Gov. Donahey Elected For Third Term

With a very light vote over the state Tuesday the vote here was a larger one than at the primary. The feature of the vote was the large percentage of women that were out and cast their ballots. It is estimated that the vote is about one third short here in the corporation and township while the county and state was very low. The only contest other than from a political one was that of Common Pleas Judge with three entries in the field: R. L. Gowdy for a second term, Frank H. Dean and George Thorn. Gowdy won in the county by about 1200.

A few of the county candidates had opposition from the Prohibition party. Opposition was only picked against certain candidates on the Republican ticket. The candidates on the Prohibition ticket made no campaign and we are informed had no part in having the ticket in the field.

Governor Vic Donahey, Democrat has had the honor of being elected for a third consecutive term, something no other candidate has ever done in the past half century in this state.

His election was made possible by the fact that prohibition entered in the contest. Both Donahey and Myers Cooper, Republican, had the endorsement of the Anti-Saloon League. In Hamilton county Cooper lost to his opponent no doubt due to the activity of the vets. As there are more than 100 towns and cities in Ohio, where telephone and gas rates are being boosted as a result of the Public Utility Commission, Donahey made good gains in normal Republican counties. Donahey has been opposing unjust rates by the commission and he received public support. Cooper in his campaign promised to change the personal of the commission and this angered the utility crowd that turned on the Republican nominee.

James O. Mills, candidate for lieutenant governor on the Republican ticket, was listed as wet and this gave the election to Earl Bloom, Democrat, who had served two terms as lieutenant governor.

The following is the village and township vote:

Thad H. Brown
One of the out-standing Republicans of Ohio today is Thad H. Brown who was defeated in the Republican primary in August by Myers Y. Cooper. For some years back he has not been the practice of defeated candidates in the primary going out and campaigning for the successful nominee. It is to the credit of Mr. Brown that he went to the front for Mr. Cooper in the recent campaign just closed. The many friends of Mr. Cooper fully appreciate what he has done and he is generally held in high esteem. He has decided to submit his name to the party for honor in the future.

County Vote Was Far Below Normal

The vote in the county was a very light one as compared to former years yet it probably was no different than what happened in other counties. Each year for some years back the interest in elections has declined.

Miss Helen Dodds, candidate for treasurer headed the ticket with the highest vote, 5,708. Among those who had opposition Sheriff elect Tate, with next with 5,450 and Auditor R. O. Wead, third with 5,336.

The following is the vote in the county:

Cooper, 5,064; Donahey 5,287.
Lieutenant Governor—
Mills 4,227; Bloom, 2,638.
Secretary of State—
Brown, 4,843; Young, 1,238.
Attorney General—
Turner, 4,656; Zimmerman, 2,450.
United States Senator—
Willis 5,029; Pomerene 2,323.
Congressman—
Brand, 5,017; Rice 1,857.
Representative—
Williamson, 4,899; Graham, 338.
Sheriff—
Tate, 5,450; Harner, 373.
Auditor—
Wead, 5,336; Wildman, 292.
Commissioner—
Baevy, 5,129; Creswell, 252.
Treasurer—
Helen Dodds, 5,703; McMillan, 202.
Harvey Rlam, J. C. Marshall, B. F. Thomas, L. T. Marshall, had no opposition.

Supreme Court—
C. T. Marshall, 2,864; Ford, 2,231.
Matthias, 2,592; Jones 2,231, Conn, 1,885, McBride, 1,240.

The primary amendment had 4,129 No. and 2,123, yes.

County Library District, yes, 4,354; No, 2,632.

SCHOOL TAX LEVY

The electors gave the special two mill tax levy a good majority at the polls Tuesday. To keep up the standard of the schools the board of education was forced to have more money than the regular levy provided. The following is the vote:

Village—Yes, 216; No, 61.
Township—Yes, 110; No, 80.

ROSS SCHOOLS LOOSE LEVY

Ross township schools will have to do without a two mill levy following the vote Tuesday. The electors were asked to grant two mills additional but the proposition lost by six votes.

BOND ISSUR FAILS

The $60,000 bond issue for water works in Yellow Springs failed to carry at the election Tuesday by a small vote.

CHAMPAIGN REJECTS LEVY FOR FAIR BOARD DEBT

Champaign county voters on Tuesday failed to sympathize with the fair board in that county that was asking for a special tax levy to pay a back debt. A number of fair boards over the state are in financial distress but the electors have failed to lift them out of the hole.

FRANK B. WILLIS.

Frank B. Willis was re-elected United States Senator by over 90,000 majority according to early returns. His election was quite a surprise to Democrats who expected to have Albee Pomerene as the next senator from Ohio.

Farmer Finds Body Of Dead Man

Geo. W. Gaffin, tenant on the J. W. Jice farm, Fairground road, Xenia, found the body of a dead man in a field yesterday. He was on his way to a corn field when he noticed a bundle of rags in the weeds. Upon investigation he discovered the body of a man that had been dead some time. Nearby was a bucket of water and a small amount of tobacco. Coroner James was called but no identification has been found. It is said the man has been dead about three weeks.

Defiance Wins By One Touchdown

Cedarville had no trouble holding Defiance College football team last Saturday for three quarters but in the third quarter let their rivals get the single touchdown of the game which was played in mud ankle deep. The local team has been keeping under handicap for several weeks due to injured players. Thompson and Townsley were the out-standing players in the game Saturday. Tomorrow Director Burt will match his team against division B team of Antioch. The former-Antioch game was a tie.

Hallowe'en Celebrators Wire Public Square

Hallowe'en pranks were not played Saturday night as expected. The rain kept the young folks from the streets and few knew that Hallowe'en was to be celebrated. Sometime after midnight boys concluded to celebrate. Farm gates from C. N. Stuckey's were placed across the square. Boxes and other loose objects, including a manure spreader from the Farmers' Grain Co. were placed in the square. A roll of barbed wire was used to wire off the intersecting streets so that no traffic was possible across the square. The wire was used in such a manner that it had to be cut loose. This one roll was damaged and Mr. Stuckey reports that another is also missing.

CLARK COUNTY FAIR DEBT TAX LEVY IS REJECTED

Clark county has been faced with making good a debt created by the Clark County Fair Board. No fair was held this year and there is an unpaid mortgage on the fair grounds. It was proposed to levy a special tax to lift the debt of $30,000 and have funds to improve the grounds. The voters in the city of Springfield turned down the request as did the voters out over the county. A large negative vote was cast, in fact only a few precincts in the county gave the levy support.

HORSE TRAINER GETS PROMISING YOUNG COLT

"Doc" McMillan, London, famous as a horse trainer and driver, last week purchased a two year old colt by Braden Direct that had been raised by the late Reed Owens. The purchase price was around $250. The colt is well bred and is a promising youngster.

RELIEF FOR FARMERS

Senator S. D. Fess in an address in Xenia Monday night at what was the closing campaign speech in the county suggested that the farmers have a cooperative buying commission, which he said would protect the interest of farmers. Dr. W. R. McChesney made a short speech and introduced Dr. Eess.

REVIEW OF SERMON GIVEN BY REV. FOSTER

The following is a review of a sermon delivered here recently by Rev. H. G. Foster, Belmontaine, O.

The subject was "Foregoing the Privilege of Franchise out of Loyalty to Christ."

This theme is based on the words of the apostle (2 Cor. 6:17): Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you. They are addressed to the Christians of Corinth whose lives were cast in the midst of an idolatrous and licentious people; and finally, a people living under a heathen form of Civil government. The object of the apostle was to cause the believers in the midst of such an environment in such a way as to free them from corrupting influences. This counsel is recorded in the word of God for the use of believers of all succeeding generations, as they themselves surrounded with evil of like character. That they may be free from all such influences; that their lives might tell most for the bringing in of the promised kingdom of God, when His will shall be done in earth, as it is in heaven.

For our purpose at this time, we will consider the words as the counsel of God to believers living under unchristian forms of civil government; and discuss them from that viewpoint. Much is being said these days in regard to the franchise falling to voters in connection with general elections. Many are free with their criticisms. It is certainly to be regretted as the privilege of all to do so. It reveals interest in the matter of real importance. Such interest is attached to it some one asked him to ask: "What would be the result of the soldier breaking his oath on the eve of battle?" At first he seems but one answer: "Victory." It depends upon the character of the man required to do so. It is under such circumstances, he would be breaking his oath. He ought to obey God rather than man. There are obligations Godward, which even the soldier is justified in maintaining. LIKEWISE circumstances must help believers in determining their use of the ballot in connection with general elections. What is involved is to be considered.

CHURCH AND STATE

As the institution of the Church, the institution of the State is Divine. They each come from God. They represent, in their respective spheres, God's thought as to what is essential in governing, reclaiming, and saving the lost world. God has exalted His Son as Lord, Law-giver, and Judge in connection with each of these institutions. He has given His word as the expression of His will in regard to each. THUS, in God's plan, all things civil, as well as spiritual are brought into harmony with Him. To this end we are taught to pray: "Thy kingdom come; thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven." While separate and distinct, the institutions of Church and State are alike from God. Identification with each of these institutions, the Church and the State, (as provided by God,) is not only a Privilege but a Duty.

Identification with the Church is evidence of this. But, for some reason, it is not so commonly recognized as a privilege and obligation to identify with the institution of the State. Why this is, may be difficult to determine in all cases. Certainly none forego the privileges of franchise out of unbelief in Civil government. Certainly none should forego the privilege of franchise because of carelessness and indifference. When constituted in the recognition of their Divine character as coming from God, in recognition that they are each under the supervision and control of Christ by the appointment of God, that He directs in the affairs of both Church and State according to His will revealed in His word, identification should be regarded as an obligation.

Out of loyalty to God and His Son, and His cause by means of these institutions, all should seek cooperation with God in the accomplishment of His purposes through them. While all that is true, there are circumstances under which believers regard it as important and essential to forego the privilege of Franchise; First: When it requires allegiance to another supremacy than Christ and His government as Supreme. Second: When it requires the acceptance of any law other than the revealed will of God as Supreme. Third: When it requires the recognition of whatever name, which is recognized that God has exalted Christ supreme over all things. "Being found in fashion as a man, he

CLARENCE J. BROWN.

Clarence J. Brown, owner of a string of rural and county seat papers was elected Secretary of State Tuesday by about 190,000 majority over his Democratic opponent. Mr. Brown was lieutenant governor some years ago his friends are gratified over his big vote. He may have the largest vote of any state candidate on his ticket.

NOTE THE PARALLEL

God's kingdom is over all." God has exalted Christ to rule and reign as King over all nations, our own included. He calls upon individuals and nations to recognize and honour Him as King. Christ claims such recognition as King; "By ME kings reign, and princes decree justice; by ME princes rule, and nobles, even all the Judges of the earth." His domain is worldwide, but in the present dispensation we have done just what the people of the South did. We have set up a government, which takes not the least recognition of the Divine government as supreme. We have established a supreme law to which we have bound ourselves with solemn oath as that according to which we shall be governed in every department of Civil life. Every Foreigner, seeking the privilege of naturalization is required to subscribe to this Institution of rebellion against God and His government in Christ. Out of loyalty to Christ, and His law as supreme, believers forego the privilege of franchise when such conditions are imposed. In view of just such circumstances, God counsels His people, saying: "Come out from among them, and be ye separate, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you."

Whatever comes, BELIEVERS want to be right with God. NOT because of unbelief in Civil government, but because of belief in Divinely constituted Civil government. Not because of indifference and unconcern in things pertaining to the Civil life; but, because of truest loyalty as the subjects of Christ, as the Civil Ruler of this world, as truly as it's Spiritual Ruler. Believers forego the privilege of franchise in connection with general elections in this land.

All officials of State, whether legislative, executive, or judicial are sworn to such Human supremacy; and all voting sworn relation with this form of government. Back in the days of slavery, and in connection with the Abolition movement, men of National renown such as William Lloyd Garrison, and Wendal Phillips, took the position that they could not, and would not stand responsible for a Pro-Slavery Constitution. For that reason all such refused the privilege of franchise. If it was reasonable to forego the privilege of franchise for the sake of Human rights, the rights of those in bondage, How Much More is it to be regarded as reasonable to forego the privilege of franchise out of regard for Christ who has redeemed this world with His own blood. When the use of the franchise involves His Crown-rights as "King of kings and Lord of lords," and as "Governor among the nations." What was the occasion of the great Civil war in our land? and why was it so prolonged? It was occasioned by certain states seceding, and setting up the government of the Confederacy; and because of their determination. By official Washington, their act was regarded as rebellion, and treated as such. It was the calling of the National forces to crush it. It was their purpose to set a government within the realm of our National domain, which not only failed to recognize the authority and power of our Federal government, but in defiance of

SAM M'COLLUM DIED FRIDAY OF HEART TROUBLE

Mr. Samuel McCollum, aged 79 formerly a resident of this place, died last Friday night at his home in Winchester, Ind. He was taken ill that morning with acute heart trouble although he had had light attacks at intervals some time back.

Mr. McCollum was formerly engaged in the jewelry business here where he was well known. He came here from Clarksville, O.

Following disposition of his store to Mr. J. W. Johnson, he located in Jamestown and was there several months. About eighteen years ago he engaged in business in Winchester and was actively engaged in business until his death.

His wife, Anna McCollum, died about twenty-three years ago. The deceased is survived by one daughter, Mildred, and step-daughter, Miss Zola Downard, of Colorado Springs, Col.

The funeral services were held in Winchester Monday and the body brought here for burial at Massies Creek cemetery, Tuesday.

Prince Of Peace Declamation Contest

The Second Annual Prince of Peace Declamation Contest for high school pupils will be held next Wednesday evening at the M. E. church. This movement is sponsored by the Ohio Council of Churches. Music will be furnished by the M. E. Junior choir.

The three churches will have groups of speakers and the judges will make their decision for each group after it has completed.

The First Group is from the U. P. church and is composed of Harold Dobbins, Kenneth Ferguson, Lorene Beatty and Frances Stover.

The Second Group is from the First Presbyterian church and the speakers will be Helen Kennon, Grace Wigal and Dorothy Cotton.

Speakers of the Third Group from the M. E. are: Esther Mae Hartman, Bernice Elias, Christine Wells, Hazel Bell, and Susan W. Stover.

The winners will be given a bronze medal which will enable them to enter the county contest when silver medals will be given. The winner of the contest in the county will take part in the state contest.

The contest idea is to educate not only the public but the younger folks as to the value of World Peace. It is something worthy of the student for the training each receives.

The contest will be held next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. There should be a good attendance.

Joseph H. Ritenour Dies At Hospital

Mr. Joseph H. Ritenour, aged 72, a prominent retired farmer, and for a number of years a school teacher, died in Christ Hospital, Cincinnati, last Friday morning, following an operation for some weeks he had been in a critical condition.

He is survived by his widow and two children, Mrs. W. B. Patterson, Dayton, and Raymond C. Ritenour of this place; a brother, Robert Ritenour, Grape Grove and two half sisters, Mrs. Lucy Kidwell and Mrs. Mary Grant of South Solon.

Mr. Ritenour was a member of the Church of Christ, Grape Grove. The funeral was held Monday and burial took place at Grape Grove.

COOPER SOLD OUT

After a break among Republican leaders at Columbus last week it was not much of a surprise that Myers Y. Cooper, Republican candidate for governor, was defeated Tuesday, as the returns indicate at this time.

For twenty years the Republicans of Ohio have had trouble electing a governor. In all that time we have had but two, in our memory serve us curiously, Willis and Davis. It has not been much trouble to elect other state officers but as for governor, something always happens.

Mr. Cooper had all the recommendations necessary to insure Republicanism that he was qualified for the governorship. His personal record was as clean as could be desired. His service to the state in more or less private affairs gave him a wide reputation as a leader in religious, civic and business organizations.

At times hoodle politicians and big business do not want that kind of a man for governor. Evidently Cooper was not wanted. Politicians began to betray him and a break in the organization showed itself last week. Cooper then threatened to withdraw from the state committee but the surface was smoothed over to prepare for his slaughter.

One of the issues of the campaign for governor was the utility commission. Donahay has made much capital of this issue. A recent Republican Senate controlled by lobbyists for the Bell telephone, gas and electric interests, refused to confirm Donahay's appointments for the utility commission.

When Cooper announced that he would urge the repeal of the Pence law, that was enabling these companies to collect great sums from consumers, trouble started. Later Cooper did the honest thing in stating that he would change the personal of the utility commission. This brought on the crisis and the lobby element began a secret warfare.

The lobby element for these interests now have two faithful members on the commission to make rates. The situation is plain. By defeating Cooper the lobby controlled Senate will refuse to confirm Donahay appointments and Frank Muller and George Poor, will remain to make rates to the liking of the companies.

A good man has been sacrificed as the Republican nominee that hoodle and corrupt methods can be used to rob the public by inflicting unjust rates. Donahay will be helpless, yet he is to be the governor from present election returns.

THE TEA POT DOME CASES

After two or three years fighting in the courts Albert Fall, former secretary of the Interior, must face trial in the United States Courts for attempting to defraud the government.

Fall, like Harry Daugherty, has been before the public on serious charges for some time. The disclosures in the Tea-Pot Dome case and the leasing of oil lands in California, which forced him out of the cabinet, shocked the country.

The government failed to convict Daugherty owing to a disagreement among the jurors. In the meantime Harry may be devoting his time to writing that book of his lifework he announced some months ago.

THEN AND NOW

Two years ago Donahay carried Greene county by 187 and was the first Democrat ever to get a majority in this county. This year Myers Y. Cooper carried the county by about 2,200 according to the unofficial figures. Two years ago the Gowdy-Marshall forces were at the helm of party affairs. Wives of Republican county candidates then campaigned for Donahay.

This year under the direction of County Auditor R. O. Wead, the central committee as well as the executive committee was loyal to the party and gave the state candidates good support.

HAVE REASON TO DISAGREE

We have been assuaged by local leaders of the W. C. T. U. that this organization is not in accord with the county organization. For the past five years the county organization has been nothing more or less than a political organization taking orders from political bosses.

What disturbs the local leaders is the method of campaign used in Xenia when women canvassed the city and campaigned that Frank H. Dean was wet. Local leaders say that the whole organization is under obligation to Mr. Dean for what he has done in the past, when it sometimes did not pay to stand up and be counted on the dry side. As far as we have been able to learn most of the local organizing members favored Mr. Dean. Judging from the vote this must have been so.

What the leaders in the local organization should do is, make a survey and it will not be hard to pick out the women politicians that are working for pay. There are some of the so called leaders that are making their living through politics and what they can get directly and indirectly from the organization. Meantime others are asked to "come across" to keep the organization alive for the good of the cause.

We have a very kindly feeling for the local organization of recent years. It has adopted a program and working along lines that will be beneficial to the community and not parading as semi political organization where orders are given to pass out this and that.

Local leaders have lamented that more women of this community were not members of the W. C. T. U. but as things have been in the past most of the ladies felt they were out of place in that organization as long as it was under the control of feminine politicians. We are assured that the local organization is not under the control of the county leaders.

It Was Love's Passport

By JANE OSBORN

(Copyright)

AT THE house party at the Cedars, the girls had sought to waltz away a few dull hours before the arrival of the men on Saturday afternoon by writing what they called "passports to their hearts."

Kate read from the passport she had written "height, very tall; nationality, Scotch descent; eyes, gray; she as good as admitted her preference to Donald McGuire, though she insisted that the tallying of Donald to what she had written was just a coincidence, as she really had never given Donald a serious thought in her life.

Maud Grayson had a perfectly clear idea of the traits and features of the one who should hold the passport to her heart, though they certainly did not tally with any of the men who were coming to the house party. They did not tally, in fact, with anyone that Maud had ever known.

Maud Grayson had a perfectly clear idea of the traits and features of the one who should hold the passport to her heart, though they certainly did not tally with any of the men who were coming to the house party. They did not tally, in fact, with anyone that Maud had ever known.

The next week Maud went to visit friends in the mountains and it was not until another week had passed that she saw the girls of her set again. This was at Kate's party, the special occasion of the party being that Kate was going to announce her engagement to Donald McGuire. Kate never knew it but one of the girls had whispered to Donald that Kate admired men of Scotch descent and that she liked gray eyes.

Before the men arrived from the city the girls again got out their passports. Maud brought hers forth from her bag with some confusion.

"I think I've changed—my mind a little," she said, and scratched off "six feet," substituting "five feet, eight." Then in place of "tall, slender but strong," she wrote, "tall, very strong, a little heavy." But for her "heavy and dark," she substituted "light brown and not too heavy—maybe just a little bald." Eyes changed from "light brown" to "gray," the nose became short and broad and the straight descent mouth became "big and pug-nacious."

When the men arrived and while they were sitting on the broad terrace at the side of the house drinking cooling summer beverages, Kate made a quick departure toward the driveway. A rather thick-set young man was dismounting from a sleek, black horse, which he led standing beneath a tree while Kate led him forward to the group of guests.

"This is my cousin, Tom Wales," Kate announced. Tom, here in the crowd, found out their names for yourself—it's so tiresome to introduce you all round. I never could get Tom to come to one of our parties before—"

Kate stopped short, so surprised was she to see her cousin standing there at the party. She was particularly delighted to be with her. "Why, Cousin Tom, what's why you asked to come," Kate accused. "You'd met Maud and couldn't be happy until you had seen her again."

Meantime Maud stood looking more than a little hoping against hope that the girls had not paid too close attention to her revised passport. Kate broke the short pause.

"Tom, are you interested in mushroom growing?" she asked, shaking a finger at him. Then two cousins' arms were laid on his shoulders and Kate looked intently into his face. "Yes, your mouth is big and pug-nosed and, bless my heart, you're getting a little bald."

Maud blushed furiously and darted forth to put slender fingers on Kate's lips. "Please don't," she begged. "I never dreamed that Tom was your cousin—and I don't think we'd ever see each other again. I just met him when I was away last week—"

That evening Tom found time to talk to his cousin for a few minutes. "I think I've fallen in love with Maud," he announced. "But it is quite hopeless. Last week she let me read a sort of description of the sort of man she'd admire. He was everything that I am not."

"She's changed her mind," Kate informed him. "She's revised the list until it fits you exactly. Of course I didn't think of you when she read it—and it didn't sound a bit attractive." But Kate addressed the last words to the thin air, for her cousin Tom had left her to look for Maud.

"LIKE MOTHER USED TO MAKE"

By ETHEL A. LYONS

CLARISSA leaned forward in the rosy light of the candle, a solicitous expression on her round little face.

"No, Mother Eames, you're not to do one thing about Roger's birthday dinner this year.

"But, my dear, I'd love to do it," Mother Eames protested. "You must let me make the cake, anyway."

"Indeed, no!" Clarissa gave a little gesture of finality. "It's all planned, and I'm going to do every single thing by myself." The bride of six months looked very wise and determined.

"Come on, Roger, we'll be late for the concert if we don't hurry."

Roger rose obediently, but his face was troubled as he bestowed a good-night kiss on his mother's cheek. He could guess the sacrifice it might mean to her to give up all the happy fussing over his birthday. On the other hand, he couldn't tell Clarissa that he'd rather let his mother do it for him. Oh, well, it was one of the things she was bound to happen, and he soon dismissed it from his mind.

Not so Mother Eames. She responded cheerfully enough to the good-night kiss, but she sat for a long time staring at the candle after the outer door had closed.

Here it was Sunday; the birthday would be Tuesday, and already the ice cream had been ordered from Rial's—Roger's favorite—vanilla with powdered almonds and a very wonderful caramel sauce.

Monday passed. Tuesday morning found Mother Eames in the kitchen just as the maid was building the fire in the range. "Hilda," she said, "take the day off. I want the kitchen to myself."

Nothing loth, Hilda obeyed. A few days down the street Clarissa was saying, "Anna, this is Mr. Eames' birthday, and I want to get the whole dinner by myself."

At 5:30 Mother Eames, mindful of her promise to appear early at Clarissa's, cautioned father not to be late to the dinner, and went swiftly down the street. The water-trig had deepened into darkness, but there was no sign of a light at Roger's. Strange! Clarissa must be getting a few fish-bone touches to the dinner. She'd go around to the kitchen door.

No light in the kitchen, either! After a preliminary knock she opened the door and stepped in. In the faint glow from the range she could make out the form of Clarissa, apron-clad, sobbing convulsively at the kitchen table.

"Why, dear child, what's the matter?" Mother Eames' eyes were around the wee-beans little figure instantly.

"Oh, Mother, Mother Eames!" Clarissa spoke with dignity. "It's dreadful! It's almost dinner time, and there isn't any dinner! I've spoiled just everything and cry myself hoarse!"

"Tragically she led the way to the pantry. The cake was indeed a sorry sight! Rough, hard lumps of icing covered its uneven surface, with here and there a ragged burned edge showing through. Dumbly she pointed to a few pieces of chicken were floating about in a liquid, presumably meant for aspic jelly. This was flanked by a dish of curried mayonnaise, and the garbage pail offered evidence of scorching cream soup."

"Why, dear child, what's the matter?" Mother Eames' eyes were around the wee-beans little figure instantly.

"Oh, Mother Eames, this is wonderful, perfectly wonderful!" Clarissa cried. "But I don't deserve it, I must confess. I wasn't nearly so much concerned with your being tired as I was with showing Roger that I could do everything just exactly as well as his mother could. He's always boasting about your cooking, you know."

YOUR BIRTHDAY Is It This Week?

If your birthday is this week you have a charming, magnetic personality. You are courteous and affable and possess great persuasive ability, enabling you to greatly influence others.

You have an active mind, and your perception is very keen. You are aggressive and determined, and exceedingly efficient when you have a clearly defined course of action outlined. You are persistent and tenacious, and carry out your ideas and purposes even in the face of adverse public sentiment.

You are secretive and guard your own interests carefully, and very often are thought of as hard and unfeeling. However, when your sympathy is aroused you will go to any effort to bring comfort and relief to the distressed.

Men born during these dates are admirably fitted for government and executive positions. They also excel as physicians and surgeons. Women born during these dates become excellent musicians, actresses, teachers, decorators, milliners, and designers. Maud Adams, famous actress, was born November 1st.

THE MAILED AND MARINES

Uncle Sam will no longer put up with the way holdup men are robbing mail trucks in cities and also mail cars on trains. He has called the U. S. Marines into service. Orders have been given to shoot and let the result be what it may.

Several million dollars is taken from the mails by bandits each year and it looks as if some unusual protection is necessary. With more sentences enforced at the point of an army rifle there will be less holdups in the mail service.

$50 GRAND PRIZE

For a DENTAL ADVERTISING SLOGAN

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE in his address of Oct. 27th says: "There can be no permanent basis for advertising except a representation of the exact truth." DR. MAYO (of Mayo Bros., Rochester, Minn.) says: "The starting point of preventive medicine is in the mouth."

Too much advertising cannot be done in educating the general public in the folly of neglecting the teeth. Through honest advertising during the past eleven years I have been constantly telling people of this vicinity of the importance of caring for the teeth.

This contest is being launched in order to create more enthusiasm for preventive and corrective dentistry.

$1.00 IN CASH! FOR EVERY SLOGAN USED (AN ADDITION TO GRAND PRIZE) Some of the slogans sent in will be used in our ads during the contest. If yours is used, clip the ad and bring it to my office and you will receive $1.00 in cash. This award is in addition to the grand prize. Here are three sample slogans that you can use as examples: "Good Teeth, Good Health," "Bad Teeth, Bad Health," "A Healthy Tooth Never Decays."

You can submit as many slogans as you please. Mail them or bring them in to my office.

For YEARS a winner!

Kokomo Pioneer Fence is not something new or untried. On farms all over the country, it has been known for years as the same uniformly high grade product that has won for it such a fine reputation.

Not that age alone would lend merit to any kind of fence. The QUALITY is there—it's in every foot of Kokomo Pioneer Fence, and you have the pledge of a long-established organization that it will be kept here!

Dr. Frank Crane Says

I DON'T KNOW

Three words in any language hardest for the average person to say are:

"I don't know."

If you doubt this observe the distinguished foreign visitors who arrive to investigate our fair land.

At the pier they are interviewed.

They answer questions on religion, politics, art, morals, music, history, literature, biology, philosophy, clothes and the younger generation without batting an eye.

They proclaim with the gravity of a Delphic Oracle undisturbed in the slightest by the evident fact that they don't know what they are talking about.

The late Joseph Conrad, the writer of sea stories, is the one refreshing exception in recent memory. When plied with questions requiring an omniscient mind to answer, he simply stated: "I am a novelist and of course lay no claim to authority on such subjects."

Consider also the octogenarians, septuagenarians and pentagenarians who fill the papers with absurd secrets for long life.

One old woman says smoking a corn-cob pipe did it; another says scrubbing floors was responsible. One man says riding a horse gave him his longevity; another never getting more than a few hours sleep.

After a while the truth begins to dawn that they know no more about it than anyone else, but they can't admit it.

The old negro who said the secret of his long life was "Because I was born so far back" gave as valuable, and a much more honest answer than most old people who divulge their longevity.

Also consider the distinguished fellow citizen, the specialist who have become famous in a single line, the inventors, automobile manufacturers, millionaires and novelists who give oracular and worthless opinions on education, history and religion, whether they have ever given them any study or not.

Why is it that so few people are able to admit the self-evident fact that they don't know.

Having time to think over I am able to admit that I don't know.

But if some day I am plied with a question and interviews me suddenly on the subject, I will be able to give a number of plausible, fine-sounding answers.

Rexall ONE CENT SALE

What a Rexall 1c Sale Is

It is a sale where you buy an item at the regular price, then another item of the same kind for one cent. As an illustration: The standard price of Klenzo Dental Creme is 50c, you buy a tube at this price and by paying 1 cent more, or 51 cents, you get two tubes. Every article in this sale is a high class standard piece of merchandise, just the same as is sold every day at the regular price. This sale was developed by the United Drug Co. as an advertising plan. Rather than spending large sums of money in other ways to convince you of the merit of these goods, they are spending it on this sale in permitting us to sell you a full size package of high standard merchandise for 1 cent. It costs money to get new customers, but the sacrifice in profit is justified, knowing the goods will please you.

Lesson for November 7

THE FALL OF JERICHO

LESSON TEXT—Josh. 6:1-20. GOLDEN TEXT—This is the victory that overcometh the world—even our faith.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Joshua Leads His People to Victory. JUNIOR TOPIC—The Victory of Jericho. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How God Helped Joshua and His Young People and Adults TOPIC—Overcoming by Faith.

Jericho was the key to the land of Canaan. A signal victory here would put the Israelites in control of the land. Failure here would mean irretrievable ruin.

1. Jericho Shut Up (vv. 1-5). The Canaanites felt secure because Jericho was strongly fortified from the south. Approaching the city from the east was not thought of as the Jordan river was a barrier. The miraculous crossing of the Jordan by the Israelites and their surrounding the city of Jericho greatly alarmed the people. "Therefore none went out and none came in."

2. God's promise to Joshua (v. 2). "I have given thee into thine hand Jericho, and the king thereof, and the mighty men of valor." Because of this promise from the Lord their faith had a firm basis.

3. God's instructions (vv. 3-5). They were to encompass the city with seven priests bearing trumpets of rams' horns. The ark, symbol of the Divine Presence, went before the people. They encompassed the city once a day for six days and on the seventh day they encompassed it seven times. When the last circuit was made the priests were to give a long blast of the trumpets and the people were to shout with a great shout and the walls of Jericho were to fall down.

4. The Obedience of the People (vv. 6-10). They advanced according to the directions of their leader, for they were going forth according to the command of the Lord. To the natural eye the means employed were very inadequate, even foolish. If they had looked at the inadequacy of the means in themselves, they no doubt would have faltered, but they believed that He who had given the orders would fight for them, Joshua and his people set out at once to obey the divine command. The people marched around the city every day for six days. This, no doubt, was very trying to their faith. There was absolutely no connection between the means and the end. Perhaps as the days wore wearily away the whole affair became monotonous. Even at the end of the sixth day there was no change. Doubtless the people on the walls of the city used this unseemly behavior as an occasion of great merriment and ridicule. Even at the end of the sixth round on the seventh day there was no change. Yes, the seventh round brought no change until the very last moment. At the mighty shout, accompanied with the blowing of trumpets, the walls came tumbling down. This is the way of all works accomplished by faith. At the time when everything seems against us, faith holds on and wins the victory.

5. The Fall of Jericho (vv. 17-20). At the end of the seventh day the seventh round having been made of the city, the long silence was broken with a shout. As the walls crumbled down, the Israelites clambered over them, slaying men, women and children. They were not to spare anything save the gold, silver, brass and iron which were to be sent for the treasury of the Lord. However, Rahab and her household were saved according to the promise of the spies. This wonderful deliverance was calculated to inspire the people with courage and enthusiasm. They could now see how God could fight for them and deliver them from their enemies. Also, it would strike terror in the hearts of the Canaanites. The blowing of the trumpets and shouting of that day with its great victory is typical of the greater day when larger victories shall be won by the Almighty for His people, and even the stars of heaven will be struck into the hearts of the enemies of God's people (1 Thess. 4:16, 17).

6. Let us learn of this whole lesson that spiritual victories are won upon principles and by means which are not sufficient in themselves. According to human wisdom it is utter foolishness (1 Cor. 1:27-29).

The Living Trees Living trees are always shedding something in order to produce more.

The Bible Leads Judge the Bible by the influence that it has had upon the lives of men, and it wins first place with all other books trailing in the dust.

The Christian A Christian, when he makes a good profession, should be sure to make his profession good.

Crawford Property Sold Last Saturday

The Thompson Crawford property was sold last Saturday at public sale by the executor, Dr. M. I. Marsh, to Vincent Rigio for $4125. Mr. Rigio will occupy the residence as a home. The property brought a good price which shows that values of town property are kept up by the great demand. Our manufacturing institutions, the college and public schools are prime factors in making residence property a good investment.

Harry Daugherty To Face Trial Again

District Attorney Buckner has announced that he will again bring to trial Harry Daugherty and Thomas W. Miller on charges of attempting to defraud the government. Some weeks ago the jury failed to reach a verdict and was discharged. It is said that the jury at that time stood 7 to 5 for conviction for Daugherty and 10 to 2 for Miller.

MRS. EDITH THOMPSON DIED RECENTLY IN DENVER

Word has been received here of the recent death of Mrs. Edith Pollock-Thompson some days ago at her home in Denver, Colo. Mrs. Thompson was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pollock, both of whom have been dead some years. Mrs. Thompson's husband died several years ago and she is survived by five children: two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Allen and Mrs. Junia Pollock-Brown, both of Denver.

DINNER NETS GOOD PROFIT The cafeteria dinner at the school house last Thursday evening netted about $120. The profits go to purchase equipment for the schools. Following the dinner was a very interesting program put on by the first four grades of the schools.

THEATRE NOTES "The Big Parade" acknowledged by press and public to be the greatest screen spectacle in the history of motion pictures, will be presented at the Fairbanks Theatre, Springfield, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 29, 30, 31. The production will be accompanied by an immense traveling symphony orchestra, also technical staff and two carloads of mechanical and electrical equipment which makes the presentation realistic.

The management of the Fairbanks Theatre announces that it will accept mail orders for seats when accompanied by check or money order and self-addressed, stamped envelope. See advertisement for prices and make check payable to Manager Fairbanks Theatre.

Briefly the story of "The Big Parade" centers in Jim Anderson, a typical fun-loving American and much like every other rich man's son. In the Spring of 1917 fired by a few new patriotism, he enlists and departs for service in France. The succeeding scenes show Jim and his buddies, a former bar-tender, and an ex-riveter, and their life in the doughboy's billets in rural France. Mr. Stallings is said to have created a trio as original as Kipling's "Soldiers Three."

And then Jim meets Mellisande—as played by Renee Adoree, and forgets about his American sweetheart. This little French girl in her wooden sabots and milkmaid garb is a figure of high romance. Some of the most touching scenes ever filmed are those of the love-making of Jim and Mellisande. Then comes the advance to the front and the lovers are separated. Vital moments of drama are shown in the advance through the forest, the attack on the French village, the trenches, shell-holes, machine gun nests, the wounding of Jim and the final fight for his tow pals. Then home again and the reconstruction of the period when the two lovers are reunited. Realism dominates every scene. Supporting John Gilbert are such sterling players as Renee Adoree, Karl Dane, Tom O'Brien, Robert Bosworth, Claire Adams, Clair McDowell, Rosita Marstini and Robert Ober.

Do not wait until you must have your heating stove repaired. Order repairs now. C. N. Stuckey

VOTERS SEEM SATISFIED WITH THE PRIMARY

It is evident that the voters in the local precincts do not want machine nominations as the politicians planned with the primary amendment. If such a plan had been opened up for the legislature to handle this matter the voters of Ohio would have found themselves tied to the big city bosses. The following is the vote: Village—No, 179; Yes, 71. Township—No, 143; Yes, 57. Majority opposed to the amendment, 194.

RESTAURANT SOLD

The Cedar Inn restaurant and hotel was sold this week by Mrs. Amos Frame to Mrs. N. P. Ewbank, who trades in her residence property on Miller street on the deal. Mrs. Ewbank does not expect to operate the restaurant and hotel herself but purchased it for investment purposes. Mrs. Frame will have charge until the first of December.

DAYTON VOTES BOND ISSUE

Dayton has plans for over-head crossings in that city and on Tuesday the city voted for an $8,000,000 bond issue to pay the city's share. The cost is placed at $30,000,000, the difference to be paid by the railroads.

SCHOOLS CLOSED TODAY; STATE INSTITUTE

The public schools are closed today, Friday, while the teachers attend the annual session of the Central Ohio Teachers' Association in Columbus. The sessions continue over Saturday.

Tweed Is Popular for Tailored Suits

Crowded by simple two-piece tailored dresses and coat frocks the tailored suit occupies less of fashion's horizon than it merits. But any assembly of smart women in street clothes will disclose a certain per cent of them wearing the trim and efficient tailored suit. The limit of simplicity is reached in the model shown here which is suited to tweed, twill or the fancy weaves in woolsens.

Pope Started Fashion Pope Julius II is said to have been the first pope to let his beard grow, and the fashion set by him was soon followed by the Emperor Charles V and many other European rulers.

Crowded by simple two-piece tailored dresses and coat frocks the tailored suit occupies less of fashion's horizon than it merits. But any assembly of smart women in street clothes will disclose a certain per cent of them wearing the trim and efficient tailored suit. The limit of simplicity is reached in the model shown here which is suited to tweed, twill or the fancy weaves in woolsens.

Pope Started Fashion Pope Julius II is said to have been the first pope to let his beard grow, and the fashion set by him was soon followed by the Emperor Charles V and many other European rulers.

Big Business

The biggest business in the world is your business, so far as you are concerned. Take care of it by being industrious, systematic, polite and agreeable. And don't talk about other people's affairs. Very few successful business men talk much.—Exchange.

Early Telephoning

In the early days of the telephone long-distance talks were made over what were known as "extra territorial telephones." The majority of subscribers, when they desired to be connected with long distance, went to the local telephone office to have the call put through.
