CONGRESSIONAL HAPPENINGS IN WASHINGTON

By CLARENCE J. BROWN Member of Congress, Seventh Ohio District

If there is doubt in the mind of any citizen as to the intention of the Roosevelt Administration to take the United States into active participation in the war against the Axis Powers it should certainly be dispelled as a result of happenings and statements of the past week. Following the President's September 11th speech, in which he announced his orders to the Navy to hunt down Axis war craft and to "shoot on sight," has come the announcement from Navy Secretary Knox telling of conveying by American warships, and the statement by the President that he would soon request repeal of the Neutrality Act and the arming of United States merchant ships.

It will be remembered that the Neutrality law now requires the President to designate danger zones on the seas near warring countries into which waters American shipping may not enter. The repeal of the Neutrality Act would permit merchant ships flying the U. S. flag to enter war zones and to carry goods directly to the ports of the nations engaged in war. Many here predict that such action together with the arming of merchant ships, would soon result in open hostilities. Numerous merchant ships, owned by American capital, have been transferred to Panamanian registry during the past few months unquestionably in order to get around the restrictions of the present Neutrality law. Some of these ships, flying the flag of the Republic of Panama, and carrying contraband of war, have been recently sunk in the Atlantic. Almost—if not all—of the crews of such ships have been foreign seamen. The wage scale of American seamen is much higher than that of foreign sailors. No American lives have been lost in connection with the sinkings thus far reported.

According to most recent reports received, things have not been going so well for the Russian Armies of late. The loss of Kiev, the siege of Leningrad, and the German drive deep into the Crimea, have been heavy blows to the Soviet. As a result of these Russian reverses a strong drive is being put on here to overcome public and Congressional resistance to full American cooperation with the Stalin government and the Russian war effort.

Hearings on price control legislation were continued by the Banking and Currency Committee of the House all last week. Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau tossed a verbal bombshell into the proceedings when he advocated that profits of all corporations and other industrial and business concerns be limited to six percent on the invested capital, with all earnings above that percentage being taken by the government through taxation. Mr. Morgenthau demanded that price ceilings be fixed for all commodities, including farm products. However, like Bernard Baruch who testified before him, the Secretary of the Treasury voiced opposition to any attempt to fix wages, on the theory that the placing of a ceiling on wages would result in workmen being forced into "involuntary servitude." When asked by the committee members as to whether draftees, serving in the Army for $21.00 a month, were victims of "involuntary servitude" the witnesses had no answer. As a result of the Secretary of the Treasury's advocacy that all profits be limited to six percent on invested capital, it is being freely predicted by many legislators, newspapermen and others here, that the Administration will soon bring in some sort of legislation directed toward that end.

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor have come and gone. The former King of England and his American wife, for whom he gave up his throne, arrived in Washington last Thursday morning to be greeted by large crowds

WILL HONOR HOUSE LEADER IN LEBANON

HON. JOSEPH W. MARTIN

When Hon. Joseph W. Martin, Minority leader in the House of Representatives and publisher of the North Atchboro Chronicle, comes to Ohio Saturday, October 11, to dedicate a plaque for the Daughters of the American Revolution desegregating the Lebanon Western Star as Ohio's oldest weekly newspaper, he will be honored by the press and patriots of southwestern Ohio.

The Miami Valley Press Association of which M. C. Hutchinson, Franklin, Ohio, is president, has arranged a luncheon for the men of the Fourth State to honor Mr. Martin.

In the evening Mr. Martin will go to Springfield to address a gathering of about 1000 Republicans at a dinner meeting to be staged in the Masonic Temple, according to an announcement this week by Miss Margaret Baker and Charles J. Waggoner, state central committee members representing the Seventh Ohio District. Republican workers of west central Ohio and representing ten congressional districts are to participate in the meeting at Springfield.

The Western Star, published since 1807 without interruption, is now published by The Brown Publishing Company of which Congressman Clarence J. Brown is president. Mr. Brown and Mr. Martin have long been personal friends. The paper was founded by John McLean who went to a notable career of public service in the cabinets of Presidents John Quincy Adams and Andrew Jackson and then closed with 31 years on the U. S. Supreme Court. A great great-grandson of the founder and a namesake will actually unveil the tablet. He is John H. McLean, a young man residing in Loveland, Ohio.

Community interest in the event has taken a lively turn as committees are arranging store window displays of relics and antiques, genuine old things from the old homes and attics of the community. The decoration of the entire business section designed to recreate an atmosphere for the occasion. WLV has considered the civic and patriotic affair scheduled at Lebanon for Saturday afternoon, October 11, of such notable importance it has arranged to broadcast the program and is sending Peter Grant, prominent news-caster, to manage the broadcast.

A little more than a year ago the D. A. R. chapter dedicated a plaque marking The Golden Lamb as Ohio's oldest inn.

There were no witnesses at the time but evidence that his head hit the spike of a harrow when he evidently fell backwards. The wheat drill was overturned when found.

COLLEGE NEWS

The student body enjoyed a talk by Neil Hartman, a graduate of Cedarville College of 1941, at the assembly on Friday, September 22. Mr. Hartman told of his experiences in Mexico during the last summer. He was one of twenty-five boys sent to help the Mexican people rebuild homes and, in general, clean up their town after an earthquake had destroyed or ruined most of it. The group was sent to do this welfare work by the Quakers and from Mr. Hartman's narration, enjoyed very much the experiences which they gained.

Cedarville College's baseball team, which includes six freshmen starting players, lost its first fall practice tilt with Wilmington's Quakers at Wilmington on Tuesday, September 30. Despite the fact that the score was 15 to 1, Coach Pyatt's charges showed promise of developing. Dick Anderson, freshman first baseman, obtained Cedarville's only hit off Wilmington's pitcher, James John Sanders, a hold-over from last year's squad, worked five rounds and Paul Stoneburner finished up the seven-inning game on the mound for the Yellow Jackets. A return game with the same veteran Wilmington team has been scheduled for Tuesday, October 7 on the local diamond. The starting time has been set at three o'clock.

President Kilpatrick spoke at two meetings of the Zanesville District Methodist Youth Fellowship this week, speaking at the Washington County Sub-District Rally at Marietta on Wednesday evening, and at the District Rally at Shawnee on Thursday evening. On Thursday afternoon President Kilpatrick addressed the women's organizations of the churches of Grahamville, Ohio, and was the guest of Dr. and Mrs. David H. Markle. President Kilpatrick will deliver the sermon at the World Wide Communion Preparatory service at the First United Presbyterian Church in Xenia on Friday evening.

Two new students have enrolled at Cedarville College during the last week. Doris Williams from Springfield, Ohio, and Bill Myers, from South Charleston, are welcomed to the freshman class by the student body and faculty.

Orsadee Stewart, John Reinhard, and Bob Guthrie have started their practice teaching duties at the local high school this week. Miss Stewart is teaching American Literature; Mr. Reinhard, Physics; and Mr. Guthrie, General Science.

Ed Weddle was named as the official YMCA photographer and advertising manager in charge of posters, etc.

Campaign Under Way To Organize All Farm Labor In Ohio

We have been handed a mimeographed sheet by a Clark County farmer that was intended for the tenant on his farm. It shows there is an organized movement to organize all farm labor under labor unions in this section of the state. First it pleads that farm laborers organize in groups in their townships and later by counties so that one or more can be chosen to represent that group in organizing a state group. It is pointed out that all farm labor is underpaid and that farmers are not distributing the AAA money as intended by the Roosevelt administration.

Some of the planks mentioned are: Demand nothing but cash payment for all labor and get on par with industrial labor. Accepting house rent and meat and milk keeps you from demanding higher pay.

Demand an eight hour day, not over six days a week with double pay on Sunday, the day that was set aside for your rest.

All organized labor will back farm labor in the organized movement. You will have the sympathy and backing of the National Relations Board in Washington with branch offices in key cities.

With all prices rising now is the time for farm labor to put itself on par with industrial labor. The farmer is enjoying large profits and able to pay higher wages. With farm labor organized and with the aid of the industrial unions pressure can be brought in Washington through the AAA to force payment of higher wages to all farm labor.

The letter ends with this appeal: It is the greatest opportunity of your life to better your own condition for the benefit of your family. You cannot support your family as you like with depression wages when you must pay war prices for all you eat and wear. In organization there is strength.

Smokey Bill, owned by Curtis Birchfield, Vandalia, Route 1, won $15 for second line. Eighty-eight dogs from all parts of Ohio competed for the $118 offered in prizes. First tree winners in each of nine preliminary heats were awarded $2 each.

MUST NOT FEAR FLY

The number of farmers who sowed wheat before the fly-free date would indicate they have little fear of the fly. What interests wheat growers most is the arrival of fall rains that are long past due.

SCHOOL NEWS

Local Officer Directs Traffic At School

Pupils and teachers were agreeably surprised during the first week to find our local officer, Mr. William Marshall stationed in the street in front of the school building directing traffic and assisting those going to and from school in crossing the street.

Mr. Marshall has been present each morning and evening since school opened to safeguard our pupils from the danger of speeding automobiles, and trucks. This service has been entirely voluntary on his part. The school authorities and pupils are highly appreciative of his interest in behalf of the safety of those who walk to and from school.

Also, the school safety zone for use in crossing the streets as well as the "No Parking" signs placed there by Mr. Marshall were much needed and very much appreciated by every one. A school Safety Patrol is being organized to assist the officer in this work. Red Flags with the word STOP printed in white letters placed on ham-bone rods will be used by the patrol in bringing traffic to a stop while pupils are crossing the street.

Also, each school bus is also provided with a student patrol equipped with a red flag. The duty of the school bus patrol will be to see that all traffic from both directions is brought to a stop while pupils are getting on or off the buses on the routes.

The School Patrol is an important part of the safety program sponsored by the State Highway Department. The School Patrol system is found not only in Ohio but in practically every other state. As a further safeguard from traffic pupils are requested to not cross the street at any place except in front of the school or at the intersections provided with traffic lights. It is suggested that parents impress upon their children the importance of complying with the above request. It is well to keep in mind that just one accident is one too many.

Cedarville Defeats Bowersville

The C. H. S. boys won a 17-3 baseball victory over the Jefferson Township team when they met on the local diamond last Friday evening after school.

Initiation of Freshmen

After the more dignified classes had been seated in the assembly last Friday, the freshmen class furnished much laughter as they marched through the auditorium in their ridiculous initiation costumes and took their places on the stage. There, as a sophomore read nursery rhymes, members of the class acted the parts assigned to them by other sophomores. Some excellent talent for acting was found in the class.

Photographers Visit Seniors

On Wednesday photographers were present to talk with the seniors about class pictures.

Chino Contest

The race is on! Which class can have the greatest percentage of subscribers to the Chino? Groups gather in the upper hall to see which automobile is ahead each day. The class whose automobile wins gets a prize of two dollars. Subscriptions for a year are selling for one dollar. This is really a high-class school paper and one which will be a valuable record of high-school activities for students to keep to look back upon when they are older.

Mrs. Anna Williamson Died Tuesday Night

Mrs. Anna Williamson, widow of the late J. C. Williamson, Xenia, died at her home in Xenia, Tuesday night. Her husband was a well known farmer and sheep breeder with a national reputation. She was born in this county and was married to Mr. Williamson in 1891. His death took place in 1935.

There survives one son, J. Kenneth Williamson, former prosecuting attorney, now a resident of West Palm Beach, Fla., and a step-son, Fred Williamson, who resides east of Xenia. A brother, Clark McClellan resides in Troy, O.

The funeral will be held this Friday afternoon at two o'clock from the Second U. P. Church, Xenia, with burial in Woodland Cemetery.

The Woman's Club will meet on October 8th at the home of Miss Glenna Banore.

TWO CHARGED WITH THEFT OF CLOTHES

Wm. Marshall, village marshal, in company with Sheriff Spahr and deputies Detrick, McDorman and Anderson, landed two men charged with stealing clothing valued at $50 and a purse containing $30 from the Sears hotel, about 9 p. m., Tuesday. The clothing is said to have been the property of Foss Gregg, Wright Field, and A. C. Newton.

When the theft was reported to the local marshal he at once suspicioned two men that had been hanging around the hotel. Posting himself in the postoffice he watched the movements of their machines, one of which belonged to Adam Carter, a gas line employee. The other was Carl Tipton, Cedarville.

A call was sent immediately for aid and in the quickest time possible deputy sheriff's were on the way and had picked up Tipton at his home where some of the clothing was found in his auto. The second car was found ditched near the Henderson home on the Fishworm road. When the officers appeared the headlights were smashed with a hammer by Cecil Lawrence, according to the officers. Some of the clothing was found in this car. Lawrence is employed on the gas line. Both he and Tipton were intoxicated.

The officers spent most of Wednesday running down clues. Both Tipton and Lawrence were placed in the county jail. The officers also found auto oil stolen from a Selma filling station and some evidently taken from a Pure Oil Station. The Selma oil was identified by the owner as the men had been at his station in the evening.

Husking Contest

Wednesday, Oct. 17

Plans for the 1941 Greene County Corn Husking Contest and Corn Field Day were made Wednesday evening, October 1st at the Vocational Agricultural Room in Cedarville according to county agent, E. A. Drake.

The contest is scheduled to be held in Cedarville, following the tentative date of Friday, October 17th has been set for the event. Members of the Central Committee who sponsored last year's contest include Arthur B. Evans, Edgar Little, George Turner, E. E. Dinnen, and Harold Hanna. The Corn Field Day which will probably be patterned after those held in previous years, will include both standing stalk and shock husking contests, hybrid corn exhibits, machinery display, and plowing demonstrations.

National corn husking rules will govern the contests and the county winners may compete in the state contest which will be held in Champlain County, October 23-24. Warren Snyder won the stalk and Foster Snyder the shock contest in the county last year. Huskers who wish to compete in this year's event should notify John F. Hill, vocational agricultural instructor of Cedarville or the office of County Agent E. A. Drake in Xenia, Ohio.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Bull:— Enclosed find subscription for the paper. People here think it is wonderful, about half a dozen are reading it and the Kenton Republican has copied several articles giving you the credit. Please send another copy of last week's paper.

Rest Wishes, Kenton, O. GBA

Xenia, O., Sept. 27

To the Herald: I know you will be interested in hearing a statement made at AAA headquarters last week one day. The hot air artist that sits up in front stated: "Well we will make some of those old Republicans pay their penalty first." Yet they tell us farmers there is no politics in the AAA.

RFD 5 Xenia Twp. Farmer. P. S. If you want it I will get you a sworn statement.

The writer need not worry about the AAA politics, that is what was organized for. Now it is a propaganda machine to sell the farmers the European war to save "Bloody Joe" Stalin, the head of the Communist party in Europe and this country.

EMPLOYMENT OFFICER Harry S. Swigart, Xenia, health, Common Pleas Court, has been named reemployment officer for soldiers, sailors and marines in the Xenia town-ship district. R. A. Crone, Osborn, has been appointed for the county under the county board.

TOWNS AND CITIES REACHING OUT

Industry is forced in most large cities to cast about for new locations to break the hold of the labor racket that has fastened itself by the aid of the New Deal, on all lines of business.

Here is the opportunity for the smaller towns and cities to improve their conditions. By exerting a little effort and some financial aid many attractive offers could be made industry that would interest the management in a new location.

Washington C. H., Wilmington, Hillsboro and a number of southern Ohio seat towns have campaigns on for raising finances in one way and another for industrial expansion.

These civic leaders are taking time by the forelock and not waiting for "manna from heaven." They realize that by financial aid and active moral support an attractive offer can be made industrial management.

It has not been so many months ago when dastardly attacks were made against a certain industry in this county by labor organizers that had been imported.

Many industrial leaders in certain cities are operating their plants under daily fear of their lives as the labor union governing the plant is usually headed by some foreigner that cannot even speak good English.

With industry more widespread, this situation of labor centers cannot well exist. In the south where northern industry has located, in most instances the plant is out in the country in the midst of a wide acreage and far from the highway, the land being protected by what is known as "mob women fences."

It is industry to thrive in this country there must be a different attitude on part of both labor and the public, the latter especially must be more sympathetic. It will be the towns and cities that bid for industry and guarantee protection from the New Deal type of labor racketeers that will take commanding positions following the present war, if it ever ends.

We have faith that we still have enough people that have been reared under the banner of "America for Americans and Americans for America," that we cannot be sold out by either the war mongers or labor racketeers.

LET US HAVE THE NEW DEAL SIX PER CENT

The Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, Roosevelt Fifth Avenue playboy, handling the nation's finances, has proposed that the government commandeer all corporation profits over six per cent to pay for "Bloody Joe" Stalin's war in Russia.

The howl that went up following the six per cent, even reached into the deepest recesses of the New Deal and especially the crowd of war mongers that are taking profits by the millions from the war.

Again the six per cent limitation might be a good thing for it would be interesting to see just what position such corporations as own the New York Times, New York Tribune, Chicago News, (Knox owned), would take.

To give an insight into the six per cent plan it would not be expected that Morgenthau even give a thought as to how much that would cost the government. A six per cent investment would certainly keep the Wall Street crowd and millionaire newspaper publishers in the lower bracket of sur-tax income payers.

Yes, the six per cent New Deal proposal might be a good thing and lead toward an earlier settlement of the war on this side of the Atlantic.

IF YOU NEED PRINTING, DROP IN

Numerous times this column has called attention to the extremely low prices farmers have been paid for their milk, especially in this section. Another increase is now in force but it is not enough to compensate the farmer and dairymen for his investment and overhead charges in producing milk.

This means of course an increase in the retail price of milk to consumers, announcement of which has already been made. No doubt those who have a fixed income will feel the added cost and think an injustice has been forced in them.

During and following the World War the farmer enjoyed good profits along with labor and industry. Now the farmer finds himself facing "control of prices" for political effect to keep the wrath of organized labor off the New Deal.

Tuesday Roosevelt let loose a blast that may or may not open the eyes of farmers when he stated that all domestic help as well as farm labor must come under social security laws and this means that the farmer must join with industry and contribute his share of the social security tax, something few farmers know anything about today.

Roosevelt says there are 2,500,000 maids and washwomen that must come under social security also. This will add meritment to many a housewife and dad, who must bring in the "haccon" each week. Even the "casual" workers, those called to the farm for a day or so in the home, are to be included and Roosevelt places the number at 4,000,000. Then we have some 5,000,000 "self employed workers," men and women that work or manufacture something in a small way that comes in competition with what is made by organized labor. All these must contribute social security taxes to pay for Roosevelt's war and the 98,000 on the AAA pay roll in the United States.

All war activity in southern camp no doubt was laid to rest Tuesday night while Joe Louis, the champ, did his best by giving his opponent the knockout drops with a mauling fist. When the radio announcer gave the names of the celebrities at the big New York event, some sixty thousand were interested in knowing that Col. James Roosevelt, a member of the fighting tribe in the White House that have a part in saving Democracy, was in a box seat.

With automobiles and electric refrigerators cut nearly fifty per cent due to war materials, Dayton faces one of the biggest slumps in recent years in employment. It was reported Tuesday by one of the General Motors officers that probably some 3,000 employees must be laid off regardless of war orders. Thousands more must be laid off in all parts of the country.

The FBI
By Charles Brent Smith
You certainly ought to visit the FBI, said my friend in the Department of Agriculture. "It is one of the most interesting bureaus in Washington."

"That's what my hostess told me this very morning," I replied. "I think I can go Saturday morning. It's my last chance."

"You will get some idea how Uncle Sam fights crime," explained this friend. "I was amazed that crime costs fifteen billion dollars every year, surprised at their highly scientific laboratories, and the very high quality of their force of operatives. Well, you must just go and see."

"Thank you! I will do my best not to miss it." Then I left. On Saturday morning I met with some twenty others in the reception room of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. We viewed the show-case display of weapons formerly used by criminals who have been slain. John Dillinger's battered straw hat was there. A few pictures of desperadoes were seen, and charts of crime statistics. The guide in charge gave us every needed courtesy.

We learned that the FBI was founded in 1908, that it is completely separated from politics, and that operatives are promoted only on proven ability and efficiency. Its special...

When General Harrison received the news of Winchester's advance from his camp on the left bank of the Maumee near the site of the Battle of Fallen Timbers, he was at Upper Sandusky and in all haste started to the Rapids by way of Lower Sandusky (Fromont), but he arrived too late to lead off Winchester's advance.

With his small force at Winchester's camp, Harrison believed the position untenable and expecting the advance of a large force of British and Indians he burned Winchester's block houses at the Rapids and withdrew eighteen miles to the Forks of the Portage (now site of Pamberville, Wood County) where he established a fortified camp.

On the 30th of January, General Lettich with his brigade, a regiment of Pennsylvania troops and a number of pieces of artillery, arrived at the camp from Upper Sandusky. With now a force of 1700 men General Harrison returned to the Maumee and established a camp where he later located Fort Meigs. This was Harrison's only retreat during his campaign.

Still the patriotic men of Ohio did not despair, and General Harrison while deploring Winchester's disaster, declared it was not repairable. One result was that General Harrison was made a Major-General, and thereafter, his position at the head of the Northwest army was secure.

Washington Letter (CONTINUED FROM FIRST PAGE) gathered about the British Embassy, where they made their headquarters. Due to the death of Mrs. Roosevelt's brother, a scheduled White House luncheon for the royal pair was cancelled. It is understood that the Duke and Duchess will be entertained at the White House upon their return from Canada, some time in November. Receptions, limited to members only, were held for the Duke and Duchess by the National Press Club Organizations.

Early Ohio History No sooner had the echo of General Hill's surrender ceased reverberating over Ohio than came the news of General Winchester's disaster at the River-Bain in which nearly 300 Americans, a large portion being Kentuckians, were killed, massacred and missing, and about 600 prisoners were taken by the British and Indians under Colonel Proctor. The loss of the British and Indians was estimated at near 400. Only thirty-three Americans escaped to the Maumee. The date was February 22, 1813.

When the news reached the interior it was erroneously reported that General Winchester was among the killed.

Full page advertisements, urging that Congress immediately declare war and that America enter the European struggle at once to the fullest, have been appearing in a number of the large city newspapers along the Atlantic Coast during the past week or ten days. Many administration leaders are becoming more and more warlike in their utterances as the days come and go. The war fever is mounting in the nation's capital. There is tenseness and rising excitement in the air, as if just before the coming of a storm. The tom-toms are beating louder and louder. Anything can and may happen here within the next few days or weeks.

Liquor is, commercially, the greatest parasite in the world; socially, the greatest criminal; religiously, the greatest enemy. "The Voice" of the Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church.

Doing nothing for others is the undoing of ourselves. Snap Shots There are in the United States 436 places to get a drink for every 210 places to get religion. There is a saloon or its equivalent for every 299 persons.

Kansas youth are saying, "Fight a style with a style; make it popular not to drink. They are putting on a "Buy-dry" campaign, pledging themselves not to patronize any business place that sells alcoholic beverages.

The directors of the International Young People's Luther League, having a membership of 80,000 young Lutherans, have made a demand on the government that liquor sales be prohibited within ten miles of army camps to which young draftees are being taken.

A recent doctor's report shows that six out of ten accidents were of persons who had alcohol in their blood enough to slow down their minds. Of the 216 persons either injured or killed, there were three times as many in the "alcohol accidents" as in those without alcohol.

"If half the net alcohol expenditure was transferred to other commodities, in a single generation the nation would gain a net asset of one billion pounds." - Lord Josiah Stamp, Director of the Bank of England.

"The really dangerous driver," says Stoeckel, automobile engineer and Highway Commissioner of Connecticut, "is the man who has had one or two drinks only. IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON Lesson for October 5

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Board of Religious Education, used by permission. GOD OUR HEAVENLY FATHER LESSON TEXT - Genesis 1:1-3; Matthew 6:26-33. GOLDEN TEXT - Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name, -Matthew 6:9.

Without God man has no hope in this world. This is the teaching of Scripture, which is confirmed by the philosophy of man. "Having no hope and without God in the world," says Paul (Eph. 2:12), and every godless philosophy paints the same dark picture. Says one, "It cannot be doubted that the theistic belief is a stumbling block that has held it and that the loss of it is a very painful loss. We have seen the spring sun shine out of an empty heaven to light up a soulless earth; we have felt with utter loneliness the Great Companion is dead" (Clifford).

That desolate and despairing conclusion need not be the lot of any man, for we have in God's own Word a clear revelation of Himself as our Creator and our loving Father. Why not accept it? 1. God our Creator (Gen. 1:26-28). Both of our Scripture passages tell us much about man, but in doing so they reveal God.

1. How He Made Man (vv. 26, 27). "God created man in his own image" (v. 27). This does not refer to any physical likeness, although it is abundant evidence that man's body is far above the animal level and perfectly adapted to be the dwelling place of the soul and the instrument of its activity in a physical world. Even the Son of God took upon Himself the body of a man and, in its glorified state, still bears that body in heaven. This means that man's body is worthy of honor and considerable care and use.

The real image of God in man is a moral and spiritual likeness. It is a man being knowing the difference between right and wrong. He has all the characteristics of personality, self-consciousness, intelligence, feeling and will. That image has been marred and defaced by sin, but it is still there. Even in the lowest man or woman it is capable of being reached and transformed by the grace of God.

2. How He Blessed Man (v. 28). He gave man "a help meet for him" (Gen. 2:18); that is, a completely suitable companion and helper. He gave him dominion over the entire earth, and his restless, pioneering spirit still presses toward the complete realization of that promise. He provided for every need of man, not only physical and social, but also spiritual; for we read that He walked with him "in the cool of the day" (Gen. 3:8), until man by his own sin broke that fellowship. God's love and His provision for His complete joy and full usefulness.

II. God Our Heavenly Father (Matt. 6:24-33). Two things harass the mind and heart of man - anxiety for today and fear for tomorrow. He must have what he and his family needs for today, and it is a constant struggle for most men to meet that need. Then, as though that were not enough, there is always the tomorrow's new and possibly greater needs. Even those who have all they need today, if they do not trust God that tomorrow or next week or next year they too may be in need. Our text meets both problems, for it tells us

1. Why We Need Not Be Anxious Today (vv. 24-31). "The answer is simple - look at the birds. They cannot work, they are not even able to pray, yet God feeds them. Consider the glory of the flowers. Even a king cannot dress in such beauty - God provided it for them. "Are ye not much better than they?" (v. 26). No bird ever worried because it did not have a meal laid by for tomorrow, and no flower has fretted itself lest its blossom failed to come forth in its accustomed beauty. Why should we be anxious? Intelligent forethought is good and proper, but anxiety about our daily needs is always dishonoring to God. He is ready and able to meet our daily need.

2. Why We Need Not Fear Tomorrow (vv. 32, 33). "Your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need" (v. 32). Does not that settle the whole future? It is in God's hands, and even if it were in our hands, what could we do about it? Tomorrow with its joys and sorrows is not here, and when it does come God will be here as a loving Father to graciously provide for every moment of it. What then shall we do? Verse 33 tells us, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness." Give God first place in your life and you will see that "these things" are added. Simple, isn't it? and blessedly true. Let's trust Him!

Kansas youth are saying, "Fight a style with a style; make it popular not to drink. They are putting on a "Buy-dry" campaign, pledging themselves not to patronize any business place that sells alcoholic beverages.

The directors of the International Young People's Luther League, having a membership of 80,000 young Lutherans, have made a demand on the government that liquor sales be prohibited within ten miles of army camps to which young draftees are being taken.

A recent doctor's report shows that six out of ten accidents were of persons who had alcohol in their blood enough to slow down their minds. Of the 216 persons either injured or killed, there were three times as many in the "alcohol accidents" as in those without alcohol.

"If half the net alcohol expenditure was transferred to other commodities, in a single generation the nation would gain a net asset of one billion pounds." - Lord Josiah Stamp, Director of the Bank of England.

"The really dangerous driver," says Stoeckel, automobile engineer and Highway Commissioner of Connecticut, "is the man who has had one or two drinks only. The important problem is to teach the moderate-drinking public that the greatest preventable cause of travel tragedies is the undrunken driver who has been drinking."

No civilization is complete which does not include the dumb and defenseless of God's creatures within the sphere of charity and mercy. -Queen Victoria

Majestic "Wild Goose Calling"

20 Century-Fox has made a superb motion picture from an outstanding novel. It opens Saturday at the Majestic Theater where Stewart Edward White's great "adventure story of the Northwest, "Wild Goose Calling," was shown for the first time. Henry Fonda, as the two-fisted lumberjack with a love for the outdoors, gives the finest performance of his career, even surpassing his great portrayal of Tom Joad in "The Grapes of Wrath." And Joan Bennett, as Sally, the dance hall queen, is superb in an entirely new kind of role. All the action, drama and romance of this fine story of the great Northwest, which was awarded the gold medal of the Commonwealth Club of California as the outstanding novel written by a resident of the state in 1940, has been retained in the film. The interesting story of wandering John Murdoch, played by Fonda, who meets and falls in love with Sally while looking for his friend Blackie, has been faithfully followed. Marrying Sally, John takes her to Alaska, not knowing that she and Blackie had been friends before he met her. Angry when he finds Blackie holding Sally in his arms, John assaults his friend, and leaves his wife, thus setting the stage for the unusual climax.

For adventure, action and romance, be sure to see Stewart Edward White's "Wild Goose Calling."
