16th, but due to inclement weather the game was cancelled until a later date.

The next home game is scheduled for October 26 at 4:30 against the University of Cincinnati.

Tennis Team Begins Year

This year, for the second year in a row, Cedarville has a Women's Intercollegiate Tennis team. This team, coached by Maryalce Jeremiah has already started its season by defeating Mount St. Joseph 4-1. (Women's tennis consists of three singles play and two doubles).

On Cedarville's team this year are three newcomers: Lauren Clark, who is the only freshman on the team, Doris Johnson, and Merilee Johnson. Returning to the team this year are singles players Marianne Frauenknecht, Sandy Finch, and Sherill Cressman; and returning to play doubles are Karen DeMars and Nancy Tallman.

Freshman Drives Hole in One

This year's Cedarville golf team has been getting an early jump on next season. Coach Gromacki's changes have been out on the Locust Hills Country Club every day this fall.

The practice season started out on a rather unbelievable note. Freshman ace Dale Johnson carded a "hole in one" on the tricky thirteenth hole! Dale has been a golfing star all through his high school years in Lapeer, Michigan. Neither he nor his playing partner, Jim Fair, realized that the ball had entered the cup. As they walked down the 155 yard fairway to the green, both of them suddenly discovered what had happened.

Dale later described himself as being in "a state of shock!" All he recalls is that he used a 6 iron and that he felt it was hit too hard. He went on to shoot a 77 for eighteen holes.

The future is unsure for this year's golf team but Dale Johnson has one day in his golfing career that he'll never forget.

New J.V. and Varsity cheerleaders are: Mary Beth Potter, Sheralyn Eley, Karen Urban, Leslie Leapline (captain), Darlene Van Wyk, Mary Pruden, and Bobbie Litts.
