FORTY-SECOND YEAR NO. 46

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1919

PRICE, $1.50 A YEAR

RECEPTION FOR MEN.

The Men's Bible Class of the United Presbyterian congregation gave a reception to the men of the congregation on Thursday evening, Nov. 6 at the parlors. The evening was a rainy evening about fifty men were present. Mr. O. E. Bradford was the honor guest of the evening.

Mr. O. A. Dobbins, president of the class presided and announced the numbers of the program. Miss Marsh sang a beautiful solo and Miss Mc Gillan gave an interesting reading. Both numbers were heartily enjoyed. Mr. Dobbins then introduced Mr. Bradford as the speaker of the evening. He had been requested to address the gathering on the work of the Federal Industrial Conference, which recently convened at Washington City under appointment of President Wilson. Mr. Bradford referred to the three groups represented in the Conference. The Financiers, that of organized labor, and men of other industries but chosen especially to represent the public.

COMMUNITY CATERING.

That sociability is the greatest asset a merchant or business man in any line has, has long since been proven and testified to by many who are in a position to know. And the best way for anyone to cultivate sociability is to mix with others in other words, meeting in bodies where you can have an off-hand, free-will conversation with your neighbor, although he be your opponent in the business line. And where is there a better opportunity to meet them than in meetings of the Community Club.

THE JOHNSON AMENDMENT

By a lack of exactly two votes the Johnson Amendment to the league of nations has gone down in defeat. This does not mean that the Senate favors the United States having one vote in the league of nations assembly while Great Britain and its possessions has six. There was much disagreement as to the form of the Johnson Amendment. Certain Senators who favored the principle of the Johnson proposition were disinclined to vote for any amendment to the text of the league. They will support a reservation putting Great Britain on an equality with the United States in the assembly. A further attempt may be made to get the amendment into the text of the league if phrasing can be agreed upon that will satisfy some of the senators who voted no because they held that the Johnson idea did not actually accomplish the purpose intended. The reservation will finally be carried by a majority of fifteen, it is reported.

446 RED CROSS MEMBERS

The campaign for Red Cross members in this township has closed and the township chairman, Miss Louise Smith, reports 446 members with 26 additional along the college students. Last year about 400 members were secured. In view of conditions at this time the campaign here was quite a success.

WILL TAXES BE LOWERED?

There is no factor entering into the many causes of the high cost of living than taxes. We do not mean local, county or state, although they have their weight, but the federal tax that is levied on manufacturing concerns.

Coupled with the taxes comes increases in raw materials, shorter working hours, inefficiency of labor and transportation, the latter the greatest cause outside of the burdensome federal taxes being levied against all the corporations.

Higher productive costs, labor conditions, and transportation was only lowering the purchasing power of the dollar. This naturally disturbed labor and we find the country in a turmoil over the demand for still higher wages, shorter hours, and no means of increasing production until efficiency is increased.

The federal tax being the heaviest the question arises when will these taxes be lowered? Congressional leaders say there is no chance if we are to meet the government's bonded debt of $27,000,000,000.

Accepting this as a statement of fact it means that the tax-paying public, directly and indirectly, must face the future with some uncertainty. In certain lines, notably farm products, there has been a lowering of prices, but the farmer must meet his income tax in proportion to what it was when he received top prices ten months ago. With the state planning to adopt a state income tax and an increase in valuation on business property, farm lands and homes to the 100 per cent basis, there seems to be a grave problem before the public.

Unless the public gives up demands for many things that are proving useless to the state and nation, other than providing some office holder a means of living, we can see no prospect of a reduction in state or federal taxes, rather an increase.

Automobile Signalling.

One very important detail every vehicle driver should learn and practice is the matter of signalling. The law states that the driver shall signal in some unmistakable manner which way he is going to turn. The left hand drive makes this easy. If the operator is going to the left he should hold his arm out in a horizontal position. This indicates to those back of him that they should not come up behind him on that side. When making a right turn the car should run close to the curb and the signal given by waving the hand on a small circle with a forward swing, as if to say, "Come on up on this side, I'm going to turn the corner." The "come on" motion is not prescribed by the law, but has become a custom of the road.

WHAT'S A FARMER

A farmer is: A capitalist who labors. A patriot who is asked to produce at a loss. A man who works eight hours day twice a day. A man who has every element of nature to combat every day in the year. A man who is a biologist, an economist and a lot more lists. Who lives more and asks less than any other human being. Who takes unto himself for his own sustenance and that of his family. Who is caricatured on the stage in the daily papers but who can come nearer taking hold of any business and making it go than any other American alive in captivity. That's what a farmer is—Drover's Telegram.

It's a Poor Rule That Don't Work Both Ways

DRYS WILL CONTEST ELECTION

From all reports the wets will have a majority of 641 in their effort to overthrow the legislature's ratification of federal prohibition. The totals are: wets, 499,897; against, 500,520.

The Anti Saloon forces have brought suit in the Franklin county courts to demand a recount of the ballots. The wets threaten to do the same over alleged irregularities in several counties that gave the majorities. Meantime temperance people are trying to solve the situation. The 2-3-4 has been proposed as a compromise as was a repeal of state prohibition. These two proposals received good majorities. The Crabb act is thought to have been responsible for the dry losses. It was too drastic a remedy could amount to little with national prohibition. It was held to be an expensive piece of legislation that would cost the state $100,000 a year. It is evident that many dry voters were opposed to this measure from the vote recorded.

In some quarters it is held that dry workers became enthused over the classification of property for taxation and lost sight of work about the polls for the temperance cause.

PROMINENT BANKER DEAD.

Stacey B. Rankin, 64, prominent South Charleston banker and for 27 years secretary of the Ohio Bankers' Association, died suddenly of apoplexy while crossing the street from his residence to his bank, Monday afternoon. Besides his interests in the Bank at South Charleston, he was a director in the Huntington National Bank, Columbus and a member of the Federal Reserve Board and vice president of the Fifth-Third National Bank in Cincinnati. He served two terms several years ago in the Ohio legislature but refused to run for another office. He is survived by a wife, two sons and a brother, J. F. Rankin with whom he was associated in the South Charleston Bank.

Columbus Gasoline

There's thousands of Ohio motorists who have put the cold weather jinx to rout with Columbus. It's really good gasoline because it's good real gasoline—the kind that inspires automobiles with "good old summer time" ambitions when the mercury is flirting with zero.

Columbus facilitates cold weather starting. Gets instant action when you put your foot on the accelerator pedal. And gives more miles to the gallon than you have a right to expect these days.

Now's the time to load up the tank with Columbus. For cold weather driving, it's the one fuel you can depend on for satisfactory results.

South Charleston defeated a bond issue for the paving of streets by only one vote.

The South Charleston Sentinel is depressed over the fact that a ready-made suit of clothes in the display window marked all wool at $65, and the wool came from Georgia.

The State Health Department has issued a warning against the using of ripe olives since seven deaths recently. No warning was necessary in this quarter.

A newspaper headline says that "Sugar conditions become worse". Impossible, the government has done it's worst already.

After all the American people come to the front when challenged by a mob. Socialist candidates were defeated in many Ohio municipalities.

The Camp Sherman scandal as to the waste of government funds continues to grow in importance.

London elected a Democrat mayor. We hear the law enforcement ideas of the present mayor, a Republican, were too much for the citizens of that city and were of course changed.

Indications point to a landslide for the Republicans in the next presidential election campaign. When Kentucky goes Republican there must be something wrong.

A new way of charging for gas is now in force in some of the nearby towns. The first five thousand feet costs 55c a thousand; the next five thousand feet, 65c up to 85c. It looks as if the gas companies did not care for more business and were trying to force people to burn coal.

We notice that the last Sunday issue of the Chicago Tribune weighed 700 tons. The sensational pages of the Sunday magazine that consumes so much paper do not add to the conservation of paper as should be.

One nice advantage of the new health law is that the state officials are given power to fix salaries for county health officers. Most of the counties are in the $2,000 to $4,000 class. Already the new law is going to force an expense on the taxpayers for one salary that is more than it formerly cost the entire county under the old law.

Over in Springfield a sign painter was chosen as city commissioner to help govern a city of 50,000 that spends hundreds of thousands annually. When will the people wake up to the fact that it is not the system or form of government that counts. A city government is no better than what the citizens make it.

The continued rains the past two weeks have caused considerable alarm among the farmers over the condition of the corn. Already the fodder has lost much of its feeding qualities and corn exposed to the rain has sprouted. The farmer that has not picked out his seed corn for next year has a poor chance now. This is an important matter and should be looked after as soon as possible.

RULES ON WAR TAX FOR THE LECTURE COURSE.

Since the Lecture Course circulars were sent out in the mail the Committee has been informed that the war tax cannot be paid, all at once, but will have to be paid each time when seats are reserved.

Therefore the price of a season ticket will be $1.50 instead of $1.65. As announced the annual sale of season tickets will be Saturday, Nov. 15. For other information regarding the course, please read the article on back of circular.

60 COUNTIES GIVE APPROVAL.

Sixty of the 65 counties in the state that voted an increased tax rate for road purposes, gave a majority vote in the affirmative. This means several million dollars in five or ten years. The money might as well be spent on the roads as some others uses that are found for it.

DON'T FORGET THIS.

All candidates, defeated or successful must file expense accounts, regard less of the fact that you may not have spent a cent. These accounts are due today, Friday, Nov. 14 and must be filed with the County Board of Elections.

AUTO OWNERS ATTENTION.

The recently burned court house in Springfield will be rebuilt following the vote last Tuesday when the electors decided in favor of the proposition. The building commission will be composed of the three county commissioners and four citizens to be appointed by Judge Geiger.

Miss Anna Bell Murrlock, has returned home after a trip of several weeks through the South. She visited with her brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reid of Port Gibson Miss. Mr. Reid has not been in good health for some time but is reported much better.

We, the officers of St. Paul A. M. E. church wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the friends of Cedarville and adjacent neighbors for their kind remembrances during our rally which began Oct. 19 and will end Nov. 23. This is the first time we have been before the public for aid in three years. We pray for the success of all concerned. Committee.

OHIO GLEANINGS

With the recovery of 30 bodies from the burning Youghioghezy and Ohio Coal company mine at Amsterdam, Jefferson county, it is believed that all the miners who were entombed have been accounted for. Work of bringing out the bodies was greatly retarded by the fire in the mine. The entire village is grief-stricken.

Going into the orchard of his home near Loudenville, Lewis Kick, 45, shot himself through the head with a revolver. He fell over the lantern which he carried. His clothes were ignited and his body was burned.

J. Howard McIntyre, school principal at Conneaut, has disappeared mysteriously.

Hamilton Schuch, 23, inventor, Cincinnati, was killed when a gas tank with which he was experimenting exploded.

Mrs. Lou Meacham was injured probably fatally at Elyria when a train hit the auto she occupied.

Akron, Philip Abrams and Mary Singer were indicted on two counts charging first degree murder in connection with the death of Anna Rubin last August.

Hancock county's quota of $7,000 in the forthcoming Red Cross campaign already has been raised.

IMPROVED UNITED INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. F. H. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. (Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union)

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 16

WITNESSES OF CHRIST'S GLORY.

LESSON TEXT—Luke 9:28-36. GOLDEN TEXT—This is my beloved Son; hear Him.—Mark 9:7. ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Matt. 17:1-8; Mark 9:2-8; II Peter 1:16-18. PRIMARY AND JUNIOR TOPIC—Peter and John with Jesus on the mountain. SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—The story of Jesus Christ.

While it is true that in this lesson the disciples are witnesses of Christ's glory, the full truth is that the manifestation of Christ in glory was to give to the discouraged disciples a foregleam of the Messianic Kingdom. The hopes of the disciples were crushed when Christ announced his death on the cross. They were unable to see how victory could issue from death.

Jesus took with him Peter, James, and John, and went into the mountain to pray. His chief aim in retirement was to get the disciples apart from a state of receptivity so that he might show them the method of the Kingdom. Before going to the mountain he declared that there were some standing in his presence who would not taste of death till they should see the Son of Man coming in his Kingdom (Luke 9:27; Matt. 16:28). That their drooping spirits might be revived and their confidence restored, he is transfigured before them. Two men from the upper world are sent to converse with him about his approaching death in Jerusalem (v. 31)—the very thing about which the disciples refused to talk. Then, too, God's own voice was heard in words of approval of Christ's course, directing them to hear the Master. Surely they could hope that he might now to carry into execution his Kingdom plans. The purpose, then, of the transfiguration is to give the disciples a foregleam of the coming Kingdom, to enable them to see the Kingdom in embryo. That this is true is not only shown by the context and circumstances, but by the inspired interpretation of one who was with him and knew all that happened. Peter said, "For we did not follow cunningly devised fables when we made known unto you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but we were eye-witnesses of his majesty, for he received of God the Father, honor and glory when there came such a voice to him from the excellent glory. This is my beloved Son in whom I am well pleased; and this voice we ourselves heard come out of heaven, when we were with him in the holy mount. And we have the word of prophecy made more sure; whereunto ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a lamp shining in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the day-star appear in your hearts (2 Peter 1:16-19, R. V.). To those who believe in the inspiration of the Bible these words are final. Let us therefore note the outstanding features of the Kingdom as displayed in the transfiguration.

I. Jesus Christ the glorified King on Mount Zion (v. 29). The glorified King on this Mount was intended to symbolize the Messianic Kingdom, when Christ returns to the Mount of Olives in Jerusalem (Zech. 14:4-7). This is still in the future, and will be literally fulfilled.

II. The glorified Saints with Christ (vv. 30, 31). Moses, who was once denied an entrance into Palestine, appears now in glory, representing the redeemed of the Lord who will pass through death into the Kingdom. Many thousands of the redeemed have fallen asleep and at the coming of the Lord shall be awakened to pass into the Kingdom.

2. Elijah, now glorified, represents the redeemed who shall pass into the Kingdom through translation. Many shall be living upon the earth when the Lord shall come, and shall without dying be changed and thus pass into the Kingdom (I Cor. 15:50-53; I Thess. 4:14-15).

3. They talk of the very thing which the disciples refused to believe, namely, the death of Christ.

III. Israel, in the Flesh, in Connection with the Kingdom, Represented by Peter, James, and John (v. 28). Israel shall be called from their hiding place among all nations of the earth and shall be gathered to Jesus Christ the King, as the central people in the Kingdom (Ez. 37:21-27).

1. Peter proposes to build three tabernacles (v. 33). The Feast of Tabernacles looked forward to the glorious reign of Christ. Peter caught a glimpse of the significance of the transfiguration. His proposition showed that he thought of the Feast of Tabernacles, and therefore of the Millennium.

2. The divine voice (v. 35). At this time God himself uttered his words, assuring them that this one in glory was his son Jesus Christ.

IV. The Multitude at the Foot of the Mountain (vv. 37-45). This is representative of the nations which shall be brought into the Kingdom which shall be established over Israel (see Isaiah 11:10-12). The people here were justly oppressed by the devil. There are times when the devil is especially active in his oppression of men. About the time of Christ's first coming he did his best to harass men. Just before Christ's coming again he will be especially active, for he knows that his time is short.

Birds Driven by Storms. Certain instances of birds found singly far to the north of their usual range are possibly to be explained by the whirl of cyclonic storms. The wind, turning counter clockwise, blows off shore in the south and carries the bird out to sea. But, sooner or later, if the bird has the good fortune to fasten on the experience, the farther spin of the storm tends to bring him ashore again.

As to Honking and Steering. Honking your horn doesn't help so much as steering wisely.—Forbes Magazine.

New Kind. Little Frederick, five, was visiting their neighbor across the way and noticed Mrs. Smith with a new pair of eye-glasses. "Oh, mamma," he exclaimed on arriving home, "I went over to see Mrs. Smith and she wears looking-glasses on her eyes."

HIS RETURN

By EDITH T. THERRIEN.

All the buildings of the town were gaily decorated with hunting and flags. Open house was to be kept at the armory, where the soldiers could find food, reading matter, tobacco and, best of all, the society of their old friends, so long denied them. The girls of the town had arranged a series of dances, card parties and entertainments.

A band stand had been erected in the public square and the people felt they were prepared to welcome fittingly their returning heroes. A few had already arrived, the remainder were expected in three days, and their welcome was to be most hearty, with speeches, music, parades and banquets.

As Marcia Meade helped in these preparations, her heart was heavy. Must she give up her position as private secretary to Mr. Merton? It had belonged to Don Redell, now Lieut. Redell, and Mr. Merton had told her when she was promoted to the place that when Don returned he was to have his old position. But she had made good, and she did so enjoy the work. Couldn't Don find another equally good position?

She could not get up courage to ask Mr. Merton to keep her. He was intensely patriotic and had told each of his employees that he would be glad to give him when he returned, with no loss of wages. Now Don had been gassed and wounded, and although he wrote home that he had recovered, he would seem more of a hero than ever to Mr. Merton. He had been the first man in town to enlist, and Mr. Merton had been very proud of his youthful secretary, who was now returning with decorations for bravery.

How could she broach the subject to Mr. Merton? She must be looking for another situation, she supposed, for her former one had been filled, of course. She wondered if Don would be eager to get back to his old work, or would prefer to rest at home for a while. Was Mr. Merton waiting for her to resign gracefully rather than tell her that she had only three more days? These troubled thoughts kept pace with her hands as she worked, and she hated herself that she could not feel more joy in the home-coming of the soldiers.

When the day came, she went with the rest of the town to view the parade, cheering with the crowd, that was simply wild with pride and enthusiasm. She was quick to see how fine Lieut. Redell looked, with his erect military carriage, his brown face and steady eyes. Why, what had the war done to Don? He had gone away a brilliant, lovable, fun-loving boy; he had come back a stern-faced man.

Marcia's heart glowed with a warmth it had never felt before. She and Don had been good friends in their days, but they had drifted apart. She had written to him often, because he had begged her to, when he enlisted. But her letters had been almost like reporters' items—news of the office force and town happenings. She wished now she had put more of her personality, more friendly spirit, into them.

She went to the armory, where she was to be one of the hostesses for the afternoon. She hoped that Don would come there so that she could tell him that his old place in the office was waiting for him. She had decided that as soon as she saw him step into the train.

She had wearied of the crowd and stolen quietly away to a corner to rest. As he came to her the old boyish smile brightened the grave face. He held her hand so long, with such a friendly grasp, that a blush spread over her usually pale cheeks.

"Marcia, you were a brick to write to me so often. You haven't the slightest idea of what letters meant to us fellows. Yours were such fine, newsworthy ones; always full of encouragement, too; just the kind to cheer a man up."

"I am glad to have done even that little for you, Don. I have been keeping your place for you with Mr. Merton, so that no other man would have it when you returned," she told him in most friendly fashion, without a quiver now at the loss of her fine salary and congenial work.

"Oh, you can keep that a while longer. I am planning to take Uncle William's farm this summer. I'm so accustomed to outdoor life now that an office in warm weather has no allurements for me."

Marcia stifled a tiny sigh of relief. She would have sacrificed anything for this fine soldier, but she could not rejoice that her sacrifice was not necessary.

"Marcia," the soldier's voice went on, though in lower tones, "you keep the office for me through the summer, and after Uncle William's crops are all harvested I should like to take up Mr. Merton's work again," and a roughish twinkle shone in his eyes as he saw her face fall.

"All right, Don," she agreed, submissively. "By that time, dear, won't you be ready to give up office work and make a home for me—the home I dreamed of over there? I didn't intend to ask you until I had become strong and husky again, but I find I can't wait another minute."

"That will suit me perfectly, my lieutenant," she told him, with a glad lilt in her voice; for as dearly as she loved her work, she had discovered to her intense astonishment that she loved this soldier more.

Increase of English. In the year 1000 there were about six million persons who spoke English—a much smaller number than spoke French, German, Italian or Spanish. Today English-speaking people number about one hundred and twenty millions, or about double the aggregate of those who speak French, Italian or Spanish and half as many again as speak German or Russian.

Must a Child Be Pale?

Public Health Authorities Predict Its Recurrence

Guard Against It by Building Up the Blood

Pepto-Mangan Creates Rich Red Blood and Increases Strength

Surgeon General Blue, of the United States Public Health, in a recent statement from Washington, warns the public that the much-dreaded influenza epidemic will probably return this fall and winter. All medical authorities agree that the weak, bloodless, run-down individual is more likely to contract this (as well as any other infectious disease) than is the strong, robust, red-blooded man or woman. In view of these facts, it is wise to use every effort to build up the blood and thus increase the bodily resistance to the invasion of the germs of the disease. Gude's Pepto-Mangan is an absolutely red-blood builder in all conditions of the lowered vitality not due to serious disease of the vital organs. It improves the appetite, imparts color to the cheeks, and creates new hope and ambition in those who have become pale, weak, and listless. Physicians recommend Gude's Pepto-Mangan. When you order be sure the name Gude's is on the package. Without "Gude's," it is not Pepto-Mangan. Furnished in both liquid and tablet form. For sale by all druggists.
