The Fifty and Nine Are Silent "?"

A serious question confronts all telephone patrons, and especially stockholders in the hundreds of small independent companies in this state, if the Elson telephone merger bill is allowed to become a law.

Some weeks ago this bill passed the House of Representatives and has not yet been taken up by the Senate. The exposure connected with the passing of the bill shows that an unlimited amount of money must have been used to "convince" enough members to vote for the measure.

The "lobby" is said to have been the largest that ever gathered in the Capitol to secure favorite legislation. Attempts have been made to steal the canals and secure public grants for private gains but the public now has witnessed the first attempt of a legislative body to empower a million dollar telephone trust to force its hand into the pocket of every telephone patron and at the same time wield a power towards crushing out stockholders in the smaller companies.

A meeting of the independent managers was held a few days ago in Columbus to devise some way of securing protection for their patrons and stockholders. The meeting was a unit in openly attacking the Elson merger bill and the Senate is asked to give the measure a decent burial.

These managers realize the acute situation and have banded for the good of the service. The public is asked to lend its support and bring pressure on members of the legislature. Such a law would drive out local companies that have entered the field and given the Bell competition, and the public a good service at a reasonable cost.

It is useless to go back ten years ago and compare the telephone service in the state with that of today. The cost of a telephone then was three dollars a month. Now it is two dollars for business houses and a dollar or a dollar and a quarter for residences. The toll for messages to nearby cities was twenty-five or fifty cents, today it is ten, fifteen and twenty-five cents.

The public realizing these facts must now consider the kind of men that are responsible for this serious situation. Back of it all is a New York millionaire who is afraid to compute his income. He sees a vision of one company, one rate and one stockholder—Morgan.

The public as a rule cannot get along without a telephone. It is a necessary adjunct for successful business. It is also needed in case of sickness, death and convenience about the home. An increased rate and toll means that this million dollar trust will take the additional increased price out of the pocket of each and every patron.

All the blame should not be levied upon a wealthy citizen that is able to command that which he desires. The people of this state have chosen representatives in the legislature to protect their interests, but occasionally this trust is broken. When the House by a vote of 59 to 50 passed the Elson bill, each member of the fifty-nine broke this trust with the public.

Greene county, which has in the past been so ably represented as to command attention of the entire state, is now seen with her banner disgraced, besmirched and trailing in the dust, all from the set of James E. Lewis, our "misrepresentative," who voted with the fifty and nine under the lash of a corrupt lobby. Not a single man that voted for this measure has been able to give a single word of explanation as to how they voted. Does this explain why the fifty and nine are silent?

At the coming primary James E. Lewis will ask for a second term. It is up to the stockholders and patrons of each of the telephone companies to defend themselves. If you think Mr. Lewis has represented your views, it is your duty not only to vote for him but to work for him. If not, it then becomes your duty in self protection to send a more competent and responsible citizen to the legislature from Greene county than J. E. Lewis.

Enumerators Are Appointed.

The enumerator's for this district have been named. Mrs. W. E. Pitt will take the census in the corporation.

In the township, Mr. Harry Kennon, son of Mr. D. M. Kennon, will fill the same position. The task in the township is quite a difficult one as the government wants to know all about the farmer's business.

BUGGIES PAINTED.

I am prepared to paint, repair and rubber-tire buggies. Mr. Walter Murdock will have charge of the paintshop. Speak for a place at once before the rush. All work is guaranteed.

Fire Alarm Tuesday Night.

Fire destroyed the cooperage house belonging to D. S. Ervin at the rear of the school-house, Tuesday evening about nine o'clock.

The building was not in good repair and was only used to store empty barrels. Just how the fire started is not known. A car load of barrels standing near the burning building were saved, only a part of the car roof burning.

A CARD.

We desire to thank the friends and neighbors, who so kindly assisted us in the sickness and death of Irene. We also thank Rev. Jackson for the beautiful words of comfort he gave us, Mr. Barr for so nicely conducting the funeral and the friends who gave the beautiful floral offerings.

VINDICATION AT ANY PRICE.

A well known district and state politician made the statement a few days ago that "Every time Jesso Taylor opened his mouth he put his foot in it."

The politician was discussing the recent "vindication" that Taylor has brought himself through his own press bureau and the paid matter that is appearing in the various newspapers in the district. The publishers have no desire to kill the "goose that lays the golden egg" and only want more time to get in on the Taylor appropriation of $10,000 that has been set aside for "vindication."

Last week the press bureau sent out a letter, "Taylor Vindicated" and every line of it is paid matter. The object is to counteract the effect of a statement published in the Herald in October 1908 over George Baker's name that Taylor had been seen at the depot hotel in Xenia in an intoxicated condition.

After working more than a year the Taylor forces have succeeded in convincing Mr. Baker that he was mistaken, although the young man in his affidavit states that he did sign the statement published in the Herald. The question now is, was Baker "mistaken" then or now?

Last Saturday Will Baker, a brother who resides near Yellow Springs, made the statement in the presence of two witnesses that the recollection puzzled him. He could not understand such a move as his brother had frequently related the Taylor incident in his own home, months before Jesso became a candidate for congress.

There are a number of facts that the press bureau will have an opportunity to explain for "vindication" at the proper time. Taylor's main object in keeping up strife now is that other candidates will not care to enter the race and he can have the nomination for the "asking."

What Became Of "Dudley"?

The Lucy Lee Concert Company at the opera house Tuesday evening delighted a large audience. It was unfortunate that the fire alarm interrupted the program.

Miss Leo was in the midst of a very interesting reading when the fire alarm sounded and the audience arose in an attempt to leave the building. A number of cooler heads succeeded in convincing the audience that there was no immediate danger.

Miss Leo stated to the Herald that she did not think it would be justice to take up the story after being interrupted and her explanation as to "Dudley" can only be understood by those who heard the first part of the revival story among the cowboys.

Dudley, having settled in the West after some difficulty in the in the East, took up with the cowboy life. His part in the revival with his frontier friends is understood up to the time he sang the hymn, when a lady from the audience recognizing his voice asked to succeed the regular organist.

Dudley recognized the lady at once as a former sweetheart from the East. The revival is a secondary point in the story from this on. In the course of time Dudley and the Eastern lady renewed their friendship, were happily married and returned to their former friends and acquaintances in the East.

OBITUARY.

Miss Irene Fisher was born in Cedarville Ohio June 23, 1897, and died March 19, 1910, aged 22 years 8 months and 18 days. She leaves to mourn her loss her immediate family and a host of relatives and friends. She was an active member of the A. M. E. Church of this place. Although she had been a great sufferer since last September her faith in Christ was strong and her prayer was "Not my will but thine O Lord, be done". She was conscious till the last and in her parting hours her faith never wavered and she expressed a strong hope of meeting loved ones who have gone before. She has fallen asleep in Jesus, but her memory will always be precious to us.

Electric Lights For Depot.

Some months ago the Herald made a friendly criticism of what the patrons of the Pennsylvania railroad company were compelled to put up with in that there was no light about the depot and persons having business there were in danger of injury. A marked copy was sent the proper authorities and within a few weeks negotiations were opened between the company and the Cedarville Light & Power Company. The result is that there will be three large lights about the depot and the interior will be lighted in an up to date manner, thus doing away with the dingy oil lamps that have been in service for so many years. The improvement was greatly needed and the public appreciates the change.

A COMMUNICATION.

EDITOR HERALD:

Are we proposing to draw our recalcitrant neighbors on the outskirts of our village to the fold? If they should come in, while it would increase their taxes somewhat, it would also increase their privileges. Besides tangible marks of benefits, there should follow benefits to one's standing in becoming a citizen of a free town and taking a share in its burdens as well as in the privilege of its good management.

Besides taking in our suburbs which enjoy the benefits of our town, it certainly should lower municipal taxes—which we all should enjoy.

Moreover there is a sense of justice and reciprocal compensation in our neighbors on our borders contributing their share of help to the town which benefits them instead of to the township which has no special claim upon them.

If this addition could be accomplished it would undoubtedly add to the interest and pride of our city and would present an attractive showing to prospective investors and manufacturers.

We would suggest that a committee of our representative citizens appointed by the Board of Trade walk on the property owners on our borders and present an honest argument for expansion.

Could it be possible that were the salary of council raised, they would devote more energy to the success of this proposition?

Law Enforcement Is Unknown.

The number of intoxicated men found on the streets last Saturday and Sabbath nights was so plain that general comment resulted as to what is to be expected of the present administration. Law enforcement is a thing unknown to Mayor Andrew, who made his campaign on the slogan of a "business administration."

To enforce the laws would create turmoil with a certain element who have been given to understand by the mayor's brother, T. B. Andrew, the "village boss" that there would be no strong hand methods employed under his regime. As this element is in the majority when it comes to counting votes, the "boss" has no hesitancy in defying the will of the people.

The draft horse market was never as strong as it is now. The Percheron never enjoyed such popularity with the city buyer, and no one disputes his being the best farm horse produced. Bred in a Percheron deep in the blood, able to produce the true Percheron type, Motter, the Imported Percheron has proven a sure breeder his first year over the sea and is now ready for service. Jeff Hood, an experienced and careful caretaker is in charge.

AN OBJECT LESSON.

To the student of politics and public affairs the defeat of "Uncle Joe" Cannon is but a step forward in the political revolution that must come if the rights of the individual are not more respected.
Through intrigue the professional politician has for some years past defied the respected citizenship. It made no difference what the people wanted it was always what the politicians wished to grant.
The scramble for this independence first began in villages, ward elections, and townships. Finally, it reached the larger cities and the yoke was thrown aside and the will of the majority respected. Later we find whole states in a turmoil over conditions, all the result of that early struggle a few years ago to undo the political boss.
The past week congress was in a revolutionary turmoil in an effort to defeat one man "Uncle Joe" Cannon, commonly called the "Czar" of the House. For thirty-five years this man has been in power in this branch but today he stands before the people the object of a defeated cause.
By a combination of independent Republicans and Democrats the fight of ten years or more has been ended with victory for the "insurgents," as they are known.
Day by day we find political conditions improving. The people will rule when once they are convinced that conditions warrant a change. Political parties are great, but are not to be compared with a sovereign people.

THEATRE NOTES.

"Her Husband's Wife," the new comedy hit that Henry Miller and his company, under the direction of Klaw & Wagner will present at the Fairbanks Theatre, Monday, March 28th, gives Mr. Miller one of the brightest and most amusing light comedy roles he has accepted since he appeared in Oscar Wilde's, "The Importance of Being Earnest." Mr. Miller has been playing in very serious work for five years. When he planned his present spring tour he determined to offer play going a radical departure from "The Great Divide" and "The Servant in the House." The story of the play moves briskly on deliciously funny, farcical motifs and is built on an exceedingly droll idea. It might be termed a joke in three acts. The people of the story belong to a fashionable set in Saratoga and the action of the play begins one sunny afternoon at that popular summer resort. The character created by Mr. Miller, a Westerner with a keen sense of humor and proper appreciation for the absurd complications into which he is drawn, is the one person of the play which, not a fashionable idler. Mr. Miller, as usual, gathered an imposing array of merit in his supporting company. The cast includes Laura Hope Crews, Grace Elliston, Mabel Bert, Robert Warwick, Orme Calverts and Marie Allen.
"Alma Wu Wo Wulst Do," a play in German, will be the attraction at the Fairbanks Theatre, Wednesday, March 30th.

PILES FISTULA
AND ALL DISEASES OF THE RECTUM
DR. J. J. McCLELLAN
44 East Broad Street COLUMBUS, O.

"The Minister" (The House) presented by the new drama play of this generation. Will be presented here at the Fairbanks Theatre, Thursday, March 24. It is a modern comedy which deals in a sweet and loving way with the human hunger for affection and sympathy. It tells the story of five people whose lives are warped through the misunderstanding of love to life. Two of these is a minister and his wife who have grown apart as they have grown in marriage years. Another is a motherless girl, who, though yearning for a parent's love, does not know her own father. This father, an humble sewer cleaner, known as a Dram-Man, is a brother to the minister, a minister who has thought more of money than of his duty. Another character is a false worldly Bishop, who tempts the minister to worldly ways. Into these thwarted lives comes a mysterious visitor out of the East, a man of mystery, clad in Oriental robes, a visitor whose vision penetrates to the very hearts of the others. This visitor in whom the author, Charles Mann Kennedy, intended to tip the spirit of Christ, comes in a humble guise of a Butler. And serving as a servant, in the fullness of love, he casts out the Bishop and brings peace to the troubled hearts about him.

We are authorized to announce the name of Frank L. Johnson as a candidate for Prosecuting Attorney subject to the Republican primary of Greene county.

Mr. Frank L. Johnson is a young man of real worth, life has been too real to him to afford time to acquire bad habits known to many young men. His father died when he was quite young, which opened a field of a continual struggle to support a widowed mother and to obtain an education. He worked on the farm and at anything he could get to do at which he could make a dime to keep the wolf from the door which was often a close call between success and failure.

He attended school and graduated at the Bellfontaine High School taking the prize of the graduating class, and also the prize at the oratorical contest at that place. He graduated in the Law School of the Ohio Northern University of Ada in 1908 at the head of the graduating class. On examination for admission to the bar he passed his examination on a general average of 97 1/2% nearing perfection. He has shown strong intellectual ability in every study he has undertaken and has ranked first in every school and college he has attended. He is of one of the most patriotic and loyal families in the country, his father was one of just seven boys of a family every one whom enlisted in the Union Army in the Civil War. Another such record cannot be found in Ohio. In that bloody struggle surely they had the grit. Mr.
Johnson has conducted about 100 cases with much skill and if elected to the office he seeks will perform his duties ably.
