Jackets Will Meet Ashland Next Friday

The Cedarville college Yellow Jackets will meet the Eagles of Ashland college at Cox field in Xenia, next Friday, at 8 p. m. in their third home contest of the season.

After dropping the opener to Ohio Northern's Polar Bears at Xenia by a count of 26-0, they met Georgetown college at Osborn high school field last night (Thursday) in a game that was played after Herald press time.

Next Friday night's contest will mark the first appearance of the northern Ohio team on the local gridiron since the Jackets resumed the moleskin sport in the fall of 1946, but will be the second meeting of the two teams after that date.

Last fall, the locals furnished the opposition for the Eagles' homecoming and bowed to the home team in the mud 19-0.

Coach George Donges will send a veteran team against the locals next Friday.

Mendell E. Beattie, Jacket head football coach, and his assistant, Don Barger, have the locals in good condition and, barring injuries in the Georgetown contest last night, should be at full strength for the Ashland game, with the exception of the guard and center positions where injuries have plagued the Jackets.

Warn Truckers Of Bridge Weight Limit

Commercial truckers have been warned that the 20 welded bridges still standing in Greene county were never designed to carry present-day loads and that continued violation by trucking firms will result in prosecution.

Frederick R. Lemcke, county engineer, who issued the warning along with county commissioners, cited the collapse of a covered bridge over Caesar's creek at Lydia Smith corner on the New Jasper-Paintersville road last Thursday as an example of truckers exceeding load limits.

A Port William Milling company truck loaded with about six tons of fertilizer attempted to cross the old five-ton-limit bridge when it fell into the stream. The driver escaped injury. No charges have been filed in the case.

"The old covered bridges," Lemcke said, "were designed for 6 ton loads 60 to 80 years ago. It's common sense that they can't take when built many years back."

"We realize the bridges are not up to the standards of present-day traffic but all bridges are posted. Violation of this state law is a $25 fine for the first offense and $100 for each additional violation. And the offender is liable for any damages to the bridge."

"None of these bridges is safe for a total gross weight—truck, driver, load and all—of more than five or six tons. Truckers should be warned of this fact although the bridges are posted."

"In order to replace all existing covered bridges in the county we would need a half to three-quarters of a million dollars. The present bridge levy affords us $55,000 a year."

Register 3128 In 2nd Peace-Time Draft

The unofficial total of prospective draftees in Greene county was exactly 100 shy of the estimate of eligibles made at the start of the registration period by state selective service officials.

One hundred and two 18-year-olds and older youths signed up with the board at the court house Saturday, hiking the overall total to 3,228 in the 18-through-25 draft bracket in the county.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Elizabeth Hurley, Xenia, clerk of the board, disclosed classification of the youths had begun with particular attention being given 25-year-olds to fill a four-man quota given the board for November.

Second Frontier Day to Be Held At Rio Grande

Frank Farnsworth, director of Ohio agricultural department, today urged all Ohio farmers to attend the second annual Ohio valley second frontier show, which began Thursday morning at the Rio Grande college farm, Gallia county.

Commending the participating conservation agencies, Farnsworth cited the obvious results of last year's show held at Brownsville in Licking county. The remade farm there has complied with all predictions of its increased usefulness, he asserted, being currently worth nearly ten times as much as it was prior to the 1947 demonstration. A drive by the farm will amaze those who saw it before the conservation team began to work on it, he stated.

Two recent events in Ohio—the school for Ohio soil conservation district supervisors, sponsored by the Mississippi Valley association at Cedarville, and the Ohio conservation field days and plowing matches at Urbana—have served to prepare for the big event at Rio Grande, which is expected to draw 125,000 conservation-minded farmers, sportsmen and business men.

Farnsworth complimented the work of the Ohio Federation of Soil Conservation District Supervisors, the Mississippi Valley association, the Ohio State university extension service, the soil conservation service, the Ohio division of conservation and natural resources and interested organizations and industries for the fine spirit of co-operation in demonstrating the necessity for and the methods of preserving Ohio's rich soil.

Warn Venders of Sales Tax Law

There has recently appeared in a number of newspapers in Ohio, certain advertisements of tangible personal property offered for sale by vendors, including Ohio sales tax in the advertised purchase price of the merchandise offered for sale.

Such advertisements are in violation of the provisions of the sales tax law, as referred to under section 5546-15 of the general code of Ohio, a part of which section is as follows:

"Whoever being a vendor, as defined in this act,  makes in any form of advertising, verbal or otherwise, any statements which might infer that he is absorbing the tax or paying the tax for the consumer by an adjustment of prices, or at a price including the tax, or in any other manner whatsoever shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, ***"

Real Purpose in Life." Nancy Ferguson will be the leader.

Local Girl Enters Western College

Miss Margaretta Frey, Cedarville, Ohio, who arrived, last week, at Western college, nationally accredited 4-year liberal arts college for young women, was one of 202 freshmen who attended the formal junior-freshman banquet held Monday night in Edith Clawson hall. Several other parties will be given for freshmen during the next few days, including the traditional "freshmen mixer," sponsored by the YWCA cabinet, with students of Miami university, also at Oxford, acting as escorts. Miss Frey was also a guest at the sophomore-freshman breakfast given Sunday morning at Beechwoods, college picnic grounds.

Welcoming this year's 535 students at the convocation, held in Kuller Memorial chapel, yesterday morning, Philip E. Henderson, president of Western college, stressed the importance of America's role in stabilizing world affairs, basing his theme upon experiences gained during his travel, this summer, in six European countries. Everywhere he went, he said, he met people who urged him to lead his fellow Americans to realization of their responsibility in the present world crisis. No other country is capable of assuming this responsibility, he quoted Europeans as saying. President Henderson, who spent six weeks at the University of Oslo summer school, where he served as educational consultant, told students that a number of Europeans will be invited, in 1953, to attend Western's centennial celebration, plans for which are already under way.

On the School Scene

The first holiday of the school year for C. H. S. students came Tuesday afternoon, when our teachers took their turn in the "visitation plan" for Greene county schools.

What is the "visitation plan?" On the theory that one teacher can learn new techniques by observing other classes in session, a rotating schedule was set up throughout the county, giving each school an opportunity to observe other teachers.

Cedarville teachers made the first round of visits on September 21. Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Combs, Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Bull, Mrs. Wilson, Miss Trumbo and Mr. Boyer attended Silvercreek school. Bryan was visited by Miss Sickle and Mrs. Dolphin. Mr. Walker and Mr. Guthrie went to Bellbrook. Beaver Creek's visitors were Miss Hanna, Mrs. Chesnut, Miss Malow and Mrs. Foster.

Other schools scheduled for visiting this week were: Jefferson and Silvercreek. Next week, Spring Valley, Bellbrook, Ross, Bryan and Beaver Creek will visit.

AS MAINE GOES

Experiences over the past 16 years have dulled the significance of the old saying, "As Maine goes, so goes the nation." Knowing that, there is not much gloating, even among Republicans, over the triumph of the GOP in the Maine election. From a standing start Maine's lady Republican was elected to the senate, the first time that has happened in the USA. All along the line the GOP piled up landslide record votes. The most foolish thing the Republican party could possibly do is smile and quote, "As Maine goes, so goes the nation." The GOP victory in Maine is helpful and encouraging, but it should stand as a challenge for voting in other states, rather than a sure indication that it's all over but counting the votes.

CURING COMMUNISTS

There is no cure for communism. Communism eliminates itself from everything. The Russian brand substitutes for itself the generalissimo who heads up all the thinking and the worship. Nothing is less human. To cure folks of communism soak them in communism for even a short time. Of course ignorant people accept it, for it means being cared for. The Israelites were cared for by the Pharaohs. They had food to eat and straw to sleep on, but they lacked the one thing that is the deepest craving in all human hearts—liberty. Russian communism stamps out liberty and freedom. People will not tolerate that kind of thralldom long. So to cure communism, use communism.

SAVING TIME

The front-page tag on the late issue of the Saturday Evening Post is the title of a special article for the week, "Why I Will Not Vote for Wallace." Being a free American like we are, and having decisions of our own to make every minute, we saw a chance to save a few hours' time by not reading the article. Our private reason for not voting for Wallace is that with all the freedom we are granted in America they still don't let us vote for but one man for president, and since we are going to vote for Devey we have already handled the subject matter of the article. And, also, why the author isn't voting for Wallace doesn't particularly interest us.

HE OUGHT TO KNOW

Clarence J. Brown, "Brownie" that is, our servant in the House, has been down on his farm, near Blanchester, back in Washington he said for publication that lower prices on farm products will help the GOP. Says he: "I was offered $1.10 a bushel for this year's corn. I got $2.10 last year. That means a reduction in food prices. It should help the Republicans." Being a farmer himself, the congressman realizes that it's the hard way that he cites for the GOP to get more votes.

YOU NAME IT

Colossal stupidity would fit. Criminal negligence could be the name for it. It was both. Our so-called diplomats in the closing days of the war, at the insistence of the commander in chief, held up General Patton for nearly a month to permit "our great democratic, Christian ally, Josef Stalin" to enter Berlin first! Then we chose as the American sector of the captured city the area completely surrounded by the Russian-controlled zone. We asked for it, remember!

SHE STILL GRUNTS

A Minnesota animal trainer has taught a hog to wear a dress and eat unsloppily out of a plate; she also puts her clothes away in a hamper, unhampered, and can run a vacuum cleaner. But she still grunts!

We note that a college advertises in percussion. With some fellows the last part of it would be in the nature of a post-graduate course.

Lodge may be the next GOP floor leader.

YOU KNOW THE KIND

A man named Adam Collins, trying to kill a mosquito, fell out his bedroom window and was badly hurt. The skeeter's first name was Adam, too.

For a Better City

Lesson for September 19, 1948

"FOR A BETTER CITY" is a good slogan. No one would think of objecting to it. If the great city of Ephesus, capital and metropolis of the wealthiest and most highly populated province of the Roman Empire, had had a character of a commerce that they would all have been in favor of a Better City. There would be no argument about that.

The question is: What makes a city better? Four different ideas on that line—two very bad ones and two good ones—can be seen in the story of Acts 19.

You should read the story itself before looking over these comments. Because we are beginning toward the end of the story, with the very lowest and silliest of the four ideas how to make a city better. It is a very simple idea: Just "holler," yell, make a demonstration. Make it long, make it loud, and the city will be the better for it.

For two mortal hours that absurd mass-meeting kept the uproar going: "Great is Diana of the Ephesians!" A curious thing, the mob-mind. If something is true, how can noise make it truer? If a thing is a lie, how can all the shouting in the world make it respectable? But the mob-mind thinks that if a thing is said loudly enough and by enough people, it is bound to be true.

So that theator-fall of facts wasted a good afternoon shouting a lie into the deaf blue heavens. It did Diana no good. She was as dead as Marley's ghost, she had never lived, in fact. It was no use drumming up the decibels. Do you know people who think they can make your town better by shouting about it? It won't work. You can make a town or county famous if you shout long enough; but you won't make it better.

Making Money

THE SILVERSMITHS there in Ephesus had another theory. The way they looked at it, the big thing is money. They used to make money selling their little silver shrines. Now this fellow Paul had come along, persuading people that hand-made gods are no gods at all, and the trade in "sacred" trinkets had fallen off. It looked like a bad year for the silversmiths. To make things better, they decided they needed more money. More business! More production! The fact that what they produced was not only worthless but actually harmful, did not seem to bother them.

Do you know people like that today?

Abiding By the Law

THE TOWN CLERK of Ephesus had a simple idea, vastly better than these other two. He saw no sense in the mass meeting, he seems not to have been taken in by the silversmiths' crocodile tears. If anything was wrong in Ephesus, he said, the courts were open and trials were open, and trials could be held. We have laws—let us live by them; that was the gist of his idea. That is not bad advice.

All honor to the honest servants of the public who now as then give their best efforts to seeing that good laws are made and well enforced.

Changing Lives

SPEAKING OF LAWS, there are three kinds of people in the world. One kind will not obey the laws whatever they are. These are the criminal classes. A second kind say "inside the law" but they never advance a step beyond them. A third kind, too rare, will go far beyond the law's requirements in personal living and in social helpfulness.

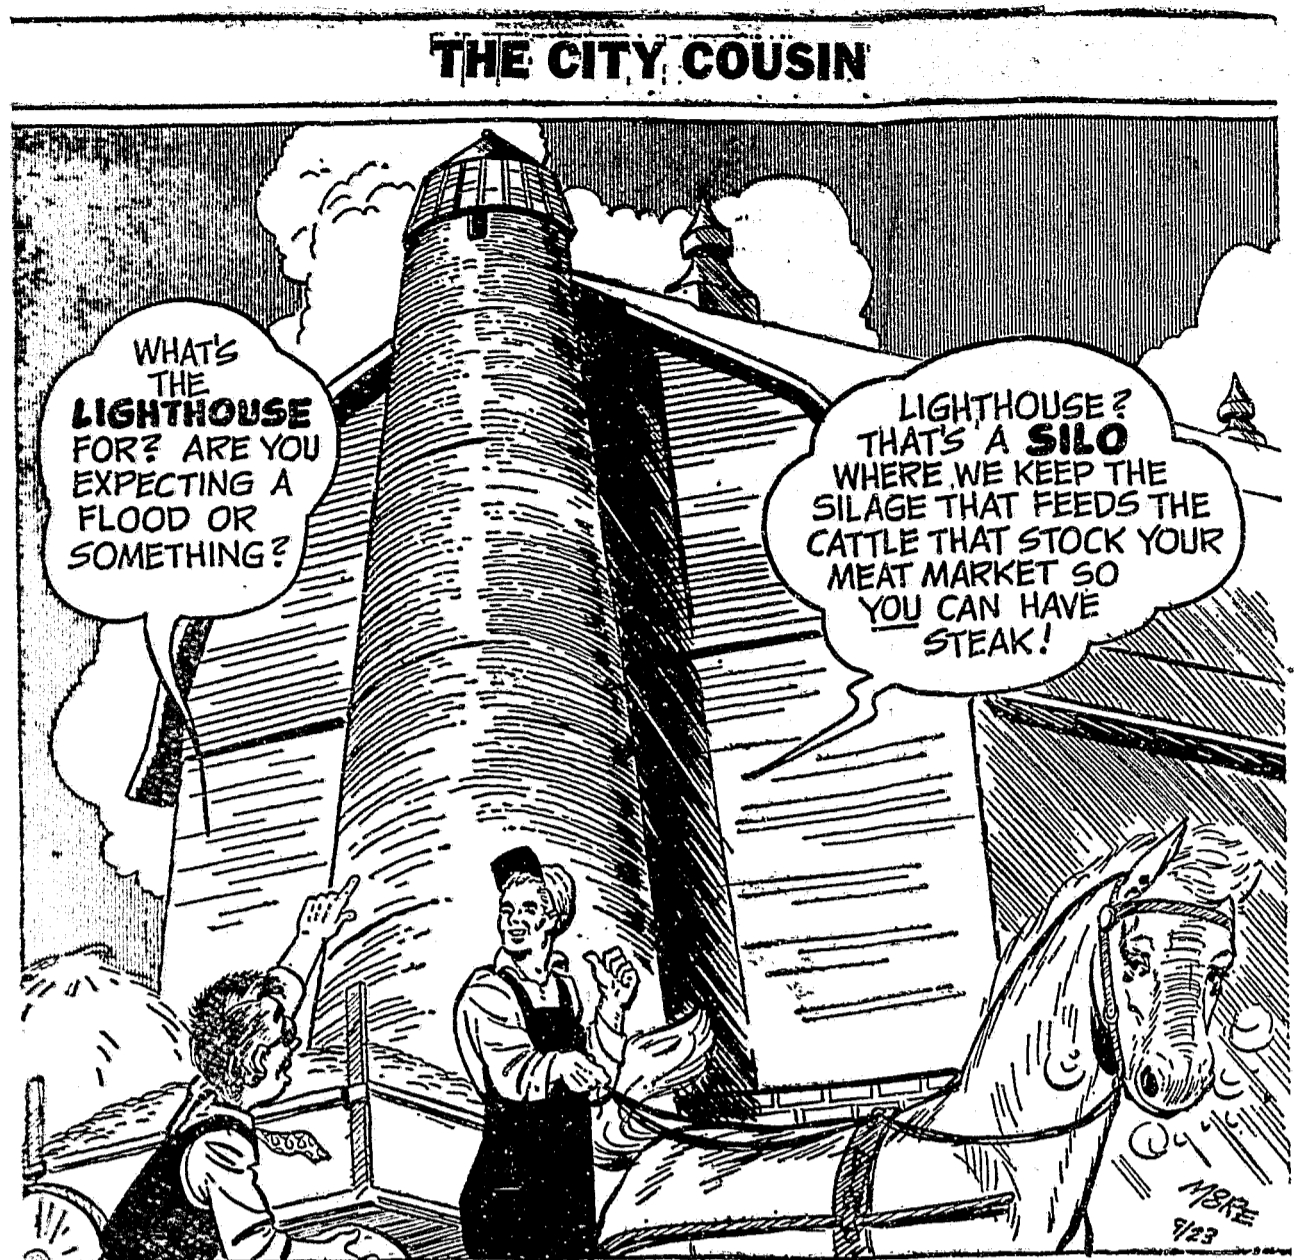

Now Paul had been in the city of Ephesus for some months, and he had nothing to do with the laws of that city. Yet what he was doing was more effective in making that city better than anything the courts could have done.

For what he was doing was nothing less than changing lives.

"The trouble with people is that they're people," and the business of Christianity first of all is changing people. It is no use hanging out the slogan "For a Better City" unless you are working for better people.

A tree is no healthier than its roots, and a community's roots are the characters of her people. And from St. Paul's day to this, the one and only organization which sets out to change people from the inside, is the Christian church.

VISUAL PROTEST AGAINST PEACETIME DRAFT . . . All over the nation young men were lining up again. The occasion was the second peacetime draft in the U. S. within eight years. In short, the draft registration seemed to be progressing pretty normally, even to the inevitable "protests." In Boston, as soldiers looked on, a group of picketers carrying placards objecting to the draft marched in front of the first corps cadet armory during the first registration day.

Ohio Bell to Add to Phone Equipment

A $55,000 program calling for installation of 14 auxiliary switchboard positions in the Xenia exchange of the Ohio Bell Telephone company will be started early next year to relieve the heavy calling load on present switchboards, C. W. Gray, the company's commercial manager, announced.

At present both local and long distance calls are handled from operating switchboards on the second floor of the telephone exchange in Xenia. After the 14 new positions are installed the only telephone traffic handled on present switchboards will be local calls. The Xenia exchange also handles long distance calls for the surrounding communities of Bellbrook, Bowersville, Cedarville, Clifton, Jamestown, Spring Valley and Yellow Springs.

The new switchboard positions to be installed are called "jeep" positions and, like their military counterparts, were designed to carry a load ordinarily transported by heavier vehicles. These auxiliary positions handle efficiently all the functions performed by ordinary switchboard positions, but are smaller and easier to install, Mr. Gray explained.

At present between 1,000 and 2,000 long distance calls are handled daily through Xenia switchboards. Nearly an equal number of incoming calls are received through these boards. It is expected by Ohio Bell this calling level will continue to increase as it has in the last three years.

Before installation of the new boards it will be necessary to remodel the third floor quarters in the Xenia exchange. Rearrangements to present rest room and locker quarters will be made to provide space for the extra boards.

Mr. Gray pointed out that removal of the long distance load from present switchboards will relieve facilities for the handling of local Xenia traffic which now is averaging about 26,000 calls daily.

To Hold Fall Harness Meet At Lebanon

A classy array of some of the nation's finest pacers and trotters soon will be making the rounds at beautiful Lebanon paces in preparation for the 19-night fall meeting to get under way on Oct. 2, sponsored by the Lebanon Trotting association.

Pacers and trotters who started the 1948 season at the spring meeting in Lebanon in May and June will return for the grand finale which promises to be one of the finest meets in the state.

Oscar Silvey, of Dayton, and his entire stable now racing at Northville Downs, will return with such favorites as Florian, Barber B. Jeannette Mitchell and others. Barefoot G. owned by Cecil Clark, of Union City, Ind., who made a name for himself this summer, will be a familiar sight on the Lebanon oval.

Joanis, another favorite in Ohio, from the Russell Wickersham stable, Marion, as well as Double Volo, Dr. McMillan Stables, London, will be here in fine form to give race fans a thrill.

A newcomer to Lebanon for the fall meet will be the Harold Boring stable of Shelbyville, Ind., now racing at Fairmont park. Boring is successfully racing an 18-horse stable. The outstanding pacer in this stable is Red McKiys who has battled the top pacers of the nation for his share of the honors.

Other stables sending entries include Dorsey Greene, Findlay; A. C. Gordon, Washington, C. H.; Ernie Smith, Washington, C. H.; Slim Shilling, Columbus; Burrey Stable, Newark; William Morrow Toledo; Leon Stevens, Van Wert; Harry Miller, Eaton and many others.

Liberal purses will again feature the meet with more than 200 horses entered and a top of 350 expected. A top-flight selection of the finest pacers and trotters in Ohio and a dozen other states will be ready for the 19-night meet.

Ray Jenkins, Urbana, prominent in harness horse circles across the nation, will serve as secretary with other widely known officials. The Murray automatic "tote" type pari-mutuels will be operated under state supervision. Electric odds board will be located across the track.

More than 50 newspaper sports writers and radio men will attend a press dinner at the Golden Lamb Saturday evening, Sept. 25, at 7 o'clock. They will be the guests of the Lebanon Trotting association.

Predictions are that automobile shortages will continue indefinitely because of the steel situation.

During the year, 389 Catholics turned Lutheran in New York.

Unusual Summer Vacations In addition to vacations from school work, some of our pupils and teachers were among the fortunate few who took trips to points of interest all over the United States and Canada.

Traveling through New England to Montreal, Mrs. Bull stopped at one of the world's best hotels, the Chateau Frontenac in Quebec, Ontario.

Wild cow milking—First $50 second $35, third $25, fourth $10. Musical chair for men—First trophy by Bob and Phil's Cafe, Ann De Beauprea Shrine, a Catholic healing shrine. While in Boston, she saw the famous Old North Church and Bunker Hill.

Highlighting Clara Sexton's western journey, was the Yellow Stone National Park. Clara saw many other sights of interest, among which were Colorado Springs, Pike's Peak, the Grand Canyon, Old Faithful, Helen Hunt Jackson's grave, and Buffalo Bill's grave on Look-Out Mountain.

Douglas Cullie and Woody Bouse had a four-weeks' trip in a jeep through the West, traveling in every state, except five, west of the Mississippi river. Going the northern route by way of Canada to the Pacific Ocean, they returned the southern route through Texas.

While in Florida, Patsy Collier visited the Cypress Gardens and Key West, the southernmost part of the United States.

Park King, one of our bus drivers, who was also in Florida during the summer, saw St. Augustine, the oldest city in the United States, and the Fountain of Youth, supposedly the one which Ponce de Leon discovered.

Janet Crumrine, who was in eleven different states and as far south as New Orleans, said that the mercury in the thermometer hit 120 degrees while she was at Ft. Worth, Texas. Janet attended a western rodeo and visited an Indian Fair, which she said was an assembly of Indians from all over the world.

Mrs. Chesnut and Don spent about two months at Crystal City, Missouri, and while there, they visited St. Genevieve, the oldest white settlement west of the Mississippi River. Quoting Mrs. Chesnut, "The church and some of the old houses are still preserved and we could easily detect signs of French architecture."

In eighteen hours of traveling time, Roger Collins hitch-hiked to Tarkio, Missouri. He spent one night in Springfield, Illinois, where the Lincoln Memorial is located.

Diana Brightman saw the first Ford car at Henry Ford's Greenfield Village, near Dearborn, Michigan.

Mr. Gutierrez, who is an ardent angler, spent some time in Magnitawan, Ontario, on Lake Wematauk, fishing.

Thus we conclude that many varied vacation trips were taken this summer by our local people and perhaps many others had experiences equally as interesting.
