NEWS LETTER FROM STATE DEPARTMENTS

COLUMBUS.—The suggestion that the thousands of Ohioans who will be in Columbus this summer on business, attending conventions and the Ohio State fair take full advantage of the opportunity to visit the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society museum was voiced by Dr. Harlow Lindley, secretary of the society. "Of course out-of-state visitors are invited, too, but we do want Ohioans to learn first-hand about our interesting institution with its marvelous and ever-expanding collections," Secretary Lindley said. "During the last few years we have had a marvelous increase in the number of Ohioans who come to the museum, many of whom return time and time again, but there are still tens of thousands who are in Columbus during the year, sometimes frequently, who are not aware of all the interesting and educational displays we have to offer. It is to them in particular that I issue an appeal to visit with us." The museum is open daily from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., holidays included, and on Sundays from 1 to 5 p. m. One of the most recent acquisitions by the archaeological and historical institution is an Indian "doll" or figurine, about six inches in length, dating from the historic contact period. It was carved from Minnesota pipestone and was discovered when sewers were being constructed in Fremont, Ohio, in 1891.

Graphic illustration of the potential force of an automobile crash at a speed of 60 miles an hour is contained in the latest pamphlet issued by the Governor's Safety Co-ordinating Bureau, which was organized by Governor Martin L. Davey to solve various actions in an attempt to take the traffic accident problem. The bulletin pointed out: "A car being driven at 60 miles per hour, striking a fixed object, has the same destructive force as if it were driven off the roof of a ten-story building." It also pointed out that if an accident happens while an automobile is traveling at a 60-mile speed the chances of the occupants being killed are three times greater than at 40 miles an hour.

Surveys in various sections of the state indicated that recent heavy rains have done considerable damage to grains, according to the federal-state crop reporting service, which announced on June 1 that Ohio might have the largest wheat crop since 1931. On the basis of conditions throughout May it was estimated that winter wheat production would be more than 60,000,000 bushels. Last year's crop was 49,126,000 bushels. Rye gave promise of approximately 783,000 bushels compared to 702,000 in 1936. While still too early to accurately forecast the Ohio apple crop, it was estimated to be 84 per cent of normal on June 1. Peaches were expected to total about 1,400,000 bushels and the cherry crop about 8420 tons.

Even though most Ohio streams have been roily since the bass season opened June 16 there has been an unprecedented demand for fishing licenses, according to Conservation Commissioner Lawrence Wooddell. Nearly 500,000 of the new 60-cent universal hook and line licenses, which have supplanted the former sod-and-reel licenses at $1.00 and which are required to be possessed by all more than eighteen years of age who fish, have been sold. It is thought that the grand total for the year will be more than 700,000, which would indicate that approximately one out of every nine Ohioans is a fisherman, Mr. Wooddell said.

Company L Called For Strike Duty

Company L, Greene county unit of the National Guard, was called to strike duty Monday night by Gov. Martin L. Davey. Some 5,000 guardsmen are on duty around Youngstown, Niles and Warren, Ohio, where union pickets will not let independent men return to work.

It is an unusual situation where a president of the United States and a governor of Ohio take the side of the lawless element and refuse to permit fifteen or twenty thousand steel employees to return to work because the union leaders are trying to force every man to join the union for no other purpose than collecting the weekly dues. Under the Wagner law company management must deduct the amount of dues for each union member and send a check to union headquarters. Union officials no longer even trust their own members to pay dues.

The whole situation is a racket operated by a John L. Lewis with the backing of the president and governors in Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Ohio Attorney General Hits Relief Law; Holds Up Funds

When Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy handed down a decision that counties in this state must hold intact balances from the $4,000,000 relief which expired last April, a big hole was put into the whole relief setup in the state.

In Greene county a transfer of $9,000 was made on authority of the Common Pleas Court. The court also granted authority to allocate $7,000 to Xenia city and each of the twelve townships, to be spent by the township trustees.

At that time township trustees were bluffed into signing their rights away on threat of not being able to share in this fund. It turned out that there was no chance of any board holding out on the allocation. The threat was to make possible the appointment of another Democrat to eat up the difference between the $7,000 and $9,000, or $2,000.

Just what the situation is today following the recent ruling no one seems to know. Duffy does not hitch with the Davey administration and whether his decision is from a legal standpoint or a political one, even the Democrats are at sea.

At least most of the allocated fund to each township has been spent by this time. Of course the Democratic appointee as investigator has been drawing her salary. How township trustees can be forced to return spent funds is a legal point, even for a New Deal brain-truster.

Attorneys say it has been the law in Ohio for 100 years and backed by court decisions, that unexpended balances, especially from funds by the sale of bonds, must remain in the fund to retire the bonds. It's certainly bad when a Democrat tangles up a New Deal Democrat.

Fat Cattle Go To New York Market

Frank Creswell has sold 24 head of long yearling Shorthorns that will be shipped from here Saturday morning. The shipment goes to Wilson & Co., New York, and was purchased by Alex. Thompson, well known buyer for that firm.

Mr. Creswell purchased the cattle in Valentine, Neb., with an average weight of 730 pounds at seven cents a pound. The cattle are now estimated in the 1,200 class and brought $14 per hundred. The cattle have been on dry lot feed since last November.

Mr. Thompson commented on the purchase, "This is the best lot that I have had a chance to see from Ohio this year."

The Athletic Department shakeup resulted from recommendations of the North Central Association of colleges and secondary schools.

Prepare Field Sheets For Greene Reappraisal

Field sheets are being prepared at the office of County Auditor J. J. Curlett preliminary to the county-wide reappraisal scheduled for this summer.

The estimated 20,000 field sheets will provide a description of each parcel of land and buildings in the county and will simplify the work of the appraisers in fixing the actual valuation.

The present tax duplicate is $37,835,705, including real estate of $27,378,740; publicly utility property worth $6,529,940 and personal property valued at $45,831,831 in 1931, the last year an appraisal was made and the highest duplicate since 1920 was $58,891,370 in 1926.

Prosecutor Marcus Shoup has filed a petition in common pleas court for commissioners, seeking authority to "borrow" $9000 from the road fund to finance the appraisal.

Health Commissioner Offers Explanation

There seems to be considerable misunderstanding among the laity as to the significance of the Schick, Dick and Tuberculin Tests. All of these are skin tests and practically harmless.

The Schick Test is a test for susceptibility to diphtheria. The Dick Test is a test for susceptibility to Scarlet Fever. A negative Schick or Dick indicates that the individual probably would not contract the disease if exposed to it. Negative means "No." A positive test indicates that the individual probably would contract the disease if exposed.

A positive Tuberculin test indicates the tuberculosis organism has entered the body and produced a reaction; it does not indicate amount of activity. A positive tuberculin test always indicates that the investigation should be carried further. We do not believe that a negative tuberculin test necessarily indicates the absence of infection.

GORDON E. SAVAGE, M. D. County Health Commissioner.

One feature of the program was the presence of most of the Past Masters covering a period of twenty-four years. Special honor was conferred on each one present.

Foods Spoil Quickly During Hot Weather

Modern methods of refrigeration should not make housewives careless in handling certain types of foods during hot weather, according to Miss Norma Aschbacher, nutrition specialist, Ohio State University.

Miss Aschbacher declares that the bacteria which spoil foods are certain to come in contact with food exposed to the air and that warm days are very favorable for them to multiply rapidly. Foods which contain sufficient moisture for rapid growth of the bacteria may spoil in a few hours.

Bacterial lunches are a frequent source of trouble as the food is prepared several hours before it is to be eaten and then is carried in an automobile which does not aid in cooling food on hot days. Food-spoiling bacteria are especially partial to meat, fish, and cream fillings used for cakes and pies.

Bacteria like food left over from meals at home just as well as picnic lunches. Meat-pies, dishes made with cream sauce, gravies, custards, and boiled or cream salad dressing should be used as rapidly as possible after they are prepared.

It is safer to transfer left-overs to clean dishes which have covers, chill the food quickly, and store in a cool room or refrigerator. Heating such foods enough to destroy bacteria before the foods are served again is good health insurance. Warming the food slightly may be more harmful than beneficial.

Milk or cream cooled quickly after milking time keeps much better in hot weather than that which is allowed to cool slowly.

In April, prices received by Ohio farmers were 34 per cent higher than those of the pre-war period. The April, 1937 prices to farmers were equal in purchasing power to those received by them in 1929.

Army Worms Cause Death Of Hogs

While wheat, timothy and barley crops have suffered from destructive army worms, one Fayette farmer cut his barley and then turned his hogs in the field to clean up the heads that had been cut off by the worms. The ground was covered also with dead worms and as a result seventeen head of hogs died. A post showed death was due to the poisoning from the worms, the hogs having more than the system could stand.

Last Dividend To Commercial Bank Stockholders

Application seeking authority to pay a fourth and final dividend of 15 percent to about 50 stockholders of the defunct Commercial and Savings Bank Co., Xenia, has been assigned for a hearing July 2 in common pleas court. The payment will total more than $6,900, it is estimated.

The last dividend, according to J. L. Meeker, liquidating agent, will represent 100 per cent reimbursement to stockholders who paid double liability assessments.

According to the application, the proposed dividend will be at the rate of $15 a share to all stockholders who paid their stock liability in full and others will receive an amount sufficient to reimburse them for their partial liability payments.

In addition, the liquidating agent reported sufficient funds are on hand to pay stockholders .5 per cent of the amount of double liability they paid, representing a small refund on their original stock investments.

FIRE WORKS SALE LIMITED

While many towns and cities have outlawed the sale of fireworks within the corporate limits, the sale locally has been confined to July Fourth only. Property owners might investigate their fire insurance policies and learn something new in case of loss by explosives. Keep the fire crackers a safe distance from a building. Last season property as well as human life was at stake for a few minutes when a lot of fireworks let go at one time.

LEGAL QUESTION INVOLVED IN SCHOOL PLAN

The state department of education, through E. N. Dietrich, assistant director, questioned Wednesday the legality of procedure followed by the Greene County Board of Education in adopting recently a modified plan of school organization for rural districts for the 1937-38 school year.

The point at issue is whether the county board should have scheduled another public hearing before approving June 3 a plan which would leave boundaries of rural districts, including the Xenia township district, unchanged for another year.

Dietrich, in a letter received by H. C. Aultman, county school superintendent, suggested that the board consult Prosecutor Marcus Shoup on the question of whether correct legal procedure had been followed. Mr. Aultman said the board will meet Thursday afternoon to consider the matter.

Dietrich's letter, questioning whether correct legal procedure had been followed by the board in adopting the latest plan, follows:

"The department of education acknowledged receipt of your plan of organization. On May 12 we have a communication from your board, enclosing a reorganization plan for the school year 1937-38. The communication states that after consideration of all plans and petitions, a motion was made by Mr. J. B. Rife and seconded by Mr. O. A. Dobbins that the following constitute the plan of the county for the coming year and that the same be indicated on a map to be presented to the state director for his approval. The department infers from this that you followed the correct legal procedure in making your survey, advertised a hearing upon your proposed plan and had a hearing, that this plan was adopted following said hearing as prescribed in Section 7600-1-9. This became then the adopted plan for Greene County School district. It was sent to this department for approval. The department has until July 1 to submit its approval upon this plan.

"On June 3 we received a communication from your board stating that they had re-considered the above plan and passed the following resolution; that the county be permitted to remain as it is without change in the districts or transfer of territory. This resolution, in our opinion, would constitute a modification of the plan adopted. Your minutes do not indicate that this modified plan was adopted after the legal procedure had been followed as is required under Section 7600-8. This section states that a county plan may be modified and changed at any time after adoption in the same manner as provided for in the adoption of such plan.

"Due to the fact that this department now has before it for approval your original plan as well as the second resolution, we haven't sufficient data or information to determine whether we shall give approval to the original plan as adopted or to the modified plan. We feel that inasmuch as your minutes do not indicate an advertised hearing upon the resolution of June 3, the resolution would not constitute a legal modification. Possibly our inference is wrong, due to the fact that we do not have sufficient information.

"It is not our desire to enter into the merits of the plans adopted by your board, but we are sure that you desire to follow the law. Before sending our approval, we ask that you give us all the data, especially a complete record of your minutes." The assistant state director's letter pointed out the state department has had submitted to it for approval two plans of school organization for Greene County and that the department is anxious to get the matter straightened out so that we may have before us one legal plan for our approval" not later than July 1.

BUT CAN IT?

"It Cannot happen here." The average American citizen, the mass of American men and women, thoroughly believe that the events that have made bloody history and which have destroyed liberty in Russia and Germany, cannot happen here in this country of ours.

But doubts must soon creep into the minds of the people of the United States unless something is done by the constituted authorities to indicate that they propose to enforce the laws of the country and restore order in the many communities that have, for many months, suffered under the unlawful acts and murderous activities of certain classes of men.

It can happen here. It is happening here, at this moment. A simple illustration will indicate what is taking place. A group of men in an industrial plant, any plant, resolve to strike, that is, cease laboring in that particular establishment.

They have a perfect right to strike. It is being conceded that they have the right to picket the plant against which they are striking. That is, they have the right to assemble at or near the plant and attempt by peaceful persuasion to induce those who are willing to work to refrain from taking the places of the strikers.

But when peaceful methods of picketing fail, there is no right inherent in any body of men to resort to violence to accomplish their aims.

Headlines and text in every daily paper in the country are now telling the world of the increasing violence in many communities incident to the enforcement of strikes, of the attempts of industrialists to keep their plants open and free from the danger of destruction.

Singularly enough, generally speaking, the contest now in the various communities where a species of war prevails, is not the question of wages, hours and working conditions, but is a struggle to compel owners of industrial plants to sign written contracts that they will submit all questions of employment to conferences of committees of organized labor.

The demand is made that so-called collective bargaining shall prevail as between employer and employee. Many owners of industrial establishments have conceded the point. Others have refused. It is this refusal that is creating the troubles from which may come movements that threaten the liberties of the people and the very form of our government.

But all that is beside the point at present. Efforts to compel corporations and others to sign the collective bargaining agreement have resulted in riots, assaults and killings in scores of cities in the industrial section of the country. Blood has been shed in what are really revolts against law and order.

The danger that now faces the country is that the authorities in the states afflicted, and in the Federal government, are showing a decided reluctance to enforce the law which is supposed to protect the people from disorder and violence. Governors of states involved and the federal government fear to put in motion the legal machinery that if used effectively would restore peace to the troubled communities.

The authorities are fearfully failing in their duty. The movement against law and order is spreading with each advancing day. Soon it will get out of all control and the history of Russia and Germany will be repeated here.

It can happen here and will happen unless the governments of state and nation take measures to insure the enforcement of the laws against riots and revolts and revolutions.

WHY GOVERNOR DAVEY WANTS MORE MONEY

The controversy in the Ohio legislature between members of the Democratic majority over the appropriation bill has now reached the stage where the public should give the matter closer consideration. It is not a political issue other than what exists within the dominant party. The question of more state revenue calls for additional new state taxes.

We have scanned a partial list of the requests sent to the lawmakers by the Governor. In Ohio we have a score of state boards that exist to give politicians jobs, nothing else. Some of these boards were not supposed to cost the state a single cent but under the Davey appropriation bill he is asking for money to pay the increased salaries of these board members.

The law provided that these boards must be maintained by the fees charged for service rendered and until Davey became governor such was the case, in some instances for more than twenty-five years.

Here is what we find in the bill. The liquor department was to be self sustaining and yet provide funds for old age pensions. In the bill Davey wants $68,100 more for increased salaries of the state's liquor agents. The insurance companies for years have supported the State Fire Marshal's office and until last year unspent balances went into the general fund. Now Davey wants $11,715,000 more. The real estate examining board was supposed to support itself but Davey asks for an additional $4,964 for increased salaries. He asks $10,000 additional salaries in the Securities Division.

While Gov. Davey has inferred that his bill passing crew of several hundred state employees would not cost the state a cent we wonder how that statement coincides with the promise to the employees that they would be compensated for their task.

It is figured that the cost to the state, on the basis of the number of employees on the pay roll that were drafted to pass the bills, was $72,000. At one time last Wednesday evening three truck loads and four automobile loads of highway employees from Middletown that had been passing bills were stopped at Main and Xenia avenue awaiting change of the traffic light. This gives you some idea of how the Governor was trying to make the public like his increased budget request that called for new taxes in the state.

We asked a Democratic merchant for his opinion of the Davey plan to force the legislature to pass the increased budget. After hesitating, he said: "It has been my experience to do business for a number of years with some pleasure and satisfaction. There was a time whenever the door opened I could at least expect a potential customer, now when the door opens it is a Democratic tax collector."

Victims in Roosevelt's revolution at Youngstown steel engagement when non-union employees fought union men in an effort to gain admission to the plant to return to work—James Eperjeski and Joseph Bujovich. How do those names sound to you? Do they sound like any of the families that came over on the Mayflower? Are they Anglo-Saxon? Such names are the ones that have Roosevelt's backing in keeping the Smiths, Jones' Miller's and Mitchell's that want to go back to work and are fighting to earn a living for their families.

The New York Times, pro-Roosevelt, advocates dropping hidden taxes and come into the open with personal taxes, even on the smallest incomes. The "Times" thinks this would give us an electorate with more backbone in the matter of retrenchment. With Roosevelt preaching that it is only the rich that he is forcing to pay taxes and the "Times" is a many million dollar institution, the largest money-making newspaper in the world, it is no wonder a little journey to the woods for a vacation from the New Deal is welcome.

With Roosevelt demanding exposure of wealthy income taxpayers we notice the Westinghouse head is hit with the "White House club but no calls have been sent out for anyone connected with General Electric that gets most of the big government dam power orders.

This week the Shriners of America hold their annual convocation in Detroit, Mich., the hotbed of Communism. It is unfortunate that any branch of a Masonic organization should even recognize that state under its present Communist leadership. A man named Murphy is the nominal governor but in labor issues he takes his orders from John L. Lewis. Murphy is also in constant touch with Roosevelt but it did not mean much when Monroe, Mich., citizens arose in a mass and backed a mayor that demanded law and order in that strike town city. The net result was that Murphy, Lewis, Roosevelt and the Communist element were whipped to a frazzle. Peace and quiet have been maintained after some bloodshed in Frankie Roosevelt's revolution. Probably Detroit will arise and take some courage from the stand of its sister city. One of the classes of American citizens that are receiving rough treatment in this Roosevelt revolution in Michigan are members of the Masonic order that happen to be motor car employees. Communists have no use for anyone that recognizes the Christian religion.

It was a dirty trick in Vice President Garner sending word back to Washington that farmers in his state no longer needed relief for the country was green and rich with growing crops. Sec. Wallace was just ready to announce a government dole or dividend on the plea that farmers in that state had been hit by a dust storm. Wallace is having a hard time selling his Russian ideas even to his Democratic constituents. In a recent statement, if reported correctly, he seems surprised to think that farmers should look on his "ever normal grainary plan with suspicion." When his Democratic Congressman dubbed him the New Deal Pharaoh just back from the land of Egypt, things began to go wrong and the Vice President took a right hand swing that must have left it mark.

We would not be afraid to bet our Sunday hat that Joe Robinson, Ark., (D) New Deal leader in the Senate is not to get the Supreme Court seat recently vacated by Justice Van Devanter. The Senators have said that it must be Robinson for he alone is the only one that can have that body's approval. Robinson wants government relief, reduced. He advocates local communities taking on 25 per cent of the WPA. He leans now to a balanced budget which Roosevelt cares nothing about. Probably he has just found out that John L. Lewis will demand that Roosevelt recognize the union choice for Supreme Court. If Lewis cracks the whip Roosevelt will do his bidding. Wait and see!

When a Scripps-Howard news writer lifts the cover on the income tax investigation and informs the world that Roosevelt himself has paid but one income tax for years, that's news, even more important than the old wheeze about the "man biting a dog." New York state has an income tax, Roosevelt claims to be a citizen of that commonwealth, so who is really ducking this income tax business. The Scripps-Howard line has been Roosevelt from top to bottom but when the boys in the news trenches dig down to pay Uncle Sam, they have a perfect right to know whether the higher-up are paying their share. Treasurer Morgenthau takes refuge in the claim that his income is not taxable even in his home state. So after all it looks like only Republicans and Democrats that do not take the New Deal, hook, line and sinker, must bow to Roosevelt and Morgenthau.

A vice president of General Motors is quoted as predicting higher motor car prices that are to come with new models in a short time. The reason assigned is just what every sensible man would expect. When the Lewis labor union forced up wages 17 per cent to employees that were then making more money each day than ninety per cent of the people that were to be the customers, there was nothing the company could do only increase prices. The same union forced different grades of steel from $8 to $10 a ton. As the average motor car is largely metal and weighs more than a ton, you have that picture. All other car manufacturers face the same situation as General Motors. There comes the question, "How long can the average man pay this big increase for motor cars, clothing, food, coal?" Ever give this a thought, even you as a farmer that must some day buy farm machinery?

According to information in trade circles this will be the last year for the famous "blackface team," Amos 'n' Andy on the air. The highest priced pair will soon retire from the tooth paste circle and give way to a program that will reach more young people. It is said the cash register does not click fast enough on sales to merit the price paid the characters of "Madame Queen, Kingfish, Ruby Taylor and the rest of the cast." For eight years, these characters have been a prominent feature in radio entertainment. What will be their next venture? Will each go his way or will the team continue in some other capacity? These questions naturally interest the public. The public might be interested in knowing that a few radio stars that have built a following as a team ever can hold public favor when each goes his way.

In congress there are cries for peace—no more war. From the pulpit there comes pleading for peace and—no more war. We fought for peace and no war in the last world war. This country experienced civil war back in the sixties of peace at home everywhere. It may be a hypothesis but it sounds well to the populace. Meantime the politicians vote millions for war material and battleships that cost tens of millions. The Kingpin for hypocritical pleading of no more war is in the White House. He talks a peaceful revolution, whatever that is. His Communist supporters, anarchistic labor leaders, take control of private property. They kidnap, club, shoot main for life laborers that refuse to join the crowd of anarchists. The Kingpin winks his eye to those following that he likes to smell the powder and the excitement and there will be no peace until the Communists win control of the nation. Time and patience will prove different.

Here is what company management is facing today based on actual happenings in a plant in a neighboring city. An employee reported for duty intoxicated. The foreman refused to let him go to work. The next morning he reported even in a greater state of intoxication. The foreman ordered the fellow off the grounds. He refused to go and a fight developed. The drunk in angry food threw a piece of metal and broke three windows. A few days later a union representative appeared and demanded that the discharged employee be re-instated on the ground the employee had been discharged for "union activity." It took three men to put the drunk off the company property, one a union employee, the other non-union, the foreman the third member. The union employee that aided the foreman was notified if he testified against the drunk he would "get the works," whatever that is under the Roosevelt and Davey rules for intimidation. The last step reported with the drunk still off the pay roll was that a strike would be called next. A fine kettle of fish the New Deal has turned out to be.

A petition for initiating a bill for abolishing the present form of electing a legislature where members are chosen by counties has been filed and approved by Secretary of State Kennedy. It is proposed to have but one House, no senate and only 100 members. The liquor interests with city politicians are sponsoring the movement to kill the power rural counties now hold in electing members of the legislature. Under the one House plan the city politicians would elect the majority from the cities and control rural counties. When asked to sign such a petition you had better think of what is to become of Greene as well as other rural counties. Refuse to sign is your own protection. The Democratic organization is expected to carry the petitions.

The three Pittsburgh newspapers have their share of the Roosevelt revolution the past few days when the Lewis anarchists called the printers out on a strike. Two of them have been pro-Roosevelt but the boys that wrap the papers in the mailing room had to join the union so Lewis could get a cut of the weekly union dues. The beauty about the Roosevelt revolution is that all Democratic papers are being unionized first—whether they like it or not.

With Democrats in the Ohio legislature tagging Davey with uncompromising names; J. W. Lindau, N. Carolina Democrat, calls Gov. Earle of Pennsylvania a "termite" and as "un-American as any Russian Communist." Senator Foss, from old Democratic Mercer county, compares "Davey to Ananias." Some of these days a Democrat will get up enough courage to relate what happened some years ago to a leader that jumped into a private swimming pool at a millionaire's frolic. He hasn't walked since.

Fewer Cattle Kept In Corn Belt Lots

Cattle on feed in the corn belt during the early months of 1937 were somewhat smaller than two years ago, following the 1934 drought, and also were the lowest for many years, according to Guy Miller, rural department, Ohio State University.

Prices were higher for the better grades of cattle during March and April than in any similar period since 1930. In spite of the decrease in the number of cattle on feed, the slaughter of inspected cattle in April was the third largest on record.

The heavy slaughter included more than the usual proportion of yearlings and lightweight steers for that period of the year. Cows, heifers, and weighty steers were scarcer than usual in the April marketings.

Mr. Miller believes that there will be no appreciable increase in the receipts of heavy steers for several months and that prices for grain-fed cattle in late summer and early fall will average higher than prices which prevailed this spring. Prices for the lower grades of cattle have risen only slightly since June, 1936, and are expected to decline when grass-fed cattle are marketed in volume this summer. A better demand for beef from consumers and a call from farmers for feeder cattle may bolster prices of lighter cattle. Shipments of feeder cattle increased in April and early May but still were lower than one year previously.

STEVENSON-HICKMAN NUPTIALS WEDNESDAY

Miss Nina Stevenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevenson, became the bride of Mr. Vernon Hickman, Springfield, at the bride's home, Wednesday in a beautiful out-of-doors ceremony. The ceremony was performed before an altar of madonna lilies and fern on the veranda of the Stevenson home. Rev. J. J. Mentzer, reading the double ring ceremony before some forty-five guests.

Preceding the ceremony Mr. Walter Corry, of West Jefferson, played a thirty-minute program of nuptial music on the piano and Mrs. Corry sang "Oh Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly."

Leading the bridal procession were Marilyn Powers, of Dayton, cousin of the bride, and Anna Lee Smith, of Butler, Ind., niece of the bridegroom, who, as flower girls, wore dainty frocks in pastel shades and carried baskets of daisies and white roses.

Following the flower girls walked Mrs. Charles Spencer (Doris Swaby), of Columbus, formerly of Clifton, a bride of one week, who, as matron of honor, wore a gown of pink embroidered organdie, with white accessories, and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and baby breath.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white mousseline de sole and lace, fashioned along princess lines, with a slight train. She wore a Juliet cap of seed pearls and carried an old-fashioned nosegay of white roses, sweet peas and baby breath. She also carried the handkerchief which was carried by her mother at her wedding.

Mr. Orin Helver, of Springfield, attended Mr. Hickman as best man.

Following the ceremony a two course wedding supper was served in the Stevenson home. Eight guests were seated at the bride's table, which was decorated with honeysuckle, madonna lilies and white tapers in crystal holders. Other guests were seated at small table.

Mr. and Mrs. Hickman left Wednesday night to spend a week in Michigan. Upon their return they will reside in Springfield.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hickman were graduated from Cedarville College. Mrs. Hickman has taught in the Selma, O., schools for the last three years and Mr. Hickman is employed in the research department of the Buckeye Incubator Co., Springfield. Have You Given Thought Where Your Loved Ones Will Be Placed?

You owe it to your family to prepare before hand for that time when a burial place will be needed. Why wait until the hour of need when you or the family must make decision under a nervous strain? Your investment now in a suitable lot relieves you as the head of the family of a task at a time when your thoughts are centered in the vacancy in the home.

If you own your lot which is fully endowed you have no other care. The endowment guarantees perpetual care in a mutual company where the lot owners have full control through a board of trustees.

Many young men with families have made this provision and have selected their lots in Massies Creek Cemetery. They are fully aware of the high standard of care the Board of Trustees has required for all lots.

Every safe-guard is provided for perpetual growth of this Association to insure your protection in the years to come and that future generations will continue a program of security as stable as your boards of past years have done.

Within recent months the Board of Trustees have greatly improved the appearance of Massies Creek Cemetery by an elegant and attractive new entrance. Certain rules govern all burials as well as erection of headstones and monuments. No favor is granted one lot owner that is not granted another.

Drive out and make an inspection of this century old institution. There are many choice lots for sale and information can be had from any member of the Board of Trustees or any officer.

If you have not a suitable marker on a lot you may own, why not provide for one. The rules do not make it compulsory but the respect for those who have passed on, calls for one—modest in style or price, elaborate and costly if you like. Either is proper and adds to the attractiveness of any burial ground.

Why Not Make a Choice of a Lot Soon?

Official Fight Pictures Shown At Fairbanks Many of the fight fans in this section will drive to Springfield to see the official ring-side motion pictures of the Braddock-Joe Louis world's heavyweight championship fight, which attracted a million-dollar gate in Chicago, Tuesday night. The pictures, which were filmed at the ringside by special high-speed cameras, have been rushed to leading theatres throughout the country by airplane. They will be shown in Springfield at the Fairbanks Theatre, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 24-25-26. The sound films depict plainly and clearly every blow of the sensational battle and while the cameras were catching the fighters actions the sound machines were recording every word, every grunt and every groan of the fighters and the great crowd. The clear, close-up pictures of the battle are said to be even better than a $27.50 ringside seat. Theatre patrons can see everything that happened during the fight and all the thriller-punches have been reproduced in slow motion so fans can study the exact way the blows were started and where they landed. The Fairbanks Theatre in Springfield will show a complete new feature picture, "Breezing Home," in conjunction with the fight film at popular low price scales. The theatre will operate continuously from noon until midnight, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, to accommodate the big crowds. The second balcony will be open to the general public, permitting colored patrons to enjoy the thrill of seeing their idol of the ring, Joe Louis, in the championship ring. The pictures will be shown at the Fairbanks in Springfield, three days only, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 24-25-26.
