Teacher Ed Exam Over

By Dianne Monts

The Division of Teacher Education and Certification of the State Department of Education evaluated the various teacher education programs at Cedarville College on Oct. 22-24, 1974.

The visiting evaluation team was representative of teacher educators, teachers and administrators in Ohio schools, personnel from professional organizations, the general citizenry, and teacher education students.

The evaluation report was to focus on specific strengths and weaknesses perceived by members of the evaluation team. The team members studied four main areas:

1. Objectives, Organization and Financial Support
2. Preparation of Faculty and Student Personnel Services
3. Curriculum
4. Student Teaching, Laboratory Experiences and Educational Media Center.

The team's visit included both planned and spontaneous interviews with faculty, students and administrators, tours of facilities, examination of records, and discussions with graduates of the program and local school administrators.

Members of the evaluation team found arrangements meticulously carried out by all members of the student body, faculty, and staff who were involved in some phase of the evaluation visit. Hospitality and openness abounded and information, assistance, and cooperation were in evidence at all times. The team members were unanimous in expressing their gratitude to Cedarville College.

The News In Brief

• It is hoped that the strained relations between the United States and India might be eased through Henry Kissinger's visit there October 27 thru November 1.

• An extortionist in the Portland, Oregon area has been sabotaging power transmission towers until his demand for one million dollars is met. Fourteen towers have been dynamited since September 26.

• Along with the valuable oil reserves found in Mexico, there has also been the discovery of rich copper deposits. They are expected to increase the production of the metal by 400 per cent.

• After a two year fight to win leniency in Soviet policies of emigration in return for a major trade bill, the Soviets agreed to set an initial level of sixty thousand departures a year from the U.S.S.R.

Students May Vote

By J. L. Coleman

Students of Cedarville College may vote if they have been registered in Greene County by 9:00 p.m. on Oct. 7, 1974.

To vote in national elections, students will go to the County Election Board in the County Service Building at 651 Dayton-Xenia Rd. This light brick building is the old Children's Home and is next to Happy Times Children Center on Old Route 35.

In regard to facilities, the adequate renovation of older buildings, as well as the "excellent atmospheres" provided for the education program by the new buildings (i.e., the science building and the library) are viewed as strengths. Two weaknesses were also found: (1) the need for additional space for the library, and (2) expanded physical facilities for music education, a student center, additional classrooms and a chapel. Although some concern was also expressed regarding the secondary and special programs, the team was unanimous in recommending overall approval of the teacher education programs of Cedarville.

The team stated that the most noticed characteristic of Cedarville's teacher education institution was the complete agreement of its stated philosophy and its implementation through Christian commitment by the staff, students, and curricula. According to Dr. Ager a copy of the evaluation will be made available in the college library.

Lab Provides Variety

By Jessica Huesman

Since the third week in October, students taking the Teaching of Reading have had the opportunity to practice teaching skills in the Reading Center. The tutoring experience involves diagnosis of interests and skills of pupils, prescriptive selection of materials, development of objectives, instruction, reinforcement, and assessment of skill development.

The Reading Center is under the direction of Miss Dodson this quarter. She presents strategies in the classroom and supervises their application throughout the day in the Reading Center. Thirty elementary school pupils receive tutoring in reading by Miss Dodson's fifteen college students.

In questioning several students regarding their experiences, all agreed that the Reading Center provides a valuable opportunity.

John Battaglia feels that it makes the teaching of reading "more interesting, relevant, and up-to-date."

"It is one of the most improved areas on campus," says Bev Ziegler, "and it's convenient, practical, and informal."

Dora Ewing appreciates the wealth of information found in the variety of materials, and many new ideas to apply later. "I think it's a good opportunity to put theory to practice," says Monte Leonard. All the students felt that the Lab made their tutoring experience more worthwhile and successful.

During Homecoming, many alumni and students that are teaching now had the opportunity to view the new center. Some commented that it included types of equipment used in the classroom today. Many wished that they had had the advantages of such facilities when they were students.

Swordbearers' Stress Family

The Swordbearers of Cedarville College are holding their Eighth Annual Youth Conference on Saturday, Nov. 2, here on campus.

With Joseph M. Stowell III as the keynote speaker, the Swordbearers are centering the conference on the Christian home.

Speech Dept. Active in SCAO

The speech department of Cedarville College is actively involved in a state-wide organization of college and high school speech departments.

On October 4, Mr. James Phipps, chairman of the speech department, Mrs. Debbie Haffey, speech instructor, Jerry Gilyard and Bill Nash presented a program at the annual meeting of the Speech Communications Association of Ohio.

With the use of slides, tapes, and other media, the group offered guidelines for communications following a major disaster.

At this meeting, Mr. Phipps was selected as the Program Director of the Speech Consultancy System of the SCAO.

This group is developing a consultancy system in conjunction with the executive board of the SCAO. They are presently working on guidelines for speech curriculum. They hope to raise the level of speech communications in the secondary school.

On Nov. 5, the Executive Board of the SCAO will be meeting on the campus of Cedarville College. Mr. Phipps will be working with the other members on the speech communication programs for the year. This is the second year of Mr. Phipps' two-year term with the Board.

This board represents a cross-section of the college and high school departments in Ohio. Its primary function is to coordinate the speech programs of the state.

The Speech Communication Association of Ohio is the strongest program of its type in the United States, according to Mr. Phipps.

Dora Ewing puts Reading Center to use.

SBP Plays Tricks

Looking for some excitement? Need some diversion from the books? Come to the Halloween Party sponsored by the Student Body Project Committee on Friday, November 1. The party will be held from 7:30-11 p.m. at a lodge near Cedarville. The cost is 50c per person.

All college students and visitors are invited to attend. Transportation will be provided by a car caravan, along with the college van service. All those needing transportation should meet at the college post office by 6:50 p.m. on Nov. 1.

Apple dunking and pumpkin carving will be a part of the festivities, along with various relays. The classes will be vying against each other in such relays as the "orange pass," the "lifesaver pass," and the "marshmallow chew." Costumes, which are optional, will be judged and prizes will be awarded.

The highlight of the evening will be the showing of the 1931 version of the movie Frankenstein. Refreshments will also be provided.

Come, be tricked or treated to some Halloween fun!

Fall Play Develops

On Friday and Saturday evenings, November 15 and 16, Helen Jerome's Pride and Prejudice will be presented at Alford Auditorium by the Speech Department of Cedarville College. The play will begin each night at 8:00 p.m. under the direction of Miss Marsha Shepard, an instructor of Speech at Cedarville. Although this is her first chance to do something like this, she is very much at home in the field of oral interpretation, which is closely related.

The play is about a woman who wants her daughters married. The story takes place in a time where marriage was the only thing for a woman. It develops around one of the daughters who refuses to marry either of two men.

The play consists of an all-student cast. The actors are: Myron Youngman, Jeff Harper, Terisa Henriques, Lois Hanson, Dawn Bostwick, Jim Evans, George Sperry, Mark Cowell, Lydia West, Sharon Franks and Ed Baggett. Much work has been put into this play and Miss Shepard is very excited about it.

Who Are You Really?

For a Christian institution, the attitude prevalent at Cedarville concerning interpersonal relationships is much too superficial. It is not only the students' attitudes, but also those of the faculty, staff, and administration.

One of the best games that people in the Western Hemisphere play is impressing people. We spend more time impressing each other than we spend doing the things we impress them with. Do we have any relationships in which we know the person for who he or she is and not what he or she has done?

How many of us are guilty of putting on a front when it comes to Christian Service assignments? Are we in Swordbearers because we want to spread the gospel or because it is the thing to do? What about the area of athletics? We can show the girl how good we can play basketball or soccer, but what does that mean? Is there anything else? What about classes? There are some on campus who delight in showing up in grades because of the way others look up to them. Is that the only reason we do these things — to get others to accept us? Why aren't we satisfied with being ourselves?

There is a real need to be ourselves. How can you have any kind of relationship when you aren't honest with your friends? But we also need to accept people for who they are and not for what they have done. Many of us are afraid to be ourselves because others won't accept us. We need to see people and not their acts. Can we accept a person without prejudicating them on things we have heard about them? Let's try just a little harder than we have been.

The faculty, staff, and administration are just as guilty for accepting someone for what they have done, not what they are. If they are a spiritual giant or a 4.0 student, then they're okay.

These games are played more than ever in the realm of dating. We put on all kinds of fronts for that certain girl or guy. But what happens when the bubble bursts? Why do so many couples that break up never speak to each other again? Sometimes the bubble breaks too late and you have a piece of gold on your finger. What then?

Letters to the Editors

Student Senate needs to be questioned concerning the action it takes and concerning what profitable impact it has at Cedarville College.

The questions expressed in the editorial last issue probably arose, I regret to say, because of poor communication on my part.

Dorm elections were not delayed because of inadequate preparation or lack of a constitution. The Senate officers felt that, in electing a dorm representative, it was essential for the student to know the other students in their dorm area quite well. We felt that two full weeks of school were needed to establish this relationship, so the election date of October 14 was selected.

The proposed changes to the Constitution had been approved by the Administration before they were voted on by the Student body.

During the first week of school the Student Senate officers worked up a final draft of the new Constitution so that new copies could be printed. In doing this we reviewed the whole constitution looking for areas in which profitable changes could be made.

However, most of the changes in the constitution had been worked out by last year's Constitution and Elections Committee. A workable constitution was on hand when the school year began.

I am in total agreement with the editors that the process of changing a name does not change the character of an organization. But I believe that the changes in Student Senate can be more than just in name and even structure.

Put your dorm representatives to work. Bring the concerns which you have for changes at Cedarville College to your representative. If the matter is deemed worthy, Senate will . . . "recommend to the proper authorities or take action deemed necessary for the welfare of the student as an individual or for the Student Body as a whole."

If Senate does not serve a useful role, the fault now lies not only on Student Senate officers and representatives, but with each of us as students.

The role of the student representative is to bring to Senate the issues which we the students bring to them.

Changes will come slowly but with student involvement this can be more than just another change in name or structure.

Members of the Student Body:

The Alpha Chi Rescue Squad would like to take this opportunity to thank the Student Body for the new ambulance. It took much work for the squad, but the last decision was the students.

The new ambulance will allow us to serve you the students as well as the community of Cedarville better.

As it says in Romans 15:7: "We then, that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves." We feel this is a service and we give God the glory. We ask for your prayers and thoughts as we continue to serve Him through this means.

Dear Editors:

I am concerned over the narrow-minded attitudes of some people on this campus. This is not something I can settle with anyone in particular. But I feel students are quick to judge people by a first impression or heresy without even knowing what the person is in Christ.

Why is a person cut down just because they may vary a degree from the stereotype Christian? I was reading in I Cor. 12:4-6. God makes each of us different and gives us a diversity of ministries. Even though a person may have different convictions, lifestyle,

The United States remains without a vice president while the nomination of Nelson Rockefeller goes under consideration before the Senate Rules Committee and the House Judiciary Committee. It was before the Senate Committee that Mr. Rockefeller recently appeared to show why he feels fit for the office of the vice president.

Preceding his appearance before the Rules Committee there appeared to be no problem to his nomination being confirmed. Yet several questions have come up since regarding conflicts concerning his wealth.

One problem has involved the possible conflict of his financial fortune with interests of the nation. When asked if his business interests and influences of his family's wealth would put tremendous pressure on his ability to act as vice president. Rockefeller

Voting

For students registered in Greene County, absentee voting is Oct. 31. For persons registered outside Greene County absentee voting can be done upon request of a absentee ballot. Request for such a ballot may be made by writing to the County Election Board, 651 Dayton-Xenia Road, Xenia, Ohio 45385, or by calling the election board at (513) 376-2971.

The County Election Board is open Monday through Friday, 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., and Saturday, 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 Noon, for any questions or requests for ballots.

or way of doing things, can't we accept them in Christian love and realize "it is the same God who worketh all in all."

Is it glorifying to God when we as brothers in Christ make distinctions and stand in judgment upon someone who doesn't fit in our little group or doesn't meet our standards?

Mary Jo Imhausen

Dear Editors,

I thoroughly enjoyed the article in the last edition of the paper concerning the group Selah. I have seen them many times and with my own eyes have seen results. Lives have been changed. To the administration and even some students this music may not appeal but there is a whole new generation to which it does. I praise the Lord that there are people in this type of ministry — reaching many for Christ.

To the Cedarville College Family;

We would like to thank the many friends at Cedarville for their prayers, cards, and visits while Brenda was in critical condition at the Ohio State University Hospital. During Brenda's recovery, there were many times when we were uncertain about her health being restored. We are sure her full recovery was aided by your many prayers. Those of you who came to visit at the hospital were a great help to the family. Just having someone to talk to lifted a burden from us.

Again, thank you for your prayers.
Love in Him,

A Rocky Road Ahead

feller replied that the potential for such pressure did not exist. He added that after he had taken the oath of office thoughts concerning his wealth or that of his family would be put out of his mind.

Mr. Rockefeller has estimated his worth at 62.6 million dollars. Along with other trusts and funds the total worth of his immediate family stands at 218 million dollars. Two possibilities as far as the "problem" of this great wealth have been raised. One has been to let Congress and the press watch the Rockefeller wealth in a "watchdog" position. The other idea is to place his holdings in a "blind trust" for his duration in office.

To add to the complications comes the recently disclosed information that Rockefeller owes the Internal Revenue Service more than one million dollars in back taxes. This in itself may not cause great problems for Mr. Rockefeller but could add to a cumulative effect.

Rockefeller continues to maintain that all is legitimate as far as his financial standing is concerned. Speculation has arisen that Mr. Rockefeller might withdraw from his struggle for the vice presidential office. All in all, a cynical atmosphere exists. A prime example of this can be seen in the words of one Senate Republican when he said, "It's getting to the point where we won't ever have a vice president."

Student Senate Report

From the meetings of October 16 and 23

Treasurer's Report

—The balance in the treasury as of October 23 was approximately $295.00.

—Senate outstanding bills as of October 23 was over $1600.00.

—All of Senate's revenue comes from the concession machines in the dorms. Mr. Dan Bittaker will be filling the machines this year. Students should direct all complaints to him.

—All money making project ideas must be submitted to the Finance Committee for review and approval. This prevents inappropriate projects, conflicts on dates or duplications.

—Senate supplies a taxi service for students who need emergency transportation. A set rate is charged. The service can be secured through the SPO.

SBP Report

—Due to the release of restricted SBP funds, SBP will be able to purchase all the projects that were up for vote on October 16th. This includes the ambulance, the craft area, the student AV equipment, new hymnals, dorm recreational equipment, new lounge furniture, new cheerleading outfits, and a tithe.

—SBP is in the process of developing and having printed student directories. These will be sold to raise funds for SBP.

SMP Report

—This year's Student Missionary Project is aiming for projects that provide practical student involvement.

—Student giving to the project will begin during registration this quarter.

Organizational Assembly Project

—The OA is still in the formative stage as far as exact goals and purposes are concerned.

—The OA hopes to serve the organizations by covering key topics for their improvement.

—The OA will be instrumental in co-ordinating organizational activities with Student Affairs.

—The idea of class representation in the OA is under study.

Business

—The Representative Assembly elections for Williams' and the off campus' representatives are being reviewed by the Constitution and Elections Committee. If re-election is deemed necessary, they will be held at the beginning of Winter Quarter.

—A letter has been received from Grace College (Indiana) inviting Cedarville to participate in a college quiz contest between the various Christian colleges. More information will be sought before a final commitment is made.

—The chapel fee will be coming up for the student body vote before Fall Quarter is over. The matter is presently being studied.

—On December 9 Student Senate will be holding the chapel service.

—The feasibility of the family style meal is being examined by the Food Service Committee.

Students Visit Stratford

By Paulette Donalson

On October tenth, Cedarville's English Department sponsored twenty-six students who set out to participate in the Annual Stratford Shakespearean Festival in Stratford, Ontario.

The purpose for the trip was for "cultural enrichment," along with the opportunity for students to become "personally involved with Fine Arts and to participate in a live drama production," says chaperone Ronald Grosh.

He continued that, from a theological view, the Festival gives the student an introduction of different exposure of Cedarville and "fulfills the school's philosophical purpose by keeping students involved in outside culture."

This very opportunity was extended in this year's trip as a number of the group witnessed an instruction entitled Exploration of the Aesthetics from a Biblical Viewpoint, presented by Dr. Calvin Seerveld of The Institute for Christian Studies, in Toronto, Canada.

Since July 13, 1953, the Stratford "Festival City," located on the Avon River banks has been both a theatrical and tourist attraction communitary centre, as over $8,000,000 of exclusive theatre admissions are spent each summer along with the opening of about forty new city industries.

Cedarville College first became involved in the Stratford Festival as a result of Professor Edward Spencer's doctoral studies at Bowling Green State University which required the attending of the Shakespearean Festival. The following school year of 1970 marked the first annual field escapade to Stratford, Ontario.

Under the direction of Tyrone Guthrie, Michael Langham, and presently Jean Gascon, the Festival has produced all but one of Shakespeare's plays, and eighteen have been repeated. The Festival also has staged plays by Sophocles, Rostand, Moliere, Chekhov, and many other renowned writers.

Both Professor Grosh and Professor Spencer express that the Festival exposure is good for students of any major or discipline as it gives liberal arts emphasis in development of the total man.

This year's trip was made by twenty-six students, three alumni, and Mr. Grosh, who says the only disappointment was the lack of time to get involved in other environmental features. They were all guests of the Victorian Inn Motel of Stratford.

The Festival Theatre is considered a major training ground for serious acting, "to provide facilities for education and instruction in the theatre arts," as many actors have gone on to other professional acting.

The English Department looks forward to next year's Stratford trip to help continue the "advancement of knowledge and appreciation" of the Fine Arts.

Nature Lab Planned

By Lynn Platvoet

After three years of planning, Cedarville College's nature lab will soon become a reality. The land, which is owned by the school, is a ten acre strip extending from north of the soccer field to the northern boundary of the cemetery.

Plans for the nature lab include the planting of trees and shrubs in the spring and a .8 acre pond, which will be started this summer. After completion of the pond, vegetation and wild life will come naturally.

The nature lab is being built for use by science classes and for student enjoyment. The cross country track will run through the area, providing a walkway for student observation.

The funding of the project has been approved by the school's trustees, in their 1974-75 budget. Shrubs and trees will be purchased through county and state agencies. Technical assistance for the project will be provided by Greene County Soil and Water Conservation District.

Alumni Wins Float Competition

By Mary Jo Imhausen

Homecoming was a weekend full of activity and expectation for students past and present.

It held a special value for one girl. Karen Wimer was crowned 1974 Homecoming Queen by Peggy Wagner Warwick at the half time of the soccer game Saturday.

When asked what the weekend meant, Karen said it was something that could never be replaced. She said it was definitely a great honor to be respected by students all over campus. She also feels each attendant shared the honor with her.

Karen is proud to represent the school in the coming year. Galations 1:24 is her chosen theme. "This is my hope and prayer that they glorify God in me."

To enhance the festivities of homecoming, floats and stationary displays were prepared by students, organizations and alumni.

In their usual tradition, alumni had the first place float. They donated their $100 prize to the Student Loan and Grant Fund here on campus. They were followed by the Freshmen and Seniors. "We have seen a great light was the theme for all floats.

The stationary displays were erected on campus to represent various student organizations. Kappa Delta Chi received first place award with Gamma Chi as runner up.

About 100 former students of Cedarville from the classes of the 1950's, 1964, and 1969 held their reunions Friday, October 17, in the student center. For the first time, a slide presentation was shown of the history of Cedarville College.

The Summer Swordbearer's Trio provided music and Dr. Williams was the speaker for the evening. Dr. Williams is a former Dean of Students and professor at Cedarville. Williams Dormitory was named in his honor.

Concluding the Homecoming Weekend, WCDR held an Autumn Concert Saturday evening, featuring pianist Ruth Ohman Lehman and vocalist Paul Schumacher. Both are Christian recording artists.

The news item in the last issue of Whispering Cedars about the Selah group should in no wise be construed as endorsement or promotion of it by the college and/or its officials and the Whispering Cedars.

The Alumni Float won first prize for the second straight year.

Enrollment Up to 1033

Following the pattern that has been set in the past few years, Cedarville College has a rise in enrollment. The total enrollment for Fall Quarter is 1,033 students, an all time high for Cedarville. By far, the largest group are the Freshmen, with 364 students attending Cedarville to start their college career. There are 250 Sophomores, 201 Juniors and 165 Seniors. There are 53 Part Time and Special students.

As usual, there are many more students from Ohio than from anywhere else. This year, 466 students stayed in the Buckeye state to attend Cedarville. Other states with large enrollments are Indiana, Michigan, New York, and Pennsylvania. Overall, there are 36 states and three foreign countries represented by the student body.

In the fields of major study, there are 187 Bible majors and 186 Elementary Education majors. There are 94 students who are still undecided as to a major while 17 students are after a double major.

Pollution Control Scholarship

The East Central Section of the Air Pollution Control Association has announced a scholarship of $500. An applicant must major in any field of engineering or the physical sciences, have at least a 3.0 grade point average, be a senior by the end of fall quarter and desire a career in air pollution control.

The applicant must submit a paper, typewritten and double spaced, of at least 500 and not more than 550 words, indicating that he or she desires a career in the field of air pollution control and why. The applicant must also assure the East Central Section that he or she will be in attendance in his college or university for the next immediate term.

All entries must be sent by certified mail and postmarked by December 2, 1974. Further information can be obtained from Mr. Gidley, director of Financial Aid.

Pastor Green Leads Campus Fellowship

By Paulette Donalson

The Cedarville College Fellowship came about in January 1970 as the result of need for real identification, says campus Pastor Harold Green.

Before the Fellowship began, a problem existed concerning the matter of handling church services for students. During that time the Grace Baptist Church Pastor presented the morning worship and after which a professor would present Sunday School.

Pastor Green, who was at that time pastoring the Faith Baptist Church of Greenville, Ohio, spent time in youth activities as well as the churches, as he felt a calling in the youth area. Upon request by the school's president, Dr. Jeremiah, he eventually felt the Lord's leading to Cedarville.

Pastor Green's capacity now involves, outside of his direct campus preaching, representing Cedarville through youth camps, heading Christian Services, and ministering to individual students' needs.

The Fellowship has been a help to Christian Service by allowing the students to become more actively involved and therefore expanding the outreach. Also a now centralized Christian Service Department has taken away many prior responsibilities and pressures from a number of professors and other workers.

Representation of the Fellowship is by that of a male student board known as the Advisory Twelve, composed of each class chaplain, two class appointees and the student body chaplain who serves as an honorary member.

The Pastor expresses that he senses a "warm spirit among the Fellowship," for when he first came, Christian Service assignments were required for two years and now that it has been made voluntary, there has been a shift from 60-70% student availability.

Beach Evangelism, Dayton Detention Home, and the Missionary Internship Service have all been included since the Fellowship began, and other services such as Swordbearers, Bible Clubs and Nursing Homes have all expanded. Also, the purchases of Service vehicles continues to increase, as it now has two vans and two cars.

The greatest frustration in which the campus Pastor is presently dealing concerns the outreach to nearby collegians and he states that Campus Evangelism needs a continual working ministry.

The Pastor goes on to say that he experiences a "blessing of warm acceptance with the college kids through God's work" and is grateful for the "opportunity to council and openly talk with them."

WCDR Projects Image of Cedarville College

One of the major outreaches of the college is WCDR, the campus radio station. On the air approximately 120 hours per week, WCDR covers the entire Dayton and Springfield area.

The main purpose of the station, says Mr. Gathany, General Manager, is to be a true and proper reflection of the college and its stand. He points out that for many people, their only contact with the college is through the station. For this reason, the radio staff develops programs that will enhance the idea of what the college is.

WCDR is licensed as a non-commercial educational FM station. Holding to its purpose, WCDR has developed its own concept of educational radio.

Following the idea that Cedarville College supplies a Christian education, WCDR has incorporated that concept. The station is working towards projecting the image as a Christian Educational Radio station.

One way WCDR is working for this image is through the programming of classical music, according to Mr. Gathany. There are three regular programs of the classics and other smaller portions.

Another reason for having classical music is that only one other station in this area has it.

That station only plays it after 10 p.m.

The market for it is there. Also the radio station doesn't necessarily aim all of its programs at the students.

Another effort of Christian educational radio that does reach out to the student is the WCDR News Reel.

The News Reel is on three times daily. The program is an hour and a half in the morning and an hour at noon and at 4:30. It is basically a time filled with news and many other types of informational programming.

Students are a major part in the working of the station. The student staff normally is around 25 in number. Many are broadcasting majors. All have had some course work in the area.

The student staff is directed by Mr. Roger Booth, the new Co-ordinator of Broadcasting Instruction.

A high level of competency in the work is expected of the student before he or she is allowed to do on the air. This improves the quality of the station.

Working with WCDR is good training for the future broadcaster. The station situation is comparable to that of station operations elsewhere. The experience working with good equipment, and the instruction provided prepares them for their future.

For the future, the main emphasis is on the area of the station projecting its image through promotional work.

It is the hope of Mr. Gathany that they will be able, through various means, to reach more people about WCDR.

Athletes Receive Grants In Aid

By Ron Miller

Each year financial assistance is given to athletes in the basketball program at Cedarville College.

Recipients of these grants in aid are chosen by their athletic talents, potential contribution to the school's overall athletic program, and their need. It is Dr. Don Callan, Athletic Director, and Financial Aid Director Mr. David Gidley, who each year decide who are the athletes who best fit these three qualifications.

Last year the aid was split up among approximately 16 individuals. The number of recipients and the amount granted is not standardized and, therefore, it is possible for an athlete to receive anything from a few dollars to full assistance, depending upon his athletic abilities and monetary need.

The majority of the scholarships go to basketball players in an attempt to help in recruiting. Since basketball scholarships get such a high priority at opposing schools, to be able to stay in competition with them, Cedarville also gives aid. The goal is to be able to favorably compete with the other schools in the Mid-Ohio Conference and schools of like size.

Individuals in other sports have on occasion received these grants if it was decided that they could help the progress of one of the other sports to a great degree. But all of the other sports at Cedarville have been able to compete favorably and at times dominate MOC competition, indicating that financial assistance was not a necessity in maintaining competitive programs in these areas.

Students Come Far to Cedarville

By Joyce Coleman

They come from unheard-of villages in New England or the quiet prairies of the Great Plains. A few have traveled so much they can call the whole U. S. their home. There are persons whose "home town" is across a great expanse of ocean. They are Cedarville College Students.

Miss Carrol Nichols is a Cedarville College Freshman from Moosehill Road, Livermore Falls, Maine. Miss Nichols traveled a 1400 mile route through Canada and Michigan to begin her education in accounting.

Speaking with a Swedish-Maine accent, Miss Nichols said she finds the campus people friendly and trusting. Since being at Cedarville, she has appreciated the everyday things that she had before taken for granted. God is working in her life. She's discovering the necessary surrender of every detail of life to Him, ac-ording to His Will.

Before leaving home for school, Miss Nichols' family treated her with an old fashioned gathering about a fireplace, eating homemade ice cream and sharing fellowship in song. The memory of Maine countryside with mountains, streams and autumn in the trees leaves Miss Nichols with big waves of homesickness.

Mr. John Dannenberg (also a Freshman) is a Bible major carrying 15 credit hours this quarter. John works at the campus switchboard on Wednesday and Friday mornings, 12:00-7:00 a.m. This job and other sources of income are evidence of God's provision of money for school.

The name of John Dannenberg means "God is gracious," "Pinetree on a mountain." John was born in France and went to Central Africa when he was one year old. He has had malaria several times.

John has two younger sisters and one younger brother. His parents, missionaries in Central Africa, are dorm parents at the Bangui Baptist High School. Other responsibilities of John's parents are teaching Bible school for African Christians and purchasing supplies in Bangui for other missionaries. John speaks French semi-fluently; he speaks Sango (an African trade language) fluently.

Speech Department Adds Booth

With 15 years of Communications experience behind him, Mr. Roger Booth has joined the faculty in the area of broadcasting.

Mr. Booth began his broadcasting career at Bob Jones University. He was encouraged to go into this field by a speech teacher there. Through his then future wife's encouragement, he applied to the campus station for a job and was accepted.

After five years of study at BJU in communications and radio, Mr. Booth attended Trinity College and Northwestern University.

Mr. Booth spent five years with WMBI at Moody in Chicago. From there he went to San Diego, California, to work.

Over the past few years, Mr. Booth has held various offices in the National Religious Broadcasters Association. He is now Cedarville's representative with the National Broadcasting Industry.

As the Coordinator of Broadcasting Instruction, Mr. Booth will be teaching all of the broadcasting courses as well as working with the station.

Mr. Booth believes that Christian Broadcasting should be equal in intensity as far as the professional and dedicated involvements. He feels that broadcasting can be a total ministry by being professionally plain, communicating effectively and being dedicated.

Mr. Booth's Christian philosophy is that "What you say has to live up to what you do." His interests include his wife, his four sons, fishing, golfing, bicycling, and tennis.

Elaine Schulte

Elaine Schulte Prepares for Missions

By LaVerne Kirby

"I cannot remember the day I was not going to be a nurse." After several years of schooling Elaine saw her long-time goal come true. She is presently using her training as one of the school nurses and in the future she plans to use her nursing abilities on the mission field.

Born into a Christian home in Huntingburg, Indiana, Miss Elaine Schulte came to know the Lord as her personal Saviour at the age of thirteen. Following high school graduation Elaine went to her long awaited nursing school. It was in 1965 that she graduated from Protestant Deaconess Hospital School of Nursing. After graduation she worked for a year and in the fall of 1966 came to Cedarville as a student. In 1968 she graduated from Cedarville. It was at this time that Elaine began to throw herself completely on the Lord as she was going through a period of intense emotional conflict.

For several years Elaine had wanted to be in some kind of Christian work and had felt that the Lord may want her on the mission field. In the fall of 1972 Elaine kept fighting applying to MIS. She felt very inadequate and was also afraid that if she would go to a mission field the Lord might call her to serve Him there full-time. A real battle had been won when Elaine got her eyes off self and began to rely upon Him for sufficiency. It was no longer, "I cannot" but it was, "I can do anything with his help." It was with this attitude that Elaine went to Chad, Africa the summer of 1973 for three months. Elaine loved the people of Chad and had real concern for their spiritual condition.

This past summer Elaine served as the nurse at Skyview Ranch as she had done the summers of 1970 and 1971. The Lord used several missionary speakers to really burden Elaine for full-time missionary service. The final blow came when the message of Gideon, in Judges 6:11,12, was preached. It was pointed out that Gideon was thrashing wheat by the winepress because he was afraid of the Midianites. Then it hit her that even Gideon was afraid and yet the scriptures state that the angel of the Lord appeared and said, "The Lord is with thee, thou mighty man of valour." The Lord looked at Gideon's potential and at the way he could be used in delivering the children of Israel from the Midianites. It was the evening after this message that Elaine dedicated herself to the Lord for missionary work. That very same week Elaine applied to Baptist Mid-Missions. Since the door to Chad is closed she feels the Lord may want her to serve Him in Liberia. Elaine continues to work at the health center, waiting to hear further concerning her acceptance to Baptist Mid-Missions.

Elaine says, "in a way it is discouraging to sit here and wait when the Lord has given you a desire to minister to people who have never even heard about the Lord Jesus Christ." But the Lord has more experiences to teach Elaine so she will continue to wait upon Him for guidance.

tainment for John in Africa was reading. It's not hard for him to start reading and shut off the activity around him. John does not watch much television, but he enjoys science fiction and westerns.

John first came to the U. S. when he was five years old and it was then he saw the phenomenon snow. He has been accustomed to weather of 80-130 degrees, but he is adjusting to the cooler weather of Ohio. John enjoys the autumn season.

John had his mind set on a Christian college in the U. S. Cedarville was spoken of highly by a graduate who was John's teacher. The soccer team also attracted John to Cedarville. He may not attend Cedarville College for four years, but it's great that he can be here now.

Pianist Takes Top Honors

After the New Student Talent Night on October 25, it is obvious that Cedarville's new students are loaded with talent.

Kim Stowe walked off with first place with a superb piano solo. Rich Luedeke took second place with an act entitled "Mickey Mouse Bop." And Mark Keough placed third with folk selections.

Some of the more outstanding acts were "Casey at the Bat," an enactment of the poem done by Craig Vielguth; Dan Grahl acting out the "Reject Me Image?"; Down Home Boogie Blues by Kathy Stange and Jim Evans; and a beautiful rendition of Psalm 125:1 by Garth West and Jeff Schlesinger. Other acts included gospel singing and Broadway hits.

Master of ceremonies, Kirby Lancaster, commented that this year's New Student Talent Night was twice as big as any other in past years.

The talent show was sponsored by Student Body Project and all proceeds went to the Student Body Project fund.

The World You Have Known Is Gone

By Bill Giesman

"Economics is what economists do, and economists do economics."

This past weekend, about 115 people attended a seminar on "The Christian and Political Economy" here at Cedarville College. The speakers were Dr. Allen Monroe, Mr. James Grier, and Dr. Gary North, a Christian economist from Long Beach, California.

The purpose of the conference was to try to make students aware of the position we are in economically and our responsibility as Christians to face this challenge.

Dr. North, who has written a book entitled, An Introduction to Christian Economics, started the seminar a little early on Friday. At 9:00 a.m., he spoke in Dr. Monroe's Foundations of Social Science class and then spoke in chapel at 10:00.

Taking his message from Isaiah 1:20-25, Dr. North spoke about a sin that Israel committed and one that the countries of the world are committing today — Inflation. Although he made things look pretty dismal for the future, he explained that those things were the way they were because God's law had been violated.

He also said that inflation is just as much stealing as robbing a bank is. It doesn't matter whether it is the government stealing or a citizen, because it is God's law that has been violated.

Friday evening, Dr. North spoke on the "Failure of Secular Economics." He showed how the economists have been unable to solve the economic problems that the country has had since the 1960's. Today there is no real agreement as to presuppositions, limits of investigation and therefore no real certainty of which action to take in the situations that confront the leading countries in the world.

Dr. North attributed this to the fragmentation of our Western culture which began around 1965. Every discipline of knowledge has been fragmented as to the basis for the knowledge. Economics today is little more than a joke to many people because of the impact that these factors have had in the economist's forecasting.

Economists have admitted that they are having a harder time than has been usual in the past. The crisis in economics today is that the economist isn't sure as to what he is really doing because definitions and practices are constantly shifting.

Saturday morning, Mr. Grier spoke on "The Value Gap" and said that the main crisis in the world today is in the realm of values and not drugs or sex. Values today are clearly seen to be relative and more and more today are being predicated on the autonomy of man, rather than in God's person. The basic wrong in the area of values is something that Mr. Grier calls The Great Divorce. People today have divorced the pursuit of knowledge and value judgments. He says that there can be no fact that is neutral, because you have made a judgment in choosing that fact from a group of facts. Where you start will determine where you end up and you will never have a neutral fact.

Dr. Monroe then spoke on "The Politicalization of Charlie Brown and Practically Nearly Everyone." Using Charlie Brown as an example, Dr. Monroe proceeded to show how the American people look to government for our salvation, even though we continually come out on the short end of the deal. Using his concept of Sphere Authority, he showed how the State has been overstepping its authority and taking the responsibilities of the family and the church. He said that the key characteristic of the State should be the administration of justice. One of the problems with the American people is that they turn problems into crises and then think that only the government can solve them. Because of this kind of action, the State gets stronger and more powerful all the time. He concluded that we as Christians need to know what God has to say in this realm and to proclaim that Jesus saves and calls us to acknowledge his kingship over every area of life.

Dr. North closed the conference with a thrilling challenge for Christians. He pointed out that things weren't looking good because of the way that people are against God in all areas. He said that Christianity has a hard task, but it is our own fault. When most of the scientific advancements were made, they were made in a predominantly Christian culture.

The first universities were Christian ones, but because Christianity didn't know how to use the things that they had, they have lost them. We have anything but a Christian culture and there aren't very many Christian institutions in the world today.

Dr. North pointed out that the reason things went this way is that Christians failed to follow the principle of the tithe. He said this has two parts: 1) Some of our money is God's and we have no business using it for anything else, 2) There are no institutional vacuums. There are things that God gave the family and the church specifically to do and because they haven't done them, the state has taken over.

Because Christianity has failed God when it was a little easier, Christians have a much rougher time now. Rather than pay a tithe, we are paying exorbitant taxes plus the tithe. Christians didn't worry about the use of television, radio or movies until they were lost to the world. He said that Christianity in the past had poor foresight while being well grounded in the present. Because of this, Christianity today has to fight for the present and also look out for the future.

Then Dr. North presented his view of what is needed for a Christian reconstruction. Everything starts with the small community. Cedarville would be perfect for this because of its size and also because of the college.

Cross Country Running Good

By Bob Winward

Cedarville's Cross Country team is off and running this year as they have so far achieved a 6-1 record in their meets. The team has also done well in the Invitational meets.

At the Adrian Invitational Meet in Michigan the team finished seventh out of fourteen teams. In the Marion Invitational they slipped a little, finishing ninth of twelve teams. The Cross Country has since bounced back, coming in third out of nine teams at the Rio Grande Invitational. Also Cedarville captured the Homecoming Invitational here, by a considerable margin over the other eight teams.

The Cross Country team will be going to Michigan on Friday October 25, for a NCCAA meet at Concordia. This meet is expected to be a tough one, and it is an important one. On Nov. 9, the NAIA District 22 meet will be held at Cedarville. The top 15 runners and the top 4 teams will go to the NAIA Nationals in Salina, Kansas.

This year's Cross Country team has a lot of outstanding prospects. They are losing only one Senior. The team consists of two Juniors, five Sophomores, and five Freshmen. The team is young and so far has been the best cross country team Cedarville has ever had. The team is really fired up and they are expecting to go a long way next year.

Field Hockey Wins First

By Laura Roby

Cedarville's field hockey team chalked up its first of the season October 23 against Ohio Dominican. O.D., coached by Linda DeLong, was unable to score against the tough Jackette defense, as the Yellow and Blue racked up four goals. The win was the first for Dr. Pam Diehl, new head coach of the team.

A spectacular scoring play was made by Nancy Towle, Andrea MacDermaid, and Lauren Clark on a penalty corner. MacDermaid passed in to Towle who flicked the ball over to Clark. Clark then pounded it in for the goal. Towle ended up with two goals for the game, Clark one, and Sally Orihwood one goal. The Jackettes were heading into State Tourney play as of press time. Field hockey record is now 1-4, with losses coming at Homecoming from the sticks of University of Dayton. The Jackettes beat Cincinnati in the other Homecoming match.

The next game for the Jackettes is at home against Wittenberg University October 29 at 4:00, and on October 30 at home against University of Dayton, also at 4:00.

He stressed the fact that it is necessary to get back to life based on God's laws and this is why it starts with the community — it is just too hard to start in a city with a mission of this size. The communities need to get going and one of the important things in the process of reconstruction is a Christian day school. It is too late to wait until college to receive Bible training for many kids and they should be reached early. He stressed the fact that the world today isn't the same one in which we grew up. It will take a greater effort on the part of the Christians now because of the change.

Tapes of the seminar can be obtained from the radio station.

Defense has been a strong point for the Yellow Jackets this year.

Soccer Team Kicking Up a Storm

By Bob Winward

Cedarville's soccer team is off to a good start this season, and so far have chalked up a 4-2 record. Up to now they have beaten Wittenberg 1-0, Bluffton 3-2, Malone 10-0, and Urbana 2-0. The only teams they lost to were Ohio University 1-0, and Denison, one of the toughest teams in the state, 3-0.

The rest of the schedule looks tough for the Yellow Jackets but they appear to be ready. Coming up on October 26, is a game against Walsh. This game is expected to be very physical and is one of the bigger games. There is a rivalry between Cedarville and Walsh and the Jackets are fired up for the game.

On October 30, the team will play Wilmington. This is expected to be one of the tougher games because Wilmington is good skill-wise. Nov. 12 is the NCCAA Regionals and Cedarville will qualify if they have better than a .500 winning percentage. On Nov. 5, the Jackets will play the University of Dayton. They don't appear to be tough, but they cannot be taken lightly.

If Cedarville wins the NCCAA Regionals they will go into the NCCAA Finals. On Nov. 13, the team will play Wilberforce. This will be the first year they play them.

The NAIA No. 22 Playoffs are coming up on Nov. 16. Last year Cedarville was defeated in the playoffs by Walsh. The winner of the playoffs then goes to the Area Playoffs on Nov. 20-23. Then the winner of the Area Playoffs will go to the Nationals.

The team at the moment is in good shape, and have a good offense going. The team is apprehensive about the defense, because it hasn't been tested out in the past couple of games. However, there is a lot of talent in the defense and they are expected to pull through. The competition is getting tough but if the offense and defense play consistently, the Jackets should then have an excellent season.

Homecoming Crowds Get Treat

By Ron Miller

The large crowds were treated to a Homecoming special as the four Cedarville fall sports teams gave excellent performances.

Volleyball Team Has Difficulties

By Laura Roby

A new offense, poor serve reception, and strong USVBA spikers proved to be the downfall of Cedarville's volleyball team in a quadrangular match October 23 at Ohio State University. Cleveland State University, Mount St. Joseph, Cedarville, and Ohio State competed, with Ohio State coming off the victors.

Cedarville led most of the way against OSU, but the Buckeyes put on a strong comeback effort to win the first game 15-13. This mentally put the Jackets out. The Bucks won the next game easily 15-7. Poor serve reception on the part of Cedarville resulted in Cleveland State picking up a win 15-4, 15-7. Cleveland has several USVBA players who are strong spikers, and Cedarville could not handle it.

Dr. June Kearney, Cedarville coach, remarked that "We had trouble controlling the set in getting on the offensive against Mount St. Joseph". Our spikers were strong and placed well, but we couldn't stay on the attack," she continued. Dr. Kearney also cited the fact that CC switching to a 5-1 offense gave them some trouble with movement on the floor at times. Mount St. Joseph won 15-5; 15-10.

The Jackets record is now 4-6 and Dr. Kearney hopes to even up the season to .500 against Wright State and Wittenberg University.
