Some Observations On A Mid-Winter Vacation Trip To The Southland

ST. PETERSBURG. The Sunshine City, a city of forty or fifty thousand non-residents daily from November to April. In the main, most of the streets are of unusual width and well paved. They are for when the city was founded one had dreamed of the present day automobile...

What about this Sunshine City? How does it get its name? The answer is that at some time during every fall the sun shines, or rarely ever falls. The record of full cloudy days is 124 in 26 years and three months.

It is indeed a circus city, covering acres, three miles out. The John and Mable Ringling Art Museum is one of the show places of the nation. Here it was that a "royal economist" spent his millions in profits of the show that the world might have an opportunity to see and enjoy great statuary, original paintings of religious and historical interest...

FORT MYERS. Next on the route this is the smaller city which has a bit more of the old world traditions. Like other southern cities, drug stores, hardware stores and various shops they have not only enjoyed better health but have been happier whether they can sit out in the sunshine rather than be "shut-in" up north. The Commercial Club maintains headquarters and all are asked to register giving home address and local address. From these lists people can keep in contact with one another...

Game Association Will Climax Drive With Banquet

The current membership drive of the Greene County Fish and Game Association will be climaxed with an entertainment and banquet supper Friday, March 12, to be held at Spring Valley in the Township Hall, commencing at 6:30 p. m.

The main entertainment of the evening will be provided by Joe Peek, retired vaudeville comedian. Peek, a Scottsbluff, has traveled extensively with the finest vaudeville circuits and as the typical Scotch comedian he has no peer.

Motion pictures of hunting and fishing will also be shown. These include, "Turkey Hunt in Maryland," the finest picture of wild turkey hunting ever shown on the screen. It shows the building of blinds, calling the turkeys, and several spectacular shots.

All sportsmen of Greene County are urged to attend this truly "sportsman's get-together." Requirements for admission for adults will be the presentation of a membership card plus twenty-five cents. Women are extended a special invitation to be present.

All boys who participated in the Association pest riddance contest last year will be guests of the Association and admitted absolutely free. All other boys under 18 years of age, if accompanied by an adult, will be admitted for the twenty-five cent fee.

All persons attending are requested to come attired in their favorite hunting or fishing clothes.

The ox-roast, with baked beans, pumpkin pie and coffee will be served preceding the entertainment. Tickets can be secured in Cedarville from Robert Baker and William Marshall.

This victory marks the fifth championship girls' team from Cedarville, and thus gives the local school the distinction of having won the feminine title oftener than any other school in the county.

In the final game of tournament play, C. H. S. bowed in defeat once again to the Ross quintet. Ross got away to a flying start and piled up the wide margin of 15 to 4 at the half. During the third quarter, the Red and White boys staged a strong comeback and were successful in holding their opponents to nine points while scoring nine points for themselves.

In the final quarter, the C. H. S. quintet outscored Ross one point, but the rally came too late and Ross once again clinched the county championship 31 to 21.

All-Star Teams The "mythical all-star" teams selected by officials of the Greene County basketball tourney included the names of three of the local quintets. The C. H. S. boys thus honored were as follows: Reed and Brown—center and guard on the first team; Fields—guard on the second team.

Besides the three C. H. S. boys the personnel of the "mythical" teams included three members of the Ross quintet, two from Spring Valley, one each from Bellebrook and Jefferson.

Invitation The Juniors invite the "Public" to come to Cedarville Opera House and enjoy an evening's entertainment on March 12, 1937.

District Tournament at Springfield The C. H. S. quintet will participate in the southwestern Ohio district Class B. basketball tournament in the Wittenberg Field House, at Springfield, this week-end.

As a result of the draw for bracket positions, Cedarville's opponent will be Urbana. This game will be played at 9:00 o'clock, Friday evening. Ross Township, the winner of the Greene County tournament, will clash with Perry Township at 7:00 o'clock in the same evening. O. S. S. O. Home and East High School of Xenia, two exempted schools, will also compete in this tourney.

Admission rates are twenty-five cents for high school students and thirty-five for adults.

JURY WILL CONVENE The grand jury for the January term will be convened in common pleas court Monday, March 8 to investigate cases which have accumulated on the criminal docket, Prosecutor Marcus Shoup announced Tuesday.

Originally the grand jury session was scheduled for the first Monday in January, but was postponed because a special session in December cleaned up the docket and no cases were pending for consideration when the new Greene County prosecutor began the term to which he was elected last November.

MEETING CALLED TO STUDY STATE TAX DILEMMA

"The economic liberties of the people of Ohio are seriously endangered if our program of taxation is not soon put on a sounder and more feasible basis," declared Perry L. Green, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau, as he discussed at a conference of farm bureau representatives the problem of adequately financing Ohio government.

The meeting was one of a series held in preparation for a larger state-wide conference of county farm bureau legislative chairmen and membership representatives, which was held at the Neil House in Columbus, across the street from the state capitol, on Tuesday, March 2.

"We have called this meeting of representatives of the farm population of Ohio," said Mr. Green, "in order to present to them the facts about theodge-podge of impractical and opportunistic tax proposals now before the legislature, and the imperative need for working out now an equitable basis for tax collection."

"In the face of unprecedented demands for a state-wide tax program to take care of state-wide conditions," continued the farm organization leader, "we are confronted by a likewise unprecedented array of effort on the part of bureaucrats and representatives of selfish interests to stampee a shift of the tax burden to the least articulate and most docile group they can find, with no regard for ability to pay or equity of assessment. The farmers of Ohio, interested in good government, but already carrying too great a portion of the tax burden, will no longer be found in that group."

Explaining that more than 60 per cent of the families of America receive less than $1000 a year, thus making a substantial portion of our population economically dependent, Mr. Green maintained that the taxation of real estate, the general sales tax, and attempts to shift additional government operation costs back to counties and municipalities, are not only impractical and unfair but also based on a purely selfish business viewpoint because they take an undue portion of the cost of government from monies needed wholly for the purchase of subsistence needs, and thus reduce the purchasing power of a large part of our people.

Every nickel exacted by taxation from these under-maintenance incomes is taken entirely from business volume and consequently from the consumption of commodities produced. "The progress of good government in Ohio, the general welfare of all our people, and the most effective preservation of the legitimate selfish interests of everyone can be served only through building a taxation program based on ability to pay, as exemplified in increased selective sales taxes and an income tax, concluded the Farm Bureau executive.

Wilberforce Junior In Glove Contest Al Wardlow, captain of the Wilberforce boxing team leaves for Chicago, Thursday to fight in the semi-finals and finals of the Chicago Tribune Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions.

Wardlow, three times winner of the Dayton Daily News Golden Gloves Tournament and runner-up in the Chicago Tournament of Champions last year, hopes to be a winner this year. Last year he fought number one man with the Chicago team against New York, scoring the only Chicago knock-out.

Wardlow hails from Youngstown, O., is twenty years old and a junior. He is coached by "Hank" Corrothers. The Wilberforce boxers will fight in the Civic League Tournament in Springfield, March 5, 12 and 19th, in the A. A. U. Tournament at Cincinnati, March 20, 30 and 31. The winners here will go to the National A. A. U. Tournament at Boston in April.

The Wilberforce track team opens up its season, Thursday night at the Cincinnati Armory, led by Captain Horace Rains, other than his brother David the remaining ten men making the trip are Freshmen. This team is also coached by Corrothers.

Representative Thorne Cannot Be Replaced Due to the fact that Ohio laws make no provision for the replacement by either appointment or special election, of members of the Ohio Legislature who are removed by death, Greene county will be without representation in that body, due to the recent death of its representative, George H. Thorne.

THE SOURCE OF FREEDOM

2 Cor. 3:17. Now the Lord is the spirit: and where the spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.

Freedom seems to be on the defensive at the present time. It has to some extent ceased to be a thing considered clearly worth while in its own right, and has become a trading medium for the buying of material goods or physical security.

This apparent indifference to the idea of freedom as a supremely valuable human right makes the fervid devotion of a Washington or a Lincoln seem rather fantastically idealistic in comparison, yet it has been just such fantastic idealism in the past that has given the present such liberty as it has in the ordering of life.

Men have been inoculated with the notion that the thing that distinguishes humanity is the power of choice, the privilege of controlling and directing the processes of life. They have held this right to be so important that wars have been fought to protect it.

No really important forward step in political organization or economic endeavor ever has been taken except as the result of some spiritual impulse toward greater freedom. This was true in the American Revolution, when the colonies fought for political independence.

Freedom is a spiritual quality. God seems to have removed from man, in order to distinguish him from other living things, all the natural restrictions upon activity.

There are, however, certain restrictions upon freedom that even the divinely granted free will of man cannot overcome. These grow out of social relationships. This is why there never can be absolute liberty either of thought or of action.

Laws that grow out of intelligent consideration of social needs do not unduly or unfairly limit individual freedom. There can be no general freedom of the whole group if there is not an intelligent consideration by everyone of the rights of everyone else.

It is to a large extent true that no one can be free until everyone is free. It was a realization of this fact that led to the freeing of the slaves. As long as any considerable number of people are in bondage the liberties of the whole people are limited.

Paul declares that where the spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty. The spirit of the Lord must be pre-eminently a spirit of fairness and justice. The oldest ideas of God emphasize the justice of God, a justice that is hard and cold.

This kind of justice would achieve an efficiency in action that would make for freedom in one sense. This is the kind of thing that has been achieved in some of the more efficient dictatorships of Europe.

The general modes of conduct of a free people can be defined, and the limits placed for freedom of action such as will insure the liberty of all. However perfect a social system may be devised, there is a divinely human element that must enter into the situation if there is to be real freedom.

There must be more than material freedom. There must be more than efficiency of management of the processes of life. No government can successfully arrange the mode of life of the people and set the feet of the people into a particular step that will give them freedom.

Freedom grows out of spiritual factors that do not yield to the most competent outside control. Where the spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty. The spirit of the Lord is fatherly, benevolent. When it works out in the forms of vital brotherhood it brings true freedom, for freedom resides in the kindly justice that is the basis of all brotherhood.

—The Herald, Miami, Florida.

The secret of achievement is a clear vision of a goal. Something definite at which to aim. The clearer the vision the more certainty of accomplishment. If one has such a vision clearly and vividly stamped upon his mind it tends to fire ambition to the end that every energy is directed toward the achievement of a goal.

South Opposes Court Packing

When we have scanned more than a score of Southern papers, large as well as small and have not found a single one that gives Roosevelt one hundred per cent support in his plan to pack the United States Supreme Court with Communists, Socialists and Labor Union sympathizers, then it is time to look on the proposal with alarm.

We take an argument from the St. Petersburg Times which says that Congress has enacted 24,902 laws, since 1789. In 148 years of the Supreme Court, only 73 of the 24,902 laws have been declared unconstitutional. Of these 73, only 16 are said to apply to the everyday life of the man on the street, in the store or factory or on the farm.

To analyze the record further, the Times says that out of 16 Supreme Court decisions which bear directly on economic and social problems, eight were decided in the last two years. These 16 decisions cover 144 years, a very small average for so many years.

The South is not so alarmed over the court change, as long as Roosevelt is president, as unattractive as it is to place radicals on the highest bench, but the South does fear greatly the possibility of what a Republican president would do with the Supreme Court.

With a Republican president, the South fears enforcement of a part of the Constitution which guarantees the black as well as the white full rights of citizenship. The South knows that one thing is certain, Roosevelt will never demand equal rights for the black man south of the Mason and Dixon line for he would be powerless without the support of the solid South in Congress.

The present membership of the Supreme Court should feel highly honored in the Roosevelt Socialist attack. It might be rather embarrassing when one reads the list of proposed appointees, in case congress passes the law to change the Court.

America will face her problems and, in the end, survive just as has England and France. Remember how not only the people but Democracy trimmed Woodrow Wilson, taking him to his death. The American people will stand just so much and when rule of "keeping a populace drunk and fed only on dope," wears out, then there will be a change.

known as an exponent of social justice until he saw power within his grasp through the Governorship of New York, and the Presidency where he could spend in a wasteful manner that which had been accumulated and owned by others.

The nation yet has four years more of radical government to endure and changing the Supreme Court may be the least harmful. With a packed court of Russian followers we may have more cause to worry until the Democratic party becomes sick of the syphilitic nostrums being injected into the veins of the American people.

While sitting in a well known eating house that specializes in sea food, a party of four men and one woman entered and were seated near the writer. From the start conversation centered on the administration of Washington. It was not long until one member of the party was addressed as, "Congressman."

Ocala is where Silver Springs and Silver Lake are located. As we told you of a trip up Silver River last week, we did not include the Roosevelt program to destroy not only the use but the beauty of Silver River, which empties into St. Johns River, Roosevelt, in his plan to cut an ocean to ocean canal across the state to cost $160,000,000 wants to use the St. Johns River. It would be widened and deepened and the interior beauty of the state about Ocala destroyed.

The Miami News is owned by Ex-Governor James M. Cox, Dayton and Springfield publisher. To get sentiment on the Roosevelt Supreme Court plan, the News has been taking a poll with its readers down here. So far, out of 2,458 votes, 1,837 were against the Roosevelt plan and only 621 for it.

What would you think of a plan of certain financial interests with a few politicians that have ring side seats in the New Deal taking options on several hundred thousand acres of southern land and later selling it to the government at a handsome price? The New Dealers suggest that Uncle Sam purchase from two to five million acres a year and retire it from agriculture.

The New York Times, a strong supporter of the New Deal, has cold feet on the Wallace retirement plan. The Times points out that the Southern tenant farmer would still be in the lower strata of society because, if he took over a government productive farm elsewhere, he would be burdened with debt for forty years.

While driving through the South especially in Florida, we find few dairy herds until we approach Miami. Farm dairy cattle are scarce and from observation, we wonder just when the cow carries her milk. Then, when we enter a restaurant and pick up an "A La Carte" menu, we find the following, "Acidophilus Milk—10c. Form your own conclusions.

Taxes concern the South as well as the North. The greatest complaint is that New Deal spending has poisoned the office holders in Southern states, counties and towns. While hundreds of millions have been handed out, by Hopkins free, the taxing districts now are beginning to feel the pinch of issuing bonds to get the New Deal money on the match basis, or fifty-fifty. Alabama has just voted a 2c sales tax. The sales tax looms up in Florida and business is against it.

Experts in the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, Washington, D. C., have issued warnings that fires may occur in barns where hay was water-soaked during the flood. They say the temperatures should be taken down in the hay mows and the hay should be moved if the reading is 200 degrees Fahrenheit. All precautions should be taken to prevent fire starting when the hay is exposed to air, wet the hay as it is exposed and remove it far enough from the barn to prevent fire spreading to the building.

Cincinnati Musicians Honored in Miami

You read of pleasant experiences and enjoyment of ideal summer weather in Florida while Ohio may have winter. Yet we had no greater realization of what distance can do in a short space of time than when we had the rare pleasure of enjoying a band concert in Bay Park, Miami, Thursday evening honoring the veteran band master, John C. Weber, Cincinnati, also Henry Fillmore, band composer and director of the same city. More than 5,000 people sat in the beautiful park beside the bay and enjoyed a wonderful program of band music.

The evening was delightful and most of the crowd sat throughout the entire program without hats or wraps. This was indeed a pleasant experience after having just read in a Cincinnati paper about the ice and snow covered streets in that city. The program was interspersed by a vocal solo with band accompaniment and a selection by a lady whistler, from Peer Gynt Suite.

The program closed with the ever popular, "Moon Over Miami." With all lights out, a royal blue sky as a canopy and the soft glow of a silvery full moon, bathing the faces of the great crowd, nothing more entrancing could be experienced unless it was the patriotic strains of the "Star Spangled Banner" that died out as the assembly took its leave.

WHAT YOU SEE AND HEAR

the black starting which is driving other birds away. You may not know it, but Fort Myers takes great delight in telling you it is the winter home of Henry Ford. It was also the winter home of Thomas A. Edison. It was here that many an electrical device was perfected by Edison. The city claims the second best bathing beach on the Gulf of Mexico.

THE EVERGLADES. Once headed south, there is so much interest in climate and tropical surroundings that you head for the Everglades with your hopes high. The name implies a "wild tropical swamp." You are not disappointed. You have a ride through this unknown country over ideal concrete roads for 142 miles before you reach Miami. Only a few spots are found where small villages exist, though at places along the gulf may be found good tourist hotels. There are what is known as Indian villages every twenty-five or thirty miles, but there are no white families. Most of the native pine has been cut back a half mile or so on each side of the road. Only one citrus farm was noticed but a number of garden farmers had fine tomato crops. You wonder how this could be in a swamp country? Large drainage canals have been cut and these sections drained for garden purposes. For fifty miles as you near Miami, the road has a drainage canal on each side. They are about fifty feet wide and vary in depth. They are full of fish, in fact you can see thousands from your car in the evening as they come to the surface for insects on the water. There are cat-fish, suckers, and carp by the million. The Indian squaw takes her fishing pole and in five or ten minutes has two or three carp which will weigh from two to five pounds each. This makes for the evening meal for the family. The usual Indian hand-made trinkets were on sale. The Seminole Indian is native to this state and must be thriving for several of these villages had late model popular priced cars. In some sections timber is being cut, but some distance back from the highway.

These sections are drained so the trucks can haul the pine to the roadside where certain kinds go to the wood pulp mills for use in making craft paper. The brown sack used by your grocer is made from the poor grade pine bark and cuttings. Several new mills costing several million dollars are being erected in Florida where labor is far below what it is in the north.

"I find that ELECTRICITY MAKES ALL MONTHS LONGER"

Even in February, the shortest month of the year, modern women have more time at their command than their grandmothers had in the longest months. For today electricity has so shortened the time required to do household tasks that women can enjoy much more leisure than housewives 50 years ago would have dreamed possible. When you put electricity to work in your home you are actually adding hours of useful time to every week... and at a cost so low that it need hardly be considered in the average home.

"Tobacco Road" Coming To Fairbanks Theatre

TAYLOR HOLMES

"Tobacco Road," the outstanding stage success of the last twenty years, will be presented at the Fairbanks Theatre on Tuesday, March 9th. Taylor Holmes, famous American star, heads the cast of the company which is on a coast to coast tour of the larger cities of the country. Mail orders for this production, accompanied by a check and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, may be sent to the box office of the Fairbanks theatre.

Written by Jack Kirkland and based on the celebrated novel of the same name by Erskine Caldwell, "Tobacco Road" has stirred more discussion than any other stage play of twenty-five years. Its phenomenal success is attributed to the fact that it shows a truthful section of life among the penniless share-croppers of the back country of Georgia. It is now in its fourth year on Broadway and its lengthy run has been equaled by only one other play "Abie's Irish Rose" in the entire history of the American theatre.

"Tobacco Road" takes a typical family of tenant farmers living in squalor and poverty, ignorant of everything but sex and religion, and shows the humor and the drama to be found in the routine of their daily lives. So powerful is this drama that no less an authority than the Literary Digest pronounced "Tobacco Road" to be "the epic American play." It has been indorsed as an authentic and important American document by such literary celebrities as Theodore Dreiser, George Jeph Nathan, Alexander Woolcott, Marc Connelly, Stark Young, Carl Van Doren and many others; it has been commended in newspaper editorials in dozens of cities; and prominent clergymen have preached sermons urging their congregations to see the play as a portrayal of existing conditions. Its production led Congressman Kramer of California to introduce a resolution into Congress to investigate the condition of the share-cropper while the Julius Rosenwald Fund has set aside a sum of money for a similar investigation. As an example of modern realistic literature the study of "Tobacco Road" in published form is required as extra-curricular reading in sixteen universities and colleges.

Taylor Holmes, one of the most popular of American stage, screen and radio stars, will have the central role of Jeeter Lester, the middle-aged, shrewd, philosophic, lazy share-cropper. Holmes has been seen on the screen recently in such talking pictures as "The Crime of Doctor Forbes," "Make Way for a Lady" and "The First Baby" while in the silent picture days he starred in such favorite comedies as "Ruggles of Red Gap," "A Pair of Sixes" and many others. He has starred in a score of Broadway stage successes including "The Nervous Wreck," "No No Nanette" and "His Majesty Bunker Bean."

THE TOPIC FOR TODAY IS HOW THEY GROW!

Week ago Tuesday (February 23) 100-day-old Hampshire Reds were put on WAYNE CHICK STARTER in the "Hawkins Hen" in our display window. There's something about that feed they seem to like—they eat all the time and you can almost see them grow. Dozens have seen them—have you?

PRIZE CONTEST

Can you guess weights? At four weeks at least a part of these chicks will be put down in the broiler sections of the brooder, pullets on GROWING MASH and cockrels on BROILER RATION. At that time they will be weighed. To the chicken raiser who guesses closest to the weight of twenty-five of these four weeks old chicks a prize of 100 pounds of WAYNE CHICK STARTER. Come in and register your guess at the office before March 23. No cost or obligation.
