Teacher's Education Faces Test

On October 22-24, a team of 14 educators will be on Cedarville's campus to examine the Teacher Education program here. This examination is being given to all schools in the state that have teacher education programs.

The purpose of the test is three-fold:

1) to determine whether Cedarville meets the standards of quality as prescribed by the Board of Education. Cedarville is currently approved and is seeking continuing approval.

2) to identify specific areas of strength and weakness in the teacher education programs.

3) to establish with the college continuous program and follow up evaluation procedures to determine accomplishments and to assure that weaknesses are strengthened and deficiencies are corrected.

The team of examiners consist of college professors, elementary and secondary teachers and administrators, and 2 college students. The reason for the variety of backgrounds is that they might get input from all relevant groups.

Much preparation has been done for the examination. The Teacher Education program has done a self study on their own, as well as the self study that has been done for the North Central team of examiners. A booklet has been prepared on teacher placement and much research and evaluation has been done with those who have graduated, as well as an evaluation of courses and methods at Cedarville.

Dr. Paul Hailey, who is the Director of the Division of Teacher Education and Certification, will speak at the faculty meeting on Oct. 8. He will try to prepare the faculty for the exam.

As well as the evaluation of the Teacher Education program, the examiners will be interviewing some of the students at Cedarville about the program. Dr. Ager feels that Cedarville has a strong Teacher Education program, and sees the examination as a source of direction for the future.

Dr. Ryrie Presents Word

Dr. Charles C. Ryrie, professor of Systematic Theology at Dallas Theological Seminary, will be the speaker for this year's Fall Bible Conference. The Conference starts Monday, Sept. 30 with chapel at 10:00 a.m. and continues through the week with evening services Monday through Thursday at 7:00 p.m. Tuesday is the Day of Prayer and there will be no classes, as the day will be spent sharing what the Lord has done during the summer and praying for one another.

Dr. Ryrie was at one time the President of Philadelphia College of the Bible and at the present time, teaches at Word of Life Bible Institute in the summers. He is well known as a great teacher of the Word of God and has many speaking engagements each year.

Dr. Ryrie has written books that deal with the Christian Life and the problems involved with daily living. His books will be on sale this week only at a 20% discount. Some of his writings include: "Balancing the Christian Life," "The Holy Spirit," "Patterns for Christian Youth," and "The Role of Women in the Church."

Senate Stages Elections

Dorm elections for the new Representative Assembly of Student Senate are slated for Oct. 14.

On Oct. 9, PA's will be taking nominations for office in their respective divisions. Students can only nominate candidates for their own dorm division.

These nominations will then be submitted to Don Eggleston, Student Senate President, to be reviewed for qualifications. The qualifying nominees will then have their names placed on the ballot for the election.

On the 14th each dorm division will select their representative and an alternate.

The first meeting of the Representative Assembly will be on Wednesday, Oct. 16, at 8:15 p.m.

The changes in the Senate this year are the result of the vote of the Student Body last May. Under the new constitution the Senate consists of two houses, the Organizational Council and the Representative Assembly. The Organizational Council was elected last May.

The purpose of the change is to give the students a greater say in the work of the Senate. Under the new system, the representation in Senate will be approximately one representative per 50 students.

Any questions on the divisions or elections should be directed to Don Eggleston.

Freshman elections will also be held at this time.

Dorms Near Completion

Slow but sure the new men's dorms are headed towards completion.

The dorm nearest to the Fox apartments will be completed first. At this time, the administration feels it will be completed in approximately six weeks.

The completion date for the second dorm will be during Christmas break.

The men slated to live in these dorms are staying throughout campus and throughout the town. Patterson is now housing many of the men who will be living in the second dorm.

Each dorm is designed to hold 64 students. The dorms are set up into units of 8, with each unit having a special lounge for study.

Plans are in the making for the basements of the dorms to be used at times for specifically scheduled co-ed functions.

SBP Holds Auditions

On Oct. 14 and 15, freshmen and transfers will be given a chance to offer their talents. From 4:00 to 5:30 members of the Student Body Project Committee will be auditioning acts for the New Student Talent Night.

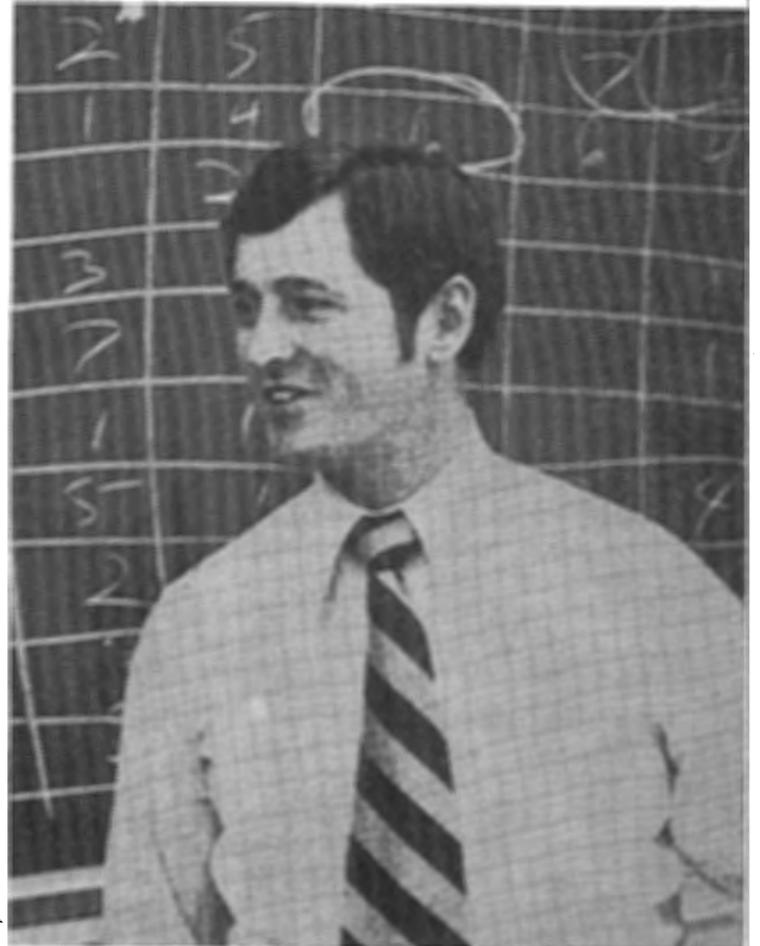

According to Kirby Lancaster, SBP chairman, the students are not limited in what they may do. Skits, drama, oral interpretation, music, gymnastics, and any other skills the students possess can be presented. Individual or group projects can be used.

The New Student Talent Night is sponsored each year by the SBP. The committee hopes to have at least 25 acts. A monetary prize will be given the night of the program for the best act.

The New Student Talent Night will be on Oct. 25 at 8:00 at Alford.

The SBP is the student-oriented and student-run project to raise funds for campus improvements.

Any questions may be directed to Kirby Lancaster through inter-campus mail.

Great Expectations

The start of another year has come upon us and I'm sure that we are all looking at it with great expectations. We are determined to do better than last year and want to make this a year in which the Lord can be glorified through us.

It's a new year for Whispering Cedars, also, and we have new goals and plans for the newspaper. We are fully aware of the past inadequacies of our campus publication and we are going to do something about them this year.

This year, the editors, staff, and everyone involved with Whispering Cedars want you, the student, to be proud of your school newspaper. We want you to feel like you have a part in the paper and we want Whispering Cedars to reflect the wants, needs, and interests of you. Rather than just be a newspaper, we want to be relevant to the things that students come in contact with.

In order to let you feel like a part of the newspaperer, we would like to make a few policy changes. We want to have a "letters to the editor" column, because this is your best way to air praises or criticisms that you might have. We ask, however, that you follow a few simple guidelines in your letters:

1. We ask that you write about something that affects a majority or group of students and not just a pet peeve that affects only yourself or a few others.
2. We ask that before you submit a letter, try and work things out person-to-person according to Biblical principles, such as in Matt. 18:15-20. If the problem still exists, submit your letter.
3. We ask that you write in a diplomatic and Christian Spirit. We don't want you to use this column to tear down everything, but to criticize constructively.

These three principles are not hard to follow and we feel they are things we as Christians should follow in publishing a newspaper.

We would also like some ideas from you, the student, on things that you would like to see the newspaper report on, or changes you would like to see made. We will have a box in the Post Office, starting Wednesday, Oct. 2, for suggestions from you and for your letters to the editor. We want to let the student know this is his newspaper and that he can express himself here.

Pen Pals Needed

ED. NOTE: Though we know little about this man we felt we must print his plea.

Dear Sir,

I would appreciate it very much if you will print this letter in one of the upcoming issues of this school's campus newspapers, so that I may get some people to write me.

I don't get very many letters because I only have a mother and aunt to write. Their letters are so few in coming.

I will answer all letters that I receive as long as my stamps will last.

Closing and thanking you far in advance for your time, concern, and all consideration in the above request.

Sincerely,

Welcome, Freshmen

By this time every freshman on the Cedarville College campus should feel most welcome. Returning students with their well wishes, faculty members with their assignments, and especially the sophomores with the initiation, have, all in one way or another, said "Welcome."

I am delighted, however, to bring this greeting to the Freshman Class and wish you the very best as you begin your college career at Cedarville. May God direct, bless, and use you during these years of study. "Trust in the Lord . . . delight in the Lord . . . and . . . Commit thy way unto the Lord . . . he shall bring it to pass" (Psalm 37:3-5).

We are all here to encourage and help you. There are many faculty and staff members who have special opportunities to help you and you will be grateful for their concern. May I also assure you that my office is open to you whenever you think I can be of help. May God richly bless each day of your college life.

Cafeteria Initiates New System

A new checking system for meals is being given a trial run by the food service this quarter.

Under the old system, the student either had to present his identification card or pay cash in order to be admitted to a meal. If he had forgotten, temporarily misplaced, or lost his card, it meant missing the meal, or rushing around to find his card, or paying for the meal.

Under the new system, a second identification card is employed. This identification card is attached to a larger card and displayed on a moveable partition. The student just picks out his card, gives it to the worker and continues on.

The advantages to this system are numerous. First, it removes the necessity of carrying identi-

Youth Fares May Be Back

Throughout this fall the National Student Lobby, a four-year-old organization of students and student governments in Washington, will be fighting for passage of Congressional legislation insuring a national air transportation policy that will benefit students.

Arthur Rodbell, Executive Director of the National Student Lobby, has announced that the lobbying strategy will be directed toward passage of two bills by Congress, S. 1739 and S. 2651. One of these bills, S. 2651, would overturn a decision made two years ago prohibiting the offering of "youth fares." This bill would reinstate discount fares on a standby basis for youth under 22, senior citizens over 65 and handicapped persons.

The second bill, S. 1739, would liberalize the conditions under which airlines may offer inclusive tour charters to the public. Restrictions which now prohibit airlines from offering the lowest possible prices and the greatest selection of packages to the traveling public would be removed. S. 2651, which would allow the student with a flexible time schedule to travel standby at a reduced price, could save students as a whole as much as 100 million dollars annually. Passage of S. 1739 would provide the student a greatly expanded opportunity to travel by group charter, and save in many cases more than half of what their current costs of travel are.

Letters expressing your support for these bills are needed. Write your Representative (c/o House of Representatives, Wash. D.C. 20515) about 2651 and your two Senators (c/o U.S. Senate, Wash. D.C. 20510) in support of S. 1739.

Lord of reality, make me real,
not plastic, synthetic, pretend phony,
an actor playing out his part, hypocrite.
I don't want to keep a prayer list but to pray; nor agonize to find Your will but to obey what I already know;
to argue theories of inspiration
but to submit to Your Word.
I don't want to explain the difference between eros and philo and agape but to love.
I don't want to sing as if I mean it
I want to mean it.
I don't want to tell it like it is but to be it like You want.
I don't want to think another needs me but I need Him else I'm not complete.
I don't want to tell others how to do it but to do it.
to have to be always right
but to admit it when I'm wrong.
I don't want to be a census taker
but an obstetrician nor an involved person — a professional but a friend.
I don't want to be insensitive
but to heal where other people hurt nor to say I know how you feel but to say God knows and I'll try
If you'll be patient with me and meanwhile I'll be quiet
I don't want to scorn the cliches of others but to mean everything I say including this.

lovingly Yours,

Sophs Have Big Day

"Initiation this year was more fun, more productive, and more purposeful; and the first time of no reported physical injuries," says Sophomore Vice-President Randall Douglass.

Randy also replies that 97% of the Freshman class indulged in the morning events and that early signs of unity both within the Freshman class and between the Freshman and Sophomore classes took place.

Another goal of initiation was to get as many sophomores involved as possible. Even transfers were allowed to initiate. But only those students wearing "class of 77" buttons were allowed to administer stunts to the Freshmen.

Changes and limitations were made concerning materials to be put in the students' hair, as in accordance with a hazing and pranks state law, and for "the welfare of protecting freshmen and keeping situations under control."

The Sophomore vice-president expresses that "the Lord has given mercy to have fun to have fun." A number of pizza board questions were Biblically related; and most of the Sophomores either in spirit or through direct involvement participated. Still, a few Sophomores expressed convicted disagreement with the function of initiation.

In spite of the fact that rain washed out the "Van wash" event, the "Kangaroo court" festivities stretched a little, comedy with champion "face Rubberman." Ralph Flemming. Also wizzing through the courtroom session was the "Wonderful Wisdom Wizzard, George I."

Money received from the selling of "Class of 77" shirts and buttons goes into the Sophomore class treasury. This money will be used in the future toward the class retreat, Junior-Senior banquet, or whatever the class deems necessary.

In making suggestions for next year's initiation, Randy Douglass encourages any Freshman wishing to become involved in any way to "start now" through prayer and devotion, as well as by utilizing careful thought.

He continues that those interested should write down these thoughts and ideas and keep them for future reference, as an aid to an early start for next year.

The Games Freshmen Play...

Ninety-eight per cent of Cedarville's new Freshmen participated in the first Orientation Game, which purpose was to help the students become acquainted with and find out what's what around campus, and to "orient new students," says organizer James Fair.

About 400 Freshmen that were placed into forty groups sought answers of the one hundred Orientation Game questions ranging from the location of various offices and buildings, to the cost of the bookstore's "Cedarville" sweatshirts, to the number of land acres on the main campus.

Mr. Fair also adds that the Game gives practical exercise and opportunity for adjustment and involvement in the school to Freshmen.

Seventy per cent of the questions were answered correctly collectively, and the only change of next year's format will be the scattering of selected categories in place of grouping like questions together.

The winning team which answers most questions correctly will be awarded a pizza party.

Speech Dept. Acquires a New Shepard

Marsha Shepard comes to Cedarville as an instructor of Speech from Clio, Michigan. She attended Bob Jones University, where she received her B.S. and M.A. degrees. She also taught speech classes while at Bob Jones.

As instructor of Speech, her teaching duties will vary each quarter, and she will also be directing the plays in the fall and spring.

Although her main interest lies in the area of public speaking, Marsha feels that the Lord has definitely called her to Cedarville to teach. Since coming to Cedarville she has been aware of the warmth and closeness of the faculty and staff and their concern and love for the students.

In teaching, Marsha sees her job as more than just teaching facts to students. She wants to get her students to apply things they learn to their lives. She sees a need to develop a relationship with the student where they will want to share and communicate about spiritual matters and problems in their lives. Although she admits she is not a counselor, she feels this is very much a part of the teacher's job.

Miss Shepard.

Cedarville Is Alive During the Summer

Does anything happen after the first week in June when everyone leaves Cedarville or does the college close up shop until September when the students once again bring life into the 'Ville?

Most of us noticed that the main road has been resurfaced and that the old, familiar brick is gone. The State Highway Department informed Cedarville Township that they would pave the two state highways that run through Cedarville at no cost to the town. There were spots that needed repairs done, so the state decided to resurface the highways throughout the town.

Each summer, Baptist Mid-Missions has had a training time for new missionary candidates and veteran missionaries. This year, it was a three-week program and attracted the largest groups of missionaries yet for a summer seminar.

The Missionary Youth Fellowship each year sponsors a talent contest and this summer it was held on Cedarville's campus. It was a statewide contest and had over 300 participants.

Word of Life youth leaders in the district got together one weekend this summer for their Area Leadership Rally. Members came from Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky, and Indiana and the time was geared to gain new insights into youth work and have a time of fellowship in the Lord.

Each year at the beginning of September, Cedarville College sponsors a pastors' conference. This year's keynote speaker was Dr. Whitcomb, from Grace College. Also speaking were Pastor Green and Mr. McIntosh.

The Cedarville Open, an annual golf tournament sponsored by the college, was also held. All the churches on the college's mailing list within the area are invited.

The town firemen also got into the news this summer. One night a bonfire was held for some of the students that were here for summer school. There had been a few other fires in the town during the summer that had been set by youths and the firemen suspected another one. What they found when they reached the fire, however, was a group of students around a bonfire singing and giving testimonies.

Clark Counsels Campus

Dr. Martin Clark is now the Director of Counseling, taking over the duties of Ken Nichols who is presently at Rosemead Graduate School. Dr. Clark is a graduate of Bob Jones University and received his doctorate in Counseling and Student Personnel at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.

After graduating from Bob Jones, Dr. Clark pastored three churches, the latest being in Blacksburg, Virginia. As a pastor, he did some counseling work and an interest in this type of work developed.

While in Blacksburg, Dr. Clark was the campus chaplain and had a wide university ministry. In counseling students or anyone he comes in contact with, Dr. Clark uses the Word of God foremost, because he feels that God speaks to real life situations in His word. All principles that he uses in his counseling are Biblical.

Dr. Clark is married and is expecting an addition to the family at any time now. He enjoys active sports and also enjoys life. As fundamental Christians, he feels that we have to watch that we don't get bogged down in our fundamentalism. He feels we should enjoy life, because that is as much a part of God's creation as life itself.

Dr. Clark.

Soccer Squad prepares for season.

Cedarville Anticipates Good Year

Fall sports competition has begun for five Cedarville College teams and each appears to be headed for a highly successful season.

Cross Country is the only team that has yet been in competition, and they began things in fine style by winning a quadrangular meet at Walsh College. Sophomore Paul Budnik finished first for the Yellowjackets and overall in the five mile race to set up a win over Central State University, Walsh College, and the University of Detroit. Senior team captain Jim Chambers followed next with Dave Wishart, Steve Crumble, and Ron Miller also scoring for the team.

At the Adrian Invitational, the squad finished a satisfying seventh, but last Saturday they lost four top men to injuries and to a new Rio Grande team. Budnik was the only highlight as he led from start to finish to set a new course record of 27:49.

The Soccer Team, led by its first-year coach John McGillvary and a host of returning lettermen, are looking for their best year ever and are aiming for conference and district titles and a trip to the NAIA Nationals. Loaded with talent, the team has been hampered by numerous injuries, but if these clear up, their new coach feels they have an excellent chance at their three goals. The team does have a tough schedule, for there are no "patsies" according to the coach, and three of the teams are ranked in the top ten of Ohio. One of these teams, Denison, will be here for the first match of the season, tomorrow.

The three women's teams are also aiming high. The Volleyball Squad lost only one senior from last year's team that ended up fourth in the state tournament. The Field Hockey and Tennis teams, which play their matches together, have their first meetings of the season next Friday, at home against Ohio Dominican.

Athletic Complex Receives Repairs

We all are aware there was a tornado that passed through this area last April. There was much damage done near here, especially to Xenia and Central State University. One area at Cedarville that suffered limited damage was the athletic complex.

The tennis court fence and the wind screen were blown down and most of the tennis matches were played without their being replaced. The baseball backstop was also blown over, along with hurdles and other small equipment on the track. The teams continued to play last spring with these inconveniences.

Insurance did not cover the damage to these areas. The fence around the tennis court was replaced, but without a wind screen. The repair of the damage has been completed, although there has been no great amount of betterment to the areas.

Is the Big Ten Obsolete?

Recent years have seen a controversy arise as to whether the Big Ten was going down hill, losing its prestige as a football power. But the performance of Big Ten teams over the weekend of Sept. 21 was strong enough to make a believer out of the strongest skeptic.

On a calm, sunny Saturday, Big Ten teams rolled up an impressive 7-2-1 record against non-conference opponents. Our neighbor to the east, Ohio State, led the way with a 51-10 blasting of Oregon State, in Columbus. Woody Hayes, not known for his rapport with the West Coast teams, took it easy on the badgered Beavers as he went to his fourth team players. The Bucks still couldn't keep out of the end zone!

While the Buckeyes and the Galloping Griffins were thrilling the fans, Illinois was busy demolishing Stanford. Illini Mike Gow intercepted four Cardinal passes to help pluck the birds' feathers 41-7. Now, Illinois is generally not considered one of the stronger teams in the Big Ten. If they can send a PAC 8 team packing that badly, look out Rose Bowl!

Meanwhile, Wisconsin managed to pull out an upset over Nebraska. Coach John Jardine praised his defense for the win, but Badger Quarterback Gregg Bohlig was the real hero as he connected on a 77-yard bomb to Jeff Mack for the winning touchdown.

The record so far: Big-Ten 3; Opponents 0.

Up north, Michigan used three Ohio-bred players to rout Colorado 31-0. Dennis Franklin, quarterback, had fullback Chuck Heater and tailback Rob Lytle in the backfield to pound Colorado.

Ohioans playing for Michigan? Well, Woody can't get 'em all.

Elsewhere, Michigan State wiped out Syracuse 19-0, adding another win to the Big Ten total. Purdue fought to a 7-7 tie for the only one in the league that day, and Northwestern fell to highly rated Notre Dame 49-3. Seven players scored for the Irish in giving Ara Parseghian his 87th Natre Dame victory.

Minnesota, already a victim of Ohio State's Buckeyes, piled up 42 points to squash North Dakota 42-31. Iowa faced a good challenge in U.C.L.A., but came off the victors 21-10.

Indiana picked up the final Big Ten win. The Hoosiers could be a contender for the Conference Crown this year.

That makes the record 7-2-1, not exactly the kind of record expected of a conference that is supposed to be outdated. Well, the record speaks for itself. Anyone wondering about the quality of play in the Big Ten and how it would match up with other conferences can take their pick of any of these games. The Big Ten obsolete? Not so.
