Faculty Members Press Forward

by Chris Rufener

This summer a Cedarville College professor will exchange rainy Cedarville for sunny Ft. Lauderdale. In June, Don Wilcox, his wife Barbara and their 15-month-old son Bruce will be moving to Florida where Mr. Wilcox will enter into another dimension of the business world. He will become the new business manager of the Calvary Baptist Church, Christian Day School and bookstore in Ft. Lauderdale.

The assistant professor of business at Cedarville College came to Cedarville in 1964 as a senior. During that year he also worked at the Business Office. He continued this job for two years during which time he worked on his Masters degree at the University of Dayton. In 1967 he accepted a teaching position in the Business Department at Cedarville College. Since this time he has done graduate work at the University of Cincinnati and Wright State University.

Mr. Wilcox has served as advisor to the Future Business Association and is presently advisor to the class of '73.

In speaking of his years at Cedarville, Mr. Wilcox remarked that he has enjoyed working in the college community. He has mixed emotions about leaving, but is eagerly anticipating this new job opportunity.

Dean Loper

"He staggered not at the promise of God through unbelief, but was strong in faith, giving glory to God" (Romans 4:20).

For Tom Loper, Dean of Men at Cedarville College, God's promise has led to a variety of occupations.

A graduate of Moody Bible Institute, Mr. Loper held church services in Florida migrant camps for six years.

The Lord then led him to Battle Creek, Michigan, where he started a Baptist Church under the Galilean Baptist Mission Board. While there, he received his Masters degree in counseling and guidance from Western Michigan University. He also held a full-time teaching position in the public fifth and sixth grades, introduced an extracurricular sports program in the public elementary school and was elected president of the P.T.A.

After seven years the Lopers moved to Ann Arbor to begin a church there. It was during a Missionary Conference at the church that Mr. Loper was asked to consider the position of Dean of Men at Cedarville College.

In 1968, Cedarville had its first full-time Dean of Men. Mr. Loper taught psychology for his first two years at the college.

Mr. Loper views his role as a beneficial agent of change for the students. In his six years here he has introduced a training program for the R.A.'s and P.A.'s, an educational development program to aid students with low ACT scores, study skills and speed reading courses and the Edwards Personality and diagnostic reading tests for new students. His primary goal has been "to become the best Dean of Men I could be."

During the Missionary Conference this spring, Mr. Loper again felt the Lord guiding him into another area of service. He has reapplied to the Galilean Baptist Mission Board as a home missionary and anticipates an opening in September.

Of this transfer, Mr. Loper has stated that "I'm not changing bosses. I'm just changing departments."

"The Christian life," he remarked, "is a continual experience."

Having fulfilled God's work for him here, Mr. Loper is looking forward to a greater promise awaiting him in his new position.

Others Leaving

Faculty leaving are C. B. Hurst, Registrar and Director of Admissions, and Ralph Gale, Associate Professor of History, Mrs. Sharon Hahnlen, Assistant Professor of Foreign Language.

Staff members leaving at the end of the year are: Marty Cosins, R.A. of Williams Hall; Mrs. James Rosa, R.A. of Faith Hall; Mrs. Gene Peterson, R.A. of Maddox Hall; Mrs. Lois McLain, Business Office; Mrs. Linda McNiece, Copy Center; Mrs. Melinda Howard, Alumni Office; Mrs. Peggy Weeks, Financial Aids Office; Mrs. Mona Ritchie, Student Personnel Office, and Dawn Emmot, part-time in the Library.

By Nanci Layne

With just over a week left before the "big day," 174 Cedarville seniors are busy packing clothes for the last time as dorm residents, taking their final finals and preparing for their futures after June 2. For some seniors, graduating from Cedarville College is the end of formal schooling although they will continue to gain much knowledge in their future jobs or marriages. Other seniors have only begun their schooling as they now prepare for graduate schools.

Friday, June 1, begins the two-day events for the upperclassmen as they and their guests fellowship at the President's Banquet. Dr. Robert Sumner will be speaking during the 5:30 p.m. meal to be held in the gymnasium.

Minutes before 10 a.m. Saturday, a procession of seniors and faculty members will start from Alford Auditorium, arriving at the GSC promptly at 10 o'clock. Two marshalls wearing white caps and gowns will lead the faculty while two other students will lead the seniors. These four marshalls are the top scholastic students in the Junior class.

Ushers for the commencement exercises are the next 25 scholastic Juniors. Dressed in royal blue caps and gowns, they will help with the seating of guests. Of the 2326 available seats, only 200 are non-ticketed and are available on a first come-first serve basis. Special sections of seats for the Trustees, alumni and faculty and staff wives will be marked off. Also present in a special section are the remaining graduates of the 1923 class of Cedarville College, celebrating their Golden Anniversary.

Inside the gymnasium, the platform where the graduates will sit and the podium will be draped with blue and gold satin. Palms flank the platform with baskets of flowers transforming the gym into a garden.

Included in the commencement exercises are the presentations to President Jeremiah of the senior gift; the speech of dedication and conferral of degrees by President Jeremiah and the receiving of diplomas and other special awards by the seniors.

As Graduation 1973 ends, the lives of the graduates begin as each one faces decisions and challenges to move ahead in the way God leads.

Cedarville College Orchestra

Orchestra Makes Joyful Music

"Make a joyful noise unto the Lord." Psalm 100:1

The Cedarville College orchestra is doing just that. Taking part in the college's first organized orchestra are 41 members of the college and community. Many of the members have had previous string experience with the college.

Dr. Robert Monroe, director, regards the orchestra "as a class and the concert as an extension of the classroom." He expects more ensemble groups next year, including a trombone choir, string quartet, brass quintet and woodwind quartet.

The orchestra presently meets twice a week. Dr. Monroe plans to add a sectional practice next year as the orchestra will be challenged with more difficult music.

Beginning with a young orchestra, (mostly freshmen and sophomores), Dr. Monroe feels that it will greatly improve in the coming years.

Students interested in joining the orchestra next year are asked to contact Dr. Monroe.

Students Plan Summer Tours

A total of 50 applicants are going out under Missionary Internship Service:

Administration: Dr. & Mrs. Johnson
Faculty: Dr. & Mrs. Ager and family
Staff: Miss Elaine Schulte
Alumni: Mr. & Mrs. Jim Hostetler, Class of '71
Loren Reno, Class of '70

Curt Larson, Class of '72 and 41 students.

These 50 people will be going to the following countries: Australia, Philippines, Peru, Brazil, Central African Republic, Chad, Liberia, France.

Swordbearers Summer Team

The team will consist of eleven students with different administration and faculty advisors traveling with them. They will be gone from June 13 to August 29 and their ministry will include seminars, banquets, rallies, canvassing, Sunday services and camps. For a Senior week at Scioto Hills they will have the complete program with Pastor Green as Dean, a week at Camp Patmos providing seminars and music, and three days at Camp Northfield in New England providing seminars and music there also. The tour will take them into the following states: Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan and Iowa.

Many students working in camps

Sky View Ranch in Ohio will be completely staffed with Cedarville College students and Pastor Green will be the summer Director. Others will be working at Camp Patmos in Ohio, Bethany Camp in New York, Beechwood and Crystal Lake in Indiana, camps in Iowa and Michigan Word of Life, and others.

Assistant Pastor and Youth Director Apprenticeships

Those of whom we now have knowledge are Chuck Dolph, Craig Busho, Mr. & Mrs. (soon to be) Craig Williford, and Pete Lillback.

Agers Will Leave for Philippines

Faith Academy in the Philippine Islands will become home for the Ager family for six months beginning in July.

Dr. Merlin Ager, chairman of the Education Department, Mrs. Ager, advisor for Kappa Delta Chi, Mindy and Debbie will leave the West Coast, June 28.

Dr. Ager will relieve Mr. Paul VanKleek who is the principal and superintendent of the elementary school at Faith. Dr. Ager will also direct an inservice program for the elementary and high school teachers there.

In addition, he will supervise Dinah Arthur, Jayne Eberling, Linda Sullivan, and Peggy Waggoner in their student teaching at Faith next fall.

Mrs. Ager will become a librarian or teacher's aid while Mindy and Debbie enroll at Faith for one semester, from July to December.

The Agers have given slide presentations of Faith Academy at the college and in various churches. They traveled to their home church in Wisconsin last weekend to speak there. Twenty percent of their total support has already been raised.

Although anticipating an adjustment to the climate, they should have little difficulty since they will be in the Philippines during the rainy season.

Dr. Ager is "excited about working with kids in a Christian Day School" and that his children will have "experience in another culture."

The girls are looking forward to being m.k.'s.

Patience is a Virtue

This being the last issue of Whispering Cedars for this school year, we want to take this opportunity to publicly thank our printers at the Yellow Springs News for the patience they have shown us this year. Not once has any one at Yellow Springs said any harsh words because of deadlines we've missed, copy we've forgotten or rush orders we've sent in. Ken Champney and his crew have patiently but diligently set copy, made proofs, put to press our paper, trying their hardest to help us in distributing Whispering Cedars to the Cedarville family.

Working with them has been a delight to our staff and we thank them for a job well done. We, the Whispering Cedars staff, ask that our readers join us in our prayers that God will bless our printers and, if His will is such, that each one will accept Christ as Saviour, perhaps through the testimony of Whispering Cedars and Cedarville College. —N.S.L.

Finding Time

The quarter is almost over and, as we look at the days remaining, we wonder how we students will finish our papers on time while the professors wonder if they will have the papers read and the tests made out by next Wednesday. There seems to be too much work for so little time.

But where does God fit in? We catch ourselves shortening our devotions until we are spending only five minutes in God's Word. But we spend twice that amount just waiting in the lunch line. It becomes somewhat embarrassing to ask God's help as we work on a project or study for a final. Should we really expect God to have time for us when we don't have time for Him? By carefully planning our day, we can have effective daily devotions and still have time for our studies.

God always finds time for us. Do we find time for Him?

—C. R.

Staff Commended

So many thanks must be extended to the splendid staff of this year's Whispering Cedars. They have been diligent in the completion of all their responsibilities, and the newspaper has been a credit to this Christian college. The large amount of time and energy expended produced good dividends.

Gratefully, Clifford Johnson, Advisor

Council Plans In-Forum

by Steve Shank

As many of you know, one of the major endeavors of the Student Council during this school year has been the organization of and preparation for next year's Lecture Series.

Early in the year, Council took upon itself the financial and organizational responsibility of the "lecture portion" of the college's Artist Lecture Series. This action would free more money (gained from the student's activity fees) for the Artist program of the Series and hopefully make each part of the Series bigger and better in the years to come. The two programs will henceforth be called the "Cedarville College Artist Series" and the "Student Council In-Forum."

The In-Forum for the 1973-74

school year has the exciting and controversial theme of "The Control of Life . . . God . . . or Man?" Each of the three lectures tentatively scheduled will contribute something new and different to the theme.

The first lecture, entitled The Nature of Life, will be on November 8, 1973, and will be given by John J. Moore, Ed.D., a professor of biochemistry at Michigan State University. Dr. Moore is affiliated with the Creation Research Society and has written much in this area. Some of the questions he will deal with are: What is (physical) life? How does it operate and communicate? Is it more than the functional and mechanical aspects?

The second lecture, The Control of Life, is tentatively scheduled for January 10, 1974, but no confirmations for the speaker has been made yet. The topics to be dealt with include: artificial fertilization, birth control, abortion (the right to live concept, euthenasia, extra-uterine life and test tube life.

Duone T. Gish, Ph. D., Vice President of the Creation Research Society, will give the third lecture, The Purpose of Life, on April 25. Questions to be dealt with then are: Does man have the right to control or change the natural progression of life? What are the moral, ethical, social, and spiritual implications? Dr. Gish will also be giving a general review and summary of the entire year's In-Forum.

This is the In-Forum for next year. Each of these men is a dynamic and exciting speaker as well as a born-again Christian, coming highly recommended by our science faculty. We at Student Council hope each student is as excited about the In-Forum as we are, and that each one of you will make every effort to attend all three lectures.

Artist Series Announced

In conjunction with Student Council's In-Forum series, the sent six Artist Series during the Student Activities Office will precoming 1973-74 school year.

The first artists will be the American Vocal Quintet, presenting a concert on October 20. Members of the Quintet, which traces its history back to 1960, are Yoshi Ito, soprano; Joyce Gerber, mezzo-soprano; Sidney Johnson, tenor; Marshall Thomas, baritone, and Kenneth Bell, bass. Selections include Renaissance masterpieces, colonial American music, Viennese quartets and contemporary music, both serious and light-hearted with folk songs, spirituals, jazz arrangements and some P.D.Q. Bach.

Frances and Richard Hadden, piano duo, will present the second Artist Series on November 30. The Haddens have performed in over 25 foreign countries, have composed music for motion-pictures and have accompanied several dramaticomusical cultural missions to critical world areas. Their program offers a wide spectrum of styles — serious and popular, current and classic — with music for listeners of all ages.

Winter quarter February 15 will feature Jack Thomas as Mark Twain On Stage. A young actor from West Virginia, Mr. Thomas transports his audiences back to the time of Twain where they can enjoy watching Mark Twain presented as Social Critic of his age speaking on such topics as religion, art, journalism and government.

A second Artist series for Winter Quarter, 1974, will be the concert of Robert Hale, leading bass-baritone with the New York City Opera Company, and Dean Wilder, Head of the Voice Department of Westminster Choir College of Princeton, N. J. Appearing with them will be Ovid Young, accompanist and arranger.

With the advent of Spring quarter will come an 8 p.m. concert and 3 p.m. workshop by the Columbus String Quartet from the Columbus Symphony Orchestra. March 29 is the date set for the Quartet which includes Dennis Cleveland, violinist; Harold Byers, violinist; Mark Childs, violinist, and cellist Karen Andrie. For the past two summers the four musicians have been artists in residence at the University of Montana and have performed at Adams State College in Colorado, winning unanimous critical praise for their music.

The final Artist Series sponsored by the Student Activities Office for next year will be the April 19 performance of the Bowling Green Brass Quintet as formed by resident faculty members of the School of Music of Bowling Green State University. Their repertoire includes a library of brass chamber music with works of Bach, Arnold and Bozza. Making up the Quintet are Edwin Betts, trumpet; George Novak, trumpet; David Rogers, French horn; David Glasmire, trombone, and Ivan Hammond, tuba.

Random Thoughts

by Judy Johnson

My mind has returned repeatedly to Pastor Green's sermon a few weeks ago from the book of Malachi, dealing with the questions that Israel had for God. The first question hit me particularly hard — "Wherein hast thou loved us?" Time and again I find that my daily life and conduct show that I don't believe God loves me.

After all, what has God ever done for me? What is He doing for me right now? I've been given life, and Christ died for me, but how has God shown His love recently?

The Old Testament passage Is. 65, written to the Jews, seems appropriate for me as well. "I am sought by those who asked not for me; I am found by those who sought me not. I said, 'Behold me, behold me, unto a nation that was not called by my name. I have spread out my hands all the day unto a rebellious people, that walketh in a way that was not good, after their own thoughts; a people that provoketh me to anger continually to my face' . . ."

It seems that in the face of all my self-righteousness, my craving for independence, my pride, God still spreads out His hand of blessing upon me, who has never deserved one bit of His grace. As a senior, I can look on my four years here and see that along with all the trials and resultant bad attitudes, there has been much good in my stay here.

God has shown His love through the people He has given me as friends. He has shown me His riches in providing for my financial needs. He has shown creation. He has imparted to me His beauty mirrored in His truth to me in His Word. God has loved me in all of these ways, as one of His favored children. When trials come or doubts begin, I can be assured that they are within the context of His love.

Academic Dean Looks Ahead

Although enrollment forecasting is treading a bit upon the domain of prophecy, Dr. Johnson, upon the basis of the increased numbers of applications, indicated that next Fall's enrollment may be between 950 and 960, an increase from last Fall's 944. He also noted that he was pleased with the continuing interest in Cedarville, due no doubt to the good report the present students give to prospects.

The coming year, 1973-74, will also be the year of the Self-Study, according to Dr. Johnson. Much faculty, staff and student energy will need to be devoted to comparing college objectives with outcomes noted in graduates and alumni. The tentative target date for completion of the Self-Study would be April 1, 1974.

The summer commencement is a recent innovation at Cedarville. It now appears that 20 students will be completing their programs and getting degrees this August in the second summer commencement. One hundred and seventy-four students will be getting their diplomas this June 2.

Prof Attends Conference

Miss Irma Dodson, associate professor of education at Cedarville College, attended the International Reading Association Conference May 1-4 in Denver, Colorado.

Dr. William K. Durr, professor of education at Michigan State University and president of the IRA, presided over the conference.

Lecturing at the conference were authors, editors and specialists in the teaching of reading on the elementary, secondary and college level. Alvin Toffler, Alex Halsy, Nila B. Smith, Olive S. Niles, Bill Martin, Jr., Jesse Stuart and Marshall McLuhan were some of the speakers.

GRATITUDE

I can't begin to express it!
Could have ruined my whole life—
Didn't though—
HE did it . . .
Took care and forgave me; us.
Have I forgiven

Students Take Part in Orientation

MIS is a program most everyone on campus has become familiar with. They know that the purpose of MIS is not only to help the student get better acquainted with various mission fields, and the ways the missionaries work, but to help them to better able to determine if God is calling them into this area of Christian service. They also know that those accepted into the program have to raise the money they need to meet their expenses for transportation, sustenance and travel.

There is another aspect of MIS that many do not know about and that is the orientation period. Meeting weekly the students involved have been going through a shortened version of missionary "basic training." They are introduced to the historical background of missions; what was done in the past, is being done now, and what will be done in the future if the Lord tarries. They are trained in the modern day approaches in evangelism used in the areas where they are going. They are exposed to the cultural implications of the society of their selected area. They are prepared for any special ministries involved with their fields so they will be able to meet the needs. They listen to guest missionaries and other authorities on their selected field who clue them in on what to expect when they go on the field. These students are instructed on the type of pictures to take for their reports they will be giving upon their return. Finally, the students have to receive all the shots necessary for overseas travel.

MIS is a simulation of the actual missionary experience. The students go through the interviews, the deputations, the writing of thank you letters, the performance on the field, and the final report after it is over. They go out under the guidance of mission agencies approved by the GARBC.

There are 46 people going out under MIS this summer to eight different countries. They are as follows: Dean Shugars and Dennis Twigg, Australia; Don Johnson and Phil McDonald, Central African Republic; Diana Douglas, Elaine Schulte, and Doug Weaver, Chad; Cheryl Heslep and Carol Towle, France; Eldon Sarver, Liberia; Debbie Dear, Don Eggleston, Linden Kirby, and Beverly Ziegler, Peru; 16 are going to Brazil under the leadership of Dr. Johnson and his wife; and 14 are going to the Philippines, five to student teach and nine with Athletes for Christ

On the Committee for MIS are Dr. Callan, Pastor Green, Dr. Riggs, Mr. McIntosh, and Mr. James Rickard.

Brazil Is Destination

"There is much land yet to conquer; Satan is still here; Christ has not come yet."

With this idea in mind a red, white, and blue-clad gospel team will wing its way to Brazil on June third for four weeks of exposure to Brazil and of exposing Brazil to the saving knowledge of Christ.

The team, under the supervision of Dr. Johnson and his wife, will be presenting the gospel, mainly through the media of song, testimonies, and gospel messages with Larry Bollback doing most of the interpreting. According to Cindi Schlener, who also speaks fluent Portuguese, "if anything will get the message through to the Brazilian people, our program will, because the Brazilians love music and our program is mainly that." While most of the Brazilian young people will be familiar with the songs that will be sung in English the team plans to learn at least one song in Portuguese.

During the day the team will be performing in schools; sometimes in as many as five a day. At night and on Sundays they will be in the churches. According to Dr. Johnson, "the students should have the almost unbelievable privilege of becoming more familiar with all types of missionary activities; urban, primitive, jungle, river work, publishing, national Bible schools and seminaries, and missionary children's schools."

This is the first year a group will be going to Brazil and those going are Larry Alfrey, Larry Bollback, Becky Chandes, Dave Globig, Linda Hinds, Craig Hughes, Debbie Jones, Tim Kaufman, Becky Kemble, Becky Lamb, Steve Lantz, Lorraine Linderman, Yontz Miller, Cindi Schlener, Nancy Walter, and Jo Ellen Yakim.

He that getteth wisdom loveth his own soul: he that keepeth understanding shall find good.

Prov. 19:8

bearers — involving preaching, seminars, special music, and canvassing — will be used. Seminars scheduled for the summer are Quiet Time, Evangelism, Youth Involvement in the local church, Dating, Self-acceptance, and Bible Study.

Students participating in this tour include Yvonna Cope, Rosalee Howard, Cindy Mally, Sue Selden, Ellen Taft, Peggy Wagner, Rich McGhee, Bob Mahl, Clancy Parker, John Postin, and Ray Warwick.

Travelling with the Athletes for Christ basketball team will be (front) David Hickey and Russ Clark; (back) Randy Rose, David Branon, Martin Book, Loren Reno and Jeff Bowen. Also playing are Kim Gerber and Curt Larson.

Team Will Bounce to the Orient

There has been an increasing number of opportunities over the last few years here at Cedarville for the athletes to use their abilities directly for the Lord. One of the areas available is the Athletes for Christ Basketball team.

The eight men going this year under the leadership of Loren Reno will be leaving for the Orient on July 20th. They will spend about three days in Japan, 1 or 2 days in Hong Kong, and the rest of the time in the Philippines.

The guys will be playing as many as three games a day and most of their games will be on outside courts. During the half-time they will have a time of song and testimonies, with three guitars, two trumpets, a trombone and two harmonicas on

Group Travels Ten Weeks

by Judy Johnson

Life in a dorm for the ten weeks that make up each quarter may not be the best life, but can you imagine spending a quarter sharing a college van with eleven other people? Beginning June 13, that will be the experience of Swordbearers Summer team.

At this point they may be likened to Abraham who "went out, not knowing where he went." The general plan calls for concentrated effort in New England, Wisconsin, and Minnesota, with some engagements also in New York, Indiana, Michigan, and Ohio. One week will be spent at Scioto Hills, another at Camp Patmos.

The basic format of Sword-

"Coach" Defined

by Elaine Kalnbach

Who can say what a coach is? A motivating force, at times seemingly relentless, a shaper of young minds and bodies, instilling values of honesty and fair play. Someone who is looked up to, feared, and, at times, disliked.

A coach is someone who is a leader, a friend; someone who devotes much time to drawing out hidden strengths and depths in an individual. A coach is someone who strives continuously to develop a winning team; and when it happens, gets left in the background as his own players emerge into the limelight.

Here at Cedarville, Athletes are given the opportunity to put Christianity into practical use, and are many times called upon to test not only physical ability but spiritual as well. We, the sports editors, would like to commend all our coaches for not only a fine display of athletics, but also for their Christian attitudes as shown this year.

The coaches are: June Kearney, field hockey and volleyball; Maryalice Jeremiah, tennis and basketball; Don Callan, basketball; Paul Berry, soccer (named MOC Coach of the year) and baseball; Elvin King, track (named NAIA District 22 Coach of the year); J. Murray Murdoch, tennis; Robert Gromacki, golf.

Linkers Win MOC Championship

Golf Coach, Dr. Robert Gromacki, veteran of the last seven years, is pleased with the outcome of this year's season. Since 1953, when Cedarville College became a Baptist School there has never been a golf team to win the MOC championship.

This year however a young team of optimistic freshmen and sophomores went into the season with four goals in mind. They accomplished three of the four by having a winning season, winning more matches than previously (10-4) and winning the MOC championship. Next year they hope to achieve their fourth goal — winning the District 22 meet.

Dr. Gromacki, who received his schooling at Baptist Bible Seminary and Dallas Seminary, came to Cedarville 10 years ago and began his coaching career because of his interest in golf and because there was no one in the Physical Education Department to coach it.

Those last seven years of dedication have paid off in a winning season. When asked what were the personal highlights, Coach Gromacki said, "Breaking the school record and defeating Clark Technical School."

Besides winning on the greens, the team has felt that they have had spiritual victory this year also. Each match was committed to the Lord and win or lose the honor was to be His.

The team talked about playing honestly and when actually tested they held true, and although at one time it meant losing a match, a spiritual victory was won. The golfers and Coach Gromacki also had many opportunities to witness the players and coaches from opposing teams and felt that this was their main and most important objective of the year.

With the victories of 1973, after waiting for twenty years, the golf team is looking forward to next year and continued success.

To mention the MOC and District 22 first place finishes in connection with the tennis team could tend to seem repetitious at times. The team finished first in both for the fifth year in a row. They will also be going on to the nationals on the fourth of June.

For only being two years old, the women's tennis team did well this year. They were able to finish with a first place tie in the Ohio Valley League.

The matmen had three stand-outs this season, Rich McGhee, Mike Hunting, and Tom Waldo. Rich who wrestled in the 167 lb. class finished first in the MOC and District 22. Mike at 124 lbs. and Tom at 177 lbs. also finished first in their weight classes.

The baseball team finished with an even season with 12 wins and 12 defeats. They also tied for third in the MOC. The leading hitters on the team were Lynn Howard and Tom Knowles. Tom Knowles was also the team's leading pitcher. Tom had an earned run average of 2.30, and struck out 42 batters in 70 1/3 innings.

The team as a whole won the batting and fielding championship in the Mid-Ohio Conference. Their batting average was .280 and the fielding average was .945.

Ties seemed to be the name of the game for the 'kilted ladies' this season. Beside playing and tying the University of Cincinnati three times during the season, the Jackettes also tied for first place in both the Ohio Valley League and in Tournament Play.

Chosen as the teams most valuable player and also chosen for honorable mention at Miami Valley Selections was Senior full-back Brenda Tompkins.

The Sports Editors would like to dedicate this sports section to all those athletes who this past year have used their unique athletic talents and abilities in competition for Cedarville College and more importantly, for the special way in which each was able to do it according to our motto, "For the Word of God and the testimony of Jesus Christ."

We at this time would like to mention those achievements and victories gained through this year as we present...

ATHLETIC ENDEAVORS '72-'73

The unseasonably cold and wet weather this spring hasn't cooled off the Cedarville tracksters as they have turned in an exceptionally fine season. During regular dual meets the team has suffered only one defeat, and that was a close one to Central State.

In invitationals and championship play Cedarville has brought in first place finishes in the Tri-state relays and the Cedarville invitational meet, second in the MOC, the Earlham Invitationals, and the NCCAA (National Christian College Athletic Association), and third in NIAA District 22 play offs.

The Jacket roundballers had quite a few stand-outs this year. Seniors Dave Branon was named to the Alma Michigan Tourney All-Star team. Steve Young made honorable mention on the All-MOC, All District 22, took most of the honors as he was voted MVP, and also placed on the All[MOC, All District 22, and the All Star team.

The team as a whole shined in the free throw department as all season they were nationally ranked in the top ten.

There is no doubt, in most minds anyway, that basketball was the big news in women's sports this year. The team was able to win their first game of the season, a feat left unaccomplished for several years. Next they went on to win the League Tournament and after a 11-4 season, they went into State Tournament play and finished second. This enabled them to go on to the regionals where they finished fourth.

Senior co-captain, Rita Gast, was chosen as the team's Most Valuable Player.

The women's volleyball team entered state competition this year and was able to finish third out of nineteen teams competing. This was a step up from last years fifth place finish. It is interesting to note that Cedarville is placed in perhaps the toughest local league in the state — as the top three finishers at the State Tournament all belong to the Ohio Valley League.

Senior Karen "Big Red" DeMars was selected as the team's Most Valuable Player.

This fall the soccer team had an impressive 10-4-1 record, and an even more impressive first place finish in both the MOC and District 22 play-offs.

Larry Bollback, MVP and spark of the team, was voted to the MOC, District 22, and All Ohio first teams. Larry also received Honorable mention as an All-American.
